Sends energy message to Congress

Tax windfall oil profits, says Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon sent to Congress today a wide-ranging energy message including proposals to tax oil companies' windfall profits at home, and cut their depletion allowance abroad.

For the American public, Nixon proposed a new labeling system to require that consumers be told how energy-efficient products are and asked for unemployment insurance help for those thrown out of work by the energy crisis.

Major parts of Nixon's plan:

—Relaxing clean air laws to allow more time for finding efficient ways to use fuel as well as protect the air. (This includes easing automobile emission standards.)

—Accelerating licensing and construction of nuclear facilities.

—Permitting development of new deepwater port facilities offshore.

—Constructing a second Alaska pipeline to tap natural gas reserves on the northern slope to complement the oil pipeline, soon to be started.

—Giving special priority in the new federal budget to urban transportation.

—Boosting to $1.8 billion, almost double the level sought a year ago, the amount of money needed for energy research and development.

"We must not permit private profiteering at the expense of public sacrifice," Nixon said. "In equal measure, we must not permit the big oil companies or any other major domestic energy producers to manipulate the public by withholding information on their energy supplies."

To meet this, Nixon proposed a tax of up to 85 per cent on receipts from sale of crude oil above the ceiling set by the Cost of Living Council in December.

Regarding oil company operational data, Nixon said he would submit shortly legislation to require major energy producers to provide the government full information on inventories, production and reserves.

Nixon said he was asking a complete repeal of the foreign oil depletion allowance. Currently oil companies get a 22 per cent depletion allowance both domestically and internationally to provide an incentive for production. The domestic allowance would stay in Nixon's plan.

The President said he also asked the Treasury Department to propose ways to change the present structure that allows oil companies to use taxes paid foreign countries as credits on their U.S. taxes.

"It is no longer realistic to treat these payments to foreign governments entirely as income taxes creditable against the U.S. tax," he said. "Obviously, however, the oil producing countries, like any other country, have the right to impose taxes and some reasonable portion of those taxes should be creditable."

To help spur oil development, Nixon asked that all exploratory drilling for new oil and gas fields be covered under credit provisions of the present tax laws.

"The energy emergency has shown us that we must never again be caught so dependent on uncertain supplies," Nixon said.

"By 1980 if we move forward with the proposals I have outlined today, I believe we can place ourselves in a position where we can be essentially independent of foreign energy producers."

Nixon said that his energy labeling proposal would apply to "all major appliances and automobiles produced or imported into the United States." Under the plan the products "must be clearly labeled to indicate their energy use and energy efficiency."

Nixon admitted that the energy crisis is causing unemployment. "I will recommend new unemployment insurance measures to cushion American workers against the shocks of economic adjustment," he said.

He said that the unemployment insurance proposal would extend the duration of benefits and expand the coverage for workers.

Officer jumps on bicycle, recaptures fleeing youth

ONTARIO — An Ontario police officer commandeered a bicycle from a student and pedaled 200 yards to recapture a suspect in an assault on teachers at Imperial Junior High School Tuesday afternoon.

The juvenile suspect was taken in hand by the officer, Ron Eoff, to the applause of dozens of students witnessing the incident.

The incident began, according to police reports, when Imperial Junior High School teacher Doug Whitmer was told by a student that another youth was stealing a bicycle from a bicycle rack at the school.

Whitmer stopped the youth on the bicycle and asked him what he was doing and why he was on the school grounds. Whitmer received no response from the 15-year-old youth. Whitmer said the youth walked away and went over to talk with another 16-year-old juvenile in the parking lot. Whitmer followed the two youths, when one suddenly struck him. Whitmer hit the youth and the youth fell down.

Ontario City Councilman Paul Treadway, a teacher at the school saw Whitmer's predicament and went to his assistance. The two juveniles then attacked the teachers. Whitmer was hit several times by one of the youths swinging a belt buckle and Treadway was kicked a number of times.

Someone called police to the scene. When the officers arrived the youths drove off in a car with several other youths.

Officer Richard Hyche, while talking to the teachers about the incident, saw a car that matched the description of the one seen leaving the scene with the youths. Hyche got in his car and pursued the youths. Hyche reported that he stopped the car at 1300 E. D St., but one of the passengers ran. The youth's car was escorted back to the school and the teachers identified one youth as one of the assailants. The youth was handcuffed and placed in the police car.

Meanwhile Officer Rick Cypher captured the juvenile that had run from Hyche in a field, and returned him to the school. While the officers were questioning the second youth, the other, handcuffs and all, managed to get out of the police car and run.

Eoff, saw the youth run, commandeered one of the student's bicycles and pedaled after him, catching up in 200 yards.

Police said the two youths were arrested for assault with a deadly weapon as a result of the attack on Whitmer and Treadway.

RAY OF HOPE FOR BLIND?

By implanting a glass eye, containing a camera-like device, and an electronic system in the skull to transmit the images to the brain, scientists at the University of Utah hope to be able to make the blind see, according to an article in the current issue of Electronics magazine. The tiny image in the eyesocket would be scanned by a microprocessor that would compute a pattern and send the data to electrodes implanted under the scalp at the back of the head.

Israeli troops start pullback

By United Press International

Israel began pulling out equipment from its forward areas on the west bank of the Suez Canal today and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said Syria is ready to begin talks on the disengagement of Syrian and Israeli troops on the Syrian front.

Sadat told a news conference in Rabat, Morocco that "the Geneva talks cannot restart as long as there is no agreement between Syria and Israel on disengagement....Damascus is ready to hold discussions on this matter." Sadat conferred last weekend with Syrian President Hafed Assad.

Israel began the pullout after it approved the agreement in a stormy session in Jerusalem Tuesday by a vote of 76 to 35. The opposition rightwing Likud had called the pullback too onesided but Prime Minister Golda Meir said it could be the first step toward peace.

Israeli military officials said the equipment being removed from the Israeli defense perimeter in areas it captured in Egypt included an estimated 750,000 mines which they said would be reconditioned and used to protect Israel's new front lines in the Sinai.

The military command said Israel also permitted the transfer of 300 wounded Egyptian soldiers from Suez City to hospitals in Cairo. The Egyptians were taken out of Suez City at the southern end of the Suez Canal by Egyptian ambulances. The city has been encircled by Israeli troops since the end of the October war.

The disengagement agreement calls for the encirclement to end Friday when Israeli troops pull back from their positions south of the Cairo-Suez highway and open it to civilian traffic. This also will free the trapped Egyptian 3rd Army on the Israeli side of the canal.

The national radio said Israeli and Egyptian officers had agreed that positions evacuated by Israeli soldiers would be occupied by United Nations Emergency Force (UNEF) troops for a six-hour period, then turned over to the Egyptians.

Pomona National Golf Club for sale at $3.5 million

By LENORE WALLACE
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Golf enthusiasts with a yen to own their own scenic 27-hole golf course can snap up the Pomona National Golf Course — if they have $3.5 million handy.

If the purchase price is too steep, it is negotiable, according to Bill Thompson of Coldwell Banker and Co., who this week put the Pomona National Golf Course up for sale, along with four other golf course properties owned by National Golf Courses, Inc.

The lush-155-acre course includes a luxurious clubhouse located at 20055 Colima Road in an unincorporated area of Walnut.

Construction of the course started in 1963 and a clubhouse was added in 1965 and a snack bar in 1967. The course was formerly known as the Walnut Valley County Club and was private.

The course was sold in 1968 to the National Golf Courses Inc., which is headed by William Saunders, a Honolulu, Hawaii, attorney.

Disgruntled permanent and life members of the club sued the new owners when the private club went public. Members had paid up to $5,000 each for the special memberships and would have had to pay the regular monthly dues of $42 a month on a formula basis to play on the course that had become public.

The quarter of a million dollar suit was finally settled last March when a Superior Court judge awarded damages totaling $105,000 to 67 members of the former Walnut Valley Country Club.

The chief defendants in the suit were Saunders and Alexander Waterhouse, another official of the golf firm.

Thompson said the properties are for sale because his client is not a local resident. He said management of the golf course is competing with his client's other interests.

Also up for sale are the 130-acre San Ramon National Golf Club, located southeast of Oakland; the 134-acre Corona National Golf Club; the 185-acre Whitney Ranch National Golf Club, 20 miles north of Sacramento, and the 155-acre San Geronimo National Golf Club, located eight miles west of San Rafael.

Solon says oil price rollback is a 'must'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is considering a price rollback for domestic oil which has reached $10.35 a barrel, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said today.

After a White House briefing by President Nixon and his energy chief William E. Simon, Jackson commented: "A rollback is a must."

Jackson told newsmen Simon did not give a commitment to roll back prices.

Ward-Schabarum hassle

Influence peddling charges to be studied by supervisors

LOS ANGELES — The county Board of Supervisors Thursday will further study charges of political influence peddling and improprieties in the awarding of county architectural contracts raised by Supervisor Baxter Ward against a top aide of Supervisor Peter Schabarum.

The charges, which sparked personal attacks between Schabarum and Ward at the board's Tuesday meeting, stem from a 25-page report Ward released earlier this week indicating a coverup of financial troubles of the late Long Beach architect Martin Nishkian, who held the contract for a multi-million dollar rehabilitation center at Rancho Los Amigos Hospital in Downey.

Ward alleged that the troubles were not made public for some seven years and that county officials had made money available to keep the now-bankrupt firm afloat.

In a sharply worded rebuttal Tuesday, Schabarum accused Ward of trying to destroy the county government through his investigations into past county management practices.

Schabarum also defended his aide, Hugh Dynes, against Ward's allegation that Dynes had served as Nishkian's "political link" to the county government.

Ward countered by producing documents showing Dynes had received numerous gratuities from Nishkian and that Nishkian had paid for lunches of campaign contributors.

Although conceding the truth of these charges, both Schabarum and Dynes denied they constituted anything illegal or improper.

Schabarum demanded that Ward produce all his accusations before the board and even submit them to a Grand Jury for investigation.

Ward declined, but the board decided to hold the matter over for assignment to its Citizens Committee on Efficiency and Economy or some other agency for a public hearing.

Plan for upgrading treatment of city's water to be studied

By TONY NAVARRO
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — A multi-million proposal for upgrading the degree of treatment at the Pomona Water Renovation Plant that would allow a substantial increase in the sale of reclaimed water by the City of Pomona will be explored at a public hearing here on Thursday, Jan. 31.

The hearing, by the sanitation districts of Los Angeles County, will be held in the City Council Chambers and will start at 7 p.m.

Three processes of improving the treatment at the plant, which sells reclaimed water to the city for resale, are being considered. Each of the three alternative projects would cost more than $3 million.

A district spokesman said the purpose of the meeting is to give persons interested in the project an opportunity to discuss the economic, environmental and social impacts of the various alternatives being presented.

The City of Pomona, through its water department, presently purchases from county Sanitation District 21, which owns and operates the plant, the reclaimed water and resells about 1,000 acre feet a year to various users.

Water not sold to the city is discharged into South San Jose Creek and a small portion subsequently percolates to the local groundwater basin, a study shows.

The Los Angeles Regional Water Quality Control Board (WQCB) has indicated that some form of advanced treatment will be required in the immediate future for water discharged to San Jose Creek.

In addition, the city water department has expressed a desire to purchase higher quality water to meet the requirements of a number of potential users.

As part of the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System permit program, the regional WQCB has prepared proposed tentative waste discharge requirements for the Pomona plant, which cover discharge to the creek, as well as potential reuse of the treated effluent.

The Pomona plant treats and reclaims waste water from the cities of Pomona, Claremont and La Verne, which comprise the eastern portion of District 21, plus the San Bernardino County city of Montclair, whose sewage is accepted under special contract.

The original facility, jointly constructed in 1926 by the cities of Pomona, La Verne and Claremont, was one of the first plants in the United States to employ the activated sludge treatment process.

In 1951, to provide more efficient and economical wastewater treatment, District 21 was formed and during the 1960s, in response to increasing wastewater flows, a second treatment plant, Pomona Water Renovation Plant No. 2, was constructed near the original on Roselawn Avenue.

Plant No. 2 treats seven million gallons a day of wastewater and was expanded to its present capacity in 1970.

Plant No. 1 currently is used to provide treated wastewater for experimental use at the Advanced Water Treatment Research facility on the same site.

Effluent presently undergoes a secondary treatment, or biological pro-

Submit questions to Nixon--Weicker

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., proposed today that written questions be submitted to President Nixon about his knowledge of various aspects of the Watergate scandal unless he agrees by the end of the week to meet personally with the Senate Watergate committee.

Weicker's proposal, a source close to the senator said, is that the committee, of which he is a member, renew its request to meet with the President at the White House, with a report on the exchange to be made public after the meeting.

Japan spending millions to prop up weakened yen

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan, its economy rocked by the energy crisis, spent hundreds of millions of dollars today to support the yen amid money market fears of a second de facto devaluation this month.

Fired by the devaluation of the French franc, mushrooming inflation and worries about the fuel crisis, dealers clamored to find a strong refuge for their capital.

The Bank of Japan sold dollars heavily from its reserves to prop up the yen at the rate of 300 to the dollar set Jan. 7. Financial sources said the Bank of the Japan was the only seller of dollars in the Tokyo market.

Banking sources said about $742 million dollars were purchased with yen in so-called "spot" — immediate delivery— transactions during the morning.

A spokesman for the Finance Ministry said the buying surge was partly due to seasonal factors and a two-day closing of money markets. He predicted the market would settle down in a few days.

Trading in Tokyo's foreign exchange banks was suspended Monday and Tuesday because of France's weekend decision to float the franc.

Tokyo companies feared the French decision would trigger another round of devaluations of European and Japanese currencies.

The central question was whether the Bank of Japan could ride out the torrent of buying orders for dollars and keep the yen at 300 to the dollar.

In contrast to the pressure on the yen, the Tokyo Stock Exchange was strong. Stock buyers calculated the hectic selling of yen might bring on another devaluation, improving the prospects of Japan's export industries.

The yen has undergone de facto devaluations three times since the start of the Arab oil embargo Oct. 17. It stood at 266 yen per U.S. dollar before the embargo. Two devaluations in November pushed it down to 275 and then to 280.

FOR ABORTION . . .

Group of birth control advocates led by Bill Baird marches in front of State House in Boston Tuesday to protest proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution which would guarantee rights of the unborn.

Demonstrate throughout nation

Foes, advocates of abortion march

By United Press International

Demonstrators in many parts of the nation marched, rang bells and placed advertisements in newspapers to protest legalized abortion Tuesday, the first anniversary of the Supreme Court's decison striking down state anti-abortion laws.

There were also some demonstrations applauding the court's year-old decision.

But most public activity was in protest to the Supreme Court's ruling, and the biggest demonstration was held in Washington, D.C., where Sen. James L. Buckley, CR-N.Y., called the day the ruling was handed down "the blackest day in the history of American jurisprudence."

An estimated 20,000 persons, many wearing black arm bands and carrying placards, staged a rally at Philadelphia's Independence Mall.

And demonstrators delivered about 22,000 red roses to members of Congress Tuesday before gathering on the steps of the Capitol to call for a constitutional amendement reversing last year's Supreme Court decision approving abortion.

In New York State, where an attempt to repeal a law permitting abortion failed last year when former Gov. Nelson Rockefeller vetoed the measure, pro and antiabortion demonstrators clashed in front of the capitol in Albany.

In New York City, however, about 60 Roman Catholic women dramatized their opposition to the church's stand on abortion by crowning Pat Forgarty McQuillan as "pope" on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Ms. McQuillan, president and founder of Catholics for a Free Choice, wore a white paper crown with the insignia of the women's liberation movement and blessed the demonstrators "in the name of the mother, the daughter and the holy grandmother."

The women placed a wreath of white carnations on the cathdedral steps "in memory of all women the church has caused to die because of illegal abortions."

In Cincinnati some 3,000 persons, organized by the "Coalition for Free Choice" signed a petition thanking the U.S. Supreme Court for its decision to legalize abortion.

But antiabortion forces placed a large ad in a Cincinnati newspaper saying: "Eliminate Human Problems, not Human Beings."

The "Right to Life" movement sponsored other demonstrations in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Hartford, Conn., and Cincinnati.

The Philadelphia crowd, half of which consisted of parochial school children given time off from classwork, cheered as Cardinal John Krol, archbishop of Philadelphia, said:

"Let history record that we are continuing to fight to safeguard the rights of all human beings, including those of the unborn."

Buckley, speaking later to an antiabortion fund-raising dinner in Philadelphia, said the Supreme Court's decision "was sloppy in its craftmanship, ignorant in its signing, and disastrous in its moral impact."

Aussie pays $154 for queen's bridal cake made in 1840

LONDON (UPI) — An Australian paid $154 today for a piece of Queen Victoria's 1840 wedding cake.

Lt. Col Keith Carey of the Australian High Commission paid the price (seven times more than had been expected) for a tiny box containing three rock-hard, fingernail sized brown pieces of cake and a few crumbs.

A card attached to the box attested, under a black royal crown, that the chunks came from "The Queen's Bridal Cakes, Buckingham Palace, Feb. 10, 1840."

U.S. vows to find American missing in China-Viet battle

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. government today promised to exert "every effort" to locate an American man missing since Chinese forces captured the disputed Paracel Islands from South Vietnam.

The U.S. Embassy in Saigon said the American was a civilian employe of the U.S. defense attache's office in Danang. The man's father, reached in the United States, said he had served as a captain in the U.S. Special Forces.

The Chinese forces sank a South Vietnamese patrol boat in the invasion of the disputed island chain.

A Dutch tanker today picked up 23 survivors from the South China Sea. The Saigon command quoted the the survivors, who had been floating in the water for days, as saying their skipper and many fellow crewmen went down with the ship.

The U.S. Embassy in Saigon identified the American missing in the Paracel Islands incident as Gerald Emil Kosh, 27, of Lafayette Hill, Pa. It said he was a civilian U.S. employe on assignment with the South Vietnamese navy.

"Every effort is is being made to learn his whereabouts and return him to South Vietnam," the embassy said.

In Pennsylvania, Emil Kosh, the missing man's father, said his son had served two tours of duty with the U.S. Green Berets when the United States was still involved in the Vietnam War and held the rank of captain

Report claims N. Viets hold 9 U.S. fliers captive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U.S. Congressman says he has been told by a pro-American Laotian general that at least nine American flyers are still being held captive by North Vietnam.

But the Congresman—Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman, D-N.Y.— joined by Defense and State Department officials, warned families of missing U.S. servicemen "...to be wary of raising their hopes since there is no substantiation of these reports at this time."

Gilman said Tuesday his information came from Laotian Gen. Vang Pao, who led the Central Intelligence Agency's secret army of Meo tribesmen in northern Laos.

According to Gilman, the general told him he had "reliable information that about nine American pilots are now being held by the North Vietnamese for providing any technical information they might possess."

But the State Department, in issuing its statement warning against the raising of "false hopes," said Vang Pao had made "similar comments" in the past which "careful investigation" had failed to substantiate.

The Pentagon said that while it was "checking it out," the story did not "correlate with anything we've had to date.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedhem said there was no indication any Americans were still being held by North Vietnam.

The Pentagon also disputed Vang Pao's statement that the North Vietnamese would hold any pilots captured for their technical information.

Defense officials said not only would the pilots have little technical data of any use to the Vietnamese, but Hanoi shot down so many planes during the war, they could probably build their own if they desired.

Gilman said he talked to Vang Poa last week when he flew to the general's headquarters at Long Cheng.

The Pentagon still lists 1,127 Americans as missing in action in Indochina and has declared another 1,300 dead based on the circumstances of their disappearance even though their bodies have not been found.

British labor leaders swing behind miners

LONDON (UPI) — Leaders of Britain's largest labor unions today swung solidly behind 269,000 coal miners in their pay struggle with the government. They promised all-out support if the miners call a nationwide shutdown.

At the same time, in a bid to head off a threatened national rail stoppage, management of the state-run British Railways Board invited leaders of all three railroad unions for what it termed "informal" peace talks Thursday.

Two unions accepted immediately. The union representing 29,000 locomotive engineers, whose overtime ban since Dec. 12 has disrupted rail services, said it would "study" the invitation.

First of maritime academy's 'midshipwomen' off on cruise

VALLEJO, Calif. (UPI) — The first women "middies" at the California Martime Academy set sail today on an eight-week cruise with 237 male counterparts.

"This is the first time in the United States that women students will be going on an annual training cruise," said academy spokesman Harry Diavatis.

Miss Arnold is studying to be an engineering officer while the others hope to be deck officers. The women are officially midshipmen and the only use of the word "midshipwoman" is on the uniform list.

Asked if she thought the women would get seasick, Miss Fivey replied: "We'll find out."

She said her experiences at the school were "exciting" but wondered "how a man who has been going to sea for 30 years will react when he has to take orders from a woman."

The girls have separate quarters aboard the cruise ship "Golden Bear," but a spokesman said their duties will be the same as those of male students.

The ship will visit West Coast ports and Honolulu before returning home March 22. The schedule originally called for a voyage to the Far East but this was cut back because of the fuel crisis, an academy spokesman said.

The Academy was the first in the country to enroll women cadets, said Rear Ad. Joseph R. Rizza, the commandant.

"They all survived the first semester and that's the toughest one," he said. "They are doing well and we expect them all to go out into interesting careers."

Alternatives being considered involve tertiary treatment, or improved quality in the reclaimed water.

A study done by James M. Montgomery, Consulting Engineers Inc. for the city of Pomona, lists 11 potential users of secondary-treated and tertiary-treated reclaimed water.

Copies of the project report in its entirety are available for reference at the Pomona plant, 295 S. Roselawn Ave., and at the Pomona Public Library.

Chino assessment district

Industrial area improvement OK'd

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

CHINO — A 460-acre industrial area will soon take on an improved look.

The City Council Tuesday night gave approval for a program to include street lights, street improvements, sewers, water lines, storm drains and the placing of telephone lines in an area generally bounded between Central and Ramona avenues and Schaefer and Eucalyptus streets.

The assessment district, which contains several industrial plants, is master planned by the city as its manufacturing area.

Total cost is estimated at $1.3 million, which includes construction, bonds, engineering and legal costs.

The City Council awarded a contract to Laird Construction Co. of Claremont for $994,567 to do the work. The firm submitted the lowest of 13 sealed bids. Its offer was well below the engineer's estimate of $1.5 million.

Officials also approved the sale of improvement bonds to Stern, Brenner and Co., which submitted a bid with a 6.15 interest rate.

Improvement costs will be shared by the property owners, City of Chino and San Bernardino County, said George Mimack, consulting engineer. He gave this breakdown; Property owners, $1.2 million; city, $53,000; and county, $37,000.

Work could start within one month and be completed within four months, added MimMack.

In another matter, the council reviewed schematic plans for a new police station, city hall and council chambers proposed to be constructed in the county-city complex, located at Central Avenue and D Street.

Officials asked that they be placed on the county supervisors agenda at a future date to discuss ways to proceed with the planning and construction.

Representatives of the Cashion and Horie architect firm showed preliminary plans which showed a two story city hall structure, a one story police building with basement, and a council chambers with 120 to 150 seats.

The county portion of the center will include a library, court and sheriff's office.

'Not with victim at killing time'

ONTARIO — John Frank Antick on trial for murder in West Valley Superior Court, testified Tuesday he was not with a friend, Donald Bose, when Bose was killed in a gun battle with Upland Police Officers investigating a burglary Sept. 28.

Antick, 45, of Banning, is charged with murder, assault with a deadly weapon, and burglary in connection with the death of Bose. Under California law, if a person is killed in the commission of felony, his accomplices can be held responsible for his death and charged with murder.

Bose was killed by Upland Police Officers Robert Smeaton and Nello Petronzio on Shelley Avenue after shooting at the officers. The prosecution contends that Antick, while not in the car with Bose at the time of the shooting, was nearby, and allegedly aiding Bose in the commission of a burglary.

Antick said that he and Bose had been friends for about 2½ years and that he was living with Bose at a Banning home just prior to the shooting.

Antick said that Bose, the evening of Sept. 28, invited him to drive to Hollywood that night. Antick said he agreed and they left Banning about 6 or 7 p.m.

Antick testified that when he and Bose reached Cucamonga he asked Bose to stop so he could make a "buy" of heroin.

Antick said Bose was somewhat negative about the use of heroin and they got into an argument. Antick said that he and Bose stopped the car during the argument on Archibald Avenue in Cucamonga. Antick said he got out and Bose drove off.

Antick said he tried unsuccessfully to make a heroin buy in Cucamonga and then decided to hitchhike back to Banning.

Antick said he learned from Bose's mother that Bose had been killed by police and was in an Upland mortuary.

Spots him on freeway

CHP officer gets his man--3 months later

POMONA — Capt. W. C. Jones of the California Highway Patrol renewed an old acquaintance Tuesday on the San Bernardino Freeway.

He stopped a driver whose truck overturned on Jones' patrol car on the same freeway last October.

Jessie Grigsby of Gardena never showed up in Pomona Municipal Court to answer charges of reckless driving and driving with an open beer container in his vehicle, resulting from the first accident. A warrant was out for his arrest.

Jones said he was on Kellogg Hill returning from a meeting in West Covina when he recognized the driver, who was operating the same type of truck involved in the October accident.

Grigsby was taken to the sheriff's jail in the City of Industry, pending his court appearance.

In the October accident, Jones had stopped a small station wagon for speeding. As both vehicles were parked along the freeway shoulder, the truck came up behind them, ran upon a sloped bank and overturned on both the cars. An occupant in the station wagon suffered minor injuries.

Jones said he stopped the trucker Tuesday about two miles from the accident scene.

Hunting violation

CIM chief pleads guilty

CHINO — California Institution for Men Supt. Bertram Griggs and one of four friends cited by a fish and game warden for hunting geese without a duck stamp pleaded guilty and were ordered to pay $65 fines by Chino Municipal Court Judge Philip Schaefer Tuesday afternoon.

Griggs, Antonio Crescenti and Vincenzo Lombardo of San Diego and Ronald P. and Robert W. Brady of La Mesa were seen hunting geese on CIM prison grounds Dec. 29. A state fish and game warden, observing the hunters in some recently constructed duck blinds, waited at the prison gate until they appeared.

The warden, Douglas Buchanan, checking their licenses, discovered that the five men did not have a valid duck stamp. The five were cited and ordered to appear in the Chino court for arraignment Tuesday.

The violation brought severe criticism to Griggs and the Department of Corrections from state legislators. As a result Griggs reportedly was reprimanded by DOC officials and all future duck hunting on state prison land was prohibited.

Only Griggs and Crescenti appeared in the Chino Court before Judge Schaefer. Crescenti told the judge that he was prepared to pay the fines for the Brady brothers and Lombardo. Judge Schaefer informed Crescenti that the citation requires a court appearance, but a total of $125 bail for each of those not appearing would be accepted.

After Griggs and Crescenti pleaded guilty, Judge Schaefer then asked his clerk for a copy of penalty sheet for violations of fish and game laws. Schaefer, noting that he was not entirely familiar with fish and game laws, recessed the court and retired to his chambers about 10 minutes. Before the judge left the chambers both Griggs and Crescenti said they had purchased the required duck stamps the same day they were cited.

Judge Schaefer returned and told Griggs and Crescenti that the maximum fine for the misdemeanor could be $500 and-or six months in county jail. "But in light of the fact you purchased the duck stamps I fine you $100, $50 suspended, plus a penalty assessement." Duck stamps in the state cost only $1 with a valid hunting license.

Griggs and Crescenti then paid their fines that came to a total of $65 each.

Collision with car hurts pair on bike

POMONA — Two boys were injured Tuesday afternoon when the bike they were riding ran into a car on Reservoir Street south of Ellen Place, police reported.

David J. Mardorf, 13, was operating the bike and Anthony Valenzuela, 8, was riding double. Both live at 2098 S. San Antonio Ave.

Each boy suffered a broken arm and both had multiple cuts and bruises. They were reported in fairly good condition today at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Police reported the boys were riding on Reservoir Street when they turned into the side of a car driven by Cheryl Sue Wittenbrock, 16, of 12835 McKinley Ave., Chino.

A 15-year-old youth was hit by a motorist who drove away Tuesday after saying he was leaving to call an ambulance. The victim, Melvin Hawskins, 1461 Hacienda Place, was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital but refused treatment there for facial injuries and injuries to his elbows, police said. They said he also refused to make a statement about the incident. He was struck while crossing Arrow Highway west of Wilkie Drive.

P-B ad man promoted to position in Nevada

KEN KLIEWER

POMONA — Ken Kliewer of the Progress-Bulletin's display advertising sales staff has been promoted to advertising manager of the Daily Times in Ely, Nev.

This newspaper and the one in Ely are independently operated members of the Donrey Media Group.

Kliewer has been an employe of the Progress-Bulletin since 1961 and an advertising sales representative for the past six years. His association with the P-B began as a carrier in 1954 in his native Chino. He attended Chino schools and was graduated from high school in 1958. His father, Arthur Kliewer of Chino. was a compositor for the Progress-Bulletin for 27 years before his retirement.

Ken Kliewer has been an active member of the Jaycees for 10 years. He has been on the board of directors for three years, served as first vice president and secretary, and this year is second vice president. He has won the Key Man Award, several Presidential Awards, the Spark Plug of the Quarter, Jaycee of the Month, and numerous certificates of merit. At the district level he has been secretary.

Kliewer is a charter member of the Southern California Press Club and he has been a board member. He has also been a director of the Pomona Red Cross Chapter and the Friends of the Pomona Band.

Loose steam line found in Onofre test

ROSEMEAD — Officials of the Southern California Edison Co. have reported that during a routine pressure test at the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station a loosened steam line support was found in the non-nuclear section.

They said that although the support had moved about an inch from its normal mounting, the problem was minor and had not affected the steam line itself.

They estimated that it would take two days to make repairs and that it would not delay the return of the plant to service the end of January.

The Edison tests follow established procedures used before steam plants are returned to service after maintenance on the steam supply system.

Even thouth the problem was minor, it was reported to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Ordinarily an occurrence of this nature would not justify a press release, the spokesman said, but because of the misunderstanding which occurred in connection with the Oct. 21 turbine blade failure, Edison is making this announcement.

Youth falls over cliff to death

PALOS VERDES (UPI) — Two youths walking on a rain softened cliff fell 200 feet Tuesday, killing one and seriously injuring the other.

Victor M. Villagomez, 17, was dead on arrival at the Torrance Memorial Hospital. Alex Guilmette, also 17, was listed in very critical condition.

They were both from Torrance.

A girl who tried to help them when the loose ground gave way was in satisfactory condition with cuts and bruises.

I have the only DC-10s to both Houston and New Orleans.

I'm Judy and I was born to fly.
I've got a lot going for you to Houston including nonstop DC-10 service twice a day.

And I've got a lot going for you to New Orleans, too. The only DC-10's.

My Houston schedule has daily nonstops, from early in the morning until late at night, including the only DC-10 night coach for $90 one way including tax, a nominal airport security surcharge is extra.

Here's the way it looks:

Lv. Los Angeles (all nonstop)	Ar. Houston
9:10am	2:00pm
2:30pm (DC-10)	7:20pm
1:15am (DC-10 night coach)	6:05am

My New Orleans schedule has the only DC-10 service from Los Angeles, a nonstop every morning, and a money-saving DC-10 night coach.

Here's the way it looks:

Lv. Los Angeles	Ar. New Orleans
9:10am (direct)	3:27pm
10:05am (nonstop DC-10)	3:27pm
2:30pm (direct DC-10)	8:42pm
1:15am (DC-10 night coach)	7:37am

You'll love flying my big, wide-bodied DC-10. It's the most luxurious, comfortable plane in the sky (and the quietest).

With twin aisles, and two-abreast seating throughout (so you're never more than one seat away from the aisle). And multi-channeled stereo entertainment.

Something else, when you're flying to Houston or New Orleans you can fly my Las Vegas Stopover Fare on any flight.

For just $1 more than the regular coach fare you can stop off in Las Vegas. Coming or going. You can't beat the fun in Las Vegas. And you can't beat the value of my $1 Stopover Fare.

Fly me to Houston or New Orleans.

CANDIDATE — State Sen. David A. Roberti has announced he will run for the office of lieutenant governor. Roberti, a Democrat, promised to provide "strong economic leadership" for California.

It's prison for former congressman

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Former Rep. John W. Dowdy, D-Tex., has lost his battle to stay out of prison and was ordered to report to the Springfield, Mo., Federal Penitentiary to begin serving a six-month term for perjury next Monday.

Dowdy's attorney argued during a federal hearing Tuesday that the Texas Democrat, a veteran of 20 years in the House, was in ill health and the jail term would kill him.

"Dowdy has suffered enough," said defense attorney Leon H.A. Pierson. "He is now a sick man, unemployed and has lived and is living under this conviction.

"Dowdy takes daily medication and at times needs immediate medical attention," Pierson said. "A sentence in jail could amount to a death sentence."

U.S. District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen said after examination by prison physicians, he would consider a hearing on freeing Dowdy. But he questioned Dowdy's contention that he should not go to prison because of ill health.

"This court must take with a grain of salt anything produced by Mr. Dowdy," Thomsen said, noting his three count perjury conviction.

Dowdy, who began 20 years in the House in 1952, was accused of accepting a $25,000 bribe in return for trying to block a Justice Department investigation of a Baltimore home improvement firm in 1969.

He was convicted in 1971 on eight counts of bribery, conspiracy and perjury, but the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals threw out all but the three perjury counts and reduced his original 18-month sentence to six months.

Delayed by Chino board

All-year school program extension awaits hearing

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — The school board delayed action on Supt. Royce Lapp's recommendation Tuesday night for extension of the year-round school program, preferring to wait until a public hearing Feb. 5 at 8 p.m.

Lapp recommended accepting a school advisory committee's recommendation to extend the year-round program to all kindergarten to 9th grade schools except the Riverside campus. Chino High School would also be excluded from the 45-15 program next school year.

The board also heard a report from John West, teacher at Magnolia Junior High School and a member of the Associated Chino Teachers, on a survey of all district teachers conducted by ACT.

However, board member Pete Vander Poel suggested that rather than conduct a public hearing on an already lengthy agenda Tuesday night, the matter be delayed until Feb. 5. He also suggested that the regular board meeting be held from 7 to 8 p.m. on that date and if the crowd size warrants it the public hearing for all-year school be moved to the Riverside campus auditorium.

The Riverside campus and Chino High would maintain a traditional program for those not wishing to participate in the program calling for nine weeks of school and three weeks of vacation commencing July 8.

The primary points brought out by Lapp, West and those surveyed concerning the year-round scheduling dealt with the lack of air conditioning at such schools as Gird elementary and primary, Newman and El Rancho, possible complication at Glenmeade School which is currently on a special open classroom program, and a 60 per cent negative reaction from high school teachers about the expansion of the program there.

The superintendent noted in his report to the board that additional planning time was needed at Chino High before introduction of the program there. He also pointed out that transportation to the alternate campuses at the high school and Riverside Drive would be provided from throughout the district.

Principals Richard Meyer and Charles Stortz of Magnolia Junior High and Walnut Elementary schools respectively — where the program is under way — also indicated in their evaluation reports that there was "no evidence of any decrease in student achievement." They also reported that overall student and parent reaction had been positive.

Lapp read directly from his written report on the proposal for 1974-75 academic year.

"Staff attitude in all schools except Glenmeade and Gird has been generally positive. There are concerns by the staff at Gird, as well as El Rancho, for the problems which will exist if air conditioning is not in. The staff at Glenmeade is just getting under way in its first full year of the open classroom and is reluctant to attempt the YRS planning this year. The concern of all three groups seems to be a question of timing rather than a question of the year round concept," Lapp read.

He also stated that to avoid going on double sessions at certain schools and to assure that all children in the same family are on the same schedule, it is desirable at this time to convert to year-round school in all elementary schools, Ramona Junior High and Don Antonio Lugo High schools.

"I further recommend that a system of open zoning be utilized in all year-round schools. This system provides for assignment to tracks (attendance areas) within the schedule on the basis of parent choice rather than by geographic area as we now do in the pilot program." he said.

After reading his report, Lapp stated that he thought "there are alternatives to what I have proposed. But I think this is the best alternative."

The board instructed the district staff to investigate the possibility of using district money for air conditioning and tentatively revising the year-round school calendar for report to the board and public on Feb. 5.

They invited all interested persons to attend the meeting to voice their opinions.

Icelanders harness killer volcano for heat-energy

By KARI JONASSON

VESTMANNAEYJAR, Iceland (UPI) — The Helgafjell volcano, once a symbol of devastation, is now Iceland's answer to the energy crisis.

The long dormant volcano roared to life one year ago today, burying homes under a river of molten lava and apparently killing this port town.

Now, a new, volcano-heated town is rising on the hot ashes.

Some 2,500 of the town's original 5,200 residents have returned to their old homes. And with the aid of volunteers from all over the world, they are taming and harnessing the heat-energy of the 6,000-year dormant volcano.

The latest eruption stopped on July 3, 1973. When the eruptions ceased, scientists began experimenting with the thermal power in the lava to heat homes.

They concluded the lava contained enough heat to warm all houses on the island for the next 20 years.

The first home was connected Sunday by pipe with a hole dug into the edge of the hot lava. Inside the hole workers put spiral pipes and pumped water through. By the time it reached the home, the water reached a temperature of 149 degrees.

Scientists are now thinking of heating the town's new hospital by this method.

"I live and you will live," is written on the circle over the churchyard gate.

The churchyard was buried under a 12-foot blanket of ashes and debris, but was one of the first places to be cleared.

Today, hardly a trace of the black ash remains there, the gateway inscription could stand as a symbol of the eruption and Vestmannaeyjar's survival.

Ash and lava buried about one third of the 1,200 homes on the island. Now there are plans to build 400 new homes in the western part of the town.

The resettlement has been faster than hoped 10 months ago. This winter two large fish meal factories and three modern freezing plants will go into operation.

About 60 to 70 fishing boats are also scheduled to sail out of the harbor during the fishing season which is just beginning. Mayor Magnies Magnusson said, "We have plenty of jobs for everyone."

AMTRAK shoveling all the coal in as business booms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Advance bookings for Amtrak coach seats and sleeping car rooms are running 2½ times greater than last summer's peak travel months, and calls to Amtrak reservations centers have almost doubled.

The figures are taken by Amtrak as an indication that the crush of new riders over the past two months was not a holiday fluke, and that the passenger train will continue to reap benefits from the energy crisis.

"We're going on the assumption that the energy crisis is real and it's going to be with us for some time," said an Amtrak spokesman.

With airlines cutting back on flights, and with gasoline becoming more expensive and hard to find, many Americans have re-discovered the passenger train, spurred on by federal statements that it is the most energy-efficient form of transportation.

During November, the first month of national concern over the energy crisis, Amtrak revenues were up 50 per cent over a year earlier. Preliminary figures for December indicate a 40 per cent rise in revenue over the previous year.

But both of these months contained holidays, and there was some question what would happen as Amtrak entered the mid-winter months, a low travel time except for Florida trains.

Through the first week in January, the advance bookings for train space during this midwinter doldrum period was 203,000, compared with an average of 85,000 during July and August, the peak train travel months. Phone calls to reservations centers are holding up at 60,000 a day, compared to the July-August average of 32,000 per day, and the phone system must soon be expanded.

The new demand has caught Amtrak unprepared in more ways than phone lines. The greatest deficiency is in passenger cars. Amtrak is now using almost every one of its approximately 1,900 cars, at least those it can keep in repair, and only 200 to 300 used cars are still available throughout the country for Amtrak purchase or lease. Amtrak now realizes it waited too long to order new cars.

Delivery of new cars will take time, and meanwhile Amtrak is trying to make its existing equipment do more.

For short trips, it will cut down on rest room lounge space in some coaches, resulting in an additional eight to 16 seats per car. A refurbishing program has been stepped up to 60 to 70 cars per month from the old 50 per month rate.

U.S. bank helps finance Egyptian oil pipeline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Export-Import Bank said that it will provide up to $100 million in financing support for the construction of a crude oil pipeline in Egypt.

The project is expected to result in the sale of up to $200 million of U.S. goods and services. The Export-Import Bank assistance will be a combination loan and financial guarantee. The borrower is the Suez-Mediterranean Petroleum Pipeline Corporation (SUMED) of Cairo.

The company plans a 200-mile long, 42-inch diameter line with pumping stations, storage facilities and marine loading terminals to be designed and constructed under the guidance of the Bechtel Corp. of San Francisco.

Teens claim world mark on see-saw

BLOUNTSVILLE, Alabama (UPI) — Terry Murphree and Russell Pinyan, both 16, ended 618 hours on a see-saw Sunday evening, proclaiming a new world record for a see-saw marathon.

Since Dec. 25, when they climbed into bucket seats taken from an old automobile and attached to a 13-inch wide board, the boys have raised $6,450 of the $12,000 needed for new uniforms for the high school band.

The see-saw, placed in the Blountsville High School gymnasium, became their second home and they were only off it about 25 minutes a day.

"I think they're planning on cutting a cake and then I guess I'll go home," Pinyan said. "I've about forgot what it looked like.

The youths ate their meals, slept by turns, handled class assignments brought by cooperative teachers and even celebrated their 16th birthdays— both Dec. 28—on the see-saw.

SADDER, BUT WISER — This Great Snowy Owl, a denizen of the Arctic rarely seen in the U.S. figures he should have stayed home. The three-pound female was apparently hit by gunshot and treated at Seattle's Woodland Park zoo where a veterinarian bandaged its wing and said it would heal.

A new approach

Kids telling other kids: quit smoking

LA PORTE, Ind. (UPI) — Youngsters listen only to other youngsters, Mike Mathis says. So he recruited high school students to tell other youngsters to quit smoking.

The call themselves Smokers Anonymous, and they meet every Thursday in a room at La Porte High School.

"There are 10 of us," Mathis said. "Maybe some high school in Nevada will pick up the idea and they'll do it better than us and have 100 members.

"Everything else has been tried to help kids quit smoking. Nothing has worked. We want to see if we can get kids to stop."

Arlo Westphal, assistant principal at the high school, said there have been fewer suspensions for smoking since the organization began a few months ago.

"And fewer teachers are bringing in students for smoking violations," he said. "I'm excited this plan just may work."

Mathis, 30, a management consultant and self-appointed coordinator of the group, started Smokers Anonymous by encouraging 15-year-old Kathy Erwin to sign her name to an ad in the school newspaper.

"I'm killing myself," the ad read in part, "because I smoke."

Kathy said she quit smoking soon after the ad ran and now hasn't had a cigarette in over two months.

"But it's been hard to get kids interested in the organization because if they're cheerleaders, say, they don't want anyone to know they smoke," Kathy said.

The members have organized a speakers bureau and have made appearances at two high schools in Michigan City, Ind. They are actively supporting a clean air bill in the Indiana legislature and expect to testify in public hearings on the bill.

"We've also requested that Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., get us an appointment before the Consumer Protection Agency under the Hazardous Power Act," Mathis said.

"There are laws in every state banning the sale of cigarettes to people under 18," he said. "Within the week, we are going to the prosecuting attorney to ask him to enforce the law."

Kathy said the organization itself is loose.

"There's no obligation to quitting (smoking)," she said. "We just talk about it.

"Some of the kids haven't quit yet. But they promote it because they don't want younger kids to get started. They sort of consider themselves hopelessly hooked, but they don't want anyone else to smoke.

New theory offered for artery hardening

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (UPI) — In a sharp departure from the ideas of most doctors, a Seattle scientist has suggested that hardening and narrowing of the arteries may be caused by the growth of benign tumors instead of deposits of fat.

But Dr. Earl P. Benditt, chairman of the Department of Pathology at the University of Washington School of Medicine, said fatty material derived from cholesterol in the blood may be a major contributor to tumor growth in blood vessels.

"One must not go out and eat as much fat, butter, eggs and so forth as one would like to because this is likely a promoting factor and it does significantly, I think, still increase the risk of atherosclerosis," he said Monday.

Atherosclerosis is the disease that clogs the inside lining of arteries and is America's leading killer. By making it easier for a clot to form and deprive the heart and brain of blood, it sets the stage for 880,000 deaths annually from heart attacks and strokes in the United States.

Benditt presented his radically new theory at a seminar sponsored by the American Heart Association. Dr. Richard S. Ross, president of the association, said Benditt's idea "is very attractive and one which we want to watch develop."

In another report, Dr. Donald C. Harrison, chief cardiologist at the Stanford University Medical Center, Palo Alto, Calif., said accelerated cases of atherosclerosis have been detected in the new hearts of six transplant patients who died after surviving for relatively long periods. Harrison said the patients' own blood vessels were in much better condition.

Harrison said the rapid growth of material in the arteries of the transplanted heart may have been caused by damage resulting from body rejection processes.

Benditt said the tumorous growths he believes sometimes form in blood vessels may be instigated by chemical agents eaten or inhaled, such as cigarette smoke. He also said viruses may play a role in starting the tumors.

Benditt said an examination of the details of human arteries with atherosclerosis and studies of the disease in animals was responsible for his idea. He said the characteristics of the cells suggested they might be benign tumors.

He said it appears the genetic makeup of the originating cell is altered somehow so it gains an advantage over neighboring cells and multiplies.

Bill aims at gas mileage stickers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill requiring new car dealers to display the average gas mileage of automobiles they sell was introduced recently by Assemblyman Jim Keysor, D-Granada Hills.

The measure (AB2868) would require the approximate gas mileage to be posted on or near the new car that is for sale. It does not apply to used cars.

SURPRISE!!! — Betty Smith, 17, Crabtree, Ore., registers complete shock as Janice Waibel, Oregon Dairy Princess 1973, crowns her with the 1974 title.

Business as usual at DuPont's Walston despite firm's sale

POMONA Although the brokerage firm of DuPont Walston, Inc. is selling its branch offices and going out of business, local investors will find little change in operations at the firm's Foothill Boulevard office.

"We'll just have a different name," said Frank H. Bickel, a vice president of the firm who head the local office.

Bickel said that while employes are free to leave when the sale is completed, most of the 15-member staff will stay on the job here.

The local office is one of 143 branches across the nation which will be sold, possibly this week, following a weekend decision by company officials.

A spokesman for the firm said all customer accounts are adequately protected, business operations will continue during the sale negotiations and that the sale was not prompted by any regulatory agency restrictions.

The firm, formed last July with the merger of F.I. duPont, Glore Forgan, Inc. and Walston and Co., is the second largest brokerage house in the country.

Despite a healthy net capital profile and a low indebtedness ratio as required by New York Stock Exchange guidelines, the firm reported losses of $10.4 million during the first five months after consolidation.

In addition to these losses and the uncertainty in current markets and industry conditions, the sale was necessary, officials said, because H. Ross Perot, the Texas computer millionaire and financier who invested some $90 million in the firm, had decided to make no more money available.

Congressman Hosmer won't seek 12th term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After 21 years in Congress, veteran lawmaker Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., 58, has decided not seek a 12th term in the House.

Hosmer, in announcing his decision Monday, indicated his decision not to run again was due in part to a California Supreme Court decision realigning the state's congressional districts.

Hosmer, 58, an attorney and retired naval reserve rear admiral, is the ranking Republican member of both the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and the House Interior Committee.

"Long seniority helps a congressman serve his constituency well, but from time to time it is also healthy for fresh talent to move up to governmental responsibility," Hosmer said.

"It has been a tough decision," he said, "but now seems to be the logical time for me to make way for a new representative in the new 34th Congressional District."

Despite his retirement from Congress, Hosmer said he had "no intention of retiring from work."

"I will eventually go into business or return to law or other government service, but I have no definite plans at this time," he said.

He expressed his "deep gratitude" to the people of the present 32nd District for allowing him "to serve long and continuously in the Congress during an era of key decisions on nuclear, environmental and many other vital issues of historic concern."

Pay raise pays off with theft charge

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Tilmon Rochelle's pay raise from $359 a month to $389 an hour didn't look so good today. Rochelle is behind bars.

The 36-year-old airplane cleaner for World Airways received a raise of $30 last August, bringing his monthly salary to $389. But Rochelle was mum when his first paycheck including his raise totaled $1,568 for a short week's work.

And he kept quiet the following weeks when his checks totaled $5,129 and $1,800.

But, when a company accountant looked over Rochelle's pay records after Rochelle was involved in a car accident and found a computer foulup that was giving the employe more than company president Edward J. Daly.

Rochelle, who had quietly cashed the checks, was arrested Monday and charged with three counts of grand theft. He was being held in city jail in lieu of $3,000 bail.

"Well, he explained, "I just figured they'd finally realized how much I'm really worth.

Dispute with IRS

Millionaire takes his seat in Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cleveland millionaire Howard M. Metzenbaum sat in the rear of the chamber Monday and listened attentively while the Senate debated whether to investigate his $118,102 tax problem.

After an hour and a half of sometimes acidic debate, the Senate voted to seat Metzenbaum as its newest member with no investigation of his six-year-old dispute with the Internal Revenue Service.

Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, who defeated Metzenbaum for a Senate seat in 1970, thereupon accompanied him down the aisles to Vice President Gerald R. Ford, who swore him in. Senators and supporters in the packed galleries applauded.

Metzenbaum, a Democrat, was appointed by Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan to the Senate seat vacated by Republican William B. Saxbe when Saxbe became attorney general.

Two days before his appointment, Metzenbaum deposited $118,102 with the U.S. Tax Court in case he loses the tax dispute.

That's the amount the IRS claims he owes on a $298,000 business deduction the taxmen say he was not entitled to claim. He says he was right.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., moved that the Senate Rules Committee investigate the tax matter.

But Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., clutching a copy of the Constitution, argued no grounds existed for challenging Metzenbaum since he met the Constitution's three requirements —he was over age 30, a citizen for more than nine years and an inhabitant of the state from which he was appointed.

Curtis fought back, telling Ervin, in a reference to his Watergate committee fame: "Although I am not experienced as a television actor, I shall do my very best to make my point clear."

Ervin's motion to table and thus kill Curtis' proposal carried, 53-22.

There was a moment of stunned silence when Ford made an error in announcing the vote. He said there were 53 no votes and 22 yes votes, instead of the reverse. Senators whispered to him and he quickly corrected the error.

Metzenbaum will give the Senate a slightly more liberal tinge. Saxbe usually voted for the administration position and Metzenbaum is expected to vote with the liberal Democratic bloc.

The Senate now has 58 Democrats and 42 Republicans.

Metzenbaum, who made his fortune developing airport parking lots, will be opposed for the Democratic nomination for a full six-year term by astronaut John Glenn. He defeated Glenn for the nomination in 1970.

Nudist ranch barely gets by in shortage

GLEN GARDEN, N.J. (UPI) — When winter hits the Circle H nudist ranch the cold usually drives off a large portion of less hearty nudists. This year owner Earl Hansen says business has fallen even flatter due to the energy shortage.

The New Yorkers and the northern New Jersey crowds who normally spend their weekends at the 20-acre ranch in the Monmouth County hills are "afraid to come down" because of the gasoline shortage, he said.

On top of that, the price of electricity has forced Circle H to cut back on a number of facilities, including the heated swimming pool. Hansen closed the 100,000 gallon pool just before Christmas because the cost of heating it rose from $210 to $600 per week in less than a year.

"With nudism the pool is the main thing. Without a pool you're nothing," said Hansen, 50, who has been running the colony with his wife, Lucille, for nearly 10 years.

Hansen said the "recreational" passtime has been growing steadily. The Circle H, where there are no strict rules prohibiting clothing except in the pool area, has been attracting a "higher echelon" crowd, he said.

But if this winter is an indication, the days of the large crowds are over. Hansen said the only full crowd was New Year's Eve, when some guests had to be put up at a local motel. Those who attended the annual drinking party wore "minimum dress" and only "a few" were nude.

Last year between 100 and 150 people would show up on a normal winter weekend, but this year an average of between 20 and 50 persons have driven out to Circle H, where they found more than the swimming pool shut down.

Hansen has turned off four freezers, three refrigerators and six mercury vapor lights, cut the menu and lowered the temperature in buildings to 60 degrees.

"Of course, being nudists, the cold doesn't bother us so much. You get used to living at 60 degrees," Hansen said.

The outdoor activities still attract guests. A 60-foot pond is frozen over and serves for ice skating. There is a 50-foot high hill with a quarter-mile ski course. Most of the skiiers and skaters wear clothes, but Hansen says there are always a few nudes.

When the summer warms things up, Hansen hopes business will get better. Grounds for pitching tents and campers will be open, and Hansen plans to revive an old idea which won him statewide publicity in 1965 —putting on an all-nude play.

The last car on a freight train, the caboose, gets its name from "kabuys," which originally meant the cook's quarters on a ship. Freight trainmen sometimes cook in their "cabooses," so the change from ship to train is not far-fetched.

For Thursday, Jan. 24

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There is much opportunity around you today, particularly through group associations or friends. Make the most of reliable contacts.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your present course of action calls favorable attention to yourself and wins the support of allies. Continue along these lines.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Think in larger terms. The plans you make now will later pay off in proportion to the scope in which you envision your hopes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Continue to concentrate your major efforts where you're involved with another in a common cause. Today will be fortunate for both.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's a good time to press for an agreement on a major issue that will further your interests if you're negotiating an important matter.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today will be very productive for you. You're in harmony with influences that tend to benefit you in work or career.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Behave generously toward those closest to your heart. What you give now will later be returned in a larger measure.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It would be fun to come to your house today. You will make a gracious host or hostess. Bring the boss for dinner to firm-up your relationship.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your attitude today will be optimistic. Your ability to communicate and get others to agree will be easy. A good day if you're promoting.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There should be a big, bright spot in your financial picture today. If buying or selling, the advantages appear to be with you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Any area that looks like it could advance your self-interests is worth exploring now. Luck is with you — if you move now.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't leave things dangling or loose threads hanging in important dealings. Be persistent. Discipline yourself. Finish what you start.

Your Birthday

You'll do things on a larger scale this year. The breaks will come easier. Past experiences will have taught you how to sidestep pitfalls.

Sub rescue ship takes trial runs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The USS Pigeon, the first twinhulled ship built for the Navy since the War of 1812 and the latest in submarine rescue vessels, sail this week for trials on San Francisco Bay.

The ship has spent two years at Hunters Point Naval Shipyard being outfitted with elaborate rescue gear.

The 251-foot Pigeon will eventually carry the Navy's new Deep Submergence Rescue Vehicle (DSRV) as well as conventional submarine rescue chambers. The DSRV is capable of carrying up to 24 rescued men in its fiberglass spheres.

The launching and retrieving of the rescue vessels is done either via a television camera-equipped lift platform between the hulls or over the side.

The Pigeon's three-dimensional sonar tracking systems enable her to act as the operational center for rescues.

"Basically during the bay trials we will be checking out the engines and our sonar and other equipment," said Lt. Cdr. James J. McDermott, 48, Yonkers, N.Y., the Pigeon's captain. "We'll be out one day and then head for San Diego, our home port, for three more weeks of tests.

"Before the Pigeon, all the Navy had in the line of rescue gear was the McCann rescue chamber," the veteran submariner said and pointed to one of the old chambers on dockside. "But don't knock it, it got my son's godfather off the Squalus in 1939," he said.

The work of the McCann chamber in the Squalus operation off Portsmouth, N.H., was the only time men were actually rescued from a sunken sub, the skipper said.

Other equipment on the Pigeon may someday be used in underwater exploration work.

Take Romance off the hook

By JEAN ADAMS

PHONE ALONE: (Q.) Cindy likes me, but only over the telephone. She won't go on a date with me and she won't talk to me in person at school.

Is this what they call "hard to get"? If it is I don't like it. It has lasted nearly nine months and I'm trying to decide whether I should keep Cindy or drop her. I hope you can help me. — No Progress in North Carolina.

(A.) From your description it appears that Cindy may be quite shy. She does not act like a girl who is consciously playing hard to get.

Ask her some specific questions on the telephone, such as: 'Why won't you talk to me at school?" "Do your parents forbid you to date?" "Why?"

If you've been calling her nine months and she has been talking to you on the phone but saying no to everything else, you have a right to ask the questions. With some answers, you will be in better position to make a decision about her.

TALL GIRL: (Q.) I am a girl six feet tall and have trouble buying clothes and getting dates. Could you help me? —Too Big in Pennsylvania

(A.) Find a unisex shop where you can buy jeans in sizes long enough for you. Pants too. For skirts, blouses and dresses, learn to sew.

Be friendly with boys you like, even if you are taller than they. A warm smile is a great leveler.

Three years later

Her new kidney was perfect match

MICHAEL O. WESTER

LAINVIEW, Tex. (UPI) — Success for Nancy Wall is staying alive every day.

It was the time she was 17 and had undergone a kidney transplant and three other major operations. Almost three years later, she now is able to smile once again.

"For mine to be a cadaver kidney (taken from a body), (the doctors) said it was a perfect match," she said. "It wasn't a kidney disease, so I haven't had much trouble with it."

An active 19-year-old, Miss Wall has little time to think about the fact she is carrying around someone else's kidney.

At 12 she contracted a blood disease which led to a gradual kidney failure. Her parents began shuttling her back and forth to Dallas' Parkland Hospital for treatment. She was 15 when the doctors decided she needed the help of an artificial kidney, a dialysis machine.

"I really didn't know anything about it," she said. "I didn't even know what an artificial kidney was. I expected it to look like a big kidney, but instead it looked like a washing machine."

Miss Wall became the subject of a great deal of community goodwill when word of her illness spread around Lainview. The community banded in to raise funds to help pay the medical bills and finally to purchase a dialysis machine to relieve the family from having to travel to Dallas for the expensive treatments.

"I never had to use the machine, however, because the doctors found the perfect transplant for me," Nancy said. "The machine is in the basement of the Central Texans Hospital, unused as far as I know."

Two years following the transplant, Miss Wall had an operation in which her old kidneys and two ribs were removed. One month later another operation removed obstruction of the new kidney.

A fourth operation became necessary a year later when doctors discovered her kidney medication had caused a brain tumor. Surgeons removed a particle of the tumor and the rest was reduced with cobalt treatments.

"My left hand was paralyzed for a while, but now it's just the fingers," she said. "But overall I feel great now, and just want to be like everyone else and do things for myself."

Although she still needs a medical checkup every three months, her doctors have pronounced her physically able to work.

"They told me to keep busy and to get a job," she said. "At present I'm doing occasional babysitting and a few short term jobs, but I hope to soon find a fulltime position."

The trouble is, she said, people are afraid to hire a kidney transplant recipient.

"It's like they're scared of me," she said. "If I were working, I'd do my best. That's all anyone does."

U.S. diplomat recalled as car kills Peking bicyclist

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the top officials of the U. S. diplomatic liaison office in Peking has been withdrawn from China because his car struck and killed a Chinese girl during a trip to the Great Wall, it was disclosed recently.

Nicholas Platt, the political officer of the American mission, has been recalled from Peking and will be given a choice for reassignment, a State Department spokesman said.

Satte Department officials said the Peoples' Republic of China requires any foreign diplomat involved in a fatal automobile accident to be recalled.

The official said Platt was driving his wife and parents to show them the Great Wall of China when a girl on a bicycle swerved in front of their car. The official said Platt stopped immediately and halted a truck in an effort to help get medical aid for the girl, but she died.

The official said no decision had been made yet about Platt's successor.

"This action is in no way any reflection on Mr. Platt," the spokesman said.

Electricty use dips 11% from Jan. '73

ROSEMEAD (UPI) — Customers of the Southern California Edison Co. used 11.4 per cent less electricity in the first week in January than they did in the same period a year ago, the company announced Tuesday.

There have been no restrictions on electricity use by household customers of Edison, which serves most areas of Southern California outside metropolitan Los Angeles and San Diego.

But the company's commercial and industrial users had been ordered by the California Public Utilities Commission to cut down on certain types of outdoor lighting, heating and cooling.

In Los Angeles, where there are mandatory electricity cutbacks ranging from 10 to 20 per cent, customers have reduced power use by 16.3 per cent since Dec. 21.

Wells Fargo Bank purchases another

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Wells Fargo Bank has purchased the Beverly Hills National Bank, with three offices in Southern California, it was announced.

Richard P. Cooley, president of Wells Fargo said the purchase of the Beverly Hills bank for $12.5 million was approved by the Comptroller of the Currency.

The Beverly Hills bank has assets of about $135 million and deposits of about $105 million, compared with assets of $11.8 billion in Wells Fargo.

Reader wants to stop Chino Hills airport development

How can I stop whomever it is who wants to put a jet airport in Chino Hills?

It would ruin Chino. It would just bring more noise pollution and smog. The people would be miserable. — S. M., Chino.

The "whomever" is the Chino Hills Airport Complex, Inc. In addition to aviation facilities, the project would include areas for aircraft, production, a hotel and motel complex, farm and world trade exhibit center, industrial park, recreation area and veterans national cemetery.

The whole thing would occupy 4,000 acres in San Bernardino and Orange counties.

To express your opinion, you should write to the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors and the city councils of Chino and Anaheim.

My mother, age 82, has had a problem getting her money refunded for inferior photos taken of her on Aug. 8, 1973 by a studio in Hollywood.

The people at the studio keep referring to reprinting photos they already have taken. The photos are no good, not as good as I can take with an instamatic.

I do hope you can do something for my mother because she has lost sleep over this matter. — C. N., Pomona.

We got in touch with the studio. The owner replied that since your mother was unhappy with her photographs, he would refund her $15.85.

He did and your mother phoned to let us know that if she has a sleepless night now and then, it no longer is over unsatisfactory photos.

This is the same old sob story about veterans' benefits.

My husband enrolled full time as a student in Los Angeles Sept. 17, 1973, and applied for benefits at that time.

In the middle of November our savings ran out. We called the Veterans Administration office in Los Angeles and were told the money was on its way.

After we called three times, my husband went to the VA office personally on Nov. 30. He was told the information had been sent east for final processing and the reply would arrive any day.

We are in desperate need of money. Please help. — Mrs. A. H., Pomona.

After we contacted the VA, you called Action Line several times to ask about the result.

When the answer came, it wasn't the one you had hoped for. Your husband's discharge from the service was "other than honorable" because of lost time. He wasn't eligible for benefits.

Board delays on cafeteria merger plan, will seek advice of managers

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Cafeteria managers in Pomona's public schools today were asked for their suggestions on how to pull the system, which has operated at a $26,871.34 loss since September, out of the red.

They were scheduled to meet with Dr. Garrett C. Nichols, assistant superintendent of business services.

Their suggestions are to be relayed back to the school board before that body acts on suggestions Nichols might recommend to curb the loss.

This was the instruction given Nichols by the school board Tuesday night. He had prepared a two-phase program, based on a "centralization" concept, which he felt would make the cafeteria system break even.

Board members temporarily rejected the program, which initially called for combining three secondary and three elementary cooking kitchens, the elimination of the position of substitute cafeteria manager and the establishment of a labor standard of putting out 18 trays of food per each hour of labor in a kitchen.

School cafeteria workers crowded the board room.

The motion to delay action on Nichols' recommendation until the cafeteria managers were heard from was made by Roy O. Day and seconded by Ken Pine.

"They're entitled to that (expressing their views) before we take any action," said Day. "We should hold off until we have input from these people."

Pine agreed, explaining that it was his experience that people on the front lines of a business operation often had the best ideas on how to solve problems.

Nichols told the school board that the district cafeteria system was serving approximately 10,000 meals a day, and lost about $18,000 in September, October and November and $8,044.12 in December.

"Twenty-five per cent of that loss was right here at the district Education Center," he said. The cafeteria staff already had begun work on an upward revision in lunch prices at the center which, if approved, would be enforced on adult meals in all cafeterias.

Nichols said losses were greater in secondary than elementary schools, and that losses were smaller in schools where volume was greatest.

The school board in past actions had directed the administration to operate the cafeteria system on a break-even basis. In an attempt to do this, school lunch prices were increased in September. However, increases in costs of food, services and labor proved too great, and the deficit showed up immediately and has not lessened.

In his plan, which Nichols had ready for board approval Tuesday night, he suggested implementing his "centralization" plan March 1, combining the three secondary school kitchens with three elementary kitchens and using the elementary kitchens as serving kitchens only.

Phase I would mean the elimination of three elementary manager positions. The bumping of people, according to Nichols' plan, would be done by seniority. He said it appeared all people would be absorbed.

The second phase, Nichols said, could be completed by fall. It consisted of using three high school, four junior high school and one elementary school (in Diamond Bar) kitchens as cooking kitchens.

This would leave eight central cooking kitchens, and eight cafeteria managers in positions. There are today 21 managers. Nichols conceded later in the meeting he may need 10 cooking kitchens.

Nichols, in explaining his plan, said that approximately 20 people would be laid off but that natural attrition would take care of a number of them. It is necessary that 30 days' notice be given before a job is eliminated, he informed the board.

"We've gone beyond the time when we can afford to operate individual school kitchens," said Nichols.

Supporters slate Thompson reception

POMONA — Supporters of Ken Thompson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the seat in the 35th Congressional District, will hold a reception for the candidate today at the Firehouse Inn.

A no-host cocktail party will be conducted from 5 to 7 p.m. at the restaurant.

The public is invited.

Class on automobile starting this week

POMONA — A class in understanding automobiles will be offered by the YWCA of Greater Pomona Valley on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. beginning this week.

The class will be taught by Fritz Harnsberger and is open to both men and women. The class will cover the essentials of automotive care and maintenance and the detection of problems.

The fee for the course, which will run for eight weeks, is $8 per person.

PUPPETS COMING TO POMONA

The Kiwanis Club of Greater Pomona will sponsor two performances of the Bob Baker Marionettes this Saturday in the Palomares Community Building, Pomona. Professional shows are scheduled for 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. They are recommended for children 3 through 12. Donations of $1.25 per ticket will be asked. Group rates are available for parties or scout troops. Proceeds from the shows will finance youth and community services in this area. For reservations persons may call 629-3136.

Two take out nomination papers for council position

POMONA — Only two persons have taken out nomination papers for the special municipal election April 16 for the unexpired term of councilman from the 1st District, the city clerk's office reported.

The two who have been issued papers are Stan Kawa, 2982 Glencrest St., manager of the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District, and Mrs. Georgia Grove, 1785 Yorba Drive, president of the Pomona Valley Republican Women's Club.

The filing period opened last Thursday and will close at noon, Feb. 7.

The special election is being held to fill the term vacated by Councilman R. T. French, who resigned Dec. 31. The term will expire in April of 1975.

School district cites retiring carpenter

POMONA — Charles R. Smith, retiring after 19 years as a carpenter with the Pomona Unified School District, was presented a framed certificate of service Tuesday by Dr. James Bell, school board president.

"I enjoyed working here. I did the best I could," said Smith in accepting the certificate.

As he left the board room, it was announced that a collection of Smith's paintings was displayed at the Education Center for public viewing.

Smith worked from 1955 to 1963 as a district carpenter. In 1963, he was elevated to head carpenter. He will retire from that position on Feb. 28.

RTD Dime Day brings 80% increase in riders

The number of bus riders grew by 80 per cent over the average Sunday total during the one-day, 10-cent-ride experiment last Sunday, the Southern California Rapid Transit District has estimated.

An RTD spokesman said a breakdown of figures for lines to and from the Pomona Valley would be available at a later date.

The district said fares collected during a normal Sunday average $44,000 and the total collected during the reduced fares last Sunday was just under $20,000.

RTD estimated 127,000 riders use the buses on an average Sunday and said that although an exact comparison could not be made with Dime Day because of differences in fares, discounts and passes, the number last Sunday was believed to be 230,000.

Litter, vandalism, harassment reported

Claremont deadlocks on hiring of park supervisor

By GEORGE MacLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — The City Council Tuesday night deadlocked 2-2 on a motion to share the cost with the Claremont Unified School District of hiring a person to supervise the Cahuilla Park area where officials say Claremont High students have been causing littler, committing vandalism, and harassing adults.

Voting against the city's hiring the equivalent of a school proctor for duty four hours each school day were Councilwoman Claire McDonald and Councilman Gene Block.

"I don't like this plan, and I won't support it. It will mean further harassment for the new person who would be doing the high school's job," said Mrs. McDonald.

"I don't see high school children responding to further discipline." She suggested that the city Youth Commission should work more on the problem.

Block said that he doesn't feel that the problem warrants "that great an expenditure ($3 an hour up through June) at this time, but I agree it is a joint problem between the city and the school district."

Block commented that if the problem continues, "I think we ought to take another look at it," and the council decided to take another look at its Feb. 12 session.

When City Manager Keith Mulrooney suggested that "even if we try it for only 30 days, it is worth the trial," Mrs. McDonald countered with "If it doesn't work, this gives the kids further feeling of victory."

"It could backfire and not work at all," reported Ron Hagan, city recreation superintendent. "It depends on the individual hired, and how he works with the kids."

Councilman Frank Hungerford moved to accept Mulrooney's recommendation of accepting the school district's offer of paying half the proctor's pay, but gained support only from Mayor Bertye Smith, who said, "It's the same tax dollar no matter which pocket it comes out of."

Mrs. Smith had asked Hungerford to amend his motion to request the high school to rotate its two proctors so they might supplement the newly hired proctor in the park.

Mary Ellen Kilsby, a member of the school board but an eye-witness to some of the students' harassment, told the council that it is a distinct minority causing the trouble.

Mrs. Kilsby recalled that as a member of a tennis class at Cahuilla Park she became angry when a snowball plopped onto a tennis court, and she went after the guilty ones. She criticized adults at the park who don't react when they see students causing trouble.

The council agreed unanimously to the following three school district suggestions:

— That the city develop, as soon as possible, the area between the high school parking lot and the part of Cahuilla Park already developed.

— That the school district remove the existing 8-foot-wide rubble wall and construct a new, more permanent, solid wall sometime before the start of school in September.

— That the school district and council hold a joint meeting to evaluate the progress toward resolving the problems.

Supply open heart surgery cases

New blood donor project

POMONA — The local Red Cross chapter will be responsible for providing the necessary blood for one open heart surgery patient per week under a new project being started Jan. 30.

Each Wednesday, the Pomona chapter will collect blood for one of the patients scheduled for open heart surgery in Los Angeles and Orange counties within the next five days. The first patient to be helped locally is a doctor, 65, whose surgery is scheduled at Daniel Freeman Hospital in Inglewood.

There are presently 65 cases of open heart surgery scheduled in the two counties awaiting the needed blood. Heart surgery is dependent upon whole blood not more than five days old which has been type-matched to the recipient. At present, the Pomona Blood Donor Center will be assigned patients with either type O positive or type A positive blood, as these are the more common types.

At the beginning of the project, donors must have made previous donations to the Red Cross blood program in Los Angeles and Orange Counties so that their types are on record.

Others wishing to participate in the special program are asked to donate one pint of blood to the regular blood program at the Pomona Center on Tuesdays from 3 to 6:30 p.m. or Wednesdays from 1:30 to 5 p.m. so that their typing may be completed and recorded. Then, after two months, they can join the project.

Donors must be between 18 and 65.

After confirming his appointment, the donor will be processed immediately after arriving at the Blood Donor Center, 420 N. Reservoir St.

When the first open heart surgery was performed, patients were asked to recruit as many as 30 pints of blood. Now, due to new techniques and equipment, the average patient needs from eight to 15 pints, depending upon the type of surgery and other factors.

Donors who participate in the open heart program can credit their donation in several ways. It will be credited to his own personal account for himself or his family and can also be credited to any group account he is involved in through employment, church or clubs or it may be used as a replacement credit for someone who has already received blood.

Donors in the open heart surgery program will be informed as to the name of the patient, the hospital and his post-operative condition.

For information and appointments, persons may call the Red Cross, 629-7455.

Carrying big stick still has merit

Diplomatic jaws dropped the other day at Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger's veiled hint to the Arabs that their oil blackmail, if pressed too far, could lead to forceful retaliation by the industrial nations.

"Gunboat diplomacy" is simply not done these days, old boy. It was all very well back in Kipling's time when Britain was carrying the white man's burden and all that, or Grover Cleveland was dealing with banana republics, but it's considered bad form today.

Not only does it usually make unfortunate situations worse (witness the Arab rush to mine their oilfields) but one just does not talk about force, certainly not publicly, before one has exhausted all other avenues of pressure.

True enough. Still, one reason why gunboat diplomacy may have such a bad name today is that we are no longer able to tell the difference between a little military muscle judiciously applied at the proper time and place in defense of a valid national or international right, and foolish meddling with vast armies in another country's civil war or revolution.

Remember "millions for defense, not one cent for tribute"? President Jefferson and the Tripoli pirates? Stephen Decatur (he of "my country right or wrong" fame)? That was gunboat diplomacy.

Actually, a little more gunboat diplomacy in the Middle East a little more recently might have saved the world a lot of trouble.

This was in 1956, when Britain, France and Israel attacked Egypt in response to Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal. The virtuous United States, under the virtuous Secretary of State John Foster Dulles (he of "massive retaliation" fame), in concert with the Kremlin, forced them to pull back.

Not only was Nasser rewarded for breaking international law but the Soviet Union was permitted to pose as a champion of peace and justice even as it was crushing the Hungarian freedom fighters.

As if turned out, it was Nasser's gunboat diplomacy that paid off, and it set an example and started a train of events in the Middle East that has been bad news for the world ever since.

Big election year

The year 1974 has just gotten under way but already the battle lines are being drawn along the political front. Assessment of the opportunities for gains in Congress and the state capitols are either cautiously hopeful or worried, depending upon whether the assessor is a Democrat or a Republican.

In a survey of the national situation, U.S. News & World Report finds, not unexpectedly, that Watergate and the economy will be key factors in the election. Although they would seem as of now to favor the Democrats, leaders in that party hold a cautious view. They recognize that the scandals which beset the Nixon administration have also cast a shadow on all politicians. And if the economy should turn for the better, and Watergate produce no more damaging evidence, it would be a strong boost for Republican hopes.

On Nov. 5 Americans will be voting for 435 members of the House, 34 U.S. Senators and 35 Governors. Also, of course, for thousands of state legislators and local officials.

According to USN&WR, Republicans fear their worst setback in Congress and state offices since Lyndon Johnson's landslide in 1964. Democrats would, of course, like to win the two-thirds House majority necessary to overcome presidential vetoes. To do that, the majority party would have to pick up 47 seats.

In the Senate a two-thirds majority is 64. Of the 34 seats up for election, 20 now are held by Democrats, 14 by Republicans. The present Senate lineup is 57 Demos, 42 Republicans, 1 Independent.

In governorships, the Republicans seem to have an edge. Of the 35 states that will be electing chief executives, 23 now are controlled by Democrats, 12 by Republicans. One factor clouding Republican chances will be the absence of a number of tested vote-getters, including California's Reagan, New York's Rockefeller and Colorado's Love.

Top tax source

Considering what most of us are going through these days, with our eye on April 15, it should not come as much of a surprise that the income tax has become the largest overall source of state revenues throughout the nation.

A Chicago-based business analysis organization's survey shows that for the first time income levies have surpassed sales taxes as the chief revenue producer, nationwide. Actually, there are 29 states in which general sales, gross receipts and motor fuel taxes are still the top producers, but the increase in income levies in the other 21 over-balance that.

The total figures for fiscal 1973, according to the survey, are: Individual and corporate income taxes, $21 billion; general sales and gross receipts taxes $19 billion.

Another non-surprise: California is one of the eight states that collect more than half of all state tax revenue. The others are New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Texas, Ohio and Florida.

So, back to the old 1040.

Impeachment probe flounders

WASHINGTON — Although each new Watergate twist tightens the vise on President Nixon, the inquiry into his impeachment is floundering.

The doors have been shut tight on the House Judiciary Committee's investigation. Only staff members are permitted to enter the offices and no papers may be removed. Attorneys and investigators have given strict orders not to discuss their work with the press.

What the staff is really hiding behind the guarded doors, however, is their own inaction and lack of direction. Here are the facts which we have been able to dig out:

— House Judiciary Chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J., has assured House Republican leader John Rhodes privately that the impeachment inquiry should be concluded in April. Those close to the investigation don't see how they possibly can meet the deadline.

No interviews

— At this writing, not a single witness against the President has been interviewed directly by the committee's investigators. Instead, they have spent their time studying the work of other investigations.

— The White House has not been approached, even informally, to provide any information which might help to speed the inquiry. Staff members haven't even been allowed to request personnel lists or telephone numbers from the White House.

— Although documents related to the President's personal finances were available to committee sleuths from other sources, the information was not accepted because the committee "was not ready for them yet."

— Although chief counsel John Doar has a staff of about 40 under his command, more than half have been assigned merely to answer the routine impeachment mail that has been flooding into the committee's office.

No coordination

— Some of the investigators, because of administrative problems, spend much of their time reading newspapers and novels. Although they are supposed to coordinate their work, some staff members actually haven't met each other. At 5 p.m., there is a rush for the exits.

— Instead of turning up evidence that would justify impeachment, the committee is concentrating its efforts on researching what offenses might constitute grounds for impeachment.

—In an interview with us, Doar placed great stress on setting up a secure and elaborate filing system. The problem at the moment is that nothing of significance has been collected for those well-organized file drawers.

— Staff members have been warned in strong terms that they will be summarily fired if they are caught talking with reporters. This injunction has worked fairly well, since the committee hasn't turned up anything newsworthy and most aides are reluctant to admit the probe's shortcomings.

History, not headline

Chairman Rodino told us he is more interested in making history than headlines. The removal of a sitting President, Rodino said, can be justified only by the most careful and thorough investigation.

The evidence is now being assembled by the staff which will carefully piece it together, he said. Then they will start searching for the missing jigsaw pieces. This will require access, he suggested, to White House tapes and documents.

He wants to have his case ready, he said, before he asks the House for subpoena power. The committee's constitutional experts say the White House cannot claim executive privilege as an excuse for withholding evidence from an impeachment inquiry. Any refusal by the White House to honor a subpoena would, itself, be grounds for impeachment, they believe.

Our committee sources have told us the staff hasn't completed enough background work to issue subpoenas or to begin its proceedings. But Chairman Rodino assured us he is more committed to a thorough investigation than an April deadline.

PERSONA NON GRATA: Robert Chenoweth returned home last March after spending five years in North Vietnamese prisons. He tried to go back to South Vietnam a few days ago. The Saigon government, for which he had risked his life, wouldn't let him into the country

U.S. bails out nation's railroads

The most revolutionary economic doctrine in decades, if not this century, has been promulgated by the United States Congress. With miniscule exception, the pundits of the nation have been so preoccupied with Watergate, the Middle East, detente, or how you impeach a president, that this remarkable occurrence hasn't even been reported.

President Nixon has signed into law a $2 billion measure designed to rejuvenate railroads in the northeastern states and which provides for potential ownership of the new system by its employees.

The northeastern railroads are largely bankrupt, overlapping in service, broken down and a mess. As a matter of national policy, like bailing out Lockheed, the Congress with the president concurring has decided it is imperative to maintain a viable rail system. But unlike the Lockheed caper, Congress isn't just bailing out a few railroads. It is setting up an entirely new economic system first given form by California lawyer Louis Kelso.

Senator Russell B. Long, along with Senators Hatfield, Hansen, Humphrey and Metcalf picked up the Kelso system and have provided its incorporation into the financing system of the newly created United States Railway Association which will take over the losing lines.

Long sets forth the thesis rather concisely:

"I am convinced we cannot retain our economic greatness if we do not institute steps . . . that will make it possible within a few years for every household and individual in America to become an owner of a viable holding of productive capital."

The reasoning of the Senators is quite logical. The new railway system won't work any more than the old unless the employees get a piece of the action — a piece of the action they pay for and for which they receive normal capital return.

Senator Long made the argument thusly: the existing financial structure of the railroads involved failed because it concentrated ownership of the entire railroad system within the hands of some 5 per cent of the nation's citizens — where all capital resides.

The Kelso concept would permit employees to buy and pay for a sizeable chunk of stock in the new operation (about $10,000 per worker). These stock holdings, in effect, would provide workers with a second income — a capital income — and at the same time be an incentive for labor peace and greater productivity.

As Senator Long says, a long range benefit for taxpayers and the nation is that Congress might have an answer the next time some bankrupt firm asks for a bailout.

Technocracy to the rescue

In answer to your editorial "Will the profit motive go next?" I will suggest that you begin publishing something constructive. Something that has the highest probablility of success of any proposal extant.

We know that America's price system is in its last and dying stages. We know that our country is too complicated to be run by politics. That is, unless the goal of the decadent stumblebum political leadership of today is complete and final chaos. Who wants that?

You are in a position of leadership, as far as the reading public is concerned. It is your duty (read the Declaration of Independence for strength if you need it) to inform and educate the American public that there is a real and lasting solution ready and waiting for use, providing enough Americans know about it.

Yes, we know that there will be some interests that will oppose the technical solution to technical problems; but America's problems are technical and we know that technicians are best suited to solve them. Better-get busy and publicize Technocracy's proposals while there is yet time. —Roy E. Elliott, Pomona.

Less energy, bigger bill

It was with great interest that I read your article on how to save money by cutting down on energy usage. That is, I was interested until the next day when I received my latest bill for electric service.

I found that through our energy conservation efforts, our consumption of electricity over the two months period, November through December, had decreased by 11½ per cent from the previous two months period.

However, our bill, including city tax, had increased by 1½ per cent. We wonder how high our bill would be if we used no electricity at all. — W. D. Garrett, Pomona.

Gossip for today

Long ago most of us decided the good life was not necessarily dependent on individual achievement. Rather, we concluded it was something made possible for conforming citizens by technological miracles and political manipulation. So we joined the crowd and settled for a government-prescribed, mechanized standard of living. We traded personal satisfaction and contentment for abundance, believing in that way we would be assured of security.

We joined the industrial-technological revolution. With little or no effort we won battle after battle—reveled in the easy living those victories brought about—and now, even though something has seemingly gone wrong, we still contend it was not our fault. We refuse to admit that we won the battles but are about to lose the war. Rather, we are firmly convinced our troubles have been brought about by greedy industrialists and conniving politicians.

BRUCE BIOSSAT

Japan's oil cuts hurt industrially

For most of the developing countries of Asia, all the bright promise contained in the word "development" has temporarily vanished. They appear to be in for a terrible year economically as a result of the oil crisis.

First off, the quadrupling of world oil prices within the past year assures that these Asian lands will have to cut back severely their own oil purchases — even though they have never been great in volume. They simply won't have the money to pay.

Worse still, the economies of virtually all the developing countries of Asia are today linked irretrievably to the trading power of Japan, the world's third largest industrial nation. And, as has been well noted, Japan in 1974 faces the worst fuel pinch of its great postwar economic upsurge.

The Persian Gulf oil-producing lands have eased somewhat their cutbacks in output as applied to such heavily dependent customers as Japan and Western Europe. But full restoration of the Arab's cuts still would not meet current Japanese requirements. Based on anticipated 1974 economic growth near the annual 10 per cent rate common there in recent years, Japan has upped its needs for the new year. Latest word is that its actual oil import supply for 1974's first three months will fall short of the expected mark by 17 per cent.

As if the oil volume difficulty were not enough, the catapulting prices being set by producing countries could more than double Japan's 1974 oil bill — to $15 billion from the $7 billion paid in 1973.

Again, as everybody watching world economics knows by now, both the import shortfall and the astounding prices will hit Japan right in its industrial gut. Energy allocations to industry already have been slashed up to 15 per cent and worse reductions may follow.

To countries like India, Pakistan, Thailand, Korea, Hong Kong, Taiwan and the Philippines, this is the most gruesome news imaginable. And Tokyo has wasted no time in spelling it out. It has announced cuts of from 15 to 25 per cent in exports to at least half a dozen nations dependent upon it.

Naturally, the toughest line has to be taken on oil derivatives such as chemical fertilizier, man-made fibers, and plastics. Even if normal, expected supplies were available for export, the huge price jump means the developing countries would have to pay much more for what they take.

Japan's fertilizer production will have been cut by around 35 per cent before February. The meaning is obvious for countries reliant upon fertilizer imports to meet ever-rising demands for food. Shortages will be cruel.

That's not the end of the gloomy tale for the developing nations. In 1973, for the first time since its economic leap into the Big Three became world news, Japan suffered a balance of payments deficit — roughly $10 billion. The higher 1974 oil costs and other factors promise to make the deficit bigger this year.

Obviously, this means Japan won't be able to import as much this year as before in many instances. Japan of course has been a big customer of the less advantaged Asian lands, especially in fields such as textiles and electronics.

One last dismal item. A sturdy plank in Japan's foreign policy has been the steady increase of economic assistance to the developing peoples. In 1973 this reached $3 billion, and future goals were a good bit higher. Under the home front pinch, this has to be cut back. For South Korea in 1974, the reduction is already set — from 1973's $170 million to $90 million. Other Asians soon will hear their sad signals.

Positive Action answers Chino students' problems

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — "Understanding is the best thing in the world."

As the song goes, so goes life. At least in the minds of many students at Chino High School. Understanding, or the attempt to achieve it, provided the thrust for the establishment of a Student Center, better known as Room 14 on the Chino campus.

The high school's 1,700 students were plummeted into the trauma of a clash between Mexican-American and Anglo factions on Feb. 2, 1973. The Students for Positive Action (SPA), a nucleus of white and brown teen-agers, was born out of those times. The first order of business for the group was to create a climate whereby students would talk rather than chastise or attack one another.

"Students decided they needed a place to get together on a friendly basis and work things out through discussion," explained Jackie Sargent, coordinator of the center.

The SPA is composed of about 10 or so Anglo and Chicano students, she continued. "They were involved or could relate to the riot. They felt Chino High needed a place where people could come and be in a relaxed atmosphere instead of standing around and getting into fights. Instead of meeting in the bathrooms, they meet here and talk.

"It has definitely improved things here because the students who were hanging around and didn't have a thing to do but trip people in the halls and mouth off, now have something to do. They're not stagnant. They're doing something," Miss Sargent said.

Room 14 is on the southwest part of the campus and is largely the creation of students. The tape player was supplied by Miss Sargent and the cassettes of rock and soul music and contemporary rock humor are brought by students wandering in and out.

The hottest thing going, besides the rap sessions with topics from dating to the energy crisis, is the sport of ping pong. Seconds after the bell rings dismissing classes, young boys and girls bounce in, grab paddles and team up in competing pairs. Students are charged a penny for ping pong balls while teachers and administrators frequenting the center have to relinquish a nickel each.

Furniture and reading materials are contributed by parents and kids. Two student artists, Richard Salgado and Jeanne Flynn, have etched pencil drawings of an Indian chieftain carrying a maiden and a rock guitarist in action for display in Room 14.

Salgado's talent is also highlighted in the burst of an orange-gold sun spilling exuberantly from around the wallclock. The deep richness of a blue sky (paint contributed by a local merchant and work completed by student volunteers) provides the background to the sun's brilliance. Students also painted the other walls in the room.

"A Quiet Time," a skyscape with the faces of late rock innovators Janis Joplin and Jimi Hendrix thinly veiled in the skies, stares from one wall while another wall is graced with a Zodiac chart, reflecting students' sudden interest in horoscopes and predictions of the stars.

Cooperation and friendliness are the general rule for all entering Room 14.

"Everyone in the school is welcome. If a student is treated as an oddball on campus, he can not be treated as an oddball in here. We haven't had any incidents of stealing, fighting or bad attitudes in the room," Miss Sargent said.

Gripes between teachers and students are often arbitrated through the Student Center. The discussions about classroom disagreements can be open or private here, and usually eliminate defensiveness in both parties.

"This has brought a little understanding of what's happening and what needs to happen. It opens some minds," the coordinator continued.

Dr. Terry Terril, Chino High principal, regards Room 14 as a positive campus activity.

"The first idea was to give kids a place to go and it's done that. It's given kids a chance to talk out rather than act out. It additionally gives kids a chance to see teachers on a social level and creates a better understanding. They can now relate to one another on a personal level," Dr. Terril stated.

A poster with the words of Kahlil Gibran is the greatest evidence of what Room 14 is all about:

"And in the sweetness of friendship.
Let there be laughter and the sharing of pleasures,
For in the dew of little things
The heart finds its morning and is reflected."

THE COMPETITORS

A MUSICAL TRIP

Jackie Sargent, left, coordinator of Room 14, and Christine Rodriguez, a Chino High senior, tune their minds into the music of rock stars on the cassette player. A pencil etching of a rock guitarist by Jeanne Flynn is on wall behind the two girls. The center is open 7:15 to 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. weekdays.

Montclair lodge taking charter memberships now

MONTCLAIR — With 128 applications already in, the new Montclair Moose Lodge is still accepting charter memberships reports Randy L. Bohse, membership director.

The institution ceremony for the new lodge is scheduled for noon Sunday, at the Moose Lodge, 10462 Benson Ave.

The instituting officer will be Ted Hardeman, regional director for the Moose. Guests of honor will include Johnnie James, deputy grand north Moose, Rudy Roehn, deputy supreme governor, Leo Ferrini, president of the California Moose Association, Matthew Kramer, president of the Foothill District, and Clarence Campbell Jr., past president of the Foothill District.

The lodge is an 85-year-old fraternal organization whose prime interest and purpose is the care of dependent children at Mooseheart, Ill., and care of the aged at Moosehaven, Fla. The organization is also active in civic affairs.

Following the institution ceremony, the new lodge will have a buffet and dance for its new members and their families.

Persons interested in joining the lodge may call Randy Bohse at 622-8844, 622-0690 or 629-9593.

FRANK BLAND

Sheriff Bland says he'll run for sixth term

SAN BERNARDINO — Sheriff Frank Bland of San Bernardino County announced today he will be a candidate for re-election in the June primary race.

The sheriff, now ending his fifth 4-year term, is a former FBI special agent. The Veterans of Foreign Wars presented him with the J. Edgar Hoover Award last year as the outstanding peace officer in California.

Bland served during 1973 as chairman of the Tri-County Council on Criminal Justice and as chairman of the San Bernardino County Criminal Justice Planning Board.

He has been cited by the California Attorney General's Office for the formulation and execution of the mass raid technique in the enforcement of narcotic laws. The technique is now being used by law enforcement agencies in the United States.

Since his election in 1954, Bland has conducted 89 of these coordinated narcotic raids.

Bland's department has been recognized by state officials as one of the outstanding sheriff's offices of California's 58 counties.

Armed men rob Ontario Adult Book Store

ONTARIO — Two men, one armed with a .22-caliber revolver, robbed the Ontario Adult Book Store at 661 E. Holt Blvd. of a small amount of cash Tuesday, police reported.

The cashier Steve Moser, 23, at the adult book store said the two men walked to the counter and one produced the revolver and ordered him to hand over the cash from the register and from a small safe.

Moser said he gave the men the money and they fled.

Both men were described as Caucasians in their mid-20s. Moser said the gunman was about 6 feet tall, weighed about 140 pounds and had long shoulder-length hair wearing blue jeans and a work jacket with a dirty white T-shirt.

250 friends salute former Chino coach

CHINO — Some 250 friends paid tribute to Frank Elder, former Chino High School basketball coach, during a recent diner at the Los Serranos Country Club.

Tributes included resolutions from the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors, the Chino City Council, the Chino school board, and the state Assembly.

Elder was also presented letters from Gov. Ronald Reagan, the Chino Chamber of Commerce and the California Interscholastic Federation, and a set of golf clubs from the Chino High School Booster Club.

Jim Rawls, baseball and football coach at Chino High School, reviewed Elder's coaching career. Charles Smith, a member of the Chino school board, served as master-of-ceremonies.

Elder, who also served as the city's recreation director, retired last summer. He now resides in Alta Loma.

Plaza Hostelrama will start Friday

MONTCLAIR — The San Gabriel Valley Council of American Youth Hostels will hold a "Hostelrama" Friday through Sunday at the Montclair Plaza.

This will include demonstrations on biking, ski and camping equipment, films and information booths. One film, taken by local members, is entitled "Bicyling the British Isles—'73."

Hostelrama hours will be Friday, 2 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 5 p.m. Displays and films will be located near the clock tower.

Lockheed Aircraft promotes Chino man

ONTARIO — Bill Gatlin of Chino has been appointed Ontario base manager for the Lockheed Aircraft Service Co. located at Ontario International Airport.

He will replace Dennis Shea of Upland who was named director of manufacturing for the Lockheed-California Co. in Burbank.

Gatlin has been with LAS for 14 years and had served as manager of engineering. His former position will be filled by William Muller, previously assigned at the LAS base in New York as manager of engineering.

Ski tour classes offered in Ontario

ONTARIO — Beginning classes in ski touring will be offered by the City of Ontario's Recreation Division on Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Classes, which begin tonight, will be held at the Colony Park Community Center.

Class material will cover the uncomplicated equipment of ski touring and will deal with the preparation of skis and the techniques of skiing downhill, making turns, stopping and getting up after a fall.

The last portion of the class will cover relaxing on long tours and a chance to go on a short ski trip will be included.

Registration for the class is now under way at the recreation office, 217 S. Lemon St. Cost is $5 per person.

Program scheduled by reading center

ONTARIO — A presentation by the De Anza Reading Center staff will be featured at the meeting of the Community Advisory Council of De Anza Junior High School tonight at 7 in the reading center at the school.

The reading center's staff will seek to acquaint parents with the instruction programs in reading. Ann Glaser, project specialist, will make a slide presentation showing student participation in the center. Charlotte Larson, Rod Rodriguez and Gail Ziros, reading teachers, will demonstrate special programs of the center.

Church slates prayer service

CHINO — A prayer service for Christian unity will be sponsored by the Chino Ministerial Association Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church.

Churches represented in the association will participate under the theme "Lord, Teach Us To Pray."

Committee members in charge of the service are the Rev. Stanley Creighton of the United Methodist Church of Chino and the Rev. Dominic De Pasquale of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church.

During the service Judge Philip Schaefer will speak on expressing faith in the community.

Fellowship will follow the service. An offering will be divided between the Neighborhood House and the Jericho House.

Serrano slates music workshop

MONTCLAIR — Jacquelyn Dillon, internationally known string and orchestra clinician and teacher, will conduct a two-day workshop for orchestra and band instrumental instructors at Serrano Junior High School on Thursday and Friday from 3:15 to 5:30 p.m.

The workshop will be one of active participation. Each participant is requested to take a violin, viola, cello or bass. Some instruments will be available at the school for those unable to provide their own.

One of the high spots of my recent book tour was sharing a television show with the attractive editor of Playgirl magazine. zine.

Now, getting the defender of centerfold nudity together with a woman who blindfolds her rubber duck is like getting an extra girl for the Pope.

The show got off to a yawning start when I was asked to discuss sex drives after 40.

"I think with the energy crisis we should all cut down on our drives and possibly get the limit down to 35. . .15 in school zones."

Some questions beg for flipness.

"Why are you ashamed of your body?"

"Because it is lumpy."

"What is your husband like?"

"He's just your average overdressed male."

"Do you have any basis for your prejudice against the male nude form?"

"Yes. As a child I once saw a half-clothed man sun himself on a wicker lounge for three hours. It was an awesome sight."

"Do you have less respect for a man who poses for a centerfold?"

"No. Maybe Fabian and Lyle Waggoner are sick of being just another pretty face."

"Housewives are our biggest purchasers of Playgirl. Would you say nudes are becoming the new national heroes?"

"I wouldn't be surprised. I gave up baseball players when they started chewing tobacco."

"Would you buy a nude poster for your utility room?"

"And take down my wall size mural of a chocolate eclair? You're kidding!"

It wasn't until we were three-quarters through the show that I realized my opponent was dead serious in her publishing endeavor. She was sincere that what this country needs is a bare behind on every coffee table in America. She talked of including more tuna recipes and quick gourmet dishes and seemed to regard me as a synthesis of housewives everywhere.

"I don't speak for the housewives of America," I said. "I speak for myself, a woman who picks up towels off the floor for a living and is trying to get parts for a 25-year-old marriage."

"And you are really repulsed by our magazine?"

"To the point of nausea," I said.

"That's interesting," she observed, "because our circulation figures are in the thousands and they continue to climb with each issue."

I shrugged, "There's just no accounting for the interest in new tuna recipes."

The doctor comments

Isometrics are okay for healthy person

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I read that tensing the muscles is bad for the heart as it decreases the blood flow. I have been using isometric exercises for my legs as they are very thin, and I want to firm the muscles of my inner thighs. If this is bad for me, please let me know.

I have a cholesterol count of 330. I am very thin. My weight is 103 lbs. I'm 5-foot-3-inches tall, 60 years old, and my blood pressure is 120-70. I can't understand this high cholesterol count as I thought only obese people had that problem. My doctor does not have me on any medication. I am just supposed to watch my diet. P am trying to gain weight, but the foods that are high in calories are also high in cholesterol. Is there a medication I can take that will lower my cholesterol"

DEAR READER — First about isometric exercises or muscle tensing. A firmly contracted muscle, as occurs in squeezing the hand or holding the arm in a stiffened contracted state, will raise the blood pressure. In some people this can trigger off irregularities of the heart, too. These are usually of the harmless skipped beat variety. If a person had heart trouble, and particularly if they were prone to irregularities of the heart, or had high blood pressure, then I think isometric exercises might be harmful if overdone. Otherwise, in the reasonably healthy person I don't think they are really dangerous. They can be beneficial in building body strength and in developing muscles.

I prefer a combination of isometric and isotonic exercises. These are those that move the muscle through its range of motion while having it under tension. You can do this with the arm, bending and straightening the elbow while keeping the muscles partially contracted. In a similar fashion, you can work almost any muscle in the body.

While it is true that overeating and obesity are the most common causes of elevated cholesterol in our society, there are thin people who produce an excess amount of cholesterol. This problem is often more difficult to treat. There are medicines that can be used for this purpose. Most doctors usually like to try diet and weight control first. You can be eating a fairly low calorie diet and still have a high cholesterol intake. A couple of eggs don't have a lot of calories, but they contain 500 milligrams of cholesterol, far more than most heart specialists recommend.

It's not true that all high caloric foods are high in cholesterol. Sugar and margarine from vegetable oils contain no cholesterol. Margarine is high in fat, of course, and, too much fat in the diet stimulates the body to produce excess amounts of cholesterol.

The only weight gain I approve of is muscle weight. Added calories that result in fat are not condicive to optimal health. And, for a person with a cholesterol problem, it is a hazard.

You need a lot better diet instruction than you apparently have received. May I suggest that you go to the library and read my book "What You Need to Know About Food & Cooking for Health," published by Viking. It will give you all the information you need to plan a diet directed toward controlling your cholesterol level.

Intelligence of dolphins about that of child

MOSCOW (UPI) Two Soviet scientists say tests of dolphins show that they have the intelligence of the average six or seven-year-old child.

The scientists at the Moscow Institute of Biology Wednesday told the trade union newspaper Trud that dolphins are capable of many tasks requiring reasoning rather than reaction.

"Judging by their ability to solve tests, the dolphins are of the same level as a six or seven year old," the newspaper said,

A. Yablokov and N. Krushinskaya said dolphins are capable of extrapolation, a basic indicator of higher intelligence. Extrapolation is the application of known values to an unknown situation.

The scientists said dolphins also have a highly developed sense of measurement and perspective and were able to perceive the size and shape of objects at first glance.

Who can top the top ten?

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Ever get the feeling thah your charisma is slipping? I do. Last week I received a cable from the British Home Secretary informing me that I was once again not on Queen Elizabeth's Honors List (actually his ludship stated rather frostily that one does not fill out an application blank for the list), and now a Gallup poll reveals that I am not in the Top Ten of America's most admired men.

Considering that the Top Ten includes Richard Nixon, George Wallace and Barry Goldwater, I think I'll be able to choke back my tears.

That Gallup. He provides more laughs than Bob Hope. He questioned 1,500 adults and came up with his remarkable conclusions for a nation of 220 million. Is that legal? Is it sociologically sound? Logicaly sound? One says that Nixon is the man most admired by Americans, and Gallup multiplies by 147,000 or so. Hope I wasn't one of that 147,000.

Nixon was No. 1 in the poll last year, but Henry Kissinger ousted him, and the Rev. Billy Graham also slipped passed the prexy. The conclusions are clear: what this nation wants most is world peace and evangelism.

Only six times since this in-depth survey of public opinion was started in 1946 has the President of the United States failed to be Numero Uno. Gallup must talk to 1,500 weirdos.

Following Kissinger, Graham and Nixon are Sen. Edward Kennedy, Vice President Ford, Gov. Wallace, Ralph Nader, Sen. Henry Jackson, Pope Paul VI and Goldwater. They are all, all honorable men.

Last year 1,500 adults considered Nixon the most admired man in the world, followed by Graham, Harry Truman, Kissinger, Kennedy, Wallace, Spiro T. Agnew (whatever became of him?), Pope Paul, Sen. George McGovern and West German Chancellor Willy Brandt.

(Some years ago a woman approached George Gallup after his speech and said, "How come none of your pollsters has ever interviewed me?" "Madom," said Gallup, "your chances of being interviewed by one of my poll takers are about the same as your chances being hit by lightning." She replied, "As a matter of fact, I HAVE been hit by lightning.")

If you have not been hit by Gallup OR lightning, make up your own list of the 10 most admired men in the world. We start, naturally with Archie Bunker, but after that the voting is close. Hank Aaron, of course, would be well up on the list, as well as Bob Dylan, Jim Murray, Judge John Sirica, Mickey Mantle, Marlon Brando and Bobby Riggs.

There would be a lot of votes for Walter Cronkite, probably, and Larry Csonka. I imagine 147,000 Americans think Dick Cavett is pretty groovey, s well as William Simon, Zubin Mehta, Pete Rose and Moshe Ryan. Would Joe Namath make your list? J. Paul Getty? How about Mao-Tse-tung? Andy Warhol? Jerry West? Peter Falk? John Wayne?

Make up your own list and send it to George Gallup. But leave my name off. I don't want to be struck by lightning.

Colonel's not chicken, asks $122.4 million in lawsuit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Col. and Mrs. Harland D. Sanders filed a $122.4 million damage suit recently in U.S. District Court against Heublein, the successor firm to Kentucky Fried Chicken Corp.

The Sanders claim Heublein has interferred in their attempts to develop a franchise operation for a sit-down restaurant patterned after one already owned and operated by them near Shelbyville, Ky.

The Shelbyville restaurant is called "Claudia Sanders. "The Colonel's Lady" dinner house."

Sanders also contends in the suit that Heublein is using his name, image and likeness in promoting products with which he was never connected, including pastries, bread and dairy products.

The use of his name is "causing the general public to erroneously believe that said products originate from and are the result of the quality control and supervision of, as well as have the personal endorsement of" Sanders, the suit alleges.

The suit stated that Heublein became the successor to Kentucky Fried Chicken in July 1971 at a cost in excess of $250 million.

The suit alleges Sanders agreed to help KFC promote two ventures in 1969 that failed.

Sanders asks $236,000 for breach of contract in the failure of "Kentucky Fried Chicken Roast Beef" and $150,000 for breach of contract in the failure of "Colonel Sanders' Inns."

The suit also asks that Sanders either be given his original stock back or be paid $15 million as a result of alleged violations of the agreement under which he sold his stock.

The Sanders ask $15 million damages on each of seven charges contained in the suit. An eighth charge is the one in which they ask either $15 million damages or the return of Sanders' original stock.

In addition, the Sanders seek compensatory damages of $1 million on each of the two breach-of-contract charges.

20% decline in traffic toll with 55 m.p.h. nationwide?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When all states impose the nationwide 55-mile-an-hour speed limit, signed earlier this month by President Nixon as a fuel conserving measure, the highway accident death toll could be cut by as many as 6,000 persons a year, according to government officials.

The optimistic prediction was made recently by Dr. James B. Gregory, head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration as he released a survey showing that in 16 states which voluntarily cut their speed limits, highway fatalities in November were down by as much as 20 per cent from the previous November.

According to Gregory, an analysis from 16 states which had voluntarily reduced highway speed limits in November showed "a drop in fatalities of 15 to 20 per cent below November, 1972."

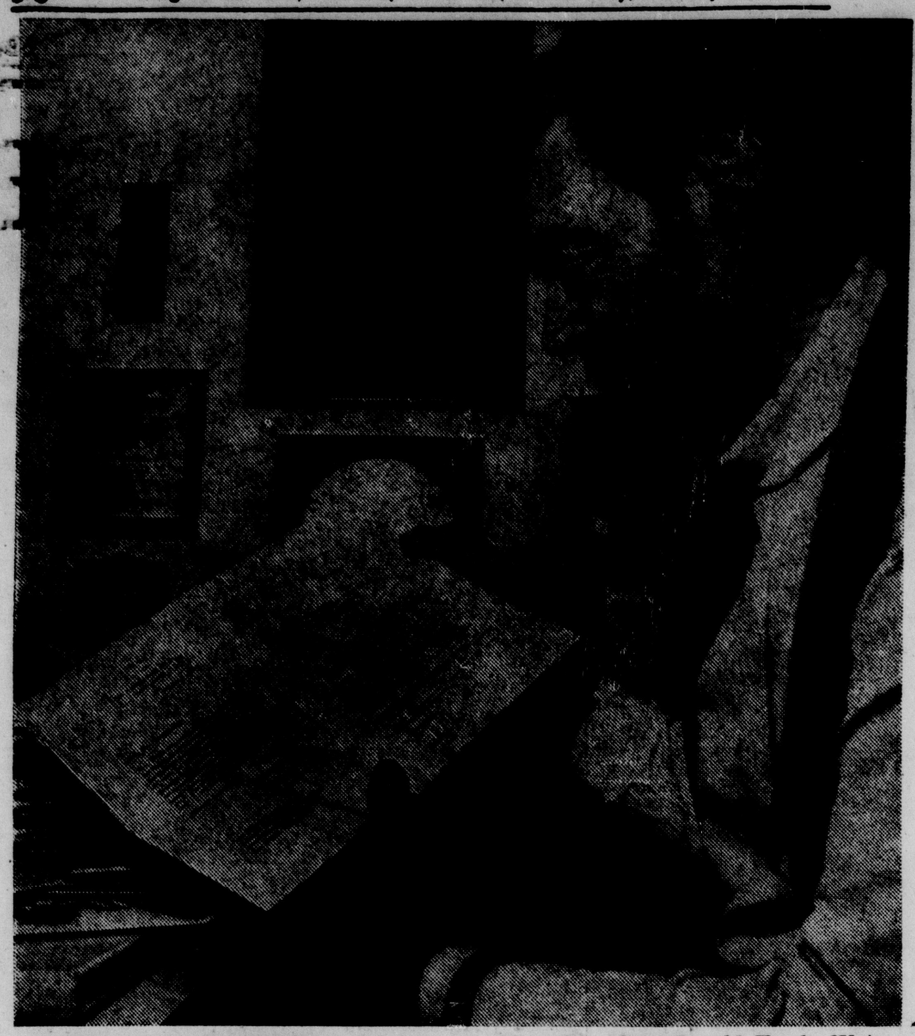
The 34 other states whose drivers were not legally required to cut highway speeds in November showed a decrease in fatalities of only 2 per cent.

"Assuming that all states pass and conscientiously enforce the reduced speed limits, we hope for as many as 6,000 fewer automobile fatalities in 1974, Gregory said. In 1973, 57,000 Americans died in highway accidents.

But Gregory warned that this decrease in auto deaths could be offset because of increased use of "motorcycles and bicycles, a growth in small car usage, and the possible effects of car pooling."

He also pointed to "a significant reduction" in fatalities over Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year's holidays "as further evidence that the lower highway speeds and some reduction in highway travel are paying off in highway safety."

The private Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, meanwhile, said it would be premature to conclude the reduced holiday death toll was a side effect of the fuel shortage. It said such figures are "complicated because holidays are, by definition, not typical of other periods."



TARZAN REMEMBERED—Johnny Weissmuller, 69, Hollywood's most popular and durable Tarzan, got thousands of get-well letters since his release last week from a hospital in Las Vegas. Included were wishes from President Richard Nixon and Vice President Gerald Ford. Weissmuller fractured his hip last month while serving as host at a sports awards reception at Caesars Palace. He also received personal letters from Queen Elizabeth and fans in South America and Europe.

3 wiretaps authorized by Saxbe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe has authorized three "national security" wiretaps since he took office little more than a week ago.

Saxbe, discussing the wiretaps Tuesday, said the requests were waiting for his approval when he took office on Jan. 4 and he thought three in one week was an unusually large number.

Public figures indicate the number has averaged close to two per week in recent years with 108 in 1972.

The wiretaps involve either espionage by foreign agents in this country or domestic activity in which there is either foreign financing or other foreign connection.

Saxbe did not disclose who requested the wiretaps—whether it was the State Department, FBI or other agency—but said he acted under broad authority the President gives the attorney general to authorize them.

Solzhenitsyn expects jail

PARIS (UPI) — Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn expects to be arrested for publishing his new book exposing the Soviet secret police and prison system, three French lawyers who visited him in Moscow said Friday.

"Solzhenitsyn told us, 'I will be tried. I am not afraid. I knew the risks. But I've lived a lot, I was in prison. I will carry on'," lawyer Jean-Michel Perard told a news conference.

His open door policy closed

UTICA, N.Y. (UPI) — Mayor Edward A. Hanna, who removed his office door three weeks ago to show that his administration was open to the public, had the door reinstalled Monday.

The door was removed shortly after Hanna was sworn in as mayor with the start of the new year. A former Republican assemblyman, he was elected as an independent in November.

Asked by reporters why the door was re-installed, Hanna cited two reasons: Politicians and newsmen.

Big splinter slams grand

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The splinter bid can be used by either partner. The only real problem in its use is to make sure that both partners understand what an unusual jump is. Specifically, it is defined as a bid in a new suit of one more than a normal forcing bid shows strong support for partner's last-bid suit and a singleton.

Thus North's jump to three hearts was a splinter bid. South had a rather minimum two-diamond response, but it looked to him as if he held the right cards so South cue bid to show his ace of hearts.

It happened that this was a rather new partnership. North worried a while that his partner might have forgotten their system and been raising hearts. Then he decided to trust his ace of clubs at the five level.

South's five notrump was the grand slam force. This modern bid was invented by the late Ely Culbertson way back in the 1930s. It was too advanced for that early day but has been put to use of late.

In this instance it asked North to bid seven if he held two of the top three diamond honors and North was more than glad to oblige.

The diamond grand slam might well have been reached without the use of these modern gadgets but the hand was played in a regional match-point tournament. Some players stopped at game in spades or notrump. One pair bid seven spades and came up one trick short. Others landed in successful small slams in spades or notrump and only a few reached the optimum diamond contract.

Woman counselor in a men's prison

By JOANNA FIRESTONE

IONIA, Mich. (UPI) — Letrish Dunbar would like to be a model. Instead, the 26-year-old former social worker and graduate of Western Michigan University is the first woman counselor in a Michigan men's prison.

A native Chicagoan, she was hired by the state Corrections Department last fall to lend an ear to troubles at the Michigan Training Unit (MTU), a medium security institution for felons under 24.

The grounds of MTU resemble a community college campus. There is no wall. Two high fences separate MTU's "students," as they are called, from the nearby farming community. There is a modern, well-equipped school building, a swimming pool and field house. Each young man has his own room with his own key.

Miss Dunbar said she was not aware MTU was a prison when she showed up for an interview last fall.

"I was working in a youth detention center as a social worker in Benton Harbor when I got a letter saying there was an opening for a counselor here," she said.

"I had no idea what the Michigan Training Unit was. And when I went in for the interview, I still didn't know it was a prison until I began talking with the deputy superintendent and saw the front gate bars.

"I had always wanted to work in a prison though, and the kids inside couldn't be any worse than those I had worked with in Benton Harbor so I decided to give it a try.

"I became too old and stiff to be a modern dancer and I didn't get around to being a stewardess, so I ended up here as a counselor. I would still like to try my hand at being a model.

"I never really thought about the possibility I could be molested. And I have had no threats or felt frightened. The students see me as an authority figure just like the men counselors and officers and don't ever try anything."

"Oh, I get cat calls and somebody will occasionally whistle or holler 'Hey Mama,' but when I turn around, you don't know where it came from."

Miss Dunbar is responsible for writing parole eligibility reports on the 120 men in her housing unit. She occasionally heads group counseling session, disciplinary courts and helps in personal and career counseling.

S. B. County cities to open transit talks

CHINO — The first in a series of regional public meetings on a county transportation study will be held tonight at 7 at the Chino Community Building.

The study is being developed through the San Bernardino Associated Governments (SANBAG), composed of city and county officials.

The first session will be to explain the study, identify attitudes, consider transportation needs and to discuss goals, objectives and policies for developing an effective transportation system, said Wesley McDaniel, SANBAG's executive director.

Coast Guard aids Japanese seaman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Coast Guard cutter went to the aid of a badly injured Japanese seaman recently in the mid-Pacific Ocean.

The seaman, identified as Katsuhiko Masuoha, 29, was critically injured in a fall aboard the Toyota Maru midway between San Francisco and Honolulu.

The Coast Guard cutter Rush rendezvoused with the vessel and evacuated Masuoha after two corpsmen examined him.

CHRISTIAN RETIREMENT CENTER UNDER CONSTRUCTION IN SAN DIMAS

The nation's finest facility for senior citizens is being built here in Southern California! All who are 65 or older are invited to apply for residency in the first unit—a board and care accommodation for those who are retired and who no longer want the burden of maintenance and care of their own home.

Remain active and creative in protected, secure surroundings. Be independent without being alone — privacy with dignity! Single or double occupancy. Delicious meals.

The park-like grounds include a lake and extensive gardens on 18 plus acres. Only two acres will be covered by buildings.

Applications are coming in every day and we expect to be filled by completion date of May, 1974. Write or call for free brochure.

Russians keep silent on U.S. Mideast role

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — Russia, keeping studied silence on the American peace effort in the Middle East, has reminded the Arab nations of the importance of their continuing cooperation with the Soviet Union.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist Party newspaper, in a terse weekend reference to the Middle East, spoke of "the significance of the Arab nations cooperation with the Soviet Union and other socialist countries."

Soviet affairs experts said today the reminder reflects Moscow's uneasiness over the success of U.S. Middle East policy and fear that Russia may be edged out of the area where the Kremlin has invested between $5 and $6 billion to secure a permanent and expanding foothold.

U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's Middle East moves and his achievements have not been discussed in the Soviet press or radio so far.

The Pravda review did not mention Kissinger's efforts at all. There has been only superficial reference, without comment on the Egyptian-Israeli disengagement agreement clinched under American guidance.

Some Communist diplomats have claimed that Kissinger is acting for Moscow as well as Washington in an apparent attempt to explain Soviet inactivity, but diplomatic reports from Moscow suggested uneasiness in the Kremlin over his success and the limelight American diplomacy is gaining.

Moscow has lately been increasingly worried over an apparent switch of Arab leaders away from Russia toward the United States. This applies in the first place to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, mistrusted by the Soviets since he expelled some 15,000 Soviet military personnel from Egypt in 1972.

Moscow also is worried about the growing role in Arab policy of King Feisal of Saudi Arabia, even though he has lately taken an anti-American stance.

Moscow was said to be making its presence felt all the more in Syria, while strengthening its position in Iraq and pushing toward the strategically important Persian Gulf area.

Eagle Rock man elected Shrine leader

LOS ANGELES — Marshall J. Wilkings, 52, Eagle Rock, has been elected potentate of Al Malaikah Shrine Temple.

Wilkings becomes leader of nearly 30,000 Shriners. He is the chief executive officer of the largest Shrine Temple in North America.

His jurisdiction includes 67 Shrine Clubs and 11 Shrine Temple units in eight California counties — Los Angeles, Ventura, San Bernardino, Orange, Santa Barbara, Kern, Riverside and San Luis Obispo.

He is a World War II Navy veteran. He joined the Highland Park Masonic Lodge in 1949 and received his Master Mason degree in 1950. He became a Shriner in 1955.

Lakers can't cool Cavs

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Bill Fitch is enjoying the turnaround.

In the first three years of the Cleveland Cavaliers, Fitch watched his club lose 10 out of 12 meetings with the Los Angeles Lakers.

But the Cavs—111-110 overtime winners here Tuesday night—have captured three out of four from the Lakers this season.

"Every dog has his day," smiled Fitch, Cleveland's general manager-coach. "Actually, we match up well against the Lakers."

Thirty-six-year-old Lenny Wilkens, the former Seattle player-coach in his second year with the Cavs, led the winners with 24 points and hit two free throws with 13 seconds to go to put his club in front 111-108.

He contributed three points as the Cavs collected the last five tallies of regulation play, knotting the score at 101-101 to send the game into overtime.

"We've lost too many games this season where we've blown big leads," lamented Bill Sharman, the Laker coach. "We're not moving too well and we're making too many turn-overs."

Cleveland's 17th win of the season—against 33 defeats-- may have been costly, though.

Third-year pro Austin Carr suffered an ankle injury and hurt his hip while driving through the lane in the third period and had to leave the game.

Fitch said the 6-foot-4 former Notre Dame star would be reexamined today.

Carr and rookie center Luke Witte of Ohio State each had 17 points.

For Los Angeles, which had its Pacific Division lead over Golden State cut to two games, Jim Price scored 23 points while Gail Goodrich and Happy Hairston each collected 21. Hairston pulled down a game-high 24 rebounds.

Cleveland is at Phoenix tonight. The Cavs wind up a six-game road trip at Portland and Golden State this weekend.

The Lakers, who have lost two straight, are home against the Capital Bullets Friday night.

In other NBA games, Chicago defeated Atlanta 102-89, Buffalo rolled over Philadelphia 119-109, Kansas City-Omaha beat Portland 103-96, Golden State edged Capital 99-97 and Houston whipped New York 108-43.

Bob Love moved within eight points of the 10,000 mark with a 28-point game against Atlanta. Pete Maravich's game-high 30 points for the Hawks weren't enough as Chicago rallied from a 47-43 halftime deficit to beat Atlanta.

Jim McMillian scored 16 of his 32 points in the third quarter as Buffalo beat Philadelphia to move within three games of second-place New York in the Atlantic Division. Steve Mix led the with 27.

Nate Archibald, the NBA's 1972-73 scoring champion, had 31 points for KC-Omaha and Sam Lacey hauled in 20 rebounds against Portland as the Trail Blazers fell nine games under .500. Sidney Wicks paced Portland with 26 points.

Vinci reaches third step

Andy Vinci, Cal Poly's new football coach, doesn't beat around the bush. He tells it like it is.

As Vinci says, there are three steps to take to accomplish something. First of all, you must define your goals. Then you must outline how you are going to reach them. And you must do it.

Vinci is now working on the third stage of his mission to pump some money and interest into Poly football.

He currently has two future assistants — Jud Bigelow and Tom Bowen — contacting business leaders in Pomona while three other aides are recruiting players in the San Joaquin Valley.

Vinci isn't a typical football coach. While he definitely feels the technical strategy of football is important, his first priority is financing and recruiting.

He outlined his needs at a gathering of the leaders of the Cal Poly Associates, the university's booster group, at a meeting last week.

To reach his goal of 55 full NCAA scholarships, Vinci says he needs to generate $71,000 into the program.

He intends to do it through the help of the Associates, a big car raffle and dinner, program advertising, season tickets and a Golden Cap Club for persons interested in financing one scholarship, which is valued at $1,700.

Magic number

"We're competing against Cal Poly San Luis Obispo," he says, "and it has 55 full scholarships. That's our magic number and I feel it is a realistic number."

"SLO is the school we have to point to," he continued. "That's our objective."

Vinci also claims he is going after top notch recruits, mostly from the junior college level.

"With the major colleges limited to 30 new scholarships a year now, all the good players can't be signed by them," the dynamic coach explained. "We're going after the same caliber of player that USC and UCLA are looking at. We're not going second class."

Vinci believes it will be easier to recruit for Poly than at the University of San Diego, his former employer. The biggest reason is Poly has an established football program while USD didn't.

"This is also a fantastic campus," Vinci added. "It's easy to sell this university. Our biggest problem is getting known. Our recruiters in the valley have gone places which Poly hasn't touched previously."

Like Vinci, Bigelow is a hustler. He is the type who could sell ice boxes to Eskimos.

His face is becoming familiar in Pomona businesses.

Reception agreement

"I have found our reception in Pomona to be agreeable," he said. "It's obvious business is down but this community has a chance to revitalize itself behind our football program. There is a need for a forceful element and for enthusiasm behind a common goal."

Poly must have a new stadium to ever realize any dreams of being a center of Pomona Valley football.

But Vinci isn't concerned about the facilities yet.

"First we must win," he said, "then think about a stadium. We want to fill our present stadium so much people will complain there is no place to sit."

Vinci will be starting spring practice on April 8.

"At 1 p.m. that day, we will hold tryouts for the entire student body," he added.

By that time, he hopes to have some funds coming into the program.

No instant millionaires in WFL plan

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sorry, David Jaynes, you're not going to get a million-dollar offer. Not even a half-million.

The World Football League gave Jaynes, the star Kansas quarterback, the honor of being the first player selected in the first six rounds of its first collegiate player draft Tuesday.

But for all intents and purposes, this was just a ceremonial draft. The real draft starts next Tuesday when the National Football League opens its 17-round draft.

Apparently, the WFL isn't planning a full-scale war with the NFL. They seem to be thinking more in the terms of a minor skirmash. The huge contracts that marked the old AFL-NFL war in the '60s don't seem to be what this league has in mind. If a player of Joe Namath's stature jumps leagues, he may get the kind of contract Bobby Hull got to jump to the WHA but collegians apparently aren't going to get that kind of money.

Although the WFL is going to compete directly with several NFL teams, Gary Davidson, the new league's president who also helped found the ABA and the WHA, said, "for example, we're not going to hurt the Bears in Chicago. If mismanagement doesn't hurt them, nothing will."

Bob Woolf, the sports attorney who represents 300 athletes including 85 football players, said, "I don't think you're going to see any of the $600,000 and $800,000 contracts. The teams are well funded but there aren't any guys like Lamar Hunt or Bud Adams among them."

The war between the AFL and NFL heated up in 1964 when Joe Namath got a $400,000 contract from the New York Jets. The prices kept going up until Donny Anderson had $711,000 from Green Bay and the AFL was ready to give John Brodie a million dollars to leave San Francisco. At this point in 1966, the leagues decided to merge.

As expected, the new league concentrated on quarterbacks and running backs as the first eight players selected play those positions.

Besides Jaynes the other players selected on the first round were: Boston — Gary Marangi, Boston College quarterback; Florida — Woody Green, Arizona St. running back; Toronto—Bo Matthews, Colorado running back; Birmingham — Wilbur Jackson, Alabama running back; New York—Mike Boryla, Stanford quarterback; Southern California — James McAlister, UCLA running back; Philadelphia—John Cappelletti, Penn State running back; Hawaii— Fred McNeil, UCLA linebacker; Chicago—Bill Kollar, Montana defensive lineman; Washington-Baltimore — Barty Smith, Richmond running back; Detroit—Paul Seals, Michigan tight end.

Globetrotters bid for Walton

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A spokesman for the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team said Tuesday his group plans to enter the bidding war for UCLA center Bill Walton.

"Walton is worth millions to the Globetrotters because it would be their first integration," said Tex Harrison, a publicist for the touring all-black team.

"We would have to play in outdoor stadiums if we got Walton. We would have to play in the Astrodome (Houston), Soldier's Field (Chicago) and the Los Angeles Coliseum to accommodate the crowds.

"We know we will have to bid against the NBA and ABA, but we are ready, willing and able, and we are sincere."

LOCAL-NATIONAL Sports

Miller won't be missed in S.D.

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Johnny Miller, bone tired and bedded down with a nagging head cold, is home in Napa, Calif., this week, much to the delight of his fellow touring pros.

"Naturally, no one is happy John isn't feeling well," said Ben Crenshaw after a tuneup round Tuesday for the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open which starts Thursday. "But he is going so good that, if he were here, I'd have to bet he'd win again. John is having the kind of streak every one here dreams about. In some ways it's a shame he had to pass this week."

Miller's passing leaves the field in the Williams wide open, but if you have to pick a favorite, Crenshaw looks like the man to beat this week.

Crenshaw gave Miller, winner of the Crosby National Pro-Am and the Phoenix and Tucson opens on successive weeks this year, a strong run last Sunday before finishing second. He's played about as well as anyone on the tour outside of Miller and his cool, long game is ideally suited to Torrey Pines, the course over which they play the Williams.

Miller, Jerry Heard and Rod Funseth are the only players among this year's top 20 money winners missing from the Williams. The field also includes defending champion Bob Dickson, but no Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer.

But the "young lions" are here in force along with hometown favorites Gene Littler, Billy Casper and Tommy and John Jacobs. Also such former San Diego winners as Bob Rosburg, Pete Brown and George Archer.

Crenshaw, who won $76,749 last year in just three events, is fourth on the 1974 money winner list, topped by Miller's $90,000. He has banked $17,412 and trails Grier Jones (20,531) and Lanny Wadkins ($19,832) as well as Miller.

Jones finished second to Miller in the rain-shortened, 54-hole Crosby and Wadkins was second to Miller in the Phoenix Open.

There are two courses at Torrey Pines but for the Williams event, which carries a winner's prize of $34,000, they have combined the two layouts into a par 72-course that many regard difficult, especially if the weather turns bad. That's because Torrey Pines fronts on the Pacific Ocean and wind often is a factor at this time of the year.

Chris Evert wins big in impressive debut

MISSION VIEJO, Calif. (UPI) — Chris Evert has made her maiden appearance in Southern California an impressive one.

The 19-year-old Fort Lauderdale, Fla., miss—seeded No. 1 in the $50,000 Virginia Slims women's pro tennis tournament here—routed Miami's Sally Greer 6-0, 6-2 Tuesday night.

She yielded only five points in the first set as she overwhelmed her rival with a blazing serve, a two-fisted backhand and a rifle-sharp forehand.

Miss Evert, who is the fiance of men's pro Jimmy Connors, lost to Billie Jean King in the finals of the Virginia Slims tournament at San Francisco last Sunday.

Mrs. King, 31, had trouble subduing 15-year-old Robin Tenney of Beverly Hills, Calif., the youngest girl on the tour, here Tuesday. The five-time Wimbledon champion is seeded second at Mission Viejo.

In other feature matches, fourth-seeded Nancy Gunter of Lake Livingston, Tex., beat Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., 6-4 7-6; No. 5 seed Rosemary Casals of San Francisco was a 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 winner over Czechslovakia's Martina Navratilova; No. 6 seed Francoise Durr of France routed Mimi Jausovec of Yugoslavia 6-3, 6-1, and seventh-seeded Kris Kemmer of San Diego topped Virginia Ruzici of Romania 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Evert faces Valerie Ziegenfuss of Mission Viejo and Mrs. King plays Glynis Coles of England today.

Washington businessmen set to make deal for Padres final

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Washington, D.C. group has announced the "good news" that it finally is ready to purchase the San Diego Padres, whether or not owner C. Arnholt Smith agrees.

The businessmen obtained an insurance policy Monday which attorney Stephen Danzansky said, "will provide satisfactory indemnification to us and the National League against an adverse judgment in the various law suits arising from the transfer of the Padres to Washington."

In a telegram to Smith, Joseph Danzansky, the grocery chain owner who heads the Washington group, hinted at legal action.

"We have good news and we hope you'll agree," he told Smith," proposing a meeting this week "to finalize the details of closing.

"We are trying desperately to avoid protracted and unpleasant litigation which would further compound your problems and those of the franchise."

The National League owners last Dec. 6 conditionally approved the Padres' sale to Danzansky's group for $12 million with indemnification one of the major terms that remained to be met. When the group failed to meet the terms by a Dec. 21 deadline, Smith told the league he had broken off negotiations with Danzansky. Smith's later decision to sell to a Los Angeles group headed by Marjorie Everett was rejected by the league owners.

Snake bitten 49ers fall

By United Press International

It's a season of heartbreak for Long Beach State's basketball team, which can't play in post-season tournaments and just missed its big opportunity to move up in the national ratings.

The ninth-ranked 49ers fell 54-52 at sixth-ranked Marquette Tuesday night as Long Beach led 27-23 at the half and 50-49 with 37 seconds to go.

That's when Maurice Lucas made a basket for the Warriors and Rick Aberegg of the 49ers then threw the ball away and drew a technical foul.

Marquette committed 11 turnovers while Long Beach was guilty of 31 errors. Glen McDonald and freshman Roscoe Pondexter had 15 for the losers, now 12-2.

The NCAA has declared Long Beach State ineligible for post-season playoffs because of alleged recruiting violations so that now surprising Fresno State would appear to be the team most likely to represent the PCAA.

The Bulldogs ran their record to 11-2 Tuesday night with a 60-58 double overtime win at Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, which had won eight of its previous nine. Reserve Pat O'Leary hit the 22-foot jumper that won it with one second to go in the second extra stanza while Pinky Williams of SLO and Roy Jones of the winners each scored 20.

But another tough PCAA team, UOP, ran its record to 10-4 with a 76-63 victory over Santa Clara. John Errecart had 21 for the Tigers while Glen Hubbard had 15 for the Broncs, now 6-10.

In other action, Seattle Pacific won one and lost one. They edged Central Washington 58-57 when Don Dehart sank two free throws with 19 seconds to go but lost their wallets, watches and jewelry to thieves who sawed the locks off their lockers.

Loyola snapped a seven-game losing streak with a 69-59 victory over San Diego State as Paul Sunderland and Scott Kay paced Loyola with 14 and 13 points respectively.

U.S. International made it 11 wins in a row with a 52-40 win over Redlands, while another small school giant, Azusa, got 50 points from Rick Reed and Dennis Vanzant in a 104-70 win over Pacific Christian.

Cal Lutheran outscored Life as Garl Bowman of the winners and Byron Peden of the losers each hit 30. Bill Rockweed's 18-foot jumper with three seconds to go gave Laverne the 67-65 nod over Claremont. Stan Washington scored 19 to pace San Diego to a 61-55 nonconference win over Cal Poly. Western Washington fought back from a 40-33 halftime deficit to down Simon Fraser 49-44 for its eighth win in its last 10 games.

San Jose State is at UC Santa Barbara tonight.

Kings battling for playoffs

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Six weeks after trading away defenseman Gilles Marotte and penalty killer Real Lemieux to the New York Rangers for Mike Murphy, Tom Williams and Sheldon Kannegiesser, the Los Angeles Kings find themselves battling for an NHL playoff berth.

Before the Dec. 1 trade, the Kings were 5-15-3 and in last place in the Western Division. Since the deal, they're 10-8-4 and in fifth place.

They host the Minnesota North Stars tonight and a victory could move them past the North Stars into fourth in the division.

On Thursday night, the Kings are at home against the Philadelphia Flyers, who lead the NHL West.

Kovach selected for third time

POMONA — For the third time this basketball season, Chaffey College's Bob Kovach was selected the Junior College Player of the Week for scoring 19 points to lead the Panthers past Palomar, 87-69.

La Verne College center Bill Rockwood was selected the College Player of the Week for scoring 37 points in the Leopards' loss to Redlands and win over Pomona-Pitzer.

Broncs lose again in familiar pattern

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — Cal Poly's basketball situation is in sad shape these days.

The Broncos put on another dismal performance Tuesday night in dropping a 61-55 decision to the University of San Diego and the small turnout at Kellogg Gym reflects the current apathy on the campus and in the community.

It was Poly's fifth loss in six games to drop the season record to 6-11. With only three of the final nine games at home, the road ahead looks mighty tough for the Broncos. But there isn't much of a home court advantage at Poly anyway.

Tuesday's loss was in the same, all-too-familiar pattern. The visiting Toreros spurted to a seven-point advantage (31-24) at halftime and held off a last-minute Poly Rally to up their season mark to 9-7.

Don Hogan Poly's head coach, is having a rough time in his rookie campaign as the Bronco mentor. But he knew he could be in trouble this season when he accepted the job last May. Most of last year's top talent either graduated or left when Dan Ayala departed and there was little time to recruit new faces.

"No, we didn't play any better tonight," Hogan said after the loss. "We still aren't playing with any intensity. Little things have crept into it. I don't think we are getting 100 per cent effort from anybody."

Individually, Poly has been hurt by the sudden lack of points and rebounds from 6-9 senior Lee Roy Williams.

The big man, who set a CCAA record with 33 rebounds in a game earlier this season, has scored only 20 points and grabbed 29 rebounds in Poly's last five games, a far cry from his season averages of 1.4 and 9.9 respectively.

While Lee Roy contributed only seven rebounds and two points Tuesday, the production wasn't any better from Horace Aubrey, the season's top scorer. Aubrey scored eight points in making only four of his 14 shots.

Newcomer Paul Newton led the Broncos with 14 points (6-of-12) and six rebounds while Richard Reid came off the bench to tally 12 in connecting on five of nine shots.

Guard Stan Washington became San Diego's all-time career scorer by tallying 19 to lead the Toreros to raise his total to 1,240.

The Toreros built up a 61-49 lead before Poly cut the final margin by scoring six consecutive points in the final minute.

Poly got some encouraging news for the future in the preliminary game when Garey High product Kenny Clark scored 23 points and grabbed 18 rebounds to help lead the Poly junior varsity to a 76-70 win over United States International University.

The Broncos return to action Friday night at Cal State Los Angeles, a team with a four-game winning streak.

'Hens attempt to stop Poets; start winnnig

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — Pomona-Pitzer will be out to snap a two-game losing streak tonight when the Sagehens host defending conference champion Whittier.

The Sagehens, 2-2, were unimpressive in losses to Occidental (67-57) and La Verne (62-51). Meanwhile, the Poets (3-0) were rolling over Claremont-Mudd 98-78 and Caltech 98-55.

A puzzled coach Les Nagler was at a loss as to why his team suddenly lost its enthusiasm and spirit. The difference, notciable during the Oxy game, was pronounced in the game with La Verne.

"The only thing I can think of," he reasoned, is that it's the end of the semester and the players are all preparing for exams. We took a day off after the Oxy game just so they could concentrate on their studies."

The 'Hens had better be able to concentrate on basketball tonight if they are to avoid annihilation.

Whittier is led by three all-conference returnees, guards Al Hardin and Jack Smoot, and forward-center Bernie Hoskins.

Smoot and Hardin are called the best pair of guards in the district. The 6-0, 170-pound Hardin is leading conference scorers. Through 14 games, he is averaging 18.1 points per game. Forward Paul Caldwell is second with a 17-point average, and Smoot is fourth, behind Geoff Northrop of the Hens with a 16 points per game average.

Leos' waiting pays off; Rockwood wins game

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — La Verne College is playing a waiting game and making it pay off.

The Leopards took 22 fewer shots than Claremont-Mudd Tuesday night in the Stag's gym. But the bulk of the shots were good percentage chances. They also survived 20 turnovers to C-M's 11.

As a result, the Leos adged the Stags 67-65 on Bill Rockwood's jumper with just three seconds left in the game. Rockwood led both teams in scoring with 23 points on seven field goals and nine of 11 free throws.

The victory gives the Leopards sole possession (until tonight's games) of third place in the conference with a 3-2 mark. Claremont-Mudd now is 1-5.

"They (the Stags) hung in there tough," remarked coach Art Bias of La Verne. "But I'm impressed with the way we kept going when they were after us late in the game. I think Rockwood wanted to show them that his Player of the Week award was no fluke."

Rockwood was voted Player of the Week by Valley coaches and writers for his work last week.

For Ted Ducey and his Stags, it was another frustrating evening. Any one of three different things could have been said to have made the difference.

In order they were (1) a start that was slower than 40-weight oil in zero temperature. The game was exactly four minutes old before Dan Dominguez scored the first C-M points; (2) a disparity in free throws which saw La Verne sink 15 of 17 charity tosses while the Stags got only three of eight; and (3) field goal shooting percentages. La Verne wound up with 26 of 47 (55.3) to C-M's 31 of 39 (44.9).

La Verne now has taken fewer shots in each of its last two games. Against Pomona-Pitzer Saturday, the Leos hit on 25 of 49 field goal attempts while the Sagehens took 51 shots but made only 23.

Reserve Dave Waterhouse had another fine game. Coming off the bench, Waterhouse scored six points in the first half and 14 in the second to lead the Stags with 20 points. He had 15 in Saturday's upset of Redlands.

La Verne will shoot for its third straight Saturday night when the Leopards host defending champion Whittier at Bonita High. Claremont-Mudd now takes its semester break and is off until February 7 when the Stags travel to Southern Utah.

APC coasts to 15th win

ANAHEIM -- Azusa Pacific built up a 48-32 halftime lead and then rolled to an easy 104-70 victory over Pacific Christian College Tuesday night at Servite High.

Rick Reed scored 28 points and Dennis Vanzant added 20 before fouling out. Mike Leatherby scored 14 points and grabbed 18 rebounds.

"Reed scored well in the first half and Leatherby and Vanzant scored well in the second," commented coach Cliff Hamlow. "(Mike Leatherby played a real fine game all around."

The Cougars, now 15-3, travel to Biola Saturday night.

Stags claim NAIA title

CLAREMONT — Claremont Men's College came in first place in the NAIA District Three Marathon Championships, recently, at Mission Bay in San Diego.

The Stags had a combined total of 12 points to win the event followed by Southern California College (13 points) and Fresno with 20 points.

Wayne Akiyama paced the locals with a recond place overall effort in two hours, 28 minutes and 36 seconds. John Lehman ran ninth in a time of 2:40:22 and Steve Rodriguez was 12th in 2:45:11.

Young Vikings surprise 'Pack

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — The Vikings are back.

The Garey High Vikings, that is.

Coach Mike Wells' defending San Antonio League basketball champions pulled one of the biggest upsets of the season Tuesday afternoon and jumped right back into this year's race for the SAL crown.

The Vikings, sporting the youngest team in the league this year, stunned Claremont in the Garey gym by an impressive 74-52 margin. Claremont had been ranked third last week in the CIF 3-A ratings and had only lost twice all season.

With its 22-point victory over the highly-ranked Wolfpack, Garey climbs into a tie for third place in the standings and is right in the thick of the league race again.

"We changed our offense, and we were playing two different kinds of defense," stated Wells after the surprising victory. "I don't think they (Claremont) were ready when we switched our defense.

"When Billy Evans is 'on', the team is 'on'," added the Viking skipper. "And he was shooting today. When he gets hot from the outside, the opponents have to come out after him. That leaves the inside open for his passes underneath.

"I think a big factor in the game was that we were able to keep Bruce Abraham (Claremont center) out from underneath the basket. Both Delbert McDonald and Gary Carpenter did a good job, and Steve Bailey turned in a great game," Wells injected.

All four players he mentioned tallied in double figures for the Vikings, with Evans, McDonald and Carpenter dumping 18 points apiece and Bailey contributing 15 as a reserve.

The Vikings got off to a slow start against Claremont, but before the first eight minutes of play were over they had taken an eight-point lead over the punchless 'Pack.

Claremont battled back, as expected, and regained the lead halfway through the second period, 21-20. But that lead was short-lived.

Bailey started dominating the area underneath the boards and dumped in the next two buckets of the game to throw the Vikings into a three-point lead. A moment later, Evans scored to put the defending champs on top by six.

By the time the buzzer had ended the initial 16 minutes of play, the Vikings were still ahead by four, 30-26.

But the rout really didn't begin to form until midway through the first quarter.

Garey boosted its lead to nine, 43-34, on Evans free throws with 3:40 remaining in later, McDonald's field goal the quarter.

Cavs remain in 2nd place with big win

By SCOTT POINDEXTER
P-B Correspondent

MONTCLAIR — Coach Ed Taylor of Pomona High would have loved to have thrown out the first quarter of his team's game against the Montclair Cavaliers Tuesday afternoon in San Antonio League play. The Red Devils were held to only two points while the Cavaliers put in 18, and in the end it was Montclair 62, Pomona 47.

Mark Gosswiller led the Montclair attack both in the first period and in the game. Gosswiller had 10 of his 18 total points in that opening period.

The Cavaliers jumped out into an 8-0 lead seemingly before Pomona started to play.

Jerome Holliman was the lucky Red Devil that scored their only first-period basket on a loose ball that happened to land in his hands. Holliman ended up as the only other player in the game to reach double figures, getting 16 points. At one point he hit five straight baskets, all from the baseline.

Pomona began to make a game of it in the second period, scoring 13 points while the Cavs were putting in 14. Sam Davis came off the Pomona bench to put in seven points, all the points he scored in the game.

Halftime was a blessed relief for the Red Devils, and they used it to their advantage. Holliman started hitting from the baseline and, with help from John Weiman, started to close the gap.

Montclair was held to only 11 points, while Pomona was putting in 14, not enough though to offset the first quarter.

The Red Devils began to really close the margin in the fourth and final period, but the dormant Montclair free throw shooting woke up to save the Cavaliers.

Before the final period, Gosswiller and the team had shot 7 of 14 from the line, yet finished up hitting seven of 10 in the quarter. Gosswiller had been two of seven and then put in two clutch freebies to keep the Red Devils out of range. Pomona had closed the gap to a mere 10 points, the closest point since the opening period.

Friday night, Pomona visits Chino, while Montclair fights to retain sole possession of second place by taking on Claremont at Montclair.

Giants live up to name, rip Scots

By GRAHAM CROWE
P-B Correspondent

POMONA —The trouble with the nicknames of most schools is that if their teams played up to their nicknames most schools would be in for long athletic years.

Would you really like to see a team play like Poets? Or sinking baskets like Cowboys? Spartans and Romans might put on a great orgy, but dribble? Never!

There is one team in the San Antonio League which is playing up to its nickname, however, and Upland High got a good look at the mighty Giants from Ganesha Tuesday afternoon in the "Land of the Giants."

The final score was 96-67 in Ganesha's favor and both coaches generally agreed that if Ganesha plays the way it did against the Highlanders, there very well might be a team to go undefeated in the SAL.

Ganesha's (5-0) Gary Fulkerson said, "The first half was probably our best hustling half bf the year. We were a little tight at the beginning but our defense was great throughout."

Upland's (1-4) Paul Trautwein saw it this way. "They (Ganesha) looked pretty good, didn't they? They were making some excellent, tough shots and it wasn't just one person but three or four."

The three or four that Trautwein directed his comments to were Cleve Porter, Broderick Hunter, Earl Wilson and Mike Hall.

Porter, the Giants' All-CIF center, equalled his season high with 31 points while Hunter was two points shy of his season best with 2.

Wilson used a variety of twisting layups and outside jumpers to run up 19 points while Hall connected on four long range bombs while playing only for a few minutes in the second half.

If someone had seen only the first three minutes of action, he never would have believed that Ganesha was capable of scoring 96 points, let alone defeating Upland.

Before Fulkerson called timeout to regroup his forces with just over three minutes gone, the Highlanders led 4-2 as Ganesha had committed seven turnovers and taken just two shots compared to Upland's 10 attempts.

It was the Highlanders' failure to hit in the early going that kept Ganesha out of trouble. If Upland had been able to sink even half its shots in the early going, the whole game might have been different as Ganesha would have found itself trailing by 10 instead of just one basket.

Curt Oldenkamp, Upland's all-league candidate, was bottled up in the first half against Hunter and scored just six points. But when the big Giant got into foul trouble, Fulkerson switched Hunter off Oldenkamp and the Scot guard quickly scored 15 in the third period. He finished with 24 before fouling out and has now hit in double figures every game, with a season low of 13.

Ganesha, which shot a torrid 56 per cent from the field, travels to last-place Damien Friday night while Upland must improve on Tuesday's 39 per cent performance when hosting Garey Friday.

Price, Lopez box Thursday

LOS ANGELES — Unbeaten Andy 'The Hawk' Price, 14-0-2, will headline Thursday night's 10 round main event card at the Olympic against Tijuana's Julio Lopez, 22-7, in a junior welterweight bout.

This match replaces the bout that was to have no. 3 world lightweight, unbeaten Jimmy Heair, 34-0, fight Lopez. Heair had to withdraw from the match when he suffered a nose injury.

CHINO — A loss can play a psychological role on a basketball team. Chino High was beaten by Montclair last Friday and either the defeat did something to the Cowboys or coach Bob Elder did.

Forward Tim Smith and guard Bob Hairston combined for 56 points Tuesday afternoon as Chino easily defeated hapless Damien, 96-51.

Smith poured in 32 points and grabbed 14 rebounds while Hairston tossed in 24 points as the Cowboys shot 63 per cent from the field, connecting on 41 of 65 attempts.

The Cowboys, who enjoyed a four-inch average height advantage per man, scored at will from close range as Smith hit 13 of 15 field goal attempts on shots ranging from five to eight feet away. Hairston used his 6-foot-3 frame to maneuver the baselines, enjoying a 12 for 16 shooting performance.

In fact, entering the final eight minutes of play and leading 75-39, Elder's club had a combined team shooting percentage of 74, hitting on 33 of 46 shots.

Chino is now 3-2 in San Antonio League play and 12-3 overall while the Spartans are yet to win a league game after five tries and have won just four of 15 games for the season.

The Cowboys jumped out to a 6-0 lead before Damien got off its first field goal attempt and a 10-0 lead before Cornell Kasbergen made two free throws to put the Spartans on the scoreboard.

Smith then tossed in six of Chino's nest eight points before John Pignotti connected on a field goal and a pair of charities to make it 18-6 with 2:20 left in the first quarter.

Dirk Story, who finished with eight points and five caroms, hit a field goal and Hairston added a two-pointer to lead Chino to a 22-8 advantage after a period.

Smith tossed in 10 while Hairston accounted for six in the stanza.

Smith gunned in 12 points while Mark Milton tallied six of his eight points in the second quarter as the Cowboys led 49-21 at the half.

Smith and Hairston highlighted the scoring in the third period with eight and 12, respectively, as the lead mounted to 75-39.

Elder was pleased with his teams defensive play as the Spartans were held to just 20 field goals in 58 tries, 37.9 per cent.

Elder replaced his starters with 5:53 left in the game and leading, 81-41. Reserve forward Jim Love responded with nine points with Keith Mundee adding six and Hector LaMarque contributing four.

Wilson's jumper gives Webb 48-47 victory

Mark Wilson hit a jump shot with 20 seconds left in the game to pace Webb School to an exciting 48-47 victory over Aquinas Tuesday afternoon in Arrowhead League play.

Webb, going into the final quarter trailing by four points, 36-32, tied the game at 40-all and then Wilson put the Gauls ahead with a field goal. The lead then changed hands three more times before Wilson, who scored 19 points in the game, dumped in the game-winning basket.

Webb guard John Baer (14) and Bob Wright (10) were the only other Gauls able to score more than two points in the game.

Aquinas was led by Jim Moffatt's and Derek Roberson's 12 points each.

The Gauls are now 2-1 in Arrowhead action and 4-7 on the season.

Over in the Citrus Belt League, Chaffey remained in contention for the league title with a 70-63 victory over Fontana.

Tiger guard Make Partington tied a school record in the game when he was credited with 10 assists. He also scored 12 points for the visitors.

Guard Mark McQuaid and center Harley Stark led the Chaffey offense with 17 points each, while forward Ray Mendoza added 11.

Both teams played evenly in the first half, with Fontana holding a slim five-point advantage, 37-32, going into the locker room.

But Chaffey, paced by McQuaid's six points and Stark's and Partington's four each, took over in the third period and never fell behind again.

The closest Fontana got was three points in the fourth period, but the Tigers slowly pulled away to win it.

Chaffey is now 3-2 in CBL play and 10-6 overall.

Sports news in brief

IN A MOVE to strengthen the Kentucky Colonels for their stretch drive, the club Tuesday announced the signing of 6-10 Jim Bradley, the nation's third leading rebounder at Northern Illinois last season.

WASHINGTON REDSKINS' coach George Allen reports he has had a "visit" with former Notre Dame star quarterback Joe Theismann about the possibility of his playing with the Redskins. Theismann's contract with Toronto in the Canadian Football League has expired.

THE PITTSBURGH PANTHERS, who have won 14 in a row after an opening loss to West Virginia, now owns college basketball's longest win streak after the demise of UCLA. But Pitt fans aren't rallying around the flag just yet.

SEVENTH-SEEDED Jan Kodes of Czechoslavakia held off a stern challenge from American Dick Stockton Tuesday to advance in the $100,000 U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championships at Philadelphia. Kodes rallied to win 4-6, 7-6, 6-4. Fourth-seeded Stan Smith of the United States and 13th-seeded Roger Taylor of Great Britain were upset victims.

MAXIE BAUGHAN, defensive football coach of Georgia Tech the past two years, was hired Tuesday by the New York Giants of the National Football League to be in charge of the defense.

SEVEN-FOOT CENTER STEVE MANKER, a freshman member of the University of Oregon basketball team, has apparently dropped out of school, athletic officials said Tuesday. Manker, who formerly played at La Habra High, has expressed unhappiness that he has not been seeing more playing time. His brother, Bob Manker, is playing at Orange Coast College.

Dodgers, Troy in exhibition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will play a five-inning exhibition with defending NCAA baseball champion University of Southern California Feb. 17.

Maury Wills is in charge of the Dodgers' workouts this winter and is being assisted by minor league pitching instructor Ron Perranoski and scout Gail Henley. Parking and admission to the Dodger-USC game will be free of charge.

Aeros beat Sharks on two final period goals

HOUSTON (UPI) — Larry Lund and Mark Howe scored final period goals to boost the Houston Aeros to a 3-1 win over the Los Angeles Sharks Tuesday night.

Frank Hughes jumped the Aeros ahead 1-0 with a goal at 5:53 of the first period on assists by Lund and Andre Hinse.

The second period was scoreless. Then Lund popped in his 16th goal of the season at 6:25 of the third period to make the score 2-0.

Gary Veneruzo scored Los Angeles' only goal at 13:40 to narrow the margin to 2-1, but Howe iced the game four minutes later with his 22nd goal of the year.

By giving up only one goal, Aero goaltender Don McLeod grabbed the best goals against percentage of the World Hockey Association with a 2.62 average.

Garey High Boosters provide help

POMONA — After two years of being without one, Garey High once again has an athletic booster club.

The club, under the leadership of president Pete Roque and vice president Irving Clark, was formed at the beginning of this year after it had desolved two years ago.

The new club provides sandwiches and soft drinks for the Garey athletic teams after the events, along with attempting to help out underprivileged athletes with athletic expenses.

President Roque indicated that there area bout 30 to 35 members in the club with about a dozen of those considered active members.

"Right now it's just getting off the ground," said vice president Clark. "I hope we can get it going now."

Wrestlers enter third week

San Antonio League wrestling action will go into its third week Thursday, and some interesting matches are on tap.

The two Pomona schools, Garey and Ganesha, go against powerful foes. Garey High will travel to Chino to take on the always strong Cowboys, while winless Ganesha has the task of trying to unseat SAL kingpins Upland.

Thursday's other match should provide more suspense, as Claremont tackles a surprising Montclair squad. The Cavaliers are undefeated at this point in league action, while Claremont has been something of a disappointment. The Wolfpack has the material however, and this matchup could be a real close one.

Several individual standouts are developing as SAL action continues. In particular, the 114-pound class ought to be hotly contested at the league finals, as Garey's Sergio Godoy, Chino's Larry Imbach, Upland's Bill Glasheen, and Montclair's Paul Tuscher all populate that division.

NHL's D.C. entry named 'Capitals'

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — Washington D.C.'s new National Hockey League team will be known as the "Capitals."

Old pros added to NHL all-star list

CHICAGO (UPI) — Some high-scoring veterans of previous National Hockey League All-Star games were included in the list of additional players picked by coaches of the East and West divisions Tuesday to round out their squads for the Jan. 29 All-Star game.

Scotty Bowman of the Montreal Canadiens, coach of the East, included left wing Frank Mahovlich of the Canadiens among his eight picks. Mahovlich has the second highest point total in All-Star game history with 12.

West Coach Billy Reay of the Chicago Black Hawks included from his own Windy City club three other veterans of All-Star play, centers Stan Mikita and Pit Martin and right winger Jim Pappin.

Reay's other choices were defensemen Barclay Plager of St. Louis and Joe Watson of Philadelphia and center Garry Unger of St. Louis and left wingers Joey Johnston of California and Bob Berry of Los Angeles.

Besides Mahovlich, Bowman chose defensemen Dallas Smith of Boston and Denis Potvin of the New York Islanders, centers Gil Perreault of Buffalo and Jacques Lemaire of Montreal, left wing Ed Westfall of the Islanders and right wingers Bobby Schmautz of Vancouver and Mickey Redmond of Detroit.

Mahovlich has played in 14 games, the highest number of the 40 players who will make up the two squads.

Newcomers to All-Star play are Potvin, Redmond, and Wayne Cashman of Boston on the East team and on the West squad Don Awrey of St. Louis, Dave Burrows of Pittsburgh, Joe Watson of Philadelphia, Dennis Hextall of Minnesota and Al McDonough of Atlanta.

Ali's hands okay for Frazier bout--Dundee

DEER LAKE, Pa. (UPI) — Angelo Dundee denied rumors Tuesday that Muhammad Ali had done very little sparring in an effort to protect tender hands for his Monday night fight with Joe Frazier.

"That's just not so," Ali's trainer said. "He's gone 200 rounds" with his sparring partners.

"There are a lot of rumors around, but that doesn't make any difference to us," Dundee added. "Let 'em believe what they want.

"He is in the best shape of his career. He conditioned for this fight like he was 21."

Dundee said Ali shadow boxed eight fast rounds Tuesday and will travel to New York today for his pre-fight physical. The trainer said the former heavyweight champion will work out Thursday and Friday and will break camp Saturday morning.

He said he expects Ali to weigh 210 pounds for the bout at Madison Square Garden.

"I'm in the best shape of my career," Ali said Tuesday. "Those who have any doubts, just come out and see me box."

Drivers hoping for dry Saturday

RIVERSIDE — Bobby Allison, Richard Petty, Hershel McGriff and 26 other stock car drivers will be following a small Porsche pace car when the Winston Western 500 resumes at noon this Saturday at Riverside International Raceway.

Allison had a slim three-second lead over Petty when the season's first major race was stopped after 63 laps last Sunday because of rain. Another 335 miles remain to be run with 29 of the original 35 cars still in competition.

"It's a brand new race now," Allison says. "Most of the top drivers are still bunched together so it will be like starting at the beginning."

There were seven cars running on the same lap when the race was stopped. Behind Allison, Petty and Pearson were Hershel McGriff, Jimmy Insolo, Benny Parsons and Cale Yarborough.

Four other drivers were just a lap down and could get back on the leader's lap during pit stops that are expected immediately after the restart Saturday.

They include Gary Bettenhausen (Matador) Donnie Allison, Richie Panch and Jack McCoy.

The only serious contender who retired from the race before it was postponed is former West Coast champion Ray Elder.

NASCAR officials first showed the yellow caution flag on lap 60 when sprinkles made the track too slick to race on. After five more laps, they stopped the field and most of the 44,000 spectators went to their cars hoping for the weather to clear.

It didn't and two hours later, the race was postponed until this Saturday at noon.

The first 60 laps of the Winston Western 500 were among the most competitive in the race's 12-year history. There were eight lead changes among four different drivers.

Allison, in a 1974 Chevelle, led most of the way, but he was losing time to Petty's Dodge and Pearson's Mercury when the rains came.

This is the fourth time that the 500 has been interrupted by weather. In 1967, it was postponed a week after 50 laps because of rain. In 1969, it was twice rain-postponed without a start and in 1972, fog shortened it to 390 miles.

The 29 cars stopped Sunday were impounded in the Raceway garage where they will be secured until Friday afternoon. At that time, two mechanics from each team willl be allowed to change sparkplugs and reconnect battery cables, but nothing else.

The cars will be brought out on the track in the order they were running when the race was stopped and they will start at noon under the yellow flag.

Officials say there will probably be three or four caution laps while drivers check their brakes and tires before resuming race speed.

A.J. Foyt thinking about retirement

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Five-time U.S. Auto Club champion A.J. Foyt turned 39 last week and he's talking retirement.

"I'm very serious about it," the grizzled Texan revealed. "I won't run much longer and this could be my last year.

"I enjoy the challenge as much as I ever did or I still wouldn't be at it but my family and friends have been on me the last five years to quit. And, really, there's not much left."

If it is Foyt's final year in racing behind the wheel, he hopes to make it a big one. He drove his first race at Houston in 1953 and hasn't missed an Indianapolis 500 since his first one in 1958. He won auto racing's big event in 1961, '64 and '67.

"It would be nice to win it once more," he declared.

A year ago, Foyt scored two USAC championship car victories, the 44th and 45th of his career. The 45th was the Pocono 500.

"Yeah," USAC's all-time championship point leader said, "it was a good year but I really can't holler about none of my years. I've had a pretty good life."

Foyt was at Ontario, Calif., last weekend with his '73 Coyote-Offy for a Goodyear tire testing program. The California 500, held on Labor Day weekend the past four years, will kick off USAC's championship car schedule in 1974. The first of the three 500-milers is set for Sunday, March 10.

"We made a couple of changes on our car from last year," said Foyt, "and we think it's going to run pretty good."

The veteran from Houston put a new nose on his car and changed the position of his radiators for aerodynamic reasons.

Foyt has just recovered from a case of hepatitis that resulted in his hospitalization for nine days in November.

"I've had colds and the flu before," he offered, "but nothing like this. I was in bed off and on for almost a whole month. In fact, that's the first time I walked into a hospital."

Foyt said he hasn't tempered his famous temper but he has matured as a driver.

"I haven't mellowed," he explained. "If people approach at the wrong time and force the issue, I still tell 'em to go to hell. People who know me know I'm out to win. If you run second, you're not worth a damn.

"My desire to win is as strong as it ever was but I probably don't do some of the stupid things out there that I did when I was younger. If I have the car, you can bet your butt I'll try to be there. If I don't, I won't take stupid chances."

Southland racing

CORONA — Super fast modified stock cars return to Corona Raceway Sunday in an open competition field on the tricky half-mile dirt oval, with qualifying beginning at 12:30 p.m. and racing at 2 p.m.

Last year's modified champion Jerry Jones of Anaheim is expected to head the field Sunday, joined by second place finisher Dee Kelly of Stanton, third place Don Huchingson of Fontana, Bill Gielish of Riverside, Tim Mcmillin of Riverside, Mike Katz of Riverside, Bob Early of Los Angeles, Wayne Rigney of Huntington Beach, Ron Ayre of Costa Mesa and Spooky Locke of Corona.

Corona Raceway, meanwhile, will launch its innovative Super Cycle Combo Thursday night, featuring challenging motocross action on the new, fully-lighted, all natural-terrain course and flat track and TT motorcycle racing simultaneously. One admission price enables the spectator to view the action from either the grandstands or the pits.

VALENCIA — A 400-rider entry, including many of the West Coast's top dirt-track racers, is expected for a motocross double-header this weekend at Indian Dunes Park near Saugus.

With both events being sanctioned by California Raring Club of Riverside and awarding double points towards divisional championships, the large field of motorcyclists will be featured in action Friday night under the arc lights, beginning at 8, to be followed by a daytime program Sunday at 9 a.m.

All classes will go to the starting line three times during each program, with riders accumulating points from each heat race towards overall victories. Those groups to be represented include powder puff, minicycle, beginner, novice, veteran and expert-ranked riders.

PARKER — Final Arizona state approval has been obtained by Mickey Thompson for the SCORE Parker 400 off-road race to be held the weekend of Feb. 8-10 in the California-Arizona desert adjacent to the Colorado River.

SCORE's first major off-road event of 1974 will have a purse of more than $30,000 plus contingency prizes worth another $30,000, Thompson said. Entries received to date total nearly 200.

The race will be held on two relatively circular routes of 110 miles in Yuma County, Ariz., and 140 miles in Riverside County, Cal. Competitors will make a complete swing of both loops and then finish with a final 110-mile dash over the Arizona course for a total of 360 racing miles.

Thompson shortened the original event from 500 miles to less than 400 in the interest of saving fuel. Other precautions have also been taken to assure the safety of ecological resources in the desert.

Notre Dame glad to escape Kansas

By United Press International

The pressure of being No. 1 almost caught up with Notre Dame right away.

The Fighting Irish, who stunned UCLA last Saturday to break the Bruins' record 88-game winning streak and were rewarded with the No. 1 ranking in the nation, almost saw it disappear in their first game Tuesday night.

The Irish blew most of a 14-point halftime lead and had to hang on to defeat Kansas 76-74 before a screaming crowd of over 17,000 at Allen Fieldhouse in Lawrence, Kan. Freshman Adrian Dantley's layup with 1:40 left provided the winning margin for Notre Dame.

Notre Dame seemed to be in control as it took a 49-35 lead at the half. But Kansas came back fired up and outscored the Irish 12-3 in a three-minute span and trailed only 61-59 with nearly 11 minutes left. Jayhawks Tommy Smith and Norm Cook fouled out and Notre Dame pulled away to a 69-61 lead.

Rick Suttle, who scored 19 of his game high 27 points in the second half, rallied Kansas again and the Jayhawks trailed only 74-72 with 2:18 left. Dantley then drove for his clinching basket and John Shumate, who had 23 points for Notre Dame, pulled down a rebound of Dantley's missed foul shot with 29 seconds left to end Kansas' dream of an upset.

"Our kids did a great job," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps. "They never quit despite losing the big lead. But even when we were that far ahead, I was still worried.

"I thought the game would be close all the way and we happened to have a good shooting night, both from the field and the free-throw line."

In other top games Tuesday, No. 3 ranked North Carolina State, led by David Thompson's 26 points, downed North Carolina 83-80, No. 5 Maryland beat Canisius 86-73, sixth-ranked Marquette rallied to edge No. 9 Long Beach State 54-52 and Kansas State downed Nebraska 73-65.

North Carolina State nearly blew an 11-point lead but Thompson's free throw with 11 seconds left put the game out of reach. Darrell Elston had 27 points to lead North Carolina.

Citrus visits Riverside CC

Citrus College returns to Mission Conference play tonight by visiting front-running Riverside in a key basketball game. Tip-off is scheduled for 8 p.m.

The Owls (3-2) are tied for fourth place in the conference standings with San Bernardino, two full games off the pace being set by the defending champion Tigers (5-0).

In other games tonight, San Bernardino visits Saddleback, Palomar entertains Southwestern and San Diego City travels to Grossmont. Chaffey (4-2), coming off an 87-69 victory over Palomar last weekend, takes a bye from conference play tonight, returning to action Friday at San Bernardino.

Citrus is 7-11 overall following Friday's non-conference win over the Whittier College junior varsity, 85-71. Veteran guard Roy Hiokman continues to lead the team in scoring with an average of nearly 30 points per game. Godfrey Carter added 21 points in the victory, and coach Neil Edwards said "he played one of his best games of the year for us. He really handled the ball and played tough defense to go along with his shooting."

Carter is No. 10 in the conference in scoring with a 13.5 average.

Stags pin Biola in key match

LA MIRADA — Claremont-Mudd scored an important college wrestling win over Biola Tuesday, defeating the host Eagles by a 26-17 team score.

Biola actually won five of the nine matches, but pins by the Stags in the other four bouts spelled the difference in the win.

Brad Mielke, Phil Lange, Bob Mennis, and Ted Cranford posted the pins for the Stags. The Biola squad had been ranked no. 1 in the latest NAIA Southern California ratings, so it was a big triumph for C-M.

The Stags are now 9-1 on the season, while Biola falls to a 8-2 ledger. Next match for Claremont-Mudd will be Thursday at 7:30 p.m. when the Stags will host Redlands.

Trojans miss top center in New York

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Clint Chapman, University of Southern California's No. 3 scorer and No. 2 rebounder, will miss the 11th-ranked Trojans' two games at Madison Square Garden in New York this week.

Coach Bob Boyd said Tuesday that his 6-9 starting center, a junior who suffered a bruised ligament in his left knee last week in practice, would remain here to undergo treatment.

Chapman's knee was taken out of a cast Monday and Boyd made his decision on the player's status on a doctor's recommendation.

"We want to have Clint back when we resume league play," said Boyd.

The 12-2 Trojans face Seton Hall and Fordham at New York on Thursday and Saturday nights. They're at Pauley Pavilion Feb. 2 for a Pacific-8 game with mighty UCLA.

Chapman, a 220-pounder from Denver, led the Trojans in scoring with a 15.2 average as a forward last season.

He moved ahead of 6-10 senior Mike Westra as the Trojans' starting center two games ago and is averaging 10.3 points and 5.8 rebounds a game. Westra will start in Chapman's place this week, according to Boyd.

Montclair loop slates signups

MONTCLAIR — The Montclair Central Little League will hold its annual signups on Feb. 16 and 23 at Montclair High's main entrance from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

All boys, 8 through 16 years of age, must sign up—including boys who played in the league last season.

All boys signing up must have a photo copy of birth records from the state or county in which they were born.

For address agencies where records may be obtained, call Matt Ballinger at 624-2619, 624-9915 or 626-7762.

Recreation

Four of the five Pomona Park and Recreation Departments' adult civic regulation basketball leagues conclude first round action this week. The quartet enters into inter-league play next week.

The International league, an eight-team circuit, has a two half system with the winner of each matched for the title. Their first half concludes on February 6th.

Inter-league action finds the American and National circuits paired up, while the Pacific and Coast loops are matched. Each team plays six games that are included in their final league standings.

Most coaches feel the inter-league concept, new to Pomona this season, will add spice to the program. If one league should dominate the other, it won't have a great affect on the final standings.

A team that excells in the mixed play could gain considerable breathing room before entering the final five games in their league. It is an experiment worth watching. A successful outcome could set the tone for both basketball and softball civic leagues in the future.

Beam top scorer

Bob Beam, playing for Royal Coach in the National League, tossed in 49 points last week in a game against Pizza Corral. The total is a season high for both Beam and the civic leagues.

Beam's lowest output so far is 22 points in Royal Coach's only loss, a 74-72 decision at the hands of the Claremont Club. In two other games, Beam has registered 27 and 33 markers. He has a four game total of 131 points for a 32.7 per game average.

When you consider that the civic league teams play two 20-minute halves running time, that's quite a scoring pace. The games have also been very close. In three weeks of play there have been eight overtime contests. Two have gone into double overtime.

The top scorers seem to be in the National loop. Former Ganesha High and La Verne College star Wilbur Gatson paces the Claremont Club with a 24.7 per game average. His top game was 32 points.

Bleemers has hot hand

Beam's closest pursuer is former Bonita High star Jim Bleemers. He recorded 42 points Monday evening against Pizza Corral which game him a four game average of 26 per contest. The American league finds ex-Cal Poly star George Thompson of Albert & Clark carrying a 27 points per game average.

His high for the year is 34 digits against Jimmy's Soul Shop. The remainder of the league is below 20 showing balanced team scoring.

Cedargrove's Keith Ensman paces the Pacific league with a 24 point per game average. As in the American loop, the remainder fall below the 20 per game mark.

Teams composing the Coast and International loops have alternated their top point producers from game to game. Therefore no one boasts an impressive average, but the close games have made for great competition.

The Rainbow circuit, for the women, finds Cindy Cole leading the parade with a 20 point per game average. The problem with this league has been securing women officials. There seems to be a real shortage.

Basketball buffs should venture out one of these evenings and take in a civic league contest. They are entertaining and refreshing.

Nixon, Kissinger agree

Major oil-consuming nations must huddle to avoid global depression

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger believe a conference of oil-producing with major consuming nations offers the best possibility averting ruin of the economies of the industrialized world.

Kissinger is known to be far more concerned over the massive price increases, triggered by Arab production and export restrictions, than he is over the restrictions themselves.

While the embargo on oil shipments to the United States and some other countries appears to be extremely leaky, the Secretary has pointed out that new price rises by Arabs and other oil producers could take up to 30 per cent of the foreign capital reserves of oil consuming countries and bring a global depression.

The Organization of Oil Producing Countries, a 12-nation group known as OPEC, agrees that a meeting should be held with consumer countries and OPEC, too, says something should be done about prices. However, OPEC blames the huge multinational oil companies for the runaway price situation.

The producing countries contend the seven huge companies, five of which are based in the United States, are making 100 per cent profit on every barrel of oil they sell and the consuming nations must find some way to reduce this if they want the line held on petroleum.

Meanwhile the United States, which is in the fortunate position of producing 85 per cent of its energy requirements itself, appears to be employing a form of orchestrated psychological warfare in an effort to bring the producers into line.

Kissinger has repeatedly refused to say the United States will employ economic warfare against the Arab countries by embargoing shipments of American raw materials and food to the Middle East.

Instead, he is trying to get his message across in a more indirect manner by warning that the oil crisis may lead to a world-wide depression from which no nation would be immune.

This is Kissinger's way of telling Russia, which urged the Arabs to use their oil as a political weapon, that unless the policy is reversed, it will become economically impossible for the United States to proceed with the various trade deals in which Moscow is interested.

It has been left to other officials to make the specific threats.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford warned continuation of the Arab oil embargo could result in a halt of U.S. food shipments to the Middle East and Africa if American farmers are unable to get sufficient petroleum to keep up production.

Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger indirectly raised for the first time the possibility of western military intervention in the Middle East, saying that in his judgment the United States "won't come to the contingency of military intervention."

He was stating publicly what some officials have mentioned privately as the dangers the Arabs risk by policies which would force western Europe, Japan and the United States into bankruptcy.

While the concensus here has been that the United States would not risk military intervention in an area that might lead to a confrontation with the Soviets, some officials acknowledged that almost anything is possible if millions in the western world become unemployed, hungry and cold as a result of the energy crisis.

Some hope is seen in the fact that the producing nations on the one hand, and the United States and some of the major consuming nations on the other, believe a conference including representatives of all countries concerned is a desirable approach to securing some sort of agreement which would stabilize the situation, secure some rollback in prices and avoid a major world depression.

Youngest quint doing well after heart surgery

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Officials at the University of Oregon Medical School Hospital believe that tiny Diane Anderson, youngest of quintuplets born April 26, 1973, is "doing well" after heart surgery.

Doctors completed the surgery Wednesday in less than an hour.

The operation was described by a hospital spokesman as involving closing a blood vessel that connects the pulmonary artery with the aorta, a vessel that normally closes after birth.

The surgery was delayed until Diane, smallest of the quints born to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Anderson, Brush Prairie, Wash., gained sufficient weight and strength. She weighed 2 pounds 9 ounces at birth and now weighs 11 pounds 9 ounces.

The defect was described by the spokesman as a "very common congenital defect." He said the surgery should leave her with an "absolutely normal" heart function She is expected to remain in the hospital between 5 and 10 days.

The other quints are reported doing fine at home.

Skipper rescued after boat burns

LONG BEACH (UPI) — A Coast Guard helicopter rescued the skipper of a 55-foot cabin cruiser Monday four miles off Newport after the boat was gutted by a fire.

Alwin E. Teutenberg, Costa Mesa, was alone aboard "The Sail Avee" when the fire broke out in his engine room and spread through the cabin.

He paddled to the helicopter in the boat's dinghy and was flown to Orange County Airport.

TUNA FLEET SAILS AGAIN

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The tuna fleet is sailing again, and the price of tuna will rise.

About 60 tuna seiners left port Wednesday, and another 40 are expected to leave by the weekend, ending a month-long refusal to sail during a disagreement between fishermen and cannery owners over the price the fishermen get for the fish. Another 25 boats sailed from Mexican, Panamanian and Costa Rican ports.

The American Tuna Sales Association, representing the fishermen, demanded $630 a ton, compared to about $500 a ton last year.

The price increase will be passed on to consumers, according to a spokesman for the canneries.

Cites inflation

Riles claims budget won't meet needs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — In his proposed budget for 1974-75, Gov. Ronald Reagan whittled down the funding requests of University of California regents, state university trustees and state schools chief Wilson Riles.

Although there was a $122 million increase in funds for elementary and secondary education, Riles said the hike would be eaten up by inflation.

"We have no budget increase. We're standing still," he declared, vowing to ask lawmakers for more money.

Reagan's proposed budget contained $2.37 billion for grades one through 12 compared to $2.25 billion for the current year.

The governor's financial experts said 4.6 million pupils—one out of every five Californians—will be enrolled in public schools in the next fiscal year.

Reagan proposed spending $19.9 million for construction in the Fremont area of a replacement for the Berkeley School for the Deaf and Blind. The new facility could be opened in 1977-78.

The governor allotted $493.1 million for the University of California in 1974-75, down from the $533.9 million the Department of Finance said the university sought. The proposed budget was up 8.5 per cent from the current level of $454.3 million.

The state university and college system would receive $480.2 million under Reagan's proposed budget—less than the $507.4 million asked by trustees. State colleges will receive $444.9 million during the current year. Their new budget would be 8 per cent higher.

The proposed funding for the two systems included a 4.7 per cent pay hike for UC faculty and a 5.4 per cent wage boost for state college professors. Nonfaculty workers in both systems would receive a 3.7 per cent increase.

The salary hikes would total $18.8 million for UC and $25.6 million for the state colleges.

Employes of both systems received pay boosts during the current fiscal year.

Community colleges would receive $315 million during the 1974-75 under Reagan's proposed budget.

Solzhenitsyn said under attack for hitting root of communism

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —The Soviet government is attacking writer Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn "with unparalled fury" because he traces the roots of repression past Stalin to Lenin, the honored founder of the Russian Communist state, according to Isaac Don Levine.

Levine, 81, who has a winter home near here, is believed to be the last living member of the corps of foreign correspondents who were in Moscow during the years when Vladimir Lenin ruled Russia. He wrote then for the Chicago Daily News and Hearst newspapers. Levine has written a number of books on the history of the Soviet government, and has served on the faculty of the Army Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth.

"Today, the 50th anniversary of Lenin's death, the Soviet government is attacking Solzhenitsyn with unparalled fury," he said in an interview with the Los Angeles Times.

"It isn't because he is exposing Stalin. It's because Solzhenitsyn in his new book, 'The Gulag Archipelago,' has gone back to Lenin's time and Lenin's heritage."

The present Soviet regime does not care what is said of Stalin, he said, but "is using Lenin as an example...they genuflect to Lenin five times a day, and a criticism of him is a criticism of them."

Levine said that it was, as Solzhenitsyn points out, Lenin who set up the Communist government's concentration camps, began rigid censorship and initiated the practice of sending dissident intellectuals to insane asylums, starting in 1919.

"It was a humane method, I suppose, at least by comparison with Stalin's method—that is, murder," Levine said.

"But I'll have to let others judge whether incarceration in an insane asylum is more humane than incarceration in a prison."

Levine said that after leaving Russia for a while in 1924, he prepared and circulated privately a map of Soviet concentration camps, the chain that Solzhenitsyn has dubbed the "archipelago." It went to western intellectuals of the 1920s such as H.G. Wells, Thomas Mann and Upton Sinclair, he said, and included the pictures and names of many victims of early Soviet repression, with details.

Levine said Solzhenitsyn is the representative of "millions of intellectuals who represent the true Russia."

He said "the Russian lack of talent for government and politics can change—in fact it is already changing. Solzhenitsyn is the herald of the coming Russia."

Levine was born in Russia and came to the United States with his parents at the age of 19 in 1911, before the Bolshevik Revolution. He returned to Moscow as a U.S. citizen and journalist.

Kissinger travels raise question: what's State Department doing?

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Having spent one-third of his time since becoming secretary of state out of the country, and bringing bitter rivals to an agreement in the volatile Middle East, Henry A. Kissinger may now turn his attention to a problem closer to home.

While no one in Washington belittles Kissinger's diplomatic achievements, there has been muted criticism of his handling of State Department operations.

Some department insiders privately say that when he is away, none of Kissinger's subordinates has any real authority to make major decisions and when he is in Washington, he still spends part of his working day at the White House.

He retains his old title as Nixon's chief national security affairs adviser, usually spending mornings at the White House and afternoons at the State Department.

On Kissinger's behalf, some department officials reject the idea that things come to a standstill while he is away.

They acknowledge that Kissinger does not permit his press officers here to make announcements of any importance in his absence, but deny that it means subordinates are not going ahead with important policy decisions.

Supporting that view is Kissinger's promotion of trusted and loyal aides into key department positions.

Among them are Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Rush and Assistant Secretary of State Joseph A. Sisco, a Middle East expert who has been nominated as undersecretary for political affairs.

Another is William H. Donaldson, undersecretary for security assistance, who is in charge of not only political and military affairs but personnel and housekeeping affairs as well.

Two of the most influential members of the "palace guard" were brought to the State Department by Kissinger from his National Security Council staff at the White House.

They are Helmut Sonnenfeldt, department counselor, and Winston Lord, a young State Department officer who was assigned to the NSC and has returned to work for Kissinger.

Watch cat's teeth for trouble signs

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Do a cat's teeth ever need cleaning? Tiger's never had his cleaned and his breath is beginning to get bad so I wondered. He's nine. I looked at his teeth and they're stained and dirty but look OK. In fact, the strange thing is his big teeth (fangs) look even bigger than they used to. Could they be growing? — K. E.

Dear K. E.: In older cats the canine teeth (fangs) often appear to be longer with increasing age. This sabretooth effect is not caused by an actual increase in the length of the tooth but, instead, to the recession of the gums. This exposes a greater portion of the whole tooth — the part which normally shows, plus part of the root. Obviously such exposure is not ideal and calls for a check-up at least.

These teeth are the most common contributors to bad breath. They are not visible in a casual examination, and the lips have to be pulled back and up to get a good look at them. When checking a cat's mouth for signs of trouble, be sure to look closely at the gum line from front to back for reddened, irritated areas. These could signal gingivities or related problems.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Pierre has always been a very vain and fastidious dog. (Actually, he considers himself a person, I think.) The problem is he has this bald spot at the base of his tail and it is getting bigger. He hates the looks of it and tries to hide it by never sitting with his back to people. We tried to help him by getting a wig but it didn't look quite right and he wouldn't leave it on. We met a man who was getting hair transplants. We wondered if this wouldn't work better on Pierre than the wig did. Would it be worth a triy? — M.O.

Dear M. O.: It would be up to your dog's dermatologist and you to determine whether transportation would be the panacea for Pierre's predicament. Even if the doctor OK's the project, there is no certainty Pierre would go along with it. Transplants take months to "plant" and perhaps a year to grow in satisfactorily If Pierre didn't appreciate them, he might scratch or yank out these transplants and at up to $25 per hair, this could be rather discouraging. Certainly if the doctor could persuade Pierre to regrow some hair that was there in the first place, it would have decided advantages.

Moon fraction of earth size

The diameter of the moon is about one-fourth that of the earth, its volume a 50th, and its mass about 100th.

TEMPERATURES are what it's all about, but this is not a giant thermometer. Three glass tubes are enclosed one inside the other, to create a solar collector, or furnace. Heat from the sun is transferred to a circulating fluid. Used in clusters in homes and offices, the light-weight, inexpensive collectors may someday replace conventional heating systems. Author hits it big with lazy approach

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — On the basis of dollar volume, Joe Karbo claims to have been the best-selling author in the United States in 1973, but you won't find the name of his book on the literary lists.

Karbo, author of a paperback called "The Lazy Man's Way to Riches," says he sold 173,000 copies last year at $10 per. That adds up to almost $1.75 million, he notes.

"It's easy to figure," he laughs, presumably on his way to the bank. "That's why I made the price $10."

All his sales are by direct mail in response to newspaper and magazine ads. He took a fullpage ad in Time magazine to lure buyers with his soft sell.

He tells how he has a $100,000 beachfront home, a $30,000 mountain cabin, two boats and a Cadillac—all acquired by his "Lazy Man's Way."

Part of his pitch is a moneyback guarantee. Karbo says he doesn't even cash checks or money orders for at least 31 days.

The book combines positive thinking principles and autosuggestion plus sound and painstakingly detailed suggestions on operating a mail order business. He calls it "direct response business."

About 10 per cent of those who order the book request and get their money back, Karbo says, and this does not create a large dent in his profits.

He acts as his own publisher and contracts the printing. Actual production of the book costs him 50 cents a copy, he says, but that does not include the thousands of dollars spent on advertising.

This is not his first big seller, he says. He sold more than 100,000 copies of a book on horse race handicapping and about the same number on a book called "The Power of Money Management" at $3.95 a copy.

He is making plans to distribute the "Lazy Man's Way" in England and says, "We should sell three or four hundred thousand over there."

Basically, he says, he is an advertising man and his results indicate he knows the field.

In the book, he gives advice on writing ads and says the chatty approach—like writing a letter to a friend—is best.

The book tells how to get a discount on advertising rates with newspapers and magazines and also ways of getting radio and television time at reduced rates.

Karbo suggests picking a product for which there is a need or a service.

The book has drawn "hundreds of letters" from persons who have profited by it, he says.

"I had a letter from a man in Tulsa, Okla., who started a retail training institute by mail and has made a success of it," he says. "People think they have to work hard and deprive themselves to make money. They don't set their goals high enough. My method is contrary to the Horatio Alger legend— you know, work hard and you'll get to be a supervisor or a managing editor. That's the long, hard way, and it doesn't work out too often.

"I'm not saying money is everything, but with it you have some freedom. I can take the afternoon off if I want to. I'm a very happy guy."

He also has a sense of humor. In light of the energy crisis, he says, "You know what—I just picked the wrong time to buy a Rolls Royce."

English fear 'baby boom'

LONDON (UPI) — The Family Planning Association and the National Marriage Guidance Council are worried that Britain's three-day work week and early evening shutdown of television will bring a baby boom.

"Husbands will be at home an extra two days a week with their wives—and with no children to disturb them," said Family Planning Association Sybil Clayton recently.

Gerald Sanctuary of the National Marriage Guidance Council saw a possible silver lining. "It may help save some marriages from the divorce court. But," he said, "an unwanted pregnancy could defeat the object. We can only hope they will take precautions."

State's farm income rises dramatically

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's farm income rose by a whopping 35 per cent in 1973 to total a record $7.6 billion, according to preliminary state estimates.

State Food and Agriculture Director C.B. Christensen said the big increase in gross farm receipts primarily was the result of "sharply higher prices."

"The prospects for continued strong demand for farm products with further upward pressure on farm prices appear likely for 1974," he said. "This favorable outlook will be offset by higher prices for production items, particularly fertilizer and fuel."

Christensen said the state's crop production in 1973 reached a record high 44.3 million tons, up 1 per cent from the previous high level recorded in 1972.

He said fruit and nut production was up 32 per cent and vegetable production increased 3 per cent. Grape production last year showed the greatest tonnage increase of any crop.

However, Christensen said field crop production dropped by 7 per cent in 1973 with sugar beets and hay crops being the principal crops responsible for the decline.

Recorders out, but mikes are still in place

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Microphones for the White House taping system are still in place in President Nixon's Oval Office and other locations, a Secret Service agent testified Wednesday.

However, Louis B. Sims, who is in charge of the technical security division of the agency, said the tape recorders were removed from the system last July 18 two days after the existence of the system was first publicly disclosed, and the system's wires were later cut.

The microphones remain installed in the Cabinet room and the President's offices in both the White House and the adjacent Executive Office Building, Sims said.

Sims and another agent were called to testify on the taping system, which they had charge of installing and supervising, in connection with a federal court hearing on how 18 ½ minutes of one of Nixon's Watergate conversations was erased

Sims said he could not recall the date the wires were cut. Assistant Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste suggested that telephone lines were not taken out until the current hearings on missing White House tapes began before Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica in early November.

Fight breaks out in church over baptism

SYRACUSE, Sicily (UPI) — A fist fight broke in front of the baptismal font at the Roman Catholic Church of the Pantheon when Angelo Bottaro arrived to be baptized. Three persons, including a policeman, were injured and 15 others charged in connection with the altercation.

Police said the four-month-old baby's parents separated 15 days after their marriage. When the mother, Melina Bottaro, 20, and her family took the infant to the church, the father, Pasquale Bottaro, 24, appeared with his family.

Fighting broke out between the two families in front of the baptismal font and police intervened to break it up.

Kremlin's hardliners slowing down detente

LONDON (UPI) — The hardliners in the Kremlin are putting the brakes on the policy of coexistence and cooperation between the Soviet Union and the United States.

They fear that their policy of "detente" between the West and the Soviet bloc will undermine the Communist regimes and their control of the domestic fronts. This they argue must not be allowed to happen.

Ominous warnings have been sounded in the past few weeks from the Kremlin's chief theoretician Mikhail Suslov and the Chief of the powerful secret police (KGB) Yuri Andropov.

They spoke of "imperialist" attempts to undermine Soviet ideology under the guise of East-West detente. A harsher line against Soviet dissenters and critical writers has signaled a progressive clampdown on the domestic front.

So far the emerging voice of the hardliners has not significantly affected the basic policy of Russo-American coexistence.

Soviet Party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, who initiated it in agreement with President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, has reaffirmed in his new year's policy outline that detente remains in force. He is personally deeply committed to it, and its failure would gravely endanger his position in the Kremlin, and even topple him from power.

Russia's point of view, as seen by the bulk of the leadership, detente in the international sphere is a good, even vital thing. Moscow expects from its closer cooperation with the United States vast trade deals, the acquisition of America's advanced technological knowhow and extensive credits. All this would strengthen Russia's economical potential which lags far behind that of the West.

Moscow also expects a parallel development in its relations with West Europe that would sanction the post-war territorial gains of Russia and its bloc allies and enable the Soviet Union to turn its attention fully to hostile China, politically as well as militarily. To that extent the hardliners in the hierarchy are going along with detente. But their growing uneasiness stems from the fear that too close relations with the capitalist West, while profitable economically could undermine the regime's grip on the nation through unwanted liberalizing pressures. They want detente therefore to be strictly controlled and Western influences be kept at bay.

The strongest warning significantly has come from the secret police chief whose influence in the Kremlin has been boosted only recently by his appointment to the powerful policy making Politburo of the ruling party.

Latest signs from the Soviet home front have indicated that a tougher line has already been set in motion.

Heavy demand for firewood, power saws

NEW YORK (UPI) — One thing the energy crisis has done is create a huge demand for firewood, and the result is that man's basic fuel is in short supply in many places —and costly.

This desire for a supplemental house fuel also has created a huge demand in the chain saw industry and woodseekers with power tools in hand are roaming the land.

Fallen or overaged trees are being cut into fireplace-sized logs in backyards and private woodlots all over the country. And in many state and national forests, anthorities have eased restrictions on cutting fallen wood in designated areas.

Most of these cut-it-yourselfers are motivated by the fact that firewood costs in most parts of the country are up anywhere from 15 to 35 per cent —where it's available.

In Los Angeles, last year's 68 cord of wood (128 cubic feet) costs $85. In Greenwich, Conn., a cord is up from $60 to $80, and it's hard to find.

"We don't have any wood in stocks," a Suffolk county (Long Island), N.Y., dealer reported. "The demand is certainly outstripping the supply."

In Chicago, one firewood dealer is limiting his customers to half a ton of wood, about one-third of a cord, for $49.

"We normally sell firewood by the ton," he says, "but this year we have to set the half ton limit. And we're still running short."

An Atlanta dealer reports he is selling all the firewood he can get at $70 a cord and adds: "I don't know if the supply will last through the winter."

Along with the demand for firewood to offset the 68 degree limit on the thermostat requested by the government has come an increased demand for chain saws, and Stanley J. Stephenson of the Power Saw Manufacturers Association reports a record sales year in 1973.

According to Stephenson, industry sources estimate that chain saw sales in the United States in 1973 increased about 23 per cent to 1.35 million units over 1972 when 1.1 million chain saws were marketed.

Stephenson, marketing vice president of McCulloch Corp., a chain saw manufacturer headquartered in Los Angeles, said nearly all of the increase in sales can be traced to homeowners, outdoorsmen and other nonprofessional woodcutters.

"Of all chain saws manufactured in the United States, over half are bought by homeowners," Stephenson said. "And we expect the consumer market to read 75 per cent of production in the years ahead."

Poor inmates file suit against jail

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The County Hall of Justice jail, which violates earthquake safety and fire codes, should be improved or closed because it is not properly financed and subjects the poor to bad conditions, a class action suit alleged Monday.

The suit was filed in U.S. District Court by the Greater Watts Justice Center on behalf of 1,000 unconvicted, poor inmates.

"The rich make bail and the poor get punished," said Larry Williams, director of the center. "Not because of anything they've done, but because of their poverty."

The 48-year-old jail has overcrowded cells, poor medical treatment, bad food, inadequate plumbing and arbitrary discipline of inmates. the suit alleged.

The court action seeks a federal order requiring improvements or that the jail be closed.

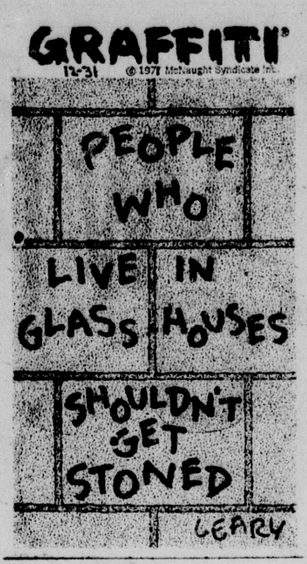
NOT JUST ANY Japanese doll, this dressed-up young lady is Her Royal Highness Princess Nori, youngest child and only daughter of Japan's Crown Prince Akihito and Crown Princess Michiko. She wears a traditional kimono given her by her grandfather, Emperor Hirohito, during court ceremonies marking the beginning of her fifth year.



Economy keeping Japan's military cupboard bare

TOKYO (UPI) — The revival of Japan as a military power, long predicted in the United States and Asia, is not going to start this year.

Struggling with inflation and an energy shortage, Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka is holding down the military budget to $3.64 billion for the 1974 fiscal year starting April 1.

In theory, it is the largest military budget since World War II, and an increase of 16.8 per cent over 1973, but in reality, it condemns Japan's small armed forces to a year of stagnation.

The cost of living rose 20 per cent in 1973. Much of the increased budget will be eaten up by servicemen's pay increases, and higher prices for everything from food to fighter planes.

Because of the oil shortage, Japan's soldiers, sailors and airmen in 1974 will spend more time in barracks, ports and hangers as supplies of fuel are cut back.

It is a far cry from the late 1930s and early 1940s when Japan's Army conquered one-third of China and much of Southeast Asia and her powerful fleet fought the U.S. Navy for control of the Pacific.

Today the largest warship is the 4,700 ton destroyer "Haruna."

The army has an authorized strength of 179,000 men, but in a country with no conscription and full employment, it is never up to strength. The Yomiuri newspaper reported in April that the army had a personnel shortage of 13 per cent, mostly because of the difficulty in signing up enlisted men.

At the start of World War II, Japanese airmen flew a Japanese-built fighter plane, the famous Mitsubishi Zero. Today's airmen fly American planes.

One well-informed Japanese diplomat thinks a military revival may never happen. Tsutomu Wada, a former Navy officer who is now Japan's ambassador to Egypt, says that in becoming a great economic power, Japan actually became militarily weak.

"It is not necessarily good to be big," Wade said recently in an article in the conservative Japanese magazine Jiyu. "As Japan's economy become bigger, abundant fuel, abundant food, abuntant raw materials all become necessary.

"We may have strength, to the extent that present conditions continue. But it merely awaits the time when the necessary overseas resources don't come in.."

War is an economic matter. It involves the building of complicated weapons, and transportation of huge supplies of food and fuel.

Japan, with a gross national product of $321 billion in the 1972 fiscal year, is the third largest industrial economy in the world. Only the United States and the Soviet Union are bigger.

However, Russia and America are large countries. Their economies are based on abundant raw materials inside their own borders. Japan is an island almost bereft of natural resources.

Med school developing new breed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Make way for the new breed of doctor.

This doctor will make it from high school graduate to M.D. in six years. This doctor will be a "take charge" physician.

The new breed is on the medical education assembly line at a new kind of medical school.

Typical of the innovative institutions is the University of Missouri-Kansas City Medical School (UM-KC). It began as an experiment three years ago to demonstrate that 17-year-old high school graduates could be transformed in six years time to expert clinicians with a plus every patient desires in a doctor.

That plus: an awareness of the patient's psychological and social needs. According to the program, these new young doctors, will never see a patient as marely a "gallbladder" or "hip fracture" or "ulcer."

The new doctors are being trained for the role of a medical practitioner who will take total responsibility for his patient's care. In large measure, this will eliminate the need for a cast of specialists— putting a dent in the practice of patients being passed from specialist to specialist.

Dr. E. Gray Dimond, provost of the pioneering school, in Kansas City, describes the new medical education's aims:

"We are building a new concept in medical education. We want to develop men of compassion; men and women eager to help other people. We can't merely judge grades and performances in science. Science is relevant only when it is applied to a patient, to people."

Medical students training in schools similar to UM-KC spend their first day of classes at a patient's bedside. On one such visit students making hospital rounds at Kansas City General Hospital nervously felt a swollen abdomen, saw a diabetic amputee, and stood, visibly shaken, around the bed of a patient who died before their eyes.

Their faces were ashen.

"It will be a long time before you regain your composure," Dr. Dimond told them.

It is the hope of the UM-KC faculty that this corps of doctors will give patients an M.D. who is an advocate for them in the health care system.

These clinicians will provide an alternative to the confusing maze of medical specialties that make the patient's search for diagnosis and treatment costly and time-consuming.

Medical consumers have been asking for such a physician. That is, a doctor who has a feeling for people.

Officials at the American Academy of Family Practice, also in Kansas City, are calling for a 10-year plan to bring family practitioners—the "take charge" doctors—up to 40 per cent of the primary care doctors who practice.

EVERYDAY LOW PRICES!
SUPER DUPER PRICES!
HAPPINESS DISCOUNTS!

It's easy enough to be confused by the Pied Piper Parade of supermarket advertising these days. Too easy! "Everyday Low Prices!" "Super Duper Prices!" "Happiness Discounts!" You've heard 'em all. It would almost be funny if the money you spend on food weren't such a serious matter. So, for those of you who are as tired of the ballyhoo as Alpha Beta is, let's set the record straight.

The fact of the matter

Supermarket food ads don't always tell the whole story. Sometimes other food stores advertise certain individual prices even lower than Alpha Beta's. Naturally the market is putting its lowest-price foot forward. We know that. But, please, for saving's sake—do remember that most ads represent only a hundred or so items...while the average market carries over nine thousand items! And it's here, on the great majority of your purchases, that you'll see just how Alpha Beta can save you money.

Why our price is right

Alpha Beta knows more about discount pricing than just about anybody in the business. We've been at it longer than most, for one thing. But that's not the only reason. We're considered industry leaders insofar as discounting know-how is concerned. We're unique in our ability to keep quality, service, selection and in-store cleanliness up—while we keep our prices consistently down.

The total picture

"Total Discounts" isn't simply a phrase at Alpha Beta. It's a commitment. What it means is that we can effect a consistency of savings for our customers that you won't find elsewhere. We have money-saving prices up one aisle and down another. Not just on certain items or on certain days. But on every possible item, every single day. You'll find that, thanks to Alpha Beta's overall prices, you don't have to pay the piper.

Savings on the double too

Alpha Beta leads the way, too, in our "Double Discount" policy. Double Discounts refer to prices that are below even everyday discount prices. They're made possible by temporary manufacturer discounts we receive. Now the fact is, all markets offer you some temporary price reductions. But Alpha Beta alone offers you so many. Often up to hundreds more than you'll find anywhere else. Next time you're in an Alpha Beta, look around. You'll see bright blue Double Discount signs just about everywhere you look. Each one of them representing a substantial savings.

The proof's in your food bill

When all is said and done, it's a lower total food bill you want. And that's what Alpha Beta can deliver. If you think this is merely another claim, do yourself a favor. Compare. Compare your total at Alpha Beta with your total at any other market. You'll see why we say wherever you're shopping now...you'll like the total better at Alpha Beta.

Don't be misled.

You'll like the total better at Alpha Beta

Upside-down cake isn't a new idea

Upside-down cakes are typically American. Although their precise origin is not known, they were probably first prepared by an ingenious cook over 100 years ago. It was discovered that cakes could be made in a skillet when a butter and sugar syrup was placed in the pan before the batter. Covered with a tight-fitting lid, the cake would rise, and when turned upside-down on a platter, the sweet glaze formed an icing. Fruits were later added to the glaze making the upside-down cake even more delicious.

Today of course we do most of our baking in the oven, but upside-down cakes are still popular. The recipe here is a modern adaptation of two old favorites combining gingerbread with an upside-down cake. And, for a new look and taste we've used peaches instead of the traditional pineapple. The result is delightful! Since this is a modern recipe we've substituted margarine for butter in our fruit glaze. It adds delicate flavor to all foods while adding valuable polyunsaturates to the diet, and corn oil is unsurpassed for lowering serum cholesterol.

Your entire family will love this unique and flavorful cake. Quick and easy, this updated recipe recaptures the old-fashioned flavor and goodness of early America.

GINGERBREAD UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

- ½ cup (1 stick) margarine
- ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1 can (16 ounces) peach slices, well drained
- 6 maraschino cherries
- 1 ups unsifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon ground ginger
- ¼ teaspoon ground cloves
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- ½ cup light molasses
- ½ cup hot water

Melt ¼ cup margarine. Pour into an ungreased 8-inch cake pan. Evenly sprinkle brown sugar over melted margarine. Arrange peach slices and marashino cherries on mixture. Set aside.

Combine flour, baking powder, salt, baking soda, ginger and cloves.

In a small mixer bowl cream together remaining ¼ cup margarine and sugar. Beat in egg. Blend in molasses. Mix in flour mixture alternately with hot water. Pour batter into prepared pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes, or until done. Immediately invert onto serving plate. Serve warm or cold. Makes 9 servings.

Sheriff seeks to take care of prisoners

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sheriff Peter Pitchess said Monday his office should take over handling prisoners for court appearances to keep the prisoners from having to be kept in the dirty and rundown facilities of other departments.

Holding tanks, run by city police departments and the county marshal's office, are crowded and, in some cases, unsanitary and in serious disrepair, Pitchess said.

He recommended that the county marshal's office be merged with his department.

"The problem is that those police departments are not in any position to immediately correct these unfortunate conditions," Pitchess said.

"It seems ridiculous for us to transport prisoners to various municipal courts around the county only to turn them over to marshals who do not have the facilities to feed them."

The 1973 county grand jury criticized conditions in prisoner holding tanks around the county, but lauded the sheriff's office facilities.

Raisin shortage is over; they're back in the markets

We may never take raisins for granted again!

The new crop is now coming in, and raisins are finally returning to the supermarket. When the killing frost of March 1972 ruined the crop, the resulting shortage was a shocker to kids deprived of their favorite snack and to housewives already suffering from meat shortages and high prices. But it's all over now. Raisins from California are back, ready to work raisin wonders with everything from favorite breads and cakes to distinctive main courses and unusual salads.

It's a pleasure to be able to report that raisins are still a good buy, still a fine source of natural energy, extra minerals, and bonus flavor, and more important than ever, an economical, highly nourishng supplement to meat-restricted meals.

Add raisins to a sauce for turkey legs and you take advantage of another good buy — turkey parts. A whole bird might seem overwhelming to a small family on a smallish budget, both in price and in sheer quantity. But you can buy turkey legs for one meal plus a planned-over-meal, at a very moderate price, and thriftily use up every scrap of meat you buy.

Budget conscious homemakers, also latching on to the economy and the special goodness of home-baked breads and cakes, will eagerly welcome the return of raisins to sprinkle into cake or cookie batter, or to roll up in an old-fashioned Cinnamon Raisin Bread.

At a meatless meal, there's extra value and zest in a cabbage and carrot slaw spangled with raisins. Add vigor to your favorite slaw-or to this extra spicy version.

ROAST TURKEY LEGS

4 turkey legs
Salt, pepper
1½ cups water
1 cup raisins
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
and 1-3rd cup water

Arrange turkey legs (or use whole quarters) in a roasting pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add water. Roast in a moderate 350 degree oven about 1 hour and 10 minutes, until legs are tender. Combine raisins and remaining ingredients to make the sauce. Remove turkey legs to a serving platter, add sauce to pan drippings. Cook, stirring, over moderate heat, for 5 minutes. Makes 4 or more servings.

RAISIN SLAW

2 cups finely shredded cabbage
½ cup raisins
1 apple, unpeeled, chopped
1 cup finely shredded carrot
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon ground red horseradish
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
Salt and pepper

Combine cabbage, raisins, apple and carrot. Blend mayonnaise with remaining ingredients to make dressing. Combine with cabbage mixture, chill until serving time. Makes 6 servings.

CABBAGE RAISIN BREAD

1 cup milk
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1-3rd cup butter or margarine
1 cup water
2 envelopes yeast
6 to 6¼ cups flour
½ cup nuts, chopped
½ cup raisins
½ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter, melted

Heat milk just to boiling; stir in sugar, salt and butter, cool to lukewarm. Measure water into 3 quart bowl, sprinkle with yeast, stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture. Add 3 cups flour; beat until smooth. Add rest of flour to make soft dough. Turn out lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; brush top with melted butter. Cover. Let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1—1¼ hours.

Punch down, turn out on lightly floured board. Divide dough in half; roll each half into rectangle 9" x 18". Combine nuts, raisins, brown sugar, cinnamon and melted butter. Sprinkle half of mixture on each rectangle roll. Place rolls in 7½ x 3½ loaf pans lined with Reveal Wrap. Cover, let rise in warm place until doubled again in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven about 50 minutes. Makes 2 loaves.

You can mass produce the cheeseburger

Cheeseburger Biscuit Squares are a good idea for a light meal or evening snack.

This quick and easy recipe features just five ingredients and is so fool-proof that cooks of all ages can prepare it.

To make it, refrigerated buttermilk or country style biscuits are arranged in a 13x9-inch baking pan, then topped with a ground beef-tomato combo flavored with sloppy joe or chili seasoning mix. Next, add slices of American cheese, more refrigerated biscuits and bake.

Cut in squares to serve and offer fresh relishes, potato chips and a cold beverage to make this snack or meal complete.

CHEESEBURGER BISCUIT SQUARES

1½ pounds ground beef
1 package (1½ oz.) sloppy joe or chili seasoning mix
8 ounce can tomato sauce
Two 8-ounce cans refrigerated buttermilk or country style biscuits
6 slices American cheese

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. In large frying pan, brown ground beef; drain. Stir in seasoning mix and tomato sauce; simmer while preparing crust. Separate one can biscuit dough into 10 biscuits. Pull apart each into 2 layers. Arrange over bottom of ungreased 13x9-inch pan. Spoon hot meat mixture over crust; arrange cheese slices on top. Separate second can biscuit dough into 10 biscuits. Pull apart each into 2 layers; arrange over hot meat mixture. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Refrigerate any leftovers. Makes 6 servings.

Chefs enjoy a dish that's different

Men who cook enjoy creating something different. A top winner in an English muffin contest whipped up his sophisticated version of French toast. This he called Franglais Muffins a l'Orange and suggests you serve it for a brunch or as a dessert.

FRANGLAIS MUFFINS a l'ORANGE

- 3 eggs
- ¾ cup milk
- ¼ cup orange juice concentrate
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind (about 1 orange)
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- Pinch salt
- ½ cup orange marmalade
- 2 tablespoons orange liqueur (optional)
- 4 English muffins
- Margarine or butter for panfrying

Beat together eggs, milk, orange concentrate and rind, sugar and salt. Place orange marmalade in saucepan and melt over low heat or warmer. Add liqueur; stir. Keep hot for serving. Split English muffins by scoring with tines of a fork and gently pulling apart. Quickly dip muffins into milk and egg mixture; drain. Panfry in margarine or butter until lightly browned on both sides. Serve with Orange Sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Advertising men take walnuts out of their shell

A recent survey revealed most homemakers put walnuts into an "ordinary" nut category. When asked, "which nut was the fanciest," walnuts came in last among pecans, almonds and cashews. Homemakers also classed walnuts as the most economical nut. Saying they are the most reasonably priced nut was correct; walnuts have been the best nut buy for several years. Walnuts will have a strong edge in price again this year.

However, walnuts do have an exciting history. They deserve more than an "ordinary" label.

Ancient times and biblical days records provide a rich background of information about walnuts. Folklore, legends and old tales make fascinating reading.

The walnut, most authorities agree, came from ancient Persia though the actual date of origin is unknown. Carthage is said to have been a growing area, and the Greeks to have transplanted walnuts across the desert to Egypt.

The Romans, too, grew walnuts and called them Jupiter's Acorns. Records show the walnut was known during the reign of Tiberius and remains of the nut have been unearthed in Roman villas.

In Roman days walnuts were known as Royal Nuts, the Nuts of Jupiter. They were given credit for having truly amazing qualities in addition to being appreciated as a delicious food.

Pliny, the Roman scholar, refers to their medicinal qualities frequently in his writings, commenting on the magical content of the shells, kernels, oil and bark. He recommended, "chewing a nut fasting is a sovereign remedy against the bite of a mad dog, if one applies it." Others too, suggested walnuts were good for decay of the teeth, "are more profitable for the stomach when eaten with figs," and were said to "relax the belly," so that many ate them at the beginning of a meal with boiled wine.

"In the neighborhood of Hanau and Frankfurt 'no young farmer whatsoever is permitted to marry till he oring proof that he hath planted, and is a father of such a stated number of walnut trees'."

Also "in Burgundy, they are valued 'as great preservers by keeping the grounds warm; nor do the roots hinder the plough'." The Greeks even immortalized the walnuts in songs and stories.

The Franciscan Fathers are credited with having brought walnuts to California first either from Mexico or Spain. During the establishment of the California Missions in 1769 they planted walnuts in yards. There the trees flourished in California's warm climate and good, rich soil to bring crops that brightened the mission menu fare.

A walnut by any name is wonderful. Agricultural experts, grocers, consumers -- all agree with this statement, but not everybody agrees so unanimously about what to call a walnut.

The California walnut of today is known botanically as Juglans Regia, Juglans being a genus of trees made up of six species, the Regia specifying the Persian walnut.

Frequently in the past the California or Persian walnut was called the "English" walnut, a misnomer, since England does not produce walnuts commercially. The Persians used walnuts as an item of commerce and they were carried by English ships all over the world, thus the mistaken belief that they were English walnuts.

A sidelight, of interest to philosogists at least, is the etymology of walnut, or "wahlnut," which in old English means "Welsh-nut" and Welsh is the term used to indicate a stranger, a foreigner, not of Saxon origin. So it's plain, even linguistically, that the English considered the walnut an import.

Walnuts have many names and descriptions, but, the one it's most proud of is "America's Number 1 Ingredient Nut." Homemakers buy more walnuts than pecans and almonds combined. Last year walnuts lengthened their lead to 59.2 per cent of purchases as compared to pecan's 25.9 per cent and almonds's 14.8 per cent.

Perhaps, because they are purchased so often, folks call them "ordinary."

Economy needn't mean drab eating

Does scrimping and saving on the food budget curb your creativity in cooking? Economizing need not mean drab dinners. You can start spending less and enjoying it more by extending your file of unique and interesting recipes using ground beef.

Just consider the variety of economical dishes flavorful ground beef provides! Many a favorite meal that brings repeat requests is based on a ground beef foundation. Innumerable are the variations built on burger, meat ball and casserole themes. Even that old reliable meat loaf can be given new appeal with a few additions to the basic ingredients and a change in form.

The family will be in for a big surprise when this new version of the loaf — Peachy Beef Pinwheel — is sliced. The loaf features a flavor-stretching stuffing of peaches and rice that's rolled up in the tasty ground beef mixture. Waxed paper is used to facilitate forming the loaf, jelly roll fashion. Roasted on a rack, it's brushed with peach syrup for an attractive glaze. It provides even more eye appeal when sliced into serving-sized pinwheels.

Since you can anticipate requests for a repeat of this menu number, be on top of the situation by purchasing enough ground beef to prepare two loaves. Bake one; wrap and freeze the second.

The rest of the menu can be alive with color and texture contrast too. Succotash is not costly and provides two vegetables at once. Mold cranberry relish in any red gelatin for any easy, bright salad. Turn up the heat and bake biscuits while the loaf is waiting to be sliced. Chocolate pudding makes a thrifty finish to the meal.

PEACHY BEEF PINWHEEL

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 1 can (16 ounces) sliced cling peaches
- 1½ cups soft bread crumbs
- 2 eggs
- 1 small onion, finely chopped
- 2 teaspoons dill weed
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup cooked rice
- 1 tablespoon snipped parsley
- teaspoon nutmeg

Drain peaches, reserving syrup, and cut slices in half crosswise. Combine ground beef, bread crumbs, eggs, onion, 1-3rd cup reserved syrup, dill weed, salt and pepper. Combine rice, parsley and 1 tablespoon reserved syrup. Pat out meat mixture on waxed paper into a 14-x- 10 inch rectangle, ½- to ¾-inch thick. Spread rice mixture evenly over meat. Stir nutmeg into peaches and place over meat, distributing evenly. Roll up meat mixture from short end of rectangle (jelly roll fashion) to enclose peaches and form a pinwheel loaf. Press meat over filling at both ends of loaf and place, seam side down, on rack in roasting pan. Bake in moderate 350-degree oven for 1 hour. Brush with reserved peach juice and continue baking 15 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before slicing. Eight servings.

TOFFEE CRUNCH COOKIES

Camp Fire Girls are selling English toffee miniatures used in this cookie recipe. These can be frozen and are good for mailing. Combine 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda and ½ teaspoon salt. Cream ½ cup margarine. Add ¾ cup brown sugar, 1 egg and 1 teaspoon vanilla; mix until smooth. Stir in dry ingredients; blend in 1 cup finely chopped toffee miniatures and 1-3rd cup coarsely chopped pecans. Drop tablespoonfuls 2 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Bake in 350-degree oven about 12 to 15 minutes.

MUSHROOM PEPPER STEAK

Cover 12 small dried Japanese mushrooms with warm water and let stand ½ hour. Drain; clip and discard stems. Cut 1½ lbs. beef steak in thin strips. Sprinkle meat with ½ teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Saute quickly with 1 clove garlic in 3 tablespoons butter until brown. Remove meat from skillet and keep warm. Cut 1 small onion into rings and 1 green pepper into strips. Add vegetables to pan along with mushrooms. Saute, stirring until vegetables are tender, about 5 minutes. Return steak to pan along with juices. Heat a few minutes longer. Serve with toasted crusty bread.

Candy speaks to sweet tooth throughout the ages

Few things in history have spanned the ages and cultures of the world with such consistent popularity as candy.

In one form or another, candy has found itself carried by warriors through the Crusades, by GIs to the front lines of world wars, by bleacher fans in baseball parks and on into outer space by astronauts.

According to the National Confectioners Association, the earliest recorded history of confectionary goes back 4,000 years with the Egyptians. Hieroglyphic inscriptions excavated from the sites of ancient cities show that in 1566 B.C. Egyptian confectioners were selling their sweetmeats from baskets in the market place. Honey was used as a sweetener in those days and was combined with nuts, chopped fruits, sweet herbs and spices.

Candy-eating habits were passed along to the Greek and Roman civilizations, where physicians started the candy-coated pill tradition by smearing with honey the rims of cups filled with medicanal concoctions to induce patients to drink it down.

The conquering soldiers of Alexander the Great, however, liked sweets for their flavor and not for any medicinal reasons. A favorite of these soldiers (around 325 B.C.) was a Persian delicacy called "kand," a sweet reed garnished with honey, spices and coloring. The word "candy" may well have come from their "kand," or from the Arab word for sugar, "qanl."

Candy, as we know it today, really developed with the emergence of sugar on the world scene. In the Middle Ages, the Arabs spread the cultivation of native sugar cane westward and developed a sugar refining process. The Crusaders who had acquired a taste for sugar in the Far East, are credited with popularizing candy and starting a demand for the new sugar plant in Europe.

Uses of sugar and candy flourished, with Venice becoming the sugar capital of Europe in the 13th century. The Venetians' skill in producing sugar with a very fine grain gave birth to a new art form — sugar sculpture.

Explorers carried the sugar plant with them on their voyages and sugar cane soon was growing in all the tropical and semi-tropical areas of the globe. Columbus lauched the plant in the New World and by 1800 sugar was an important article of world commerce.

Chocolate, now the most popular type of candy, was a comparatively late entry into the confection world. In the early 16th century Hernando Cortez discovered the importance of the dark brown cocoa beans when he found the Aztec Indians of Mexico using them in the preparation of their royal drink, "chocolatl." Cortez brought the beans back to his native Spain where a profitable industry was developed and chocolate became widely acclaimed throughout the continent.

The first confectioners in the New World were the Dutch bakers of New York, who in the 17th century made sugar wafers, marshpanes, macaroons and other sweets for celebrations. The first American candy shop opened in 1712 in Boston.

Mass production

The introduction in 1851 of the revolving steam pan, a contraption much like the drum of a concrete mixer, sped up the candy-making process, paving the way for mass production. Penny candies flourished toward the end of the century.

It wasn't until 1911 that Americans got their first taste of today's candy giant — the candy bar. Fans at the nation's baseball parks were given the first individually wrapped candy bars, made of combinations of almond nougats, chocolate-coated marshmallow and peanuts.

But the candy bar didn't come into its own until World War I when manufacturing methods were revolutionized and candy bars were mass produced for military use.

Today, Americans consume an average of 19 pounds of candy annually from a selection of over 2,000 varieties. That first sweet tooth of the Egyptians has created an industry that speaks all languages and knows no age barrier.

Try basic breads Washington style

Home bread baking is becoming as popular now as it was in Colonial times. George Washington, for example, was known for his elaborate and expensive gourmet dinners. But during his years in Virginia, and later, he enjoyed the plain, simple Colonial breads with his other meals. Among these basic and substantial breads was a Crackling Bread. This is a quick skillet bread. Here it is brought up-to-date with the adition of orange juice although the salt pork that adds a special flavor is still included. Other Colonial favorites are the classic Sally Lunn and Orange Oatmeal Bread, both yeast breads.

ORANGE CRACKLING BREAD

½ pound salt pork cut in cubes
2 tablespooons finely chopped onion
1½ cups yellow cornmeal
½ cup unsifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoons sugar
2 eggs
½ cup buttermilk
1 cup orange juice

In 9-inch ovenproof skillet, cook salt pork over low heat until very crisp, remove and chop finely. Drain off all but 1 tablespoon fat, add onion and cook until tender. In large bowl, mix together cornmeal, flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. In small bowl beat eggs with buttermilk and orange juice. Add egg mixture all at once to dry ingredients and stir just until mixed; stir in salt pork and onion. Heat the skillet, turn in batter and bake in 350-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes. Serve hot with butter. Makes 8 servings.

ORANGE SALLY LUNN

1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
¾ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup orange juice
2 eggs, beaten
6 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Sprinkle yeast over warm water, stir until dissolved and set aside. Scald milk in medium saucepan. Add sugar, butter, orange rind and salt. Stir until sugar is dissolved and butter melts. Cool. In large bowl combine milk mixture, yeast, orange juice, eggs and flour. Beat until smooth (dough will be very soft). Turn into greased bundt pan or 10-inch tube pan. Let rise in warm place, covered, until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in 400-degree oven 15 minutes, reduce oven to 350-degrees and bake 15 to 20 minutes longer, or until bread is browned and sounds hollow when tapped. Cool 5 minutes, turn out on wire rack and cool completely. Makes 1 loaf.

ORANGE OATMEAL BREAD

1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
2 cups milk
2 cups uncooked oats, regular or quick-cooking
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 cups Florida orange juice
½ cup molasses
1 tablespoon salt
2-3rds cup sugar
2 cups raisins
10 cups sifted all-purpose flour

In small cup, sprinkle yeast over warm water, stir until dissolved and set aside. Scald milk, pour over oats and butter in large mixing bowl. Let stand 1½ hour. Add orange juice, molasses, salt, sugar, raisins and dissolved yeast mixture to oats. Stir in enough flour to make a soft dough. Place in greased clean bowl, cover and let rise until double in bulk, about ½ hours. Turn out onto floured surface and knead 10 minutes. Shape into 3 loaves and place in 3 greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pans. Cover and let rise until double, 1½ to 2 hours. Bake in 350-degree oven 1 hour. Bake in 350-degree oven 1 hour, or until loaves sound hollow when tapped on top. Cool. Makes 3 loaves.

Go the spice route when following diet

Spices have a particular appeal to those who are on some form of restricted diet. Millions of Americans must limit their intake of calories because of overweight or because of diabetes, kidney, cardio-vascular or gastro-intestinal diseases or because of allergies. Fortunately, nutritionists advise that spices may be used in all but the most restrictive of diets.

The reason is that spices, despite their enlivening effect on the taste of food, do not have a high caloric content. Only very small amounts are needed and can be used to brighten even the dullest diet encouraging patients to hold to their required eating routine.

"This is good news for waist-watchers because it confirms that even the highest calorie spice—poppy seeds—will not add more than two calories per serving in normal usage. Considering the small amounts used, the other spices typically contribute no more than a calorie a serving and usually less," says dietitian Mary Lengel of the American Spice Trade Association research committee.

"There are certain spices that must be eliminated from certain restrictive diets, such as low-sodium diets. They are celery flakes and parsley flakes because these contain a high proportion of potassium and sodium," she continues. "But if the low-sodium diet is not too severe, the patient can be given food with a little spice added which helps get the patient to eat his particularly bland diet. A good suggestion for low sodium dieters is to use onion powder instead of salt."

"Another suggestion of Miss Lengel is to use fruit-flavored gelatin with a teaspoon of pickling spices added. No salt, but at least some interesting taste added."

Mary Lengel, with both academic and hospital experience, suggests other ways to use spices to enliven dull diet routines:

Use fresh fruits packed in their own juices, no sugar added. With canned pineapple, drain off juice and heat juice with a little ginger, powedered or fresh. Then pour this syrup back over the fruit.

To strawberries, treat the natural syrup the same way, spicing with a small amount of cinnamon.

For a low-calorie salad dressing (that tastes good) combine tomato juice, Italian salad dressing mix, garlic, onion, black pepper and salt.

If fried eggs are not permitted, then use soft-boiled eggs but sprinkle them with a little basil or paprika. These spices will brighten their appearance and taste and help the dieter forget that they are not what he really wanted, namely fried eggs.

"Spices and herbs can play an extremely important role in good nutrition by helping to increase the appeal and appreciation of foods that are nutritionally important,' Miss Lengel states.

Here's Berlin wall story in reverse

BERLIN (UPI) — A young man arrived in a taxi at the Berlin wall, paid the driver $375 for the trip From West Germany and walked into East Berlin.

"I'm going over and I won't be back," Police quoted him as telling customs officials stationed at the Prinzenstrasse crossing point of the wall.

No hurricanes

Hurricanes are virtually nonexistent in the South Atlantic Ocean, meteorologists say, probably because the comparatively cold water of this region inhibits formation of the big storms.

Wheat germ stuffing for vegetables

Toasted wheat germ, the heart of golden wheat grains, makes outstanding stuffings to bake in sunny field ripened tomatoes or shade grown mushrooms. Neither the stuffing nor the vegetables needs much baking so these can be in and out of the oven in 10 to 15 minutes. One of the great beauties of using toasted wheat germ in dishes such as these is that it's always ready to use. Pour it out of its space-saving refrigerator jar. Mix with a few uncomplicated, readily available seasonings and it almost instantly has become a stuffing.

The two stuffing versions given here may be used interchangeably in the tomatoes and mushrooms. Delicious too in zucchini but you should parboil the shells before filling. One stuffing has the tang of fresh lemon juice and peel with oregano for accent. The other has sesame seeds and Parmesan cheese, a couple of herbs and an egg to bind it together.

The showy stuffed tomatoes would make an attractive vegetable to serve with spit-roasted chicken. So would the mushrooms. The mushrooms, however are also destined to be served as hot hors d'oeuvres. Don't be surprised when they are first to disappear.

It's amazing what hearty texture and flavor toasted wheat germ can give to low-calorie vegetables without adding a great many calories. Did you know that one ounce of toasted wheat germ measures one fourth cup and has only 106 nutritionally rich calories in it? A good reason for using toasted wheat germ often in preparing nourishing meals. Another notable fact about wheat germ is that it is a natural grain product and has no preservatives or additives.

STUFFED TOMATOES WITH WHEAT GERM

- ¾ cup toasted wheat germ
- 1-3rd cup butter, melted
- ½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon oregano, crumbled
- ½ teaspoon onion salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 6 firm tomatoes, medium size

Mix toasted wheat germ with butter, lemon peel and juice, oregano, onion salt and pepper. Cut top third from tomatoes zigzag fashion and set aside. Scoop out tomato seeds and some of pulp but leave shells intact. Fill tomatoes with wheat germ mixture. Place filled tomatoes and reserved tops in baking pan. Bake uncovered in 400-degree oven 15 minutes or until not. Makes 6 servings.

SAVORY WHEAT GERM STUFFED MUSHROOMS

- ½ cup toasted wheat germ
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 tablespoon sesame seeds
- ¼ teaspoon rosemary, crumbled
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 1 egg
- 8 to 12 large mushrooms

Combine all ingredients except mushrooms. Wash mushrooms and gently break off stems. Finely chop 2 tablespoons stems. Mix with wheat germ mixture and stuff into mushroom caps. Place in shallow greased pan. Bake in 400-degree oven about 10 minutes. Makes 8 to 12 large stuffed mushrooms (18 medium size).

Assembly approves Acupuncture grants

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill providing $400,000 in grants for scientific research into acupuncture was approved by the Assembly recently on a 63-0 vote and sent to the Senate.

"We simply do not have enough information about acupuncture," said Assemblyman Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford, author of the measure (AB1841).

LOW-COST RECIPE

This macaroni skillet meal recipe will be one of the low-cost recipes to be offered Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday by Mrs. Tani Welsh, Southern California Edison Co. home economist, when she presents a program in La Verne and Pomona. Ingredients follow: 1 pound ground beef, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 medium onion, chopped, 1 cup sliced celery, 1 16-ounce can of tomatoes broken up, 1 cup water, 2 cups uncooked macaroni. Brown meat in frying pan on medium high heat. Drain off fat and add salt, pepper and sugar. Mix well. Stir in onions, celery, tomatoes and water. Bring to boil on high heat. Add macaroni, pressing it down into tomato mixture. Cover and reduce heat. Cook, covered firmly, 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings at approximately 25 cents each.

And they're in season

Walnuts and apples add zest to muffins

For all their ease and versatility, Walnut Apple Muffins are just the thing for filling a bread basket. And they are a timely treat, too, meeting the demand for "in season" ingredient usage. Lots of crisp-sweet California Walnuts and shredded, pared juicy apples go into the batter so these plump quick breads are filled with the two perennial favorites now coming in plentiful supply to market.

Moist, light and home-baked with fresh flavors and the peppy touch of spices, these muffins have a unique crunchy walnut texture which gives such tempting interest to foods. Walnuts also add good taste and more substance that can be quickly extended into countless dishes. They can be included in any planned-over food or reliable family standby recipe.

Muffins are the simplest breads to make. Just remember the one rule of abreviated stirring. Don't be concerned if some of the flour still shows. A large bowl encourages overbeating so select one that only confortably holds the muffin ingredients. When the lumpy "drop batter" breaks from the raised spoon, you are on your way to the uniform, medium-fine grain and slightly rounded tops characteristic of perfect muffins.

Since the makings are kitchen-staples, Walnut Apple Muffins assemble in short order so you can enjoy them even on spur-of-the-moment times. Their delightful appeal is compatible with many other foods. They fit into any menu, from breakfast through a late evening snack and all the eating events in between.

Shredding an apple is a breeze when you use a coarse grater. Place a four-sided grater on a piece of waxed paper or the flat type over a bowl. Using long strokes, rub with the pared apple working around and around down to the core, which is discarded. When you chop the walnuts, cut them into peppercorn-and pea-sized nuggets. Use the French knife and board method or a commercial food chopper for best control.

The in-shell variety is a good choice. They are fun-to-eat snacks and partner into a refreshing dessert with fresh or dried fruits and cheese. Offer the classic walnut-port wine combination in an after dinner setting sometime.

WALNUT APPLE MUFFINS

2-3rd cup California walnuts
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1-8 teaspoon nutmeg
1-3 cup shortening
1-3 cup granulated sugar
1 egg
2-3 cup milk
2-3 cup coarsley shredded pared apple
Sugar and walnuts for tops of muffins.

Chop walnuts and set aside. Resift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Cream shortening, sugar and egg together. Add milk and flour mixture, and stir just until all of flour is moistened. Add apples and walnuts, and mix just until distributed. Spoon into greased muffins pans. Sprinkle lightly with sugar, and top with a few additional walnut pieces if desired. Bake at 375 degrees about 25 minutes, until browned and baked through. Serve warm. Makes 1 dozen (2½-inch) muffins.

Preplanning saves time

Shopping for beef on a weekly basis saves time but takes a little preplanning. Select ground beef, variety meats or other small cuts for early week meals. Steaks which keep about 3 to 5 days in the refrigerator fit nicely into midweek menus. Roasts and larger pieces can be refrigerated up to 5 or 6 days so save them for end of week meals.

BEANS, RICE AND SAUSAGE

Soak 2 cups dried navy beans overnight in 1 quart water. Do not drain. Put in saucepan and add another quart water and 1 diced onion. Bring to boil, cover and simmer for 2 hours. Fry 2 cups country sausage until browned, and remove from fat. Add to beans. Saute 3 diced onions, 1 clove garlic, mashed, and 2 stalks celery chopped fine. Add ¼ teaspoon marjoram and salt and pepper as desired. Stir into beans, Simmer about 1½ hours until beans are tender. Mix 4 cups cooked rice with 3 tablespoons butter and place on serving platter. Pour beans over the rice. Serve with mixed green salad. Serves 6.

Grapefruit always provides a bonus

Grapefruit is a bonus fruit — you can enjoy the delicious, nutritious inside "meat" and then, as a bonus, you can use the shell to make an ordinary dish into a spectacular one.

But first you should start with high quality grapefruit. Here are some tips on choosing grapefruit from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Look for firm, well-shaped fruits that are heavy for their size.

Thin-skinned fruits have more juice than coarse-skinned ones. If the grapefruit is pointed at the stem end, it is likely to be thick skinned. Rough, ridged, or wrinkled skin can also be an indication of thick skin, puppiness, and lack of juice.

Grapfruit often has skin defects — such as scars, thorn scratches or discolpration — which usually do not affect the eating quality.

Remember grapefruit is picked "tree ripe" and is always ready to eat when you buy it.

Avoid fruit with cuts or skin punctures, soft spots on the surface or soft discolored areas around the stem end. These are signs of decay.

When buying grapefruit in bags, you may find the USDA grade U.S. No. 1 on the label. This grade means good quality; you can expect the fruit to be firm and juicy,with few defects.

Try these "bonus" ideas.

TANGY GRAPEFRUIT SALAD

3 grapefruit
1 package frozen French style green beans, cooked
½ cup diced American cheese
½ cup diced red onion
French dresing or mayonnaise

Cut grapefruit into halves; cut around sections. Put sections in a bowl. With scissors, nip out membranes and reserve shells. Drain beans and gently toss with grapefruit sections, cheese and onion. Spoon into shells; chill. Serve with French dressing or mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

FRUITED CRATERS

3 grapefruit
2 medium size bananas
1 10-ounce package frozen raspberries, thawed
1 3¼ ounce package vanilla pudding mix
2½ cups milk
1½ teaspoons brandy extract
¼ cup toasted sliced almonds

Halve and section grapefruit, remove white membrane from shells, saving shells. Peel and slice bananas. Combine with grapefruit sections and add drained raspberries. Heap into shells and chill. Prepare pudding according to package directions, using 2½ cups milk and brandy extract. Cool; pour over fruit. Sprinkle with toasted almonds. Makes 6 servings.

SPICED GRAPEFRUIT COMPOTE

4 medium size grapefruit
1¼ cups boiling water
1 inch stick cinnamon, broken into pieces
½ teaspoon whole cloves
1 cup sugar
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar

Score peel of 1 grapefruit into quarters; remove peel. Cover with boiling water; let stand 5 minutes. Drain. With tip of spoon, scrape most of white membrane from peel. Stack 2 pieces at a time on cutting board; cut into thinnest possible strips. Peel remaining grapefruit and section all to yield about 4 cups. Pour 1¼ cups boiling water over spices; steep 5 minutes and strain liquid into saucepan. Add slivered peel and sugars; bring to a boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Boil briskly for 10 minutes until syrupy; immediately pour over grapefruit sections. Chill until very cold. Makes 8 servings.

GRAPEFRUIT A LA MODE

2 grapefruit
1 orange, peeled, cut into bite-size pieces
¼ cup maraschino cherry halves or diced dates
2 tablespoons maple syrup or honey
1 pint sherbert (lime, orange or lemon)

Cut each grapefruit in half. Cut around each section; remove grapefruit segments and reserve. Remove white membrane, leaving shells intact. Toss grapefruit segments with orange pieces and cherries. Fill grapefruit shells with fruit and drizzle with syrup or honey. Chill thoroughly. Top each with a generous scoop of sherbert. Makes 4 servings.

MEETIN' & EATIN' at BETSY ROSS

By Gene Neighbors

Hi Neighbors,

Just because our name reads "Betsy Ross Ice Cream & Coffee Shoppes", you don't have to think of us purely for dessert and coffee! There's many an item on our menus to thrill your pocket and warm your stomach on these cold, dreary, rainy, foggy days with which we've been blessed lately. F'rinstance, there's that bowl of homemade soup, or if you want something heartier, chili and beans. Or a chili size, hot dog size, chicken pot pie, barbecued bean plate, 'n' numerous other things to your liking. We have the cozy atmosphere in which to partake of these goodies, too.

RAYMOND IVES, of Glendora, was hosted by his parents, MARTHA and RAY IVES on his 9th birthday at Claremont Betsy Ross recently. His guests for the occasion were GLEN McWILLIAMS, RANDY SCHELLACK, and CHRIS DUPUE, who reportedly enjoyed the food and fun as much as he did.

Last Friday morning, 15 members of the Security Pacific Bank force in Claremont gathered at our Claremont Coffee Shoppe for breakfast about 7:30. We always welcome groups of employees, service organizations, church groups or clubs.

Upland Betsy Ross reports that last Wednesday night STELLA ESLINGER, 92 years young, came in for her Hot Fudge Sundae. Also there were the Progress-Bulletin carriers from the Upland area who had sold 3 or more subscriptions during a contest. SHARON COLE, supervisor of the group, said that STEVEN VOSS, with 8 subscriptions, had sold the most so was entitled to a Yankee Doodle Dandy.

Don't forget that we have FREE 15c candy staff flags for the kids on Mondays. Tuesday's special is the chicken-in-a-basket for $1.99. Wednesday——? Who doesn't know that it's Hot Fudge Sundaes for 69c?

Ya'll come; ya' hear?

CHIN UP! — Jack Benny applies makeup to George Burns in preparation for the latter's performance in "Jack Benny's Second Farewell Special," to be aired on NBC-TV at 8 p.m. Thursday. Also on the program are Dinah Shore, Redd Foxx and Johnny Carson.

Jack Benny slates second farewell show

"Jack Benny's Second Farewell Special" will be telecast on NBC-TV at 8 p.m. Thursday. The deadpan comic said, "I'm going to keep doing it until I get it right."

Guest star will be George Burns, a longtime friend. For reasons the two comedians will not explain, they have seldom shared the stage together. They have turned down offers to appear together at Las Vegas and on television, and in "The Odd Couple" and "The Sunshine Boys" on Broadway.

Also on the farewell show will be Dinah Shore, Redd Foxx, Johnny Carson and the DeFranco Family, five Italian youngsters whose record, "Heartbeat, It's a Lovebeat," is high on the popularity charts.

SPDJ to celebrate birthday

HOLLYWOOD — The Society for the Preservation of Dixieland Jazz will celebrate its 12th anniversary with a birthday party at its monthly meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday at the West Covina Elks Lodge.

SPDJ was organized at Storeyville, a Pomona tavern, in 1962.

Floyd Levin, former disc jockey and president of the Southern California Hot Jazz Society, will install Bev Mayfield as new president.

The public is invited to attend.

Pianist-comedian plays at Claremont Colleges

By RALPH PIERCE

CLAREMONT — A determined audience, sent home Friday when the performance of Victor Borge was canceled due to unforeseen difficulties in plane scheduling, came back to Bridges Auditorium in full force Monday night to hear the inimitable pianist-comedian.

A nearly full house — it was full on Friday — greeted him for his first performance in the Pomona Valley and his first in this area since one at Carousel Theater in West Covina, which has since been torn down. The old theater might still be standing if they could have had people like Borge there more often.

A Victor Borge performance doesn't fall easily into a category of anything that a music reviewer might encounter. If one were to criticize his piano artistry it could be done, but that isn't the phenomenon that makes up the one and only Borge. As a holdover from his earlier years as a concert pianist, he still has a musical quality of playing and a facility that puts him in a class above the average entertainer. The performance was somewhere between an informal concert and a very entertaining show with a definite leaning toward the latter.

On previous appearances there have been two pianos with a second pianist both playing and acting as a "straight man" for the Borge humor. Monday night something new was added in the form of Marylyn Mulvey, a very talented young soprano with charm to match. How she was able to sing at all with all that was going on at the piano has to be some sort of record achievement, but she did manage to get in most of the "Caro Nome" aria from "Rigoletto" in spite of the antics and asides eminating from the piano area. He did let her do several songs during which the spotlight was on the singer and during which Borge actually played some very musical accompaniments.

For the closing group Borge was again alone on the stage and, after playing the Liszt etude, "Un Sospiro," he closed with his usual improvisations with accompanying comments. In a time when we have an abundance of comedians each trying for a new style, it is unlikely that anyone will come up with a routine which could match the one of Victor Borge. The man has truly made a contribution to the art of humorous entertainment.

Silent thriller set

CLAREMONT — "The Cat and the Canary," silent film suspense classic starring Laura LaPlante, Creighton Hale and Tully Marshall, will be shown at the Claremont Colleges' Garrison Theater Saturday at 2 and 8 p.m., with William Blanchard at the organ.

Tickets are available in advance at Bridges Auditorium box-office and Ticketron agencies, or may be purchased prior to each performance at Garrison [illegible]

His program will include Prelude and Fugue in C Major (BWV 545); Choral Partita "O Gott, Du frommer Gott" (BWV 767); "In Dulci Jubilo"; Prelude and Fugue in A Minor (BWV 543); Fantasie in G Major (BWV 572); three transcriptions from Cantata No. 129, "Awake Thou Wintry Earth"; Cantata No. 208, 'Sheep May Safely Graze''; Cantata No. 79, "Now Thank We All Our God"; Chorale Prelude "Nun kommt der Heiden Heiland" (BWV 659); and Toccata in F Major (BWV 540).

School of music holding signups

CLAREMONT — Registration is now being held for the spring semester of the Claremont Community School of Music, a non-profit organization of the performing arts. Ths semester starts Feb. 4. Registrations continue through Feb. 1.

The school offers a wide variety of classes for adults and young people in music, dance, drama and children's theater. This semester the music faculty has been expanded to include instruction in Suzuki cello and pre-school musicianship. Three new theater instructors will give classes in acting, technical theater and introduction to film.

The School of Music offers scholarships based on need, and family discounts to students taking more than one class and to families with more than one member enrolled.

In addition to instruction, the school presents a wide range of community events, including performances by visiting artists, concert groups, faculty members and students.

Information on registration can be obtained by writing to the School of Music, Box 53, Claremont 91711, or calling 624-3012.

'Earthquake' to continue at ICCC

LOS ANGELES — "Earthquake," the new musical revue about Los Angeles, has had its run at the Inner City Cultural Center extended a month.

The play orginally scheduled to close Jan. 20, is being held over until Feb. 24 with 8 p.m. performances Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

The three-act collage of music and words, which deals satirically with various aspects of life in present-day Southern California, has received overwhelming response.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling the box office at (213) 387-8289.

A yam is not only a vegetable, it's a dessert treat

Yams are a fascinating vegetable with their deep orange color, moist texture and naturally sweet, almost honey-like, flavor. North Carolina has made our vegetable bins colorful with the red-gold yams from their fields. Now's the time to enjoy these flavorful, vivid potatoes at their best.

Homemade cookies are always in demand. Surprise the family with a totally new kind of cookie made with golden, grated yams. This is one of those cookies with the robust, homey texture of oats and the old-fashioned sweetness of molasses. The recipe makes three dozen, a treasure for filling your cookie jar.

Nutritionists tell us that people could live almost entirely on yams for a long period of time, and indeed have done so, because yams, or sweet potatoes, are so nourishing. They are even better, of course, combined with meat, milk and other foods. One medium 5 x 2-inch boiled, then peeled, sweet potato, 147 grams, provides more than twice the recommended daily allowance of vitamin A for an adult, half the vitamin C, a tenth of the iron, a tenth of the thiamine, as well as other vitamins and minerals. This is a remarkable vegetable — the yam or sweet potato — deserving of special attention in your menu plans

Did you ever hear of a yam cake? A Fresh Yam Torte has been especially developed to go with the season of good supplies of this vegetable from North Carolina. This torte is very light with a texture much like sponge cake. The flavor is fabulous with yams one of the principal ingredients. A torte is made differently from other cakes. It uses little or no flour and instead relies on ground or finely chopped nuts. It is rich in eggs. This a showpiece cake that you and guests will appreciate.

It would be entirely out of tradition for yam desserts if we neglected to give a recipe for Fresh Yam Pie, moist, fluffy, naturally sweet and rich in flavor. You'll find an excellent recipe included here to complete this trio of desserts to make with the fresh yams at your market now.

YAM COOKIES

- 1-3rd cup shortening
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ cup unsulphered molasses
- 1 egg
- 1 cup grated pared raw yams
- ¼ cup dry milk powder
- 1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ cups uncooked oats, quick or regular

Cream together shortening and sugar. Beat in molasses and egg. Add yams. Mix together dry milk, flour, baking powder, salt, baking soda and spices; blend into creamed mixture. Stir in oats. Refrigerate for 2 hours or place in freezer for 15 minutes. Drop by level tablespoons onto lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in a 375 degree oven for 12 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Remove to rack and cool.

Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

FRESH YAM TORTE

- 1 cup mashed cooked yams (2 medium)
- 5 eggs, separated
- ¾ cup sugar, divided
- 1 tablespoon dark rum
- 1 cup finely chopped pecans
- ½ cup cornstarch
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons grated fresh lemon rind

To prepare yams, bake in 350 degree oven 40 minutes or cook in boiling water to cover for 20 minutes, until soft. Cool, peel and mash until smooth. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually beat in ½ cup sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Set aside.

In another bowl with same beaters, beat egg yolks until thick and fluffy; gradually beat in remaining ⅛ cup sugar Add yams and rum; mix well. Mix chopped pecans with cornstarch, salt and lemon rind; gradually blend into yam mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites. Turn into greased and floured 8-inch spring-form pan.

Bake in 325 degree oven for 1 hour and 15 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool completely; remove side of pan. Serve, if desired, garnished with sweetened whipped cream and chopped pecans. Makes 8 servings.

FRESH YAM PIE

- 2 cups mashed cooked yams (4 medium)
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup packed brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon ginger
- ⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
- 1 cup evaporated milk or light cream
- 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell

To prepare yams, bake in 350 degree oven 40 minutes or cook in boiling water to cover for 20 minutes, until soft. Cool, peel and mash until smooth.

In large bowl beat eggs with brown sugar, salt and spices. Add mashed yams and evaporated milk; mix well. Turn into unbaked pastry shell. Bake in 350 degree oven for 1 hour and 15 minutes or until tip of knife inserted in center comes out clean. Cool. Serve, if desired, with whipped cream or ice cream. Makes 8 servings

Try these beefless high protein ideas

Today, beef tends to be out of sight in price if not literally out of sight at the market. There are high protein alternatives, however. First aid for the family food budget comes from the R. T. French Company's test kitchens in Rochester, N.Y. in this collection of fish, chicken and egg recipes. They also are time-savers.

HAWAIIAN FISH FILLETS

- 1 pound fish fillets (halibut, perch, pollock, sole)
- ½ cup pineapple tidbits
- ¼ cup catchup
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon salt

Arrange fish in shallow baking dish; top with pineapple. Combine catchup, honey, Worcestershire sauce and salt; pour over fish. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes, until fish flakes easily when pierced with a fork. 4 to 6 servings.

TOMATO BLOSSOM SALAD

- 1 package (3-oz.) cream cheese, softened
- 2 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- ½ cup chopped cucumber
- ¼ cup chopped green onions
- 4 to 6 tomatoes

Combine cream cheese, mustard and salt in mixing bowl. Stir in eggs, cucumber and onions. Cut each tomato into 8 sections, cutting almost through the bottom. Separate "petals" and fill with egg salad. 4 to 6 servings.

SUNNY GRILLED CHICKEN

- ¼ cup prepared yellow mustard
- ¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
- ¼ cup oil
- 2 frying chickens, cut in quarters

Combine mustard, orange juice concentrate and oil; pour over chicken. Let stand 30 minutes. Grill over medium coals, turning and brushing with sauce occasionally, until tender, about 45 minutes. 8 servings.

Preserves

Cookware lined with non-stick surfaces should be washed with hot, sudsy water after cooking. This helps to preserve the beneficial properties of the finish and to prevent a build-up of a thin layer of grease or food.

Wipe spots

Spots on fiber glass draperies wipe off with a clean damp cloth. For periodic cleaning, fiber glass should be washed by hand. Machine washing is not recommended since it may cause abrasion of the fibers.

Card party planned by churchwomen

Plans for the annual dessert and card party sponsored by Priscilla Guild were announced at the meeting of the Pilgrim Congregational Church Women's Auxiliary.

Various card games will be played after assorted desserts served Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Pilgrim Hall.

Mrs. Ardell Holt, general chairman, will be assisted by Mmes. Heber Clewett, card tables; Lowell Decker and H. E. Sweet, table decorations and tallies; C. L. Kooman, servers; W. F. Maiden, coffee; Wilford Michael, hostesses; Margaret Wahlberg, games; N. E. Simonson, table replenishment; Oscar Edinger, tickets; Clarence Cooper and Landon Howery, dessert procurement; and LeRoy Hillman and R. E. Steele, dessert sale.

Camp Fire Girls begin candy sale

Starting Friday and continuing through Feb. 11, the 5,000 girls in Mt. San Antonio Council Camp Fire Girls will conduct their annual candy sale in the 25 communities from the San Gabriel River to the western section of San Bernardino County served by the council.

Proceeds from the sale go to both the individual groups and the general operting budget of the council to finance the many recreational and education programs offered. It costs the council $20 per year to keep one girl in the Camp Fire program. A portion of the funding is from community agencies and interested parents and other adults, but the major source of funding is the annual candy sale.

William Finch of Covina, general chairman of the sale, announces that the girls selling candy in the community can be easily recognized by their red, white and blue costumes.

In addition to nine cents per box for each individual group, members may win sales buttons, a golden trophy, or up to two weeks at Camp Nawakwa, the council-owned resident camp in the San Bernardino Mountains, with all expenses paid.

Camp Fire is open to youths from six to 18 and provides progressive experience in a group setting which encompasses leadership skills, human and community relations.

Close zipper

For shape retention and longer life, be sure to close garment zippers before laundering and when placing on hangers. At the first sign of zippers sticking, apply wax or zipper lubricant to the nylon coils or metal teeth. It will help prevent annoying jamming.

Gourmet cooking class set

Gourmet cooking will be offered for the first time by the Pomona Adult School beginning Monday. Classes will be taught by Mrs. Keo Teghtmeyer on Mondays from 6:45 to 10:15 p.m. at Garey High School.

The course is designed to acquaint students with the preparation and serving of many exotic dishes. Also included will be demonstration of microwave ovens, a field trip to a winery, menu planning and use of equipment.

Registration for the course and 60 other classes may be completed at the Adult School office, 800 S. Garey Avenue.

Deputy to visit Bethel 191

Mrs. Bea O'Bryant, deputy grand guardian of the State of California, International Order of Job's daughters, plans to visit Chino Bethel 191 on Thursday.

She will attend the 7 p.m. meeting in the Chino Masonic Temple.

The program will also include the initiation of Miss Lorlei Sprott, Miss Jill Huston and Miss Janet Camp.

MR. AND MRS. EDMUND H. GENUNG

E. H. Genungs mark 65th anniversary

The 65th wedding anniversary of a pioneer couple in Pomona Valley was celebrated at Griswold's Indian Hill in Claremont recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Genung lived in Pomona from 1909 until 1919 when they moved to Upland where they now reside. Mr. Genung came to Pomona in 1906 and was joined by his bride in 1909 after being married in Indianola, Iowa where they met at Simpson College.

They are members of Trinity Methodist Church of Pomona where Mr. Genung directed the choir for 10 years and Mrs. Genung was soprano soloist. Mr. Genung was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and Mrs. Genung was a charter member of Alpha Chi Omega chapter, music sorority at Simpson College.

Mr. Genung was associated with Wright Brothers and Rice as bookkeeper from 1906 to 1919 and subsequently became affiliated with Southern Service Company in Pomona where he served in various capacities for 40 years, the last 18 of which he was office manager for the corporation. He retired in 1960. He has also been associated with the citrus industry in Pomona and Upland.

Mrs. Genung was active in educational circles. She organized and directed the Curriculum Laboratory at Claremont Colleges for 20 years, retiring in 1959.

Approximately 200 guests attended the reception which was hosted by their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Elvin Genung of Claremont, and their daughters, Miss Marie and Miss Harriett Genung of Upland, along with the couple's grandson, John, of Claremont.

Assisting at the reception were Mmes. Carroll Genung, Gladys Reed, Earle Hanson, Velda Stewart, Roy Jones, George Gonzales, Harry Milligan and Miss Helen Badger.

Others assisting were Mmes. Granville Kelly, Louise Stewart, Fred Strohte. Axel Rask and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rodriguez.

Music was provided by Mrs. Opal De Beesom and Dr. Guenther Kuehl.

Among the many congratulatory messages received was a greeting from President and Mrs. Nixon.

Transportation survey charted in Claremont

About 1,000 residents within the boundaries of Claremont will be asked their opinions and priorities on transportation in a survey conducted by the League of Women Voters between Thursday and Feb. 7.

The League will receive the assistance of the city staff, the City Council, the Claremont Coordinating Council and the Claremont Graduate School in the random sampling.

League officials feel that in the light of the energy crisis it is necessary to re-think, and likely re-vamp, modes and methods of transportation.

The survey is a way of focusing in on the problem and finding out what Claremonters want in transportation and what they would use if such transportation were made available.

Information supplied through the survey would then feed into the appropriate channels.

One hundred volunteers are needed to hand-deliver the questionnaires to the persons selected in the survey.

About two days after the questionnaires are delivered, the volunteers will phone those being surveyed and make an appointment to return to pick up the questionnaires.

The questionnaires will be delivered sometime between Thursday and Feb. 1, and will be picked up between 5 and 7.

The League will hold a workshop for the volunteer surveyors Wednesday between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. at the Friends Meeting House at 727 Harrison Ave.

TGK group sets meeting

Tau Gamma Kappa Sorority members will meet Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Frank Bayles in West Covina.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Affects children

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Almost all the women in my neighborhood are into the women's liberation movement. I am opposed to this and most of the women respect my right to my own opinion. However, one woman insists on referring to me as a child bride. I can't be flattered since I'm well over 40 and I know she's only trying to hurt my feelings or make some point which escapes me.

It doesn't seem wrong to me for a woman's life to be wrapped up in her husband and children. I like to be taken care of and my husband likes me to be passive. He cares for me and loves me the way he loves our children and he makes all the decisions for everyone under our roof. I was brought up in a family where my father's word was law and so this seems right to me, just as it seems right to our children. I wish this woman would get off my back. If I'm childish I like it that way and that's what matters, isn't it?—P.C.

Dear P.C.: If this kind of relationship is satisfactory to you and your husband, then you are fulfilling each other's needs and this is right for you.

I question whether it is good for your children, however, for if all the decisions are made for them, how will they ever learn to make decisions on their own? The rigid, authoritarian family you describe has some pitfalls. Children of such families often have a much more difficult time when they leave home and are forced to be totally independent. They may do as you have done and look for an authoritarian personality to substitute for what they had in the home situation. In such a relationship, one personality usually is repressed in favor of the stronger individual.

The women's liberation movement does not insist that every woman be independent spiritually, intellectually or economically. It does stress that each woman should be given the opportunity to fulfill her potential if she chooses. Some women feel their potentiality is totally fulfilled in the home, but others may feel other needs. Each woman should be free to determine her own fate. The neighbor who refers to you as a child bride has not solved all her own problems. If she had, she would not be so irritated by your dependency needs.

Often the person who is afraid to make decisions alone has had a traumatic childhood experience such as a lack of adequate love and security. Some women continue to seek in marriage what they were denied as children. Sometimes just the opposite is true, the woman who was smothered with love as a child may seek to perpetuate this in marriage. This kind of woman, or man, is really afraid to take responsibility of any kind. She or he feels failure would be the inevitable result.

The loss of a husband is traumatic for every wife, but it is much more so for a woman who has never learned to make any decisions for herself. This is one of the reasons it is important that you try to spend more time developing yourself and your own interests separate from your husband and family. If your children mature as they should, they will eventually leave home to form relationships on their own. They will go to college, marry and get jobs. For the woman who places all her interest in her family, this normal process can be very painful.

The relationship between children and parents is much better when each member of the family is treated as an individual and allowed to develop and pursue his or her interests.

Extra hamper saves work for mothers

An extra laundry hamper, reserved for the children's muddy or wet play clothes and placed conveniently in a first-floor bathroom — or whatever the children wash after a lively outdoor play session — is a work-saver on several counts.

It keeps these extra-grimy garments together, away from less soiled items in your regular laundry hamper, and keeps them handily in one place. It also prevents soiled — sometimes dripping — snow suits, blue jeans, shirts, sweaters, socks and jackets from leaving a trail through the house.

Once the children get into the habit, they'll automatically drop heavily-soiled clothes into their own hamper.

Israel picks up the pieces and counts the cost of war

By JONATHAN YANAI

RAMAT GAN, Israel — The Yom Kippur war was rough and bitter, smashing not only many Israeli families, and upsetting the economy, but also destroying a dearly held illusion — that any war with the Arabs would be a push-over.

If the Israelis have lost much of their former complacency — a complacency that caused the loss of many lives — they are tackling the problems of reconstruction, economy and rehabilitation of their lives with deadly seriousness.

Some two-thousand Israelis were killed or reported missing in battle and are believed dead. It's roughly equivalent to three times America's loss of 46,000 in Vietnam over a period of years. But Israel lost 2,000 in less than three weeks.

Everybody suffers

Hardly a family has not suffered the loss of a dear one or a close friend. My own experiences are not much different from those of the rest of my countrymen.

Take the eldest son of my friend of 20 years. As a small boy his father picked him up, tossed him high and exclaimed "My king, my king."

That "king" is dead, killed in battle.

Another friend, whose only child was married only months ago, could have declined front-line duty. But he preferred it. He, too is dead. His father says nothing at all. Not a word.

The husband of a first cousin, with two small children and a third on the way, is also dead. But then she has a younger sister to comfort her and to show her how to once again pick up the threads of life. For this younger sister lost her husband, when she was pregnant, during the Six Day War in 1967.

It would, perhaps, be best to end this tale of battle losses on an easier note. My son-in-law got hit in several places by shrapnel, but only one piece, in his thigh, was serious enough to require a short hospital stay. He now walks normally again.

Israelis are gradually taking a deep breath and trying to fit the broken pieces of their lives together, even if one vital piece — a son — is gone forever.

And they all are asking: How did it happen?

Credibility gap

A credibility gap — which showed itself in questioning the veracity of official army spokesmen — flared up. The country's military leadership was questioned.

Public pressure has forced the government to set up a Commission of Enquiry. It must answer a crucial question: If Israel knew that the Arabs were missing their forces for war, why didn't Israel take the proper precautions?

Perhaps the answer has already been given by President Efraim Katzir who has said: "We were living in a Utopia, in a state of mind which had no grasp of the realities of the situation."

Even though it now seems clear that Israel finally not only staggered to its feet, but achieved brilliant battlefield victories, the political picture about a peace settlement is seen by many Israelis as dim and distant.

On the homefront, the new soberness has been shown by an extraordinary willingness to pay for the war by buying voluntary war bonds, generally equivalent to a month's salary. This imposes a terrific financial drain on most, for even before the war the average wage earner paid about 60 per cent in income and other direct taxes. In addition he now pays another 7.5 per cent compulsory "war loan."

Prices have also been increased on many items such as frozen meat, rice and gasoline — often by 50 per cent. (But they remain relatively unchanged on basic items such as bread, margarine, fish fillet and eggs — though eggs are hard to find.)

If the average family has been hard hit, the entire country's economy has been tossed out of kilter. During the war mobilization of all fighting manpower was complete. But after the war about 20 per cent of the reserves are having to stay on in the army. The remaining 80 per cent can be mobilized very quickly.

Key personnel

More often than not, the mobilized 20 per cent consist of key men in factories, farms and businesses. A tremendous shortage of trucks has developed due to mobilization of civilian vehicles. Thus there is not only a shortage of workers to pick and pack the citrus fruits, Israel's chief winter crop, but a shortage of trucks to haul it to ports.

But many volunteers have arrived in Israel. And although they are mostly city people, they seem to prefer to live in farming communities, where they often meet Israeli students also volunteering for farm work.

And the hard-hit tourist industry is gradually making a slow comeback.

The picture here is surely not bright. But the Israelis are throwing themselves into the breach with the confident hope they can solve existing problems and possibly even prevent future ones from developing.

Brings kids to studio

Sally solves working mother's dilemma

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The happy laughter of children is an incongruous sound on the drab, businesslike Columbia Studios ranch, a rambling collection of false-front streets, sound stages and outdoor sets in Burbank.

But David Cassidy, Eve Arden, Shirley Jones and Keenan Wynn, among dozens of others, stop by to pat the heads of a couple of smallfry playing on a swing set outside a dressing room.

They are the youngsters of Sally Field, the diminutive beauty of "The Girl With Something Extra" series.

Sally has solved the working mother dilemma by bringing Peter, 4, and Eli, 1 ½, to the studio twice a week. Her dressing room is the only one in town with a chain link fence around it for use as a play yard.

The trailer-dressing room has a special drawer for toys, a snack shelf with cookies, fruit and pretzels and in summer there is a plastic wading pool beside the swings.

Between takes on the set Sally can be found frolicking with her sons, reading them stories and putting them down for a nap.

"I work from 6:30 in the morning until 7:30 at night," Sally said the other day. "I would never see the boys except on weekends—when I'm too tired to play with them—if I didn't bring them along with me.

"Every working woman feels guilty for depriving her kids of her wonderful self. But it's not guilt that makes me bring Peter and Eli to the studio.

"Working mothers shouldn't feel guilty. They ought to do what is right and healthy for themselves and the children.

"A woman can't dedicate her life to her children. It's wrong for anyone to give up her life that way. There's a need to express yourself and be an individual in your own right.

"I put up the play yard and brought fun things to the dressing room so the boys could enjoy themselves. I didn't want them to just sit in a room like a couple of angels to ease my guilt.

"It's like going to a park. I enjoy them as much as they enjoy coming here. They've made friends of all the cast and crew.

"Sometimes John Davidson (Sally's co-star in the NBC series) brings John Jr.—he's four years old—along and puts him in the yard with my boys."

Sally is a veteran of two previous series, "Gidget" and "The Flying Nun." At 27 she is a polished professional.

"On the first two series I began to feel isolated from the world," she said. "The hours were impossibly long and I never had much time to think of anything else except my work.

"This time I'm blending my personal life and my career together. So far it's working beautifully.

"A lot of actresses who work here at the studio tell me they wish they had thought of making a little home away from home for their children when they were working mothers with young children.

"I don't bring them every day because it wouldn't be a novelty any more. They'd get bored with the whole idea. As it is, they look forward to the visits. More importantly, so do I."

Court gives reporter way to escape jail

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sending reporter William Farr to jail for refusing to reveal sources is not of itself cruel or unusual punishment, an appeal court has ruled —but it may be so if there is no hope of making him change his mind.

The state Court of Appeal made the latest ruling in the lengthy battle by Farr to avoid going to jail indefinitely for refusing to obey a judge's order.

Farr spent 46 days behind bars a year ago rather than reveal the names of two attorneys who gave him information during the trial of the Charles Manson "family" for the Sharon Tate murders.

Farr's case has gained wide attention as an example of the clash between journalistic principles and judicial authority.

The ruling by the appeal court appeared to draw a blueprint for Farr and his lawyers, showing them how they can successfully keep Farr from a lengthy jail stay.

Farr, who now works for the Los Angeles Times, was a court reporter for the Los Angeles Herald Examiner when he wrote a story that the Manson cult planned to kill Frank Sinatra and other celebrities. He said he had obtained the information from two of the six prosecution and defense lawyers involved.

Superior Court Judge Charles Older had imposed a gag order on the attorneys. He demanded Farr tell him which of the lawyers disobeyed the order. Farr refused, citing his promise to his sources, and Older sent him to jail for contempt of court until Farr was freed on appeal.

Such a jailing for contempt is indefinite, and can last until the prisoner dies, or until the judge dies or retires.

The three judge state Court of Appeal ruled that the purpose of such an order is "coercive and not penal in nature" and thus "is neither punishment, cruel nor unusual."

However, the judges ruled in cases where the refusal to cooperate is based on "an established, articulated moral principle," jail may be useless in accomplishing a change of mind.

"In such a situation, it is necessary to determine the point at which the commitment (to jail) ceases to serve its coercive purposes and becomes punitive in nature," the court ruled.

Proceedings in Superior Court could establish what likelihood there is of Farr changing his mind, the appeal court said.

On February 8, 1974, at 11:00 A.M., MORTGAGE FINANCE CORPORATION as duly appointed Trustee under and pursuant to Deed of Trust recorded June 30, 1972, as instr. No. 2551, in book T7652, page 579, of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Los Angeles County, State of California, will sell at public auction to highest bidder for cash (payable at time of sale in lawful money of the United States) at the West entrance to the Mutual Benefit Life Building at 5900 Wilshire Boulevard, City of Los Angeles, State of California, all right, title and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust in the property situated in said County and State described as:

Lot 46 of Tract No. 14197, in the City of Pomona, as per map recorded in Book 313 Pages 3 to 5 inclusive of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County.

The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 1689 South Waters Avenue, Pomona, California.

The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein.

Said sale will be made, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession, or encumbrances, to pay the remaining principal sum of the note(s) secured by said Deed of Trust, to wit: $13,893.39, with interest thereon, as provided in said note(s), advances, if any, under the terms of said Deed of Trust, fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust.

The beneficiary under said Deed of Trust heretofore executed and delivered to the undersigned a written Declaration of Default and Demand for Sale, and a written Notice of Default and Election to Sell. The undersigned caused said Notice of Default and Election to Sell to be recorded in the county where the real property is located.

Date: January 7, 1974.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SELL REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE
NO. EAP-7667

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, in the Matter of the Estate of LLOYD H. REYNOLDS, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that, subject to confirmation by the above entitled Superior Court, on February 8, 1974, at 10:00 a.m., or thereafter within the time allowed by law, the undersigned, as Administratrix of the Estate of LLOYD H. REYNOLDS, deceased, will sell at private sale to the highest and best net bidder on the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned all right, title, and interest of LLOYD H. REYNOLDS, deceased, at the time of his death and all right, title, and interest that the estate has acquired in addition to that of decedent at the time of his death, in the real property located in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, described as follows:

One-Seventh (1-7) of a One-half (½) interest or One-Fourteenth (1-14) interest in and to the following parcel of real property:

PARCEL 1:

That portion of Lot 33 of the Loop and Merserve Tract, in the City of Pomona, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 52, Page 1 of Miscellaneous Records, in the office of the County Recorder of said County, described as follows:

Beginning at the Southeast corner of Lot 152 of Tract No. 17877, as per map recorded in Book 445 Pages 3 to 7, inclusive of Maps, in said County recorder's office; thence northerly along the Easterly line of said Lot 152, and along the Northerly prolongation thereof, 170.00 feet to the Southwest corner of Lot 148 of said Tract No. 17877; thence Easterly along the Southerly line of said Lot 148, a distance of 98.53 feet to the Westerly line of Lot 39 of Tract No. 22591, as per map recorded in Book 696 Pages 60, 61 and 62 of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County; Thence Southerly along the Westerly line of Lots 39, 37 and 36 of said Tract No. 22591, a distance of 170.00 feet to the Southwest corner of said Lot 36; thence Westerly along the Westerly prolongation of the Southerly line of said lot 36, a distance of 98.53 feet to the point of beginning.

The property is commonly referred to as 945 E. San Bernardino Avenue, Pomona, California.

The sale is subject to current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, rights of way, and easements of record, the purchaser to assume any encumbrances of record.

The property is to be sold on an "as is" basis.

Bids or offers are invited for this property and must be in writing and will be received at the office of ETCHASON, DAVIDSON, LIESCH & VICTOR, attorneys for said Administratrix, at 602 North Euclid Avenue, Ontario, California, or may be filed with the clerk of said Superior Court or delivered to W. DAVID ETCHASON personally, at any time after first publication of this notice and before making said sale.

The property will be sold on the following terms: cash or part cash and part credit, the terms of such credit to be acceptable to the undersigned and to the Superior Court, 10% of the amount bid to accompany the offer by certified check, and the balance to be paid on such terms of credit as are acceptable to the undersigned and to the Superior Court. Taxes, rents, operating and maintenance expenses, and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be prorated as of the date of confirmation of sale. Examination of title, recording of conveyance, transfer taxes, and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the purchaser.

The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids prior to entry of an order confirming the sale.

DATED: January 12, 1974.

A MESSAGE TO CLASSIFIED AD USERS

You are about to invest money for an Ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results. Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and cost less in the long run.

1. Don't Omit The Address
Many out-of-town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. Don't Omit The Phone Number
Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. Don't Use Blind Box Numbers
Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. Don't Conceal The Price
Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. Don't Leave Home On The Days You Advertise
Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.

6. Don't Forget, Check Your Ad The First Day It Runs. Call Us!

Sends energy message to Congress

Tax windfall oil profits, says Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon sent to Congress today a wide-ranging energy message including proposals to tax oil companies' windfall profits at home, and cut their depletion allowance abroad.

For the American public, Nixon proposed a new labeling system to require that consumers be told how energy-efficient products are and asked for unemployment insurance help for those thrown out of work by the energy crisis.

Major parts of Nixon's plan:

—Relaxing clean air laws to allow more time for finding efficient ways to use fuel as well as protect the air. (This includes easing automobile emission standards.)

—Accelerating licensing and construction of nuclear facilities.

—Permitting development of new deepwater port facilities offshore.

—Constructing a second Alaska pipeline to tap natural gas reserves on the northern slope to complement the oil pipeline, soon to be started.

—Giving special priority in the new federal budget to urban transportation.

—Boosting to $1.8 billion, almost double the level sought a year ago, the amount of money needed for energy research and development.

"We must not permit private profiteering at the expense of public sacrifice," Nixon said. "In equal measure, we must not permit the big oil companies or any other major domestic energy producers to manipulate the public by withholding information on their energy supplies."

To meet this, Nixon proposed a tax of up to 85 per cent on receipts from sale of crude oil above the ceiling set by the Cost of Living Council in December.

Regarding oil company operational data, Nixon said he would submit shortly legislation to require major energy producers to provide the government full information on inventories, production and reserves.

Nixon said he was asking a complete repeal of the foreign oil depletion allowance. Currently oil companies get a 22 per cent depletion allowance both domestically and internationally to provide an incentive for production. The domestic allowance would stay in Nixon's plan.

The President said he also asked the Treasury Department to propose ways to change the present structure that allows oil companies to use taxes paid foreign countries as credits on their U.S. taxes.

"It is no longer realistic to treat these payments to foreign governments entirely as income taxes creditable against the U.S. tax," he said. "Obviously, however, the oil producing countries, like any other country, have the right to impose taxes and some reasonable portion of those taxes should be creditable."

To help spur oil development, Nixon asked that all exploratory drilling for new oil and gas fields be covered under credit provisions of the present tax laws.

"The energy emergency has shown us that we must never again be caught so dependent on uncertain supplies," Nixon said.

"By 1980 if we move forward with the proposals I have outlined today, I believe we can place ourselves in a position where we can be essentially independent of foreign energy producers."

Nixon said that his energy labeling proposal would apply to "all major appliances and automobiles produced or imported into the United States." Under the plan the products "must be clearly labeled to indicate their energy use and energy efficiency."

Nixon admitted that the energy crisis is causing unemployment. "I will recommend new unemployment insurance measures to cushion American workers against the shocks of economic adjustment," he said.

He said that the unemployment insurance proposal would extend the duration of benefits and expand the coverage for workers.

Officer jumps on bicycle, recaptures fleeing youth

ONTARIO — An Ontario police officer commandeered a bicycle from a student and pedaled 200 yards to recapture a suspect in an assault on teachers at Imperial Junior High School Tuesday afternoon.

The juvenile suspect was taken in hand by the officer, Ron Eoff, to the applause of dozens of students witnessing the incident.

The incident began, according to police reports, when Imperial Junior High School teacher Doug Whitmer was told by a student that another youth was stealing a bicycle from a bicycle rack at the school.

Whitmer stopped the youth on the bicycle and asked him what he was doing and why he was on the school grounds. Whitmer received no response from the 15-year-old youth. Whitmer said the youth walked away and went over to talk with another 16-year-old juvenile in the parking lot. Whitmer followed the two youths, when one suddenly struck him. Whitmer hit the youth and the youth fell down.

Ontario City Councilman Paul Treadway, a teacher at the school saw Whitmer's predicament and went to his assistance. The two juveniles then attacked the teachers. Whitmer was hit several times by one of the youths swinging a belt buckle and Treadway was kicked a number of times.

Someone called police to the scene. When the officers arrived the youths drove off in a car with several other youths.

Officer Richard Hyche, while talking to the teachers about the incident, saw a car that matched the description of the one seen leaving the scene with the youths. Hyche got in his car and pursued the youths. Hyche reported that he stopped the car at 1300 E. D St., but one of the passengers ran. The youth's car was escorted back to the school and the teachers identified one youth as one of the assailants. The youth was handcuffed and placed in the police car.

Meanwhile Officer Rick Cypher captured the juvenile that had run from Hyche in a field, and returned him to the school. While the officers were questioning the second youth, the other, handcuffs and all, managed to get out of the police car and run.

Eoff, saw the youth run, commandeered one of the student's bicycles and pedaled after him, catching up in 200 yards.

Police said the two youths were arrested for assault with a deadly weapon as a result of the attack on Whitmer and Treadway.

RAY OF HOPE FOR BLIND?

By implanting a glass eye, containing a camera-like device, and an electronic system in the skull to transmit the images to the brain, scientists at the University of Utah hope to be able to make the blind see, according to an article in the current issue of Electronics magazine. The tiny image in the eyesocket would be scanned by a microprocessor that would compute a pattern and send the data to electrodes implanted under the scalp at the back of the head.

Israeli troops start pullback

By United Press International

Israel began pulling out equipment from its forward areas on the west bank of the Suez Canal today and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said Syria is ready to begin talks on the disengagement of Syrian and Israeli troops on the Syrian front.

Sadat told a news conference in Rabat, Morocco that "the Geneva talks cannot restart as long as there is no agreement between Syria and Israel on disengagement....Damascus is ready to hold discussions on this matter." Sadat conferred last weekend with Syrian President Hafed Assad.

Israel began the pullout after it approved the agreement in a stormy session in Jerusalem Tuesday by a vote of 76 to 35. The opposition rightwing Likud had called the pullback too onesided but Prime Minister Golda Meir said it could be the first step toward peace.

Israeli military officials said the equipment being removed from the Israeli defense perimeter in areas it captured in Egypt included an estimated 750,000 mines which they said would be reconditioned and used to protect Israel's new front lines in the Sinai.

The military command said Israel also permitted the transfer of 300 wounded Egyptian soldiers from Suez City to hospitals in Cairo. The Egyptians were taken out of Suez City at the southern end of the Suez Canal by Egyptian ambulances. The city has been encircled by Israeli troops since the end of the October war.

The disengagement agreement calls for the encirclement to end Friday when Israeli troops pull back from their positions south of the Cairo-Suez highway and open it to civilian traffic. This also will free the trapped Egyptian 3rd Army on the Israeli side of the canal.

The national radio said Israeli and Egyptian officers had agreed that positions evacuated by Israeli soldiers would be occupied by United Nations Emergency Force (UNEF) troops for a six-hour period, then turned over to the Egyptians.

Pomona National Golf Club for sale at $3.5 million

By LENORE WALLACE
P-B Staff Writer

WALNUT — Golf enthusiasts with a yen to own their own scenic 27-hole golf course can snap up the Pomona National Golf Course — if they have $3.5 million handy.

If the purchase price is too steep, it is negotiable, according to Bill Thompson of Coldwell Banker and Co., who this week put the Pomona National Golf Course up for sale, along with four other golf course properties owned by National Golf Courses, Inc.

The lush-155-acre course includes a luxurious clubhouse located at 20055 Colima Road in an unincorporated area of Walnut.

Construction of the course started in 1963 and a clubhouse was added in 1965 and a snack bar in 1967. The course was formerly known as the Walnut Valley County Club and was private.

The course was sold in 1968 to the National Golf Courses Inc., which is headed by William Saunders, a Honolulu, Hawaii, attorney.

Disgruntled permanent and life members of the club sued the new owners when the private club went public. Members had paid up to $5,000 each for the special memberships and would have had to pay the regular monthly dues of $42 a month on a formula basis to play on the course that had become public.

The quarter of a million dollar suit was finally settled last March when a Superior Court judge awarded damages totaling $105,000 to 67 members of the former Walnut Valley Country Club.

The chief defendants in the suit were Saunders and Alexander Waterhouse, another official of the golf firm.

Thompson said the properties are for sale because his client is not a local resident. He said management of the golf course is competing with his client's other interests.

Also up for sale are the 130-acre San Ramon National Golf Club, located southeast of Oakland; the 134-acre Corona National Golf Club; the 185-acre Whitney Ranch National Golf Club, 20 miles north of Sacramento, and the 155-acre San Geronimo National Golf Club, located eight miles west of San Rafael.

Solon says oil price rollback is a 'must'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government is considering a price rollback for domestic oil which has reached $10.35 a barrel, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said today.

After a White House briefing by President Nixon and his energy chief William E. Simon, Jackson commented: "A rollback is a must."

Jackson told newsmen Simon did not give a commitment to roll back prices.

Ward-Schabarum hassle

Influence peddling charges to be studied by supervisors

LOS ANGELES — The county Board of Supervisors Thursday will further study charges of political influence peddling and improprieties in the awarding of county architectural contracts raised by Supervisor Baxter Ward against a top aide of Supervisor Peter Schabarum.

The charges, which sparked personal attacks between Schabarum and Ward at the board's Tuesday meeting, stem from a 25-page report Ward released earlier this week indicating a coverup of financial troubles of the late Long Beach architect Martin Nishkian, who held the contract for a multi-million dollar rehabilitation center at Rancho Los Amigos Hospital in Downey.

Ward alleged that the troubles were not made public for some seven years and that county officials had made money available to keep the now-bankrupt firm afloat.

In a sharply worded rebuttal Tuesday, Schabarum accused Ward of trying to destroy the county government through his investigations into past county management practices.

Schabarum also defended his aide, Hugh Dynes, against Ward's allegation that Dynes had served as Nishkian's "political link" to the county government.

Ward countered by producing documents showing Dynes had received numerous gratuities from Nishkian and that Nishkian had paid for lunches of campaign contributors.

Although conceding the truth of these charges, both Schabarum and Dynes denied they constituted anything illegal or improper.

Schabarum demanded that Ward produce all his accusations before the board and even submit them to a Grand Jury for investigation.

Ward declined, but the board decided to hold the matter over for assignment to its Citizens Committee on Efficiency and Economy or some other agency for a public hearing.

Plan for upgrading treatment of city's water to be studied

By TONY NAVARRO
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — A multi-million proposal for upgrading the degree of treatment at the Pomona Water Renovation Plant that would allow a substantial increase in the sale of reclaimed water by the City of Pomona will be explored at a public hearing here on Thursday, Jan. 31.

The hearing, by the sanitation districts of Los Angeles County, will be held in the City Council Chambers and will start at 7 p.m.

Three processes of improving the treatment at the plant, which sells reclaimed water to the city for resale, are being considered. Each of the three alternative projects would cost more than $3 million.

A district spokesman said the purpose of the meeting is to give persons interested in the project an opportunity to discuss the economic, environmental and social impacts of the various alternatives being presented.

The City of Pomona, through its water department, presently purchases from county Sanitation District 21, which owns and operates the plant, the reclaimed water and resells about 1,000 acre feet a year to various users.

Water not sold to the city is discharged into South San Jose Creek and a small portion subsequently percolates to the local groundwater basin, a study shows.

The Los Angeles Regional Water Quality Control Board (WQCB) has indicated that some form of advanced treatment will be required in the immediate future for water discharged to San Jose Creek.

In addition, the city water department has expressed a desire to purchase higher quality water to meet the requirements of a number of potential users.

As part of the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System permit program, the regional WQCB has prepared proposed tentative waste discharge requirements for the Pomona plant, which cover discharge to the creek, as well as potential reuse of the treated effluent.

The Pomona plant treats and reclaims waste water from the cities of Pomona, Claremont and La Verne, which comprise the eastern portion of District 21, plus the San Bernardino County city of Montclair, whose sewage is accepted under special contract.

The original facility, jointly constructed in 1926 by the cities of Pomona, La Verne and Claremont, was one of the first plants in the United States to employ the activated sludge treatment process.

In 1951, to provide more efficient and economical wastewater treatment, District 21 was formed and during the 1960s, in response to increasing wastewater flows, a second treatment plant, Pomona Water Renovation Plant No. 2, was constructed near the original on Roselawn Avenue.

Plant No. 2 treats seven million gallons a day of wastewater and was expanded to its present capacity in 1970.

Plant No. 1 currently is used to provide treated wastewater for experimental use at the Advanced Water Treatment Research facility on the same site.

Effluent presently undergoes a secondary treatment, or biological pro-

Submit questions to Nixon--Weicker

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Lowell P. Weicker Jr., R-Conn., proposed today that written questions be submitted to President Nixon about his knowledge of various aspects of the Watergate scandal unless he agrees by the end of the week to meet personally with the Senate Watergate committee.

Weicker's proposal, a source close to the senator said, is that the committee, of which he is a member, renew its request to meet with the President at the White House, with a report on the exchange to be made public after the meeting.

Japan spending millions to prop up weakened yen

TOKYO (UPI) — Japan, its economy rocked by the energy crisis, spent hundreds of millions of dollars today to support the yen amid money market fears of a second de facto devaluation this month.

Fired by the devaluation of the French franc, mushrooming inflation and worries about the fuel crisis, dealers clamored to find a strong refuge for their capital.

The Bank of Japan sold dollars heavily from its reserves to prop up the yen at the rate of 300 to the dollar set Jan. 7. Financial sources said the Bank of the Japan was the only seller of dollars in the Tokyo market.

Banking sources said about $742 million dollars were purchased with yen in so-called "spot" — immediate delivery— transactions during the morning.

A spokesman for the Finance Ministry said the buying surge was partly due to seasonal factors and a two-day closing of money markets. He predicted the market would settle down in a few days.

Trading in Tokyo's foreign exchange banks was suspended Monday and Tuesday because of France's weekend decision to float the franc.

Tokyo companies feared the French decision would trigger another round of devaluations of European and Japanese currencies.

The central question was whether the Bank of Japan could ride out the torrent of buying orders for dollars and keep the yen at 300 to the dollar.

In contrast to the pressure on the yen, the Tokyo Stock Exchange was strong. Stock buyers calculated the hectic selling of yen might bring on another devaluation, improving the prospects of Japan's export industries.

The yen has undergone de facto devaluations three times since the start of the Arab oil embargo Oct. 17. It stood at 266 yen per U.S. dollar before the embargo. Two devaluations in November pushed it down to 275 and then to 280.

FOR ABORTION . . .

Group of birth control advocates led by Bill Baird marches in front of State House in Boston Tuesday to protest proposed amendment to the U. S. Constitution which would guarantee rights of the unborn.

Demonstrate throughout nation

Foes, advocates of abortion march

By United Press International

Demonstrators in many parts of the nation marched, rang bells and placed advertisements in newspapers to protest legalized abortion Tuesday, the first anniversary of the Supreme Court's decison striking down state anti-abortion laws.

There were also some demonstrations applauding the court's year-old decision.

But most public activity was in protest to the Supreme Court's ruling, and the biggest demonstration was held in Washington, D.C., where Sen. James L. Buckley, CR-N.Y., called the day the ruling was handed down "the blackest day in the history of American jurisprudence."

Roman Catholic churches throughout Spokane, Wash., tolled their bells "in memory of unborn babies."

An estimated 20,000 persons, many wearing black arm bands and carrying placards, staged a rally at Philadelphia's Independence Mall.

And demonstrators delivered about 22,000 red roses to members of Congress Tuesday before gathering on the steps of the Capitol to call for a constitutional amendement reversing last year's Supreme Court decision approving abortion.

In New York State, where an attempt to repeal a law permitting abortion failed last year when former Gov. Nelson Rockefeller vetoed the measure, pro and antiabortion demonstrators clashed in front of the capitol in Albany.

In New York City, however, about 60 Roman Catholic women dramatized their opposition to the church's stand on abortion by crowning Pat Forgarty McQuillan as "pope" on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral.

Ms. McQuillan, president and founder of Catholics for a Free Choice, wore a white paper crown with the insignia of the women's liberation movement and blessed the demonstrators "in the name of the mother, the daughter and the holy grandmother."

The women placed a wreath of white carnations on the cathdedral steps "in memory of all women the church has caused to die because of illegal abortions."

In Cincinnati some 3,000 persons, organized by the "Coalition for Free Choice" signed a petition thanking the U.S. Supreme Court for its decision to legalize abortion.

But antiabortion forces placed a large ad in a Cincinnati newspaper saying: "Eliminate Human Problems, not Human Beings."

The "Right to Life" movement sponsored other demonstrations in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Hartford, Conn., and Cincinnati.

The Philadelphia crowd, half of which consisted of parochial school children given time off from classwork, cheered as Cardinal John Krol, archbishop of Philadelphia, said:

"Let history record that we are continuing to fight to safeguard the rights of all human beings, including those of the unborn."

Buckley, speaking later to an antiabortion fund-raising dinner in Philadelphia, said the Supreme Court's decision "was sloppy in its craftmanship, ignorant in its signing, and disastrous in its moral impact."

U.S. vows to find American missing in China-Viet battle

SAIGON (UPI) — The U.S. government today promised to exert "every effort" to locate an American man missing since Chinese forces captured the disputed Paracel Islands from South Vietnam.

The U.S. Embassy in Saigon said the American was a civilian employe of the U.S. defense attache's office in Danang. The man's father, reached in the United States, said he had served as a captain in the U.S. Special Forces.

The Chinese forces sank a South Vietnamese patrol boat in the invasion of the disputed island chain.

A Dutch tanker today picked up 23 survivors from the South China Sea. The Saigon command quoted the the survivors, who had been floating in the water for days, as saying their skipper and many fellow crewmen went down with the ship.

The U.S. Embassy in Saigon identified the American missing in the Paracel Islands incident as Gerald Emil Kosh, 27, of Lafayette Hill, Pa. It said he was a civilian U.S. employe on assignment with the South Vietnamese navy.

"Every effort is is being made to learn his whereabouts and return him to South Vietnam," the embassy said.

In Pennsylvania, Emil Kosh, the missing man's father, said his son had served two tours of duty with the U.S. Green Berets when the United States was still involved in the Vietnam War and held the rank of captain

Report claims N. Viets hold 9 U.S. fliers captive

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A U.S. Congressman says he has been told by a pro-American Laotian general that at least nine American flyers are still being held captive by North Vietnam.

But the Congresman—Rep. Benjamin A. Gilman, D-N.Y.— joined by Defense and State Department officials, warned families of missing U.S. servicemen "...to be wary of raising their hopes since there is no substantiation of these reports at this time."

Gilman said Tuesday his information came from Laotian Gen. Vang Pao, who led the Central Intelligence Agency's secret army of Meo tribesmen in northern Laos.

According to Gilman, the general told him he had "reliable information that about nine American pilots are now being held by the North Vietnamese for providing any technical information they might possess."

But the State Department, in issuing its statement warning against the raising of "false hopes," said Vang Pao had made "similar comments" in the past which "careful investigation" had failed to substantiate.

The Pentagon said that while it was "checking it out," the story did not "correlate with anything we've had to date.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedhem said there was no indication any Americans were still being held by North Vietnam.

The Pentagon also disputed Vang Pao's statement that the North Vietnamese would hold any pilots captured for their technical information.

Defense officials said not only would the pilots have little technical data of any use to the Vietnamese, but Hanoi shot down so many planes during the war, they could probably build their own if they desired.

Gilman said he talked to Vang Poa last week when he flew to the general's headquarters at Long Cheng.

The Pentagon still lists 1,127 Americans as missing in action in Indochina and has declared another 1,300 dead based on the circumstances of their disappearance even though their bodies have not been found.

British labor leaders swing behind miners

LONDON (UPI) — Leaders of Britain's largest labor unions today swung solidly behind 269,000 coal miners in their pay struggle with the government. They promised all-out support if the miners call a nationwide shutdown.

At the same time, in a bid to head off a threatened national rail stoppage, management of the state-run British Railways Board invited leaders of all three railroad unions for what it termed "informal" peace talks Thursday.

Two unions accepted immediately. The union representing 29,000 locomotive engineers, whose overtime ban since Dec. 12 has disrupted rail services, said it would "study" the invitation.

First of maritime academy's 'midshipwomen' off on cruise

VALLEJO, Calif. (UPI) — The first women "middies" at the California Martime Academy set sail today on an eight-week cruise with 237 male counterparts.

"This is the first time in the United States that women students will be going on an annual training cruise," said academy spokesman Harry Diavatis.

The women are Jean Arnold, 17, Kentfield, Calif., Lynn Fivey, 21, Castro Valley, Calif.; Cinda R. Boone, 18, Garden Valley, Calif.; Suzanne Foster, Redondo Beach, Calif.; 19, and Susan Anne Buttler, 20, Alamo, Calif.

Miss Arnold is studying to be an engineering officer while the others hope to be deck officers. The women are officially midshipmen and the only use of the word "midshipwoman" is on the uniform list.

Asked if she thought the women would get seasick, Miss Fivey replied: "We'll find out."

She said her experiences at the school were "exciting" but wondered "how a man who has been going to sea for 30 years will react when he has to take orders from a woman."

The girls have separate quarters aboard the cruise ship "Golden Bear," but a spokesman said their duties will be the same as those of male students.

The ship will visit West Coast ports and Honolulu before returning home March 22. The schedule originally called for a voyage to the Far East but this was cut back because of the fuel crisis, an academy spokesman said.

The Academy was the first in the country to enroll women cadets, said Rear Ad. Joseph R. Rizza, the commandant.

"They all survived the first semester and that's the toughest one," he said. "They are doing well and we expect them all to go out into interesting careers."

Aussie pays $154 for queen's bridal cake made in 1840

LONDON (UPI) — An Australian paid $154 today for a piece of Queen Victoria's 1840 wedding cake.

Lt. Col Keith Carey of the Australian High Commission paid the price (seven times more than had been expected) for a tiny box containing three rock-hard, fingernail sized brown pieces of cake and a few crumbs.

A card attached to the box attested, under a black royal crown, that the chunks came from "The Queen's Bridal Cakes, Buckingham Palace, Feb. 10, 1840."

Alternatives being considered involve tertiary treatment, or improved quality in the reclaimed water.

A study done by James M. Montgomery, Consulting Engineers Inc. for the city of Pomona, lists 11 potential users of secondary-treated and tertiary-treated reclaimed water.

Copies of the project report in its entirety are available for reference at the Pomona plant, 295 S. Roselawn Ave., and at the Pomona Public Library.

Chino assessment district

Industrial area improvement OK'd

By L. T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

CHINO — A 460-acre industrial area will soon take on an improved look.

The City Council Tuesday night gave approval for a program to include street lights, street improvements, sewers, water lines, storm drains and the placing of telephone lines in an area generally bounded between Central and Ramona avenues and Schaefer and Eucalyptus streets.

The assessment district, which contains several industrial plants, is master planned by the city as its manufacturing area.

Total cost is estimated at $1.3 million, which includes construction, bonds, engineering and legal costs.

The City Council awarded a contract to Laird Construction Co. of Claremont for $994,567 to do the work. The firm submitted the lowest of 13 sealed bids. Its offer was well below the engineer's estimate of $1.5 million.

Officials also approved the sale of improvement bonds to Stern, Brenner and Co., which submitted a bid with a 6.15 interest rate.

Improvement costs will be shared by the property owners, City of Chino and San Bernardino County, said George Mimack, consulting engineer. He gave this breakdown; Property owners, $1.2 million; city, $53,000; and county, $37,000.

Work could start within one month and be completed within four months, added MimMack.

In another matter, the council reviewed schematic plans for a new police station, city hall and council chambers proposed to be constructed in the county-city complex, located at Central Avenue and D Street.

Officials asked that they be placed on the county supervisors agenda at a future date to discuss ways to proceed with the planning and construction.

Representatives of the Cashion and Horie architect firm showed preliminary plans which showed a two story city hall structure, a one story police building with basement, and a council chambers with 120 to 150 seats.

The county portion of the center will include a library, court and sheriff's office.

'Not with victim at killing time'

ONTARIO — John Frank Antick on trial for murder in West Valley Superior Court, testified Tuesday he was not with a friend, Donald Bose, when Bose was killed in a gun battle with Upland Police Officers investigating a burglary Sept. 28.

Antick, 45, of Banning, is charged with murder, assault with a deadly weapon, and burglary in connection with the death of Bose. Under California law, if a person is killed in the commission of felony, his accomplices can be held responsible for his death and charged with murder.

Bose was killed by Upland Police Officers Robert Smeaton and Nello Petronzio on Shelley Avenue after shooting at the officers. The prosecution contends that Antick, while not in the car with Bose at the time of the shooting, was nearby, and allegedly aiding Bose in the commission of a burglary.

Antick said that he and Bose had been friends for about 2½ years and that he was living with Bose at a Banning home just prior to the shooting.

Antick said that Bose, the evening of Sept. 28, invited him to drive to Hollywood that night. Antick said he agreed and they left Banning about 6 or 7 p.m.

Antick testified that when he and Bose reached Cucamonga he asked Bose to stop so he could make a "buy" of heroin.

Antick said Bose was somewhat negative about the use of heroin and they got into an argument. Antick said that he and Bose stopped the car during the argument on Archibald Avenue in Cucamonga. Antick said he got out and Bose drove off.

Antick said he tried unsuccessfully to make a heroin buy in Cucamonga and then decided to hitchhike back to Banning.

Antick said he learned from Bose's mother that Bose had been killed by police and was in an Upland mortuary.

Spots him on freeway

CHP officer gets his man--3 months later

POMONA — Capt. W. C. Jones of the California Highway Patrol renewed an old acquaintance Tuesday on the San Bernardino Freeway.

He stopped a driver whose truck overturned on Jones' patrol car on the same freeway last October.

Jessie Grigsby of Gardena never showed up in Pomona Municipal Court to answer charges of reckless driving and driving with an open beer container in his vehicle, resulting from the first accident. A warrant was out for his arrest.

Jones said he was on Kellogg Hill returning from a meeting in West Covina when he recognized the driver, who was operating the same type of truck involved in the October accident.

Grigsby was taken to the sheriff's jail in the City of Industry, pending his court appearance.

In the October accident, Jones had stopped a small station wagon for speeding. As both vehicles were parked along the freeway shoulder, the truck came up behind them, ran upon a sloped bank and overturned on both the cars. An occupant in the station wagon suffered minor injuries.

Jones said he stopped the trucker Tuesday about two miles from the accident scene.

Hunting violation

CIM chief pleads guilty

CHINO — California Institution for Men Supt. Bertram Griggs and one of four friends cited by a fish and game warden for hunting geese without a duck stamp pleaded guilty and were ordered to pay $65 fines by Chino Municipal Court Judge Philip Schaefer Tuesday afternoon.

Griggs, Antonio Crescenti and Vincenzo Lombardo of San Diego and Ronald P. and Robert W. Brady of La Mesa were seen hunting geese on CIM prison grounds Dec. 29. A state fish and game warden, observing the hunters in some recently constructed duck blinds, waited at the prison gate until they appeared.

The warden, Douglas Buchanan, checking their licenses, discovered that the five men did not have a valid duck stamp. The five were cited and ordered to appear in the Chino court for arraignment Tuesday.

The violation brought severe criticism to Griggs and the Department of Corrections from state legislators. As a result Griggs reportedly was reprimanded by DOC officials and all future duck hunting on state prison land was prohibited.

Only Griggs and Crescenti appeared in the Chino Court before Judge Schaefer. Crescenti told the judge that he was prepared to pay the fines for the Brady brothers and Lombardo. Judge Schaefer informed Crescenti that the citation requires a court appearance, but a total of $125 bail for each of those not appearing would be accepted.

After Griggs and Crescenti pleaded guilty, Judge Schaefer then asked his clerk for a copy of penalty sheet for violations of fish and game laws. Schaefer, noting that he was not entirely familiar with fish and game laws, recessed the court and retired to his chambers about 10 minutes. Before the judge left the chambers both Griggs and Crescenti said they had purchased the required duck stamps the same day they were cited.

Judge Schaefer returned and told Griggs and Crescenti that the maximum fine for the misdemeanor could be $500 and-or six months in county jail. "But in light of the fact you purchased the duck stamps I fine you $100, $50 suspended, plus a penalty assessement." Duck stamps in the state cost only $1 with a valid hunting license.

Griggs and Crescenti then paid their fines that came to a total of $65 each.

Collision with car hurts pair on bike

POMONA — Two boys were injured Tuesday afternoon when the bike they were riding ran into a car on Reservoir Street south of Ellen Place, police reported.

David J. Mardorf, 13, was operating the bike and Anthony Valenzuela, 8, was riding double. Both live at 2098 S. San Antonio Ave.

Each boy suffered a broken arm and both had multiple cuts and bruises. They were reported in fairly good condition today at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Police reported the boys were riding on Reservoir Street when they turned into the side of a car driven by Cheryl Sue Wittenbrock, 16, of 12835 McKinley Ave., Chino.

A 15-year-old youth was hit by a motorist who drove away Tuesday after saying he was leaving to call an ambulance. The victim, Melvin Hawskins, 1461 Hacienda Place, was taken to Pomona Valley Community Hospital but refused treatment there for facial injuries and injuries to his elbows, police said. They said he also refused to make a statement about the incident. He was struck while crossing Arrow Highway west of Wilkie Drive.

P-B ad man promoted to position in Nevada

KEN KLIEWER

POMONA — Ken Kliewer of the Progress-Bulletin's display advertising sales staff has been promoted to advertising manager of the Daily Times in Ely, Nev.

This newspaper and the one in Ely are independently operated members of the Donrey Media Group.

Kliewer has been an employe of the Progress-Bulletin since 1961 and an advertising sales representative for the past six years. His association with the P-B began as a carrier in 1954 in his native Chino. He attended Chino schools and was graduated from high school in 1958. His father, Arthur Kliewer of Chino, was a compositor for the Progress-Bulletin for 27 years before his retirement.

Ken Kliewer has been an active member of the Jaycees for 10 years. He has been on the board of directors for three years, served as first vice president and secretary, and this year is second vice president. He has won the Key Man Award, several Presidential Awards, the Spark Plug of the Quarter, Jaycee of the Month, and numerous certificates of merit. At the district level he has been secretary.

Kliewer is a charter member of the Southern California Press Club and he has been a board member. He has also been a director of the Pomona Red Cross Chapter and the Friends of the Pomona Band.

Loose steam line found in Onofre test

ROSEMEAD — Officials of the Southern California Edison Co. have reported that during a routine pressure test at the San Onofre Nuclear Generating Station a loosened steam line support was found in the non-nuclear section.

They said that although the support had moved about an inch from its normal mounting, the problem was minor and had not affected the steam line itself.

They estimated that it would take two days to make repairs and that it would not delay the return of the plant to service the end of January.

The Edison tests follow established procedures used before steam plants are returned to service after maintenance on the steam supply system.

Even thouth the problem was minor, it was reported to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Ordinarily an occurrence of this nature would not justify a press release, the spokesman said, but because of the misunderstanding which occurred in connection with the Oct. 21 turbine blade failure, Edison is making this announcement.

Youth falls over cliff to death

PALOS VERDES (UPI) — Two youths walking on a rain softened cliff fell 200 feet Tuesday, killing one and seriously injuring the other.

Victor M. Villagomez, 17, was dead on arrival at the Torrance Memorial Hospital. Alex Guilmette, also 17, was listed in very critical condition.

They were both from Torrance.

A girl who tried to help them when the loose ground gave way was in satisfactory condition with cuts and bruises.

I have the only DC-10s to both Houston and New Orleans.

I'm Judy and I was born to fly.
I've got a lot going for you to Houston including nonstop DC-10 service twice a day.

And I've got a lot going for you to New Orleans, too. The only DC-10's.

My Houston schedule has daily nonstops, from early in the morning until late at night, including the only DC-10 night coach for $90 one way including tax, a nominal airport security surcharge is extra.

Here's the way it looks:

Lv. Los Angeles (all nonstop)	Ar. Houston
9:10am	2:00pm
2:30pm (DC-10)	7:20pm
1:15am (DC-10 night coach)	6:05am

My New Orleans schedule has the only DC-10 service from Los Angeles, a nonstop every morning, and a money-saving DC-10 night coach.

Here's the way it looks:

Lv. Los Angeles	Ar. New Orleans
9:10am (direct)	3:27pm
10:05am (nonstop DC-10)	3:27pm
2:30pm (direct DC-10)	8:42pm
1:15am (DC-10 night coach)	7:37am

You'll love flying my big, wide-bodied DC-10. It's the most luxurious, comfortable plane in the sky (and the quietest).

With twin aisles, and two-abreast seating throughout (so you're never more than one seat away from the aisle). And multi-channeled stereo entertainment.

Something else, when you're flying to Houston or New Orleans you can fly my Las Vegas Stopover Fare on any flight.

For just $1 more than the regular coach fare you can stop off in Las Vegas. Coming or going. You can't beat the fun in Las Vegas. And you can't beat the value of my $1 Stopover Fare.

Fly me to Houston or New Orleans.

CANDIDATE — State Sen. David A. Roberti has announced he will run for the office of lieutenant governor. Roberti, a Democrat, promised to provide "strong economic leadership" for California.

It's prison for former congressman

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Former Rep. John W. Dowdy, D-Tex., has lost his battle to stay out of prison and was ordered to report to the Springfield, Mo., Federal Penitentiary to begin serving a six-month term for perjury next Monday.

Dowdy's attorney argued during a federal hearing Tuesday that the Texas Democrat, a veteran of 20 years in the House, was in ill health and the jail term would kill him.

"Dowdy has suffered enough," said defense attorney Leon H.A. Pierson. "He is now a sick man, unemployed and has lived and is living under this conviction.

"Dowdy takes daily medication and at times needs immediate medical attention," Pierson said. "A sentence in jail could amount to a death sentence."

U.S. District Judge Roszel C. Thomsen said after examination by prison physicians, he would consider a hearing on freeing Dowdy. But he questioned Dowdy's contention that he should not go to prison because of ill health.

"This court must take with a grain of salt anything produced by Mr. Dowdy," Thomsen said, noting his three count perjury conviction.

Dowdy, who began 20 years in the House in 1952, was accused of accepting a $25,000 bribe in return for trying to block a Justice Department investigation of a Baltimore home improvement firm in 1969.

He was convicted in 1971 on eight counts of bribery, conspiracy and perjury, but the 4th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals threw out all but the three perjury counts and reduced his original 18-month sentence to six months.

Delayed by Chino board

All-year school program extension awaits hearing

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — The school board delayed action on Supt. Royce Lapp's recommendation Tuesday night for extension of the year-round school program, preferring to wait until a public hearing Feb. 5 at 8 p.m.

Lapp recommended accepting a school advisory committee's recommendation to extend the year-round program to all kindergarten to 9th grade schools except the Riverside campus. Chino High School would also be excluded from the 45-15 program next school year.

The board also heard a report from John West, teacher at Magnolia Junior High School and a member of the Associated Chino Teachers, on a survey of all district teachers conducted by ACT.

However, board member Pete Vander Poel suggested that rather than conduct a public hearing on an already lengthy agenda Tuesday night, the matter be delayed until Feb. 5. He also suggested that the regular board meeting be held from 7 to 8 p.m. on that date and if the crowd size warrants it the public hearing for all-year school be moved to the Riverside campus auditorium.

The Riverside campus and Chino High would maintain a traditional program for those not wishing to participate in the program calling for nine weeks of school and three weeks of vacation commencing July 8.

The primary points brought out by Lapp, West and those surveyed concerning the year-round scheduling dealt with the lack of air conditioning at such schools as Gird elementary and primary, Newman and El Rancho, possible complication at Glenmeade School which is currently on a special open classroom program, and a 60 per cent negative reaction from high school teachers about the expansion of the program there.

The superintendent noted in his report to the board that additional planning time was needed at Chino High before introduction of the program there. He also pointed out that transportation to the alternate campuses at the high school and Riverside Drive would be provided from throughout the district.

Principals Richard Meyer and Charles Stortz of Magnolia Junior High and Walnut Elementary schools respectively — where the program is under way — also indicated in their evaluation reports that there was "no evidence of any decrease in student achievement." They also reported that overall student and parent reaction had been positive.

Lapp read directly from his written report on the proposal for 1974-75 academic year.

"Staff attitude in all schools except Glenmeade and Gird has been generally positive. There are concerns by the staff at Gird, as well as El Rancho, for the problems which will exist if air conditioning is not in. The staff at Glenmeade is just getting under way in its first full year of the open classroom and is reluctant to attempt the YRS planning this year. The concern of all three groups seems to be a question of timing rather than a question of the year round concept," Lapp read.

He also stated that to avoid going on double sessions at certain schools and to assure that all children in the same family are on the same schedule, it is desirable at this time to convert to year-round school in all elementary schools, Ramona Junior High and Don Antonio Lugo High schools.

"I further recommend that a system of open zoning be utilized in all year-round schools. This system provides for assignment to tracks (attendance areas) within the schedule on the basis of parent choice rather than by geographic area as we now do in the pilot program." he said.

After reading his report, Lapp stated that he thought "there are alternatives to what I have proposed. But I think this is the best alternative."

The board instructed the district staff to investigate the possibility of using district money for air conditioning and tentatively revising the year-round school calendar for report to the board and public on Feb. 5.

They invited all interested persons to attend the meeting to voice their opinions.

Icelanders harness killer volcano for heat-energy

By KARI JONASSON

VESTMANNAEYJAR, Iceland (UPI) — The Helgafjell volcano, once a symbol of devastation, is now Iceland's answer to the energy crisis.

The long dormant volcano roared to life one year ago today, burying homes under a river of molten lava and apparently killing this port town.

Now, a new, volcano-heated town is rising on the hot ashes.

Some 2,500 of the town's original 5,200 residents have returned to their old homes. And with the aid of volunteers from all over the world, they are taming and harnessing the heat-energy of the 6,000-year dormant volcano.

The latest eruption stopped on July 3, 1973. When the eruptions ceased, scientists began experimenting with the thermal power in the lava to heat homes.

They concluded the lava contained enough heat to warm all houses on the island for the next 20 years.

The first home was connected Sunday by pipe with a hole dug into the edge of the hot lava. Inside the hole workers put spiral pipes and pumped water through. By the time it reached the home, the water reached a temperature of 149 degrees.

Scientists are now thinking of heating the town's new hospital by this method.

"I live and you will live," is written on the circle over the churchyard gate.

The churchyard was buried under a 12-foot blanket of ashes and debris, but was one of the first places to be cleared.

Today, hardly a trace of the black ash remains there, the gateway inscription could stand as a symbol of the eruption and Vestmannaeyjar's survival.

Ash and lava buried about one third of the 1,200 homes on the island. Now there are plans to build 400 new homes in the western part of the town.

The resettlement has been faster than hoped 10 months ago. This winter two large fish meal factories and three modern freezing plants will go into operation.

About 60 to 70 fishing boats are also scheduled to sail out of the harbor during the fishing season which is just beginning. Mayor Magnies Magnusson said, "We have plenty of jobs for everyone."

AMTRAK shoveling all the coal in as business booms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Advance bookings for Amtrak coach seats and sleeping car rooms are running 2½ times greater than last summer's peak travel months, and calls to Amtrak reservations centers have almost doubled.

The figures are taken by Amtrak as an indication that the crush of new riders over the past two months was not a holiday fluke, and that the passenger train will continue to reap benefits from the energy crisis.

"We're going on the assumption that the energy crisis is real and it's going to be with us for some time," said an Amtrak spokesman.

With airlines cutting back on flights, and with gasoline becoming more expensive and hard to find, many Americans have re-discovered the passenger train, spurred on by federal statements that it is the most energy-efficient form of transportation.

During November, the first month of national concern over the energy crisis, Amtrak revenues were up 50 per cent over a year earlier. Preliminary figures for December indicate a 40 per cent rise in revenue over the previous year.

But both of these months contained holidays, and there was some question what would happen as Amtrak entered the mid-winter months, a low travel time except for Florida trains.

Through the first week in January, the advance bookings for train space during this midwinter doldrum period was 203,000, compared with an average of 85,000 during July and August, the peak train travel months. Phone calls to reservations centers are holding up at 60,000 a day, compared to the July-August average of 32,000 per day, and the phone system must soon be expanded.

The new demand has caught Amtrak unprepared in more ways than phone lines. The greatest deficiency is in passenger cars. Amtrak is now using almost every one of its approximately 1,900 cars, at least those it can keep in repair, and only 200 to 300 used cars are still available throughout the country for Amtrak purchase or lease. Amtrak now realizes it waited too long to order new cars.

Delivery of new cars will take time, and meanwhile Amtrak is trying to make its existing equipment do more.

For short trips, it will cut down on rest room lounge space in some coaches, resulting in an additional eight to 16 seats per car. A refurbishing program has been stepped up to 60 to 70 cars per month from the old 50 per month rate.

U.S. bank helps finance Egyptian oil pipeline

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Export-Import Bank said that it will provide up to $100 million in financing support for the construction of a crude oil pipeline in Egypt.

The project is expected to result in the sale of up to $200 million of U.S. goods and services. The Export-Import Bank assistance will be a combination loan and financial guarantee. The borrower is the Suez-Mediterranean Petroleum Pipeline Corporation (SUMED) of Cairo.

The company plans a 200-mile long, 42-inch diameter line with pumping stations, storage facilities and marine loading terminals to be designed and constructed under the guidance of the Bechtel Corp. of San Francisco.

Teens claim world mark on see-saw

BLOUNTSVILLE, Alabama (UPI) — Terry Murphree and Russell Pinyan, both 16, ended 618 hours on a see-saw Sunday evening, proclaiming a new world record for a see-saw marathon.

Since Dec. 25, when they climbed into bucket seats taken from an old automobile and attached to a 13-inch wide board, the boys have raised $6,450 of the $12,000 needed for new uniforms for the high school band.

The see-saw, placed in the Blountsville High School gymnasium, became their second home and they were only off it about 25 minutes a day.

"I think they're planning on cutting a cake and then I guess I'll go home," Pinyan said. "I've about forgot what it looked like.

The youths ate their meals, slept by turns, handled class assignments brought by cooperative teachers and even celebrated their 16th birthdays— both Dec. 28—on the see-saw.

SADDER, BUT WISER — This Great Snowy Owl, a denizen of the Arctic rarely seen in the U.S. figures he should have stayed home. The three-pound female was apparently hit by gunshot and treated at Seattle's Woodland Park zoo where a veterinarian bandaged its wing and said it would heal.

A new approach

Kids telling other kids: quit smoking

LA PORTE, Ind. (UPI) — Youngsters listen only to other youngsters, Mike Mathis says. So he recruited high school students to tell other youngsters to quit smoking.

The call themselves Smokers Anonymous, and they meet every Thursday in a room at La Porte High School.

"There are 10 of us," Mathis said. "Maybe some high school in Nevada will pick up the idea and they'll do it better than us and have 100 members.

"Everything else has been tried to help kids quit smoking. Nothing has worked. We want to see if we can get kids to stop."

Arlo Westphal, assistant principal at the high school, said there have been fewer suspensions for smoking since the organization began a few months ago.

"And fewer teachers are bringing in students for smoking violations," he said. "I'm excited this plan just may work."

Mathis, 30, a management consultant and self-appointed coordinator of the group, started Smokers Anonymous by encouraging 15-year-old Kathy Erwin to sign her name to an ad in the school newspaper.

"I'm killing myself," the ad read in part, "because I smoke."

Kathy said she quit smoking soon after the ad ran and now hasn't had a cigarette in over two months.

"But it's been hard to get kids interested in the organization because if they're cheerleaders, say, they don't want anyone to know they smoke," Kathy said.

The members have organized a speakers bureau and have made appearances at two high schools in Michigan City, Ind. They are actively supporting a clean air bill in the Indiana legislature and expect to testify in public hearings on the bill.

"We've also requested that Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., get us an appointment before the Consumer Protection Agency under the Hazardous Power Act," Mathis said.

"There are laws in every state banning the sale of cigarettes to people under 18," he said. "Within the week, we are going to the prosecuting attorney to ask him to enforce the law."

Kathy said the organization itself is loose.

"There's no obligation to quitting (smoking)," she said. "We just talk about it.

"Some of the kids haven't quit yet. But they promote it because they don't want younger kids to get started. They sort of consider themselves hopelessly hooked, but they don't want anyone else to smoke.

New theory offered for artery hardening

MARCO ISLAND, Fla. (UPI) — In a sharp departure from the ideas of most doctors, a Seattle scientist has suggested that hardening and narrowing of the arteries may be caused by the growth of benign tumors instead of deposits of fat.

But Dr. Earl P. Benditt, chairman of the Department of Pathology at the University of Washington School of Medicine, said fatty material derived from cholesterol in the blood may be a major contributor to tumor growth in blood vessels.

"One must not go out and eat as much fat, butter, eggs and so forth as one would like to because this is likely a promoting factor and it does significantly, I think, still increase the risk of atherosclerosis," he said Monday.

Atherosclerosis is the disease that clogs the inside lining of arteries and is America's leading killer. By making it easier for a clot to form and deprive the heart and brain of blood, it sets the stage for 480,000 deaths annually from heart attacks and strokes in the United States.

Benditt presented his radically new theory at a seminar sponsored by the American Heart Association. Dr. Richard S. Ross, president of the association, said Benditt's idea "is very attractive and one which we want to watch develop."

In another report, Dr. Donald C. Harrison, chief cardiologist at the Stanford University Medical Center, Palo Alto, Calif., said accelerated cases of atherosclerosis have been detected in the new hearts of six transplant patients who died after surviving for relatively long periods. Harrison said the patients' own blood vessels were in much better condition.

Harrison said the rapid growth of material in the arteries of the transplanted heart may have been caused by damage resulting from body rejection processes.

Benditt said the tumorous growths he believes sometimes form in blood vessels may be instigated by chemical agents eaten or inhaled, such as cigarette smoke. He also said viruses may play a role in starting the tumors.

Benditt said an examination of the details of human arteries with atherosclerosis and studies of the disease in animals was responsible for his idea. He said the characteristics of the calls suggested they might be benign tumors.

He said it appears the genetic makeup of the originating cell is altered somehow so it gains an advantage over neighboring cells and multiplies.

Bill aims at gas mileage stickers

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill requiring new car dealers to display the average gas mileage of automobiles they sell was introduced recently by Assemblyman Jim Keysor, D-Granada Hills.

The measure (AB2868) would require the approximate gas mileage to be posted on or near the new car that is for sale. It does not apply to used cars.

Business as usual at DuPont's Walston despite firm's sale

POMONA Although the brokerage firm of DuPont Walston, Inc. is selling its branch offices and going out of business, local investors will find little change in operations at the firm's Foothill Boulevard office.

"We'll just have a different name," said Frank H. Bickel, a vice president of the firm who head the local office.

Bickel said that while employes are free to leave when the sale is completed, most of the 15-member staff will stay on the job here.

The local office is one of 143 branches across the nation which will be sold, possibly this week, following a weekend decision by company officials.

A spokesman for the firm said all customer accounts are adequately protected, business operations will continue during the sale negotiations and that the sale was not prompted by any regulatory agency restrictions.

The firm, formed last July with the merger of F.I. duPont, Glore Forgan, Inc. and Walston and Co., is the second largest brokerage house in the country.

Despite a healthy net capital profile and a low indebtedness ratio as required by New York Stock Exchange guidelines, the firm reported losses of $10.4 million during the first five months after consolidation.

In addition to these losses and the uncertainty in current markets and industry conditions, the sale was necessary, officials said, because H. Ross Perot, the Texas computer millionaire and financier who invested some $90 million in the firm, had decided to make no more money available.

Congressman Hosmer won't seek 12th term

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After 21 years in Congress, veteran lawmaker Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., 58, has decided not seek a 12th term in the House.

Hosmer, in announcing his decision Monday, indicated his decision not to run again was due in part to a California Supreme Court decision realigning the state's congressional districts.

Hosmer, 58, an attorney and retired naval reserve rear admiral, is the ranking Republican member of both the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and the House Interior Committee.

"Long seniority helps a congressman serve his constituency well, but from time to time it is also healthy for fresh talent to move up to governmental responsibility," Hosmer said.

"It has been a tough decision," he said, "but now seems to be the logical time for me to make way for a new representative in the new 34th Congressional District."

Despite his retirement from Congress, Hosmer said he had "no intention of retiring from work."

"I will eventually go into business or return to law or other government service, but I have no definite plans at this time," he said.

He expressed his "deep gratitude" to the people of the present 32nd District for allowing him "to serve long and continuously in the Congress during an era of key decisions on nuclear, environmental and many other vital issues of historic concern."

Pay raise pays off with theft charge

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Tilmon Rochelle's pay raise from $359 a month to $389 an hour didn't look so good today. Rochelle is behind bars.

The 36-year-old airplane cleaner for World Airways received a raise of $30 last August, bringing his monthly salary to $389. But Rochelle was mum when his first paycheck including his raise totaled $1,568 for a short week's work.

And he kept quiet the following weeks when his checks totaled $5,129 and $1,800.

But, when a company accountant looked over Rochelle's pay records after Rochelle was involved in a car accident and found a computer foulup that was giving the employe more than company president Edward J. Daly.

Rochelle, who had quietly cashed the checks, was arrested Monday and charged with three counts of grand theft. He was being held in city jail in lieu of $3,000 bail.

"Well, he explained, "I just figured they'd finally realized how much I'm really worth.

Dispute with IRS

Millionaire takes his seat in Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Cleveland millionaire Howard M. Metzenbaum sat in the rear of the chamber Monday and listened attentively while the Senate debated whether to investigate his $118,102 tax problem.

After an hour and a half of sometimes acidic debate, the Senate voted to seat Metzenbaum as its newest member with no investigation of his six-year-old dispute with the Internal Revenue Service.

Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, who defeated Metzenbaum for a Senate seat in 1970, thereupon accompanied him down the aisles to Vice President Gerald R. Ford, who swore him in. Senators and supporters in the packed galleries applauded.

Metzenbaum, a Democrat, was appointed by Ohio Gov. John J. Gilligan to the Senate seat vacated by Republican William B. Saxbe when Saxbe became attorney general.

Two days before his appointment, Metzenbaum deposited $118,102 with the U.S. Tax Court in case he loses the tax dispute.

That's the amount the IRS claims he owes on a $298,000 business deduction the taxmen say he was not entitled to claim. He says he was right.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., moved that the Senate Rules Committee investigate the tax matter.

But Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., clutching a copy of the Constitution, argued no grounds existed for challenging Metzenbaum since he met the Constitution's three requirements —he was over age 30, a citizen for more than nine years and an inhabitant of the state from which he was appointed.

Curtis fought back, telling Ervin, in a reference to his Watergate committee fame: "Although I am not experienced as a television actor, I shall do my very best to make my point clear."

Ervin's motion to table and thus kill Curtis' proposal carried, 53-22.

There was a moment of stunned silence when Ford made an error in announcing the vote. He said there were 53 no votes and 22 yes votes, instead of the reverse. Senators whispered to him and he quickly corrected the error.

Metzenbaum will give the Senate a slightly more liberal tinge. Saxbe usually voted for the administration position and Metzenbaum is expected to vote with the liberal Democratic bloc.

The Senate now has 58 Democrats and 42 Republicans.

Metzenbaum, who made his fortune developing airport parking lots, will be opposed for the Democratic nomination for a full six-year term by astronaut John Glenn. He defeated Glenn for the nomination in 1970.

Nudist ranch barely gets by in shortage

GLEN GARDEN, N.J. (UPI) — When winter hits the Circle H nudist ranch the cold usually drives off a large portion of less hearty nudists. This year owner Earl Hansen says business has fallen even flatter due to the energy shortage.

The New Yorkers and the northern New Jersey crowds who normally spend their weekends at the 20-acre ranch in the Monmouth County hills are "afraid to come down" because of the gasoline shortage, he said.

On top of that, the price of electricity has forced Circle H to cut back on a number of facilities, including the heated swimming pool. Hansen closed the 100,000 gallon pool just before Christmas because the cost of heating it rose from $210 to $600 per week in less than a year.

"With nudism the pool is the main thing. Without a pool you're nothing," said Hansen, 50, who has been running the colony with his wife, Lucille, for nearly 10 years.

Hansen said the "recreational" passtime has been growing steadily. The Circle H, where there are no strict rules prohibiting clothing except in the pool area, has been attracting a "higher echelon" crowd, he said.

But if this winter is an indication, the days of the large crowds are over. Hansen said the only full crowd was New Year's Eve, when some guests had to be put up at a local motel. Those who attended the annual drinking party wore "minimum dress" and only "a few" were nude.

Last year between 100 and 150 people would show up on a normal winter weekend, but this year an average of between 20 and 50 persons have driven out to Circle H, where they found more than the swimming pool shut down.

Hansen has turned off four freezers, three refrigerators and six mercury vapor lights, cut the menu and lowered the temperature in buildings to 60 degrees.

"Of course, being nudists, the cold doesn't bother us so much. You get used to living at 60 degrees," Hansen said.

The outdoor activities still attract guests. A 60-foot pond is frozen over and serves for ice skating. There is a 50-foot high hill with a quarter-mile ski course. Most of the skiiers and skaters wear clothes, but Hansen says there are always a few nudes.

When the summer warms things up, Hansen hopes business will get better. Grounds for pitching tents and campers will be open, and Hansen plans to revive an old idea which won him statewide publicity in 1965 —putting on an all-nude play.

Tail end

The last car on a freight train, the caboose, gets its name from "kabuys," which originally meant the cook's quarters on a ship. Freight trainmen sometimes cook in their "cabooses," so the change from ship to train is not far-fetched.

For Thursday, Jan. 24

ARIES (March 21-April 19) There is much opportunity around you today, particularly through group associations or friends. Make the most of reliable contacts.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your present course of action calls favorable attention to yourself and wins the support of allies. Continue along these lines.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Think in larger terms. The plans you make now will later pay off in proportion to the scope in which you envision your hopes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Continue to concentrate your major efforts where you're involved with another in a common cause. Today will be fortunate for both.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) It's a good time to press for an agreement on a major issue that will further your interests if you're negotiating an important matter.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today will be very productive for you. You're in harmony with influences that tend to benefit you in work or career.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Behave generously toward those closest to your heart. What you give now will later be returned in a larger measure.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It would be fun to come to your house today. You will make a gracious host or hostess. Bring the boss for dinner to firm-up your relationship.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your attitude today will be optimistic. Your ability to communicate and get others to agree will be easy. A good day if you're promoting.

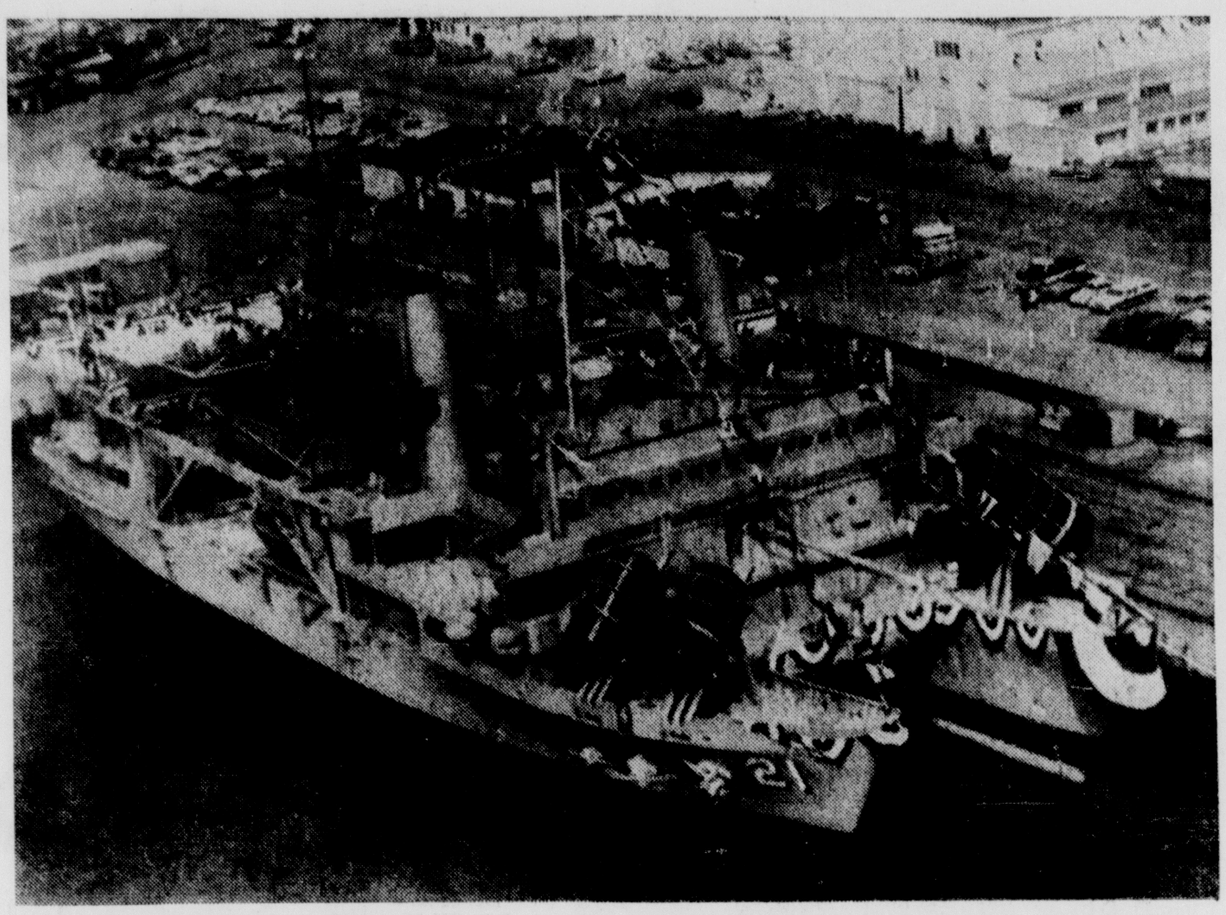
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There should be a big, bright spot in your financial picture today. If buying or selling, the advantages appear to be with you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Any area that looks like it could advance your self-interests is worth exploring now. Luck is with you — if you move now.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't leave things dangling or loose threads hanging in important dealings. Be persistent. Discipline yourself. Finish what you start.

Your Birthday

You'll do things on a larger scale this year. The breaks will come easier. Past experiences will have taught you how to sidestep pitfalls.



BEING TESTED — The USS Pigeon, the first twin-hull ship built for the Navy since the War of 1812 and the latest in submarine rescue vessels, set sail this week for trials on San Francisco Bay. The Pigeon has spent two years at Hunters Point Naval Shipyard being outfitted with elaborate rescue gear and will eventually carry the Navy's new Deep Submergence Rescue Vehicle to aid in rescue work.

Twin-hulled vessel

Sub rescue ship takes trial runs

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The USS Pigeon, the first twinhulled ship built for the Navy since the War of 1812 and the latest in submarine rescue vessels, sail this week for trials on San Francisco Bay.

The ship has spent two years at Hunters Point Naval Shipyard being outfitted with elaborate rescue gear.

The 251-foot Pigeon will eventually carry the Navy's new Deep Submergence Rescue Vehicle (DSRV) as well as conventional submarine rescue chambers. The DSRV is capable of carrying up to 24 rescued men in its fiberglass spheres.

The launching and retrieving of the rescue vessels is done either via a television camera-equipped lift platform between the hulls or over the side.

The Pigeon's three-dimensional sonar tracking systems enable her to act as the operational center for rescues.

"Basically during the bay trials we will be checking out the engines and our sonar and other equipment," said Lt. Cdr. James J. McDermott, 48, Yonkers, N.Y., the Pigeon's captain. "We'll be out one day and then head for San Diego, our home port, for three more weeks of tests.

"Before the Pigeon, all the Navy had in the line of rescue gear was the McCann rescue chamber," the veteran submariner said and pointed to one of the old chambers on dockside. "But don't knock it, it got my son's godfather off the Squalus in 1939," he said.

The work of the McCann chamber in the Squalus operation off Portsmouth, N.H., was the only time men were actually rescued from a sunken sub, the skipper said.

Other equipment on the Pigeon may someday be used in underwater exploration work.

Take Romance off the hook

By JEAN ADAMS

PHONE ALONE: (Q.) Cindy likes me, but only over the telephone. She won't go on a date with me and she won't talk to me in person at school.

Is this what they call "hard to get"? If it is I don't like it. It has lasted nearly nine months and I'm trying to decide whether I should keep Cindy or drop her. I hope you can help me. — No Progress in North Carolina.

(A.) From your description it appears that Cindy may be quite shy. She does not act like a girl who is consciously playing hard to get.

Ask her some specific questions on the telephone, such as: 'Why won't you talk to me at school?" "Do your parents forbid you to date?" "Why?"

If you've been calling her nine months and she has been talking to you on the phone but saying no to everything else, you have a right to ask the questions. With some answers, you will be in better position to make a decision about her.

TALL GIRL: (Q.) I am a girl six feet tall and have trouble buying clothes and getting dates. Could you help me? —Too Big in Pennsylvania ss Wall became the sub- of a great deal of com- ity goodwill when word of illness spread around nview. The community ed in to raise funds to pay the medical bills and ly to purchase a dialysis hine to relieve the family having to travel to Dallas he expensive treatments.

(A.) Find a unisex shop where you can buy jeans in sizes long enough for you. Pants too. For skirts, blouses and dresses, learn to sew.

Be friendly with boys you like, even if you are taller than they. A warm smile is a great leveler.

I never had to use the hine, however, because doctors found the perfect nsplant for me," Nancy d. "The machine is in the s e m e n t of the Central ins Hospital, unused as far I know."

wo years following the nsplant, Miss Wall had an ration in which her old neys and two ribs were re- oved. One month later ano- r operation removed obst- tion of the new kidney.

A fourth operation became cessary a year later when ctors discovered her kidney edication had caused a ain tumor. Surgeons re- oved a particle of the tumor d the rest was reduced with balt treatments.

"My left hand was pa- alyzed for a while, but now 's just the fingers," she said. "But overall I feel great ow, and just want to be like everyone else and do things for myself."

Although she still needs a medical checkup every three months, her doctors have pro- nounced her physically able to work.

"They told me to keep busy and to get a job," she said. "At present I'm doing occa- sional babysitting and a few short term jobs, but I hope to soon find a fulltime position."

The trouble is, she said, people are afraid to hire a kidney transplant recipient.

"It's like they're scared of me," she said. "If I were working, I'd do my best. That's all anyone does."

U.S. diplomat recalled as car kills Peking bicyclist

WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the top officials of the U. S. diplomatic liaison office in Peking has been withdrawn from China because his car struck and killed a Chinese girl during a trip to the Great Wall, it was disclosed recently.

Nicholas Platt, the political officer of the American mission, has been recalled from Peking and will be given a choice for reassignment, a State Department spokesman said.

Satte Department officials said the Peoples' Republic of China requires any foreign diplomat involved in a fatal automobile accident to be recalled.

The official said Platt was driving his wife and parents to show them the Great Wall of China when a girl on a bicycle swerved in front of their car. The official said Platt stopped immediately and halted a truck in an effort to help get medical aid for the girl, but she died.

The official said no decision had been made yet about Platt's successor.

"This action is in no way any reflection on Mr. Platt," the spokesman said.

Electricty use dips 11% from Jan. '73

ROSEMEAD (UPI) — Customers of the Southern California Edison Co. used 11.4 per cent less electricity in the first week in January than they did in the same period a year ago, the company announced Tuesday.

There have been no restrictions on electricity use by household customers of Edison, which serves most areas of Southern California outside metropolitan Los Angeles and San Diego.

But the company's commercial and industrial users had been ordered by the California Public Utilities Commission to cut down on certain types of outdoor lighting, heating and cooling.

In Los Angeles, where there are mandatory electricity cutbacks ranging from 10 to 20 per cent, customers have reduced power use by 16.3 per cent since Dec. 21.

Wells Fargo Bank purchases another

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Wells Fargo Bank has purchased the Beverly Hills National Bank, with three offices in Southern California, it was announced.

Richard P. Cooley, president of Wells Fargo said the purchase of the Beverly Hills bank for $12.5 million was approved by the Comptroller of the Currency.

The Beverly Hills bank has assets of about $135 million and deposits of about $105 million, compared with assets of $11.8 billion in Wells Fargo.

Reader wants to stop Chino Hills airport development

How can I stop whomever it is who wants to put a jet airport in Chino Hills?

It would ruin Chino. It would just bring more noise pollution and smog. The people would be miserable. — S. M., Chino.

The "whomever" is the Chino Hills Airport Complex, Inc. In addition to aviation facilities, the project would include areas for aircraft, production, a hotel and motel complex, farm and world trade exhibit center, industrial park, recreation area and veterans national cemetery.

The whole thing would occupy 4,000 acres in San Bernardino and Orange counties.

To express your opinion, you should write to the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors and the city councils of Chino and Anaheim.

My mother, age 82, has had a problem getting her money refunded for inferior photos taken of her on Aug. 8, 1973 by a studio in Hollywood.

The people at the studio keep referring to reprinting photos they already have taken. The photos are no good, not as good as I can take with an instamatic.

I do hope you can do something for my mother because she has lost sleep over this matter. — C. N., Pomona.

We got in touch with the studio. The owner replied that since your mother was unhappy with her photographs, he would refund her $15.85.

He did and your mother phoned to let us know that if she has a sleepless night now and then, it no longer is over unsatisfactory photos.

This is the same old sob story about veterans' benefits.

My husband enrolled full time as a student in Los Angeles Sept. 17, 1973, and applied for benefits at that time.

In the middle of November our savings ran out. We called the Veterans Administration office in Los Angeles and were told the money was on its way.

After we called three times, my husband went to the VA office personally on Nov. 30. He was told the information had been sent east for final processing and the reply would arrive any day.

We are in desperate need of money. Please help. — Mrs. A. H., Pomona.

After we contacted the VA, you called Action Line several times to ask about the result.

When the answer came, it wasn't the one you had hoped for. Your husband's discharge from the service was "other than honorable" because of lost time. He wasn't eligible for benefits.

Board delays on cafeteria merger plan, will seek advice of managers

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — Cafeteria managers in Pomona's public schools today were asked for their suggestions on how to pull the system, which has operated at a $26,871.34 loss since September, out of the red.

They were scheduled to meet with Dr. Garrett C. Nichols, assistant superintendent of business services.

Their suggestions are to be relayed back to the school board before that body acts on suggestions Nichols might recommend to curb the loss.

This was the instruction given Nichols by the school board Tuesday night. He had prepared a two-phase program, based on a "centralization" concept, which he felt would make the cafeteria system break even.

Board members temporarily rejected the program, which initially called for combining three secondary and three elementary cooking kitchens, the elimination of the position of substitute cafeteria manager and the establishment of a labor standard of putting out 18 trays of food per each hour of labor in a kitchen.

School cafeteria workers crowded the board room.

The motion to delay action on Nichols' recommendation until the cafeteria managers were heard from was made by Roy O. Day and seconded by Ken Pine.

"They're entitled to that (expressing their views) before we take any action," said Day. "We should hold off until we have input from these people."

Pine agreed, explaining that it was his experience that people on the front lines of a business operation often had the best ideas on how to solve problems.

Nichols told the school board that the district cafeteria system was serving approximately 10,000 meals a day, and lost about $18,000 in September, October and November and $8,044.12 in December.

"Twenty-five per cent of that loss was right here at the district Education Center," he said. The cafeteria staff already had begun work on an upward revision in lunch prices at the center which, if approved, would be enforced on adult meals in all cafeterias.

Nichols said losses were greater in secondary than elementary schools, and that losses were smaller in schools where volume was greatest.

The school board in past actions had directed the administration to operate the cafeteria system on a break-even basis. In an attempt to do this, school lunch prices were increased in September. However, increases in costs of food, services and labor proved too great, and the deficit showed up immediately and has not lessened.

In his plan, which Nichols had ready for board approval Tuesday night, he suggested implementing his "centralization" plan March 1, combining the three secondary school kitchens with three elementary kitchens and using the elementary kitchens as serving kitchens only.

Phase I would mean the elimination of three elementary manager positions. The bumping of people, according to Nichols' plan, would be done by seniority. He said it appeared all people would be absorbed.

The second phase, Nichols said, could be completed by fall. It consisted of using three high school, four junior high school and one elementary school (in Diamond Bar) kitchens as cooking kitchens.

This would leave eight central cooking kitchens, and eight cafeteria managers in positions. There are today 21 managers. Nichols conceded later in the meeting he may need 10 cooking kitchens.

Nichols, in explaining his plan, said that approximately 20 people would be laid off but that natural attrition would take care of a number of them. It is necessary that 30 days' notice be given before a job is eliminated, he informed the board.

"We've gone beyond the time when we can afford to operate individual school kitchens," said Nichols.

Supporters slate Thompson reception

POMONA — Supporters of Ken Thompson, candidate for the Democratic nomination for the seat in the 35th Congressional District, will hold a reception for the candidate today at the Firehouse Inn.

A no-host cocktail party will be conducted from 5 to 7 p.m. at the restaurant.

The public is invited.

Class on automobile starting this week

POMONA — A class in understanding automobiles will be offered by the YWCA of Greater Pomona Valley on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. beginning this week.

The class will be taught by Fritz Harnsberger and is open to both men and women. The class will cover the essentials of automotive care and maintenance and the detection of problems.

The fee for the course, which will run for eight weeks, is $8 per person.

PUPPETS COMING TO POMONA

The Kiwanis Club of Greater Pomona will sponsor two performances of the Bob Baker Marionettes this Saturday in the Palomares Community Building, Pomona. Professional shows are scheduled for 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. They are recommended for children 3 through 12. Donations of $1.25 per ticket will be asked. Group rates are available for parties or scout troops. Proceeds from the shows will finance youth and community services in this area. For reservations persons may call 629-3136.

Two take out nomination papers for council position

POMONA — Only two persons have taken out nomination papers for the special municipal election April 16 for the unexpired term of councilman from the 1st District, the city clerk's office reported.

The two who have been issued papers are Stan Kawa, 2982 Glencrest St., manager of the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District, and Mrs. Georgia Grove, 1785 Yorba Drive, president of the Pomona Valley Republican Women's Club.

The filing period opened last Thursday and will close at noon, Feb. 7.

The special election is being held to fill the term vacated by Councilman R. T. French, who resigned Dec. 31. The term will expire in April of 1975.

School district cites retiring carpenter

POMONA — Charles R. Smith, retiring after 19 years as a carpenter with the Pomona Unified School District, was presented a framed certificate of service Tuesday by Dr. James Bell, school board president.

"I enjoyed working here. I did the best I could," said Smith in accepting the certificate.

As he left the board room, it was announced that a collection of Smith's paintings was displayed at the Education Center for public viewing.

Smith worked from 1955 to 1963 as a district carpenter. In 1963, he was elevated to head carpenter. He will retire from that position on Feb. 28.

RTD Dime Day brings 80% increase in riders

The number of bus riders grew by 80 per cent over the average Sunday total during the one-day, 10-cent-ride experiment last Sunday, the Southern California Rapid Transit District has estimated.

An RTD spokesman said a breakdown of figures for lines to and from the Pomona Valley would be available at a later date.

The district said fares collected during a normal Sunday average $44,000 and the total collected during the reduced fares last Sunday was just under $20,000.

RTD estimated 127,000 riders use the buses on an average Sunday and said that although an exact comparison could not be made with Dime Day because of differences in fares, discounts and passes, the number last Sunday was believed to be 230,000.

Litter, vandalism, harassment reported

Claremont deadlocks on hiring of park supervisor

By GEORGE MacLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — The City Council Tuesday night deadlocked 2-2 on a motion to share the cost with the Claremont Unified School District of hiring a person to supervise the Cahuilla Park area where officials say Claremont High students have been causing littler, committing vandalism, and harassing adults.

Voting against the city's hiring the equivalent of a school proctor for duty four hours each school day were Councilwoman Claire McDonald and Councilman Gene Block.

"I don't like this plan, and I won't support it. It will mean further harassment for the new person who would be doing the high school's job," said Mrs. McDonald.

"I don't see high school children responding to further discipline." She suggested that the city Youth Commission should work more on the problem.

Block said that he doesn't feel that the problem warrants "that great an expenditure ($3 an hour up through June) at this time, but I agree it is a joint problem between the city and the school district."

Block commented that if the problem continues, "I think we ought to take another look at it," and the council decided to take another look at its Feb. 12 session.

When City Manager Keith Mulrooney suggested that "even if we try it for only 30 days, it is worth the trial," Mrs. McDonald countered with "If it doesn't work, this gives the kids further feeling of victory."

"It could backfire and not work at all," reported Ron Hagan, city recreation superintendent. "It depends on the individual hired, and how he works with the kids."

Councilman Frank Hungerford moved to accept Mulrooney's recommendation of accepting the school district's offer of paying half the proctor's pay, but gained support only from Mayor Bertye Smith, who said, "It's the same tax dollar no matter which pocket it comes out of."

Mrs. Smith had asked Hungerford to amend his motion to request the high school to rotate its two proctors so they might supplement the newly hired proctor in the park.

Mary Ellen Kilsby, a member of the school board but an eye-witness to some of the students' harassment, told the council that it is a distinct minority causing the trouble.

Mrs. Kilsby recalled that as a member of a tennis class at Cahuilla Park, she became angry when a snowball plopped onto a tennis court, and she went after the guilty ones. She criticized adults at the park who don't react when they see students causing trouble.

The council agreed unanimously to the following three school district suggestions:

— That the city develop, as soon as possible, the area between the high school parking lot and the part of Cahuilla Park already developed.

— That the school district remove the existing 8-foot-wide rubble wall and construct a new, more permanent, solid wall sometime before the start of school in September.

— That the school district and council hold a joint meeting to evaluate the progress toward resolving the problems.

Supply open heart surgery cases

New blood donor project

POMONA — The local Red Cross chapter will be responsible for providing the necessary blood for one open heart surgery patient per week under a new project being started Jan. 30.

Each Wednesday, the Pomona chapter will collect blood for one of the patients scheduled for open heart surgery in Los Angeles and Orange counties within the next five days. The first patient to be helped locally is a doctor, 65, whose surgery is scheduled at Daniel Freeman Hospital in Inglewood.

There are presently 65 cases of open heart surgery scheduled in the two counties awaiting the needed blood. Heart surgery is dependent upon whole blood not more than five days old which has been type-matched to the recipient. At present, the Pomona Blood Donor Center will be assigned patients with either type O positive or type A positive blood, as these are the more common types.

At the beginning of the project, donors must have made previous donations to the Red Cross blood program in Los Angeles and Orange Counties so that their types are on record.

Others wishing to participate in the special program are asked to donate one pint of blood to the regular blood program at the Pomona Center on Tuesdays from 3 to 6:30 p.m. or Wednesdays from 1:30 to 5 p.m. so that their typing may be completed and recorded. Then, after two months, they can join the project.

Donors must be between 18 and 65.

After confirming his appointment, the donor will be processed immediately after arriving at the Blood Donor Center, 420 N. Reservoir St.

When the first open heart surgery was performed, patients were asked to recruit as many as 30 pints of blood. Now, due to new techniques and equipment, the average patient needs from eight to 15 pints, depending upon the type of surgery and other factors.

Donors who participate in the open heart program can credit their donation in several ways. It will be credited to his own personal account for himself or his family and can also be credited to any group account he is involved in through employment, church or clubs or it may be used as a replacement credit for someone who has already received blood.

Donors in the open heart surgery program will be informed as to the name of the patient, the hospital and his post-operative condition.

For information and appointments, persons may call the Red Cross, 629-7455.

Opinion

Carrying big stick still has merit

Diplomatic jaws dropped the other day at Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger's veiled hint to the Arabs that their oil blackmail, if pressed too far, could lead to forceful retaliation by the industrial nations.

"Gunboat diplomacy" is simply not done these days, old boy. It was all very well back in Kipling's time when Britain was carrying the white man's burden and all that, or Grover Cleveland was dealing with banana republics, but it's considered bad form today.

Not only does it usually make unfortunate situations worse (witness the Arab rush to mine their oilfields) but one just does not talk about force, certainly not publicly, before one has exhausted all other avenues of pressure.

True enough. Still, one reason why gunboat diplomacy may have such a bad name today is that we are no longer able to tell the difference between a little military muscle judiciously applied at the proper time and place in defense of a valid national or international right, and foolish meddling with vast armies in another country's civil war or revolution.

Remember "millions for defense, not one cent for tribute"? President Jefferson and the Tripoli pirates? Stephen Decatur (he of "my country right or wrong" fame)? That was gunboat diplomacy.

Actually, a little more gunboat diplomacy in the Middle East a little more recently might have saved the world a lot of trouble.

This was in 1956, when Britain, France and Israel attacked Egypt in response to Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal. The virtuous United States, under the virtuous Secretary of State John Foster Dulles (he of "massive retaliation" fame), in concert with the Kremlin, forced them to pull back.

Not only was Nasser rewarded for breaking international law but the Soviet Union was permitted to pose as a champion of peace and justice even as it was crushing the Hungarian freedom fighters.

As if turned out, it was Nasser's gunboat diplomacy that paid off, and it set an example and started a train of events in the Middle East that has been bad news for the world ever since.

Big election year

The year 1974 has just gotten under way but already the battle lines are being drawn along the political front. Assessment of the opportunities for gains in Congress and the state capitols are either cautiously hopeful or worried, depending upon whether the assessor is a Democrat or a Republican.

In a survey of the national situation, U.S. News & World Report finds, not unexpectedly, that Watergate and the economy will be key factors in the election. Although they would seem as of now to favor the Democrats, leaders in that party hold a cautious view. They recognize that the scandals which beset the Nixon administration have also cast a shadow on all politicians. And if the economy should turn for the better, and Watergate produce no more damaging evidence, it would be a strong boost for Republican hopes.

On Nov. 5 Americans will be voting for 435 members of the House, 34 U.S. Senators and 35 Governors. Also, of course, for thousands of state legislators and local officials.

According to USN&WR, Republicans fear their worst setback in Congress and state offices since Lyndon Johnson's landslide in 1964. Democrats would, of course, like to win the two-thirds House majority necessary to overcome presidential vetoes. To do that, the majority party would have to pick up 47 seats.

In the Senate a two-thirds majority is 64. Of the 34 seats up for election, 20 now are held by Democrats, 14 by Republicans. The present Senate lineup is 57 Demos, 42 Republicans, 1 Independent.

In governorships, the Republicans seem to have an edge. Of the 35 states that will be electing chief executives, 23 now are controlled by Democrats, 12 by Republicans. One factor clouding Republican chances will be the absence of a number of tested vote-getters, including California's Reagan, New York's Rockefeller and Colorado's Love.

Top tax source

Considering what most of us are going through these days, with our eye on April 15, it should not come as much of a surprise that the income tax has become the largest overall source of state revenues throughout the nation.

A Chicago-based business analysis organization's survey shows that for the first time income levies have surpassed sales taxes as the chief revenue producer, nationwide. Actually, there are 29 states in which general sales, gross receipts and motor fuel taxes are still the top producers, but the increase in income levies in the other 21 over-balance that.

The total figures for fiscal 1973, according to the survey, are: Individual and corporate income taxes, $21 billion; general sales and gross receipts taxes $19 billion.

Another non-surprise: California is one of the eight states that collect more than half of all state tax revenue. The others are New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Michigan, Texas, Ohio and Florida.

So, back to the old 1040.

Impeachment probe flounders

WASHINGTON — Although each new Watergate twist tightens the vise on President Nixon, the inquiry into his impeachment is floundering.

The doors have been shut tight on the House Judiciary Committee's investigation. Only staff members are permitted to enter the offices and no papers may be removed. Attorneys and investigators have given strict orders not to discuss their work with the press.

What the staff is really hiding behind the guarded doors, however, is their own inaction and lack of direction. Here are the facts which we have been able to dig out:

— House Judiciary Chairman Peter Rodino, D-N.J., has assured House Republican leader John Rhodes privately that the impeachment inquiry should be concluded in April. Those close to the investigation don't see how they possibly can meet the deadline.

No interviews

— At this writing, not a single witness against the President has been interviewed directly by the committee's investigators. Instead, they have spent their time studying the work of other investigations.

— The White House has not been approached, even informally, to provide any information which might help to speed the inquiry. Staff members haven't even been allowed to request personnel lists or telephone numbers from the White House.

— Although documents related to the President's personal finances were available to committee sleuths from other sources, the information was not accepted because the committee "was not ready for them yet."

— Although chief counsel John Doar has a staff of about 40 under his command, more than half have been assigned merely to answer the routine impeachment mail that has been flooding into the committee's office.

No coordination

— Some of the investigators, because of administrative problems, spend much of their time reading newspapers and novels. Although they are supposed to coordinate their work, some staff members actually haven't met each other. At 5 p.m., there is a rush for the exits.

— Instead of turning up evidence that would justify impeachment, the committee is concentrating its efforts on researching what offenses might constitute grounds for impeachment.

—In an interview with us, Doar placed great stress on setting up a secure and elaborate filing system. The problem at the moment is that nothing of significance has been collected for those well-organized file drawers.

— Staff members have been warned in strong terms that they will be summarily fired if they are caught talking with reporters. This injunction has worked fairly well, since the committee hasn't turned up anything newsworthy and most aides are reluctant to admit the probe's shortcomings.

History, not headline

Chairman Rodino told us he is more interested in making history than headlines. The removal of a sitting President, Rodino said, can be justified only by the most careful and thorough investigation.

The evidence is now being assembled by the staff which will carefully piece it together, he said. Then they will start searching for the missing jigsaw pieces. This will require access, he suggested, to White House tapes and documents.

He wants to have his case ready, he said, before he asks the House for subpoena power. The committee's constitutional experts say the White House cannot claim executive privilege as an excuse for withholding evidence from an impeachment inquiry. Any refusal by the White House to honor a subpoena would, itself, be grounds for impeachment, they believe.

Our committee sources have told us the staff hasn't completed enough background work to issue subpoenas or to begin its proceedings. But Chairman Rodino assured us he is more committed to a thorough investigation than an April deadline.

PERSONA NON GRATA: Robert Chenoweth returned home last March after spending five years in North Vietnamese prisons. He tried to go back to South Vietnam a few days ago. The Saigon government, for which he had risked his life, wouldn't let him into the country.

U.S. bails out nation's railroads

The most revolutionary economic doctrine in decades, if not this century, has been promulgated by the United States Congress. With miniscule exception, the pundits of the nation have been so preoccupied with Watergate, the Middle East, detente, or how you impeach a president, that this remarkable occurrence hasn't even been reported.

President Nixon has signed into law a $2 billion measure designed to rejuvenate railroads in the northeastern states and which provides for potential ownership of the new system by its employees.

The northeastern railroads are largely bankrupt, overlapping in service, broken down and a mess. As a matter of national policy, like bailing out Lockheed, the Congress with the president concurring has decided it is imperative to maintain a viable rail system. But unlike the Lockheed caper, Congress isn't just bailing out a few railroads. It is setting up an entirely new economic system first given form by California lawyer Louis Kelso.

Senator Russell B. Long, along with Senators Hatfield, Hansen, Humphrey and Metcalf picked up the Kelso system and have provided its incorporation into the financing system of the newly created United States Railway Association which will take over the losing lines.

Long sets forth the thesis rather concisely:

"I am convinced we cannot retain our economic greatness if we do not institute steps . . . that will make it possible within a few years for every household and individual in America to become an owner of a viable holding of productive capital."

The reasoning of the Senators is quite logical. The new railway system won't work any more than the old unless the employees get a piece of the action — a piece of the action they pay for and for which they receive normal capital return.

Senator Long made the argument thusly: the existing financial structure of the railroads involved failed because it concentrated ownership of the entire railroad system within the hands of some 5 per cent of the nation's citizens — where all capital resides.

The Kelso concept would permit employees to buy and pay for a sizeable chunk of stock in the new operation (about $10,000 per worker). These stock holdings, in effect, would provide workers with a second income — a capital income — and at the same time be an incentive for labor peace and greater productivity.

As Senator Long says, a long range benefit for taxpayers and the nation is that Congress might have an answer the next time some bankrupt firm asks for a bailout.

Technocracy to the rescue

In answer to your editorial "Will the profit motive go next?" I will suggest that you begin publishing something constructive. Something that has the highest probablility of success of any proposal extant.

We know that America's price system is in its last and dying stages. We know that our country is too complicated to be run by politics. That is, unless the goal of the decadent stumblebum political leadership of today is complete and final chaos. Who wants that?

You are in a position of leadership, as far as the reading public is concerned. It is your duty (read the Declaration of Independence for strength if you need it) to inform and educate the American public that there is a real and lasting solution ready and wajting for use, providing enough Americans know about it.

Yes, we know that there will be some interests that will oppose the technical solution to technical problems; but America's problems are technical and we know that technicians are best suited to solve them. Better get busy and publicize Technocracy's proposals while there is yet time. —Roy E. Elliott, Pomona.

Less energy, bigger bill

It was with great interest that I read your article on how to save money by cutting down on energy usage. That is, I was interested until the next day when I received my latest bill for electric service.

I found that through our energy conservation efforts, our consumption of electricity over the two months period, November through December, had decreased by 11½ per cent from the previous two months period.

However, our bill, including city tax, had increased by 1½ per cent. We wonder how high our bill would be if we used no electricity at all. — W. D. Garrett, Pomona.

Gossip for today

Long ago most of us decided the good life was not necessarily dependent on individual achievement. Rather, we concluded it was something made possible for conforming citizens by technological miracles and political manipulation. So we joined the crowd and settled for a government-prescribed, mechanized standard of living. We traded personal satisfaction and contentment for abundance, believing in that way we would be assured of security.

We joined the industrial-technological revolution. With little or no effort we won battle after battle—reveled in the easy living those victories brought about—and now, even though something has seemingly gone wrong, we still contend it was not our fault. We refuse to admit that we won the battles but are about to lose the war. Rather, we are firmly convinced our troubles have been brought about by greedy industrialists and conniving politicians.

BRUCE BIOSSAT

Japan's oil cuts hurt industrially

For most of the developing countries of Asia, all the bright promise contained in the word "development" has temporarily vanished. They appear to be in for a terrible year economically as a result of the oil crisis.

First off, the quadrupling of world oil prices within the past year assures that these Asian lands will have to cut back severely their own oil purchases — even though they have never been great in volume. They simply won't have the money to pay.

Worse still, the economies of virtually all the developing countries of Asia are today linked irretrievably to the trading power of Japan, the world's third largest industrial nation. And, as has been well noted, Japan in 1974 faces the worst fuel pinch of its great postwar economic upsurge.

The Persian Gulf oil-producing lands have eased somewhat their cutbacks in output as applied to such heavily dependent customers as Japan and Western Europe. But full restoration of the Arab's cuts still would not meet current Japanese requirements. Based on anticipated 1974 economic growth near the annual 10 per cent rate common there in recent years, Japan has upped its needs for the new year. Latest word is that its actual oil import supply for 1974's first three months will fall short of the expected mark by 17 per cent.

As if the oil volume difficulty were not enough, the catapulting prices being set by producing countries could more than double Japan's 1974 oil bill — to $15 billion from the $7 billion paid in 1973.

Again, as everybody watching world economics knows by now, both the import shortfall and the astounding prices will hit Japan right in its industrial gut. Energy allocations to industry already have been slashed up to 15 per cent and worse reductions may follow.

To countries like India, Pakistan, Thailand, Korea, Hong Kong, Taiwan and the Philippines, this is the most gruesome news imaginable. And Tokyo has wasted no time in spelling it out. It has announced cuts of from 15 to 25 per cent in exports to at least half a dozen nations dependent upon it.

Naturally, the toughest line has to be taken on oil derivatives such as chemical fertilizier, man-made fibers, and plastics. Even if normal, expected supplies were available for export, the huge price jump means the developing countries would have to pay much more for what they take.

Japan's fertilizer production will have been cut by around 35 per cent before February. The meaning is obvious for countries reliant upon fertilizer imports to meet ever-rising demands for food. Shortages will be cruel.

That's not the end of the gloomy tale for the developing nations. In 1973, for the first time since its economic leap into the Big Three became world news, Japan suffered a balance of payments deficit — roughly $10 billion. The higher 1974 oil costs and other factors promise to make the deficit bigger this year.

Obviously, this means Japan won't be able to import as much this year as before in many instances. Japan of course has been a big customer of the less advantaged Asian lands, especially in fields such as textiles and electronics.

One last dismal item. A sturdy plank in Japan's foreign policy has been the steady increase of economic assistance to the developing peoples. In 1973 this reached $3 billion, and future goals were a good bit higher. Under the home front pinch, this has to be cut back. For South Korea in 1974, the reduction is already set — from 1973's $170 million to $90 million. Other Asians soon will hear their sad signals.

"Got anything that'll make me more optimistic?"

Positive Action answers Chino students' problems

By MAE TATE
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — "Understanding is the best thing in the world."

As the song goes, so goes life. At least in the minds of many students at Chino High School. Understanding, or the attempt to achieve it, provided the thrust for the establishment of a Student Center, better known as Room 14 on the Chino campus.

The high school's 1,700 students were plummeted into the trauma of a clash between Mexican-American and Anglo factions on Feb. 2, 1973. The Students for Positive Action (SPA), a nucleus of white and brown teen-agers, was born out of those times. The first order of business for the group was to create a climate whereby students would talk rather than chastise or attack one another.

"Students decided they needed a place to get together on a friendly basis and work things out through discussion," explained Jackie Sargent, coordinator of the center.

The SPA is composed of about 10 or so Anglo and Chicano students, she continued. "They were involved or could relate to the riot. They felt Chino High needed a place where people could come and be in a relaxed atmosphere instead of standing around and getting into fights. Instead of meeting in the bathrooms, they meet here and talk.

"It has definitely improved things here because the students who were hanging around and didn't have a thing to do but trip people in the halls and mouth off, now have something to do. They're not stagnant. They're doing something," Miss Sargent said.

Room 14 is on the southwest part of the campus and is largely the creation of students. The tape player was supplied by Miss Sargent and the cassettes of rock and soul music and contemporary rock humor are brought by students wandering in and out.

The hottest thing going, besides the rap sessions with topics from dating to the energy crisis, is the sport of ping pong. Seconds after the bell rings dismissing classes, young boys and girls bounce in, grab paddles and team up in competing pairs. Students are charged a penny for ping pong balls while teachers and administrators frequenting the center have to relinquish a nickel each.

Furniture and reading materials are contributed by parents and kids. Two student artists, Richard Salgado and Jeanne Flynn, have etched pencil drawings of an Indian chieftain carrying a maiden and a rock guitarist in action for display in Room 14.

Salgado's talent is also highlighted in the burst of an orange-gold sun spilling exuberantly from around the wallclock. The deep richness of a blue sky (paint contributed by a local merchant and work completed by student volunteers) provides the background to the sun's brilliance. Students also painted the other walls in the room.

"A Quiet Time," a skyscape with the faces of late rock innovators Janis Joplin and Jimi Hendrix thinly veiled in the skies, stares from one wall while another wall is graced with a Zodiac chart, reflecting students' sudden interest in horoscopes and predictions of the stars.

Cooperation and friendliness are the general rule for all entering Room 14.

"Everyone in the school is welcome. If a student is treated as an oddball on campus, he can not be treated as an oddball in here. We haven't had any incidents of stealing, fighting or bad attitudes in the room," Miss Sargent said.

Gripes between teachers and students are often arbitrated through the Student Center. The discussions about classroom disagreements can be open or private here, and usually eliminate defensiveness in both parties.

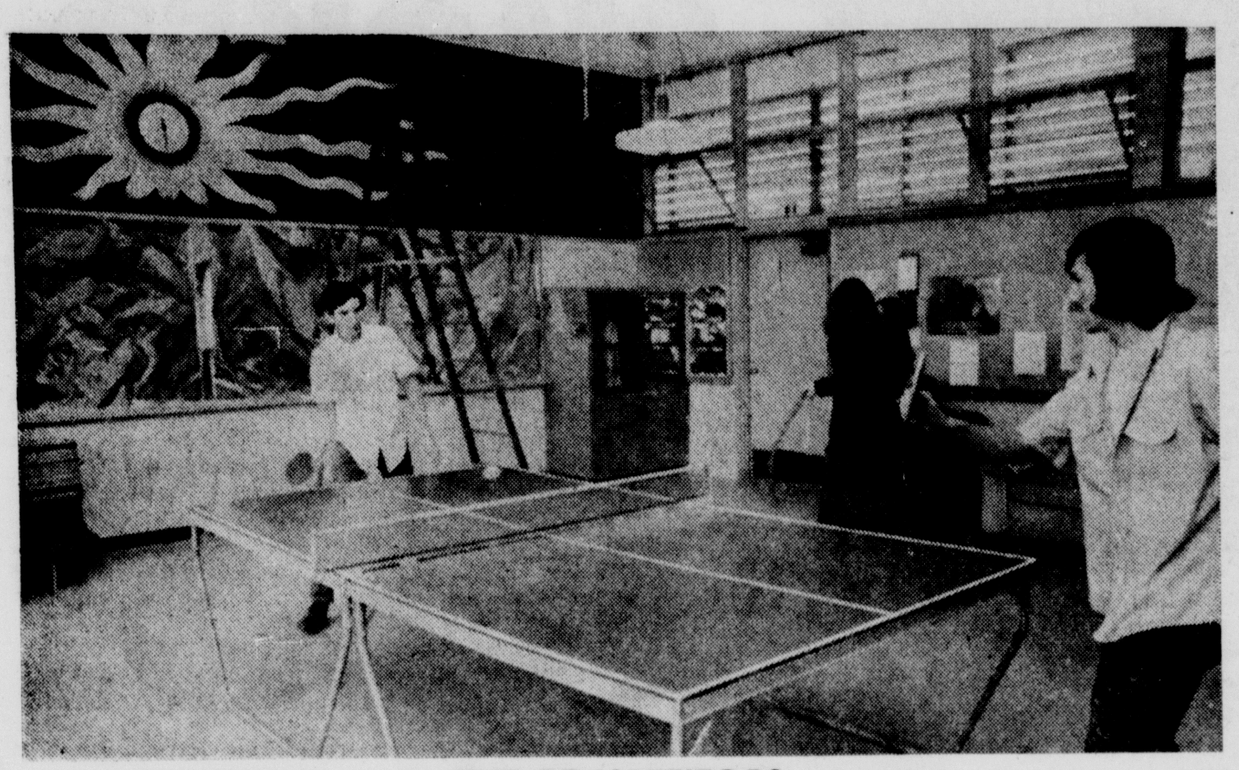
"This has brought a little understanding of what's happening and what needs to happen. It opens some minds," the coordinator continued.

Dr. Terry Terril, Chino High principal, regards Room 14 as a positive campus activity.

"The first idea was to give kids a place to go and it's done that. It's given kids a chance to talk out rather than act out. It additionally gives kids a chance to see teachers on a social level and creates a better understanding. They can now relate to one another on a personal level," Dr. Terril stated.

A poster with the words of Kahlil Gibran is the greatest evidence of what Room 14 is all about:

"And in the sweetness of friendship
Let there be laughter and the sharing of pleasures,
For in the dew of little things
The heart finds its morning and is reflected."



THE COMPETITORS

A MUSICAL TRIP

Jackie Sargent, left, coordinator of Room 14, and Christine Rodriguez, a Chino High senior, tune their minds into the music of rock stars on the cassette player. A pencil etching of a rock guitarist by Jeanne Flynn is on wall behind the two girls. The center is open 7:15 to 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. weekdays.

Montclair lodge taking charter memberships now

MONTCLAIR — With 128 applications already in, the new Montclair Moose Lodge is still accepting charter memberships reports Randy L. Bohse, membership director.

The institution ceremony for the new lodge is scheduled for noon Sunday, at the Moose Lodge, 10462 Benson Ave.

The instituting officer will be Ted Hardeman, regional director for the Moose. Guests of honor will include Johnnie James, deputy grand north Moose, Rudy Roehn, deputy supreme governor, Leo Ferrini, president of the California Moose Association, Matthew Kramer, president of the Foothill District, and Clarence Campbell Jr., past president of the Foothill District.

The lodge is an 85-year-old fraternal organization whose prime interest and purpose is the care of dependent children at Mooseheart, Ill., and care of the aged at Moosehaven, Fla. The organization is also active in civic affairs.

Following the institution ceremony, the new lodge will have a buffet and dance for its new members and their families.

Persons interested in joining the lodge may call Randy Bohse at 622-8844, 622-0690 or 629-9593.

Sheriff Bland says he'll run for sixth term

SAN BERNARDINO — Sheriff Frank Bland of San Bernardino County announced today he will be a candidate for re-election in the June primary race.

The sheriff, now ending his fifth 4-year term, is a former FBI special agent. The Veterans of Foreign Wars presented him with the J. Edgar Hoover Award last year as the outstanding peace officer in California.

Bland served during 1973 as chairman of the Tri-County Council on Criminal Justice and as chairman of the San Bernardino County Criminal Justice Planning Board.

He has been cited by the California Attorney General's Office for the formulation and execution of the mass raid technique in the enforcement of narcotic laws. The technique is now being used by law enforcement agencies in the United States.

Since his election in 1954, Bland has conducted 89 of these coordinated narcotic raids.

Bland's department has been recognized by state officials as one of the outstanding sheriff's offices of California's 58 counties.

Armed men rob Ontario Adult Book Store

ONTARIO — Two men, one armed with a .22-caliber revolver, robbed the Ontario Adult Book Store at 661 E. Holt Blvd. of a small amount of cash Tuesday, police reported.

The cashier Steve Moser, 23, at the adult book store said the two men walked to the counter and one produced the revolver and ordered him to hand over the cash from the register and from a small safe.

Moser said he gave the men the money and they fled.

Both men were described as Caucasians in their mid-20s. Moser said the gunman was about 6 feet tall, weighed about 140 pounds and had long shoulder-length hair wearing blue jeans and a work jacket with a dirty white T-shirt.

250 friends salute former Chino coach

CHINO — Some 250 friends paid tribute to Frank Elder, former Chino High School basketball coach, during a recent diner at the Los Serranos Country Club.

Tributes included resolutions from the San Bernardino County Board of Supervisors, the Chino City Council, the Chino school board, and the state Assembly.

Elder was also presented letters from Gov. Ronald Reagan, the Chino Chamber of Commerce and the California Interscholastic Federation, and a set of golf clubs from the Chino High School Booster Club.

Jim Rawls, baseball and football coach at Chino High School, reviewed Elder's coaching career. Charles Smith, a member of the Chino school board, served as master-of-ceremonies.

Elder, who also served as the city's recreation director, retired last summer. He now resides in Alta Loma.

Plaza Hostelrama will start Friday

MONTCLAIR — The San Gabriel Valley Council of American Youth Hostels will hold a "Hostelrama" Friday through Sunday at the Montclair Plaza.

This will include demonstrations on biking, ski and camping equipment, films and information booths. One film, taken by local members, is entitled "Bicyling the British Isles—'73."

Hostelrama hours will be Friday, 2 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.; and Sunday, noon to 5 p.m. Displays and films will be located near the clock tower.

Lockheed Aircraft promotes Chino man

ONTARIO — Bill Gatlin of Chino has been appointed Ontario base manager for the Lockheed Aircraft Service Co. located at Ontario International Airport.

He will replace Dennis Shea of Upland who was named director of manufacturing for the Lockheed-California Co. in Burbank.

Gatlin has been with LAS for 14 years and had served as manager of engineering. His former position will be filled by William Muller, previously assigned at the LAS base in New York as manager of engineering.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Cirrhosis of the liver, usually associated with high alcoholic consumption, afflicts more persons in San Francisco than any other city.

Ski tour classes offered in Ontario

ONTARIO — Beginning classes in ski touring will be offered by the City of Ontario's Recreation Division on Wednesdays from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Classes, which begin tonight, will be held at the Colony Park Community Center.

Class material will cover the uncomplicated equipment of ski touring and will deal with the preparation of skis and the techniques of skiing downhill, making turns, stopping and getting up after a fall.

The last portion of the class will cover relaxing on long tours and a chance to go on a short ski trip will be included.

Registration for the class is now under way at the recreation office, 217 S. Lemon St. Cost is $5 per person.

Program scheduled by reading center

ONTARIO — A presentation by the De Anza Reading Center staff will be featured at the meeting of the Community Advisory Council of De Anza Junior High School tonight at 7 in the reading center at the school.

The reading center's staff will seek to acquaint parents with the instruction programs in reading. Ann Glaser, project specialist, will make a slide presentation showing student participation in the center. Charlotte Larson, Rod Rodriguez and Gail Ziros, reading teachers, will demonstrate special programs of the center.

Church slates prayer service

CHINO — A prayer service for Christian unity will be sponsored by the Chino Ministerial Association Friday at 7:30 p.m. at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church.

Churches represented in the association will participate under the theme "Lord, Teach Us To Pray."

Committee members in charge of the service are the Rev. Stanley Creighton of the United Methodist Church of Chino and the Rev. Dominic De Pasquale of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church.

During the service Judge Philip Schaefer will speak on expressing faith in the community.

Fellowship will follow the service. An offering will be divided between the Neighborhood House and the Jericho House.

Serrano slates music workshop

MONTCLAIR — Jacquelyn Dillon, internationally known string and orchestra clinician and teacher, will conduct a two-day workshop for orchestra and band instrumental instructors at Serrano Junior High School on Thursday and Friday from 3:15 to 5:30 p.m.

The workshop will be one of active participation. Each participant is requested to take a violin, viola, cello or bass. Some instruments will be available at the school for those unable to provide their own.

Covering up on the tube

By ERMA BOMBECK

One of the high spots of my recent book tour was sharing a television show with the attractive editor of Playgirl magazine.

Now, getting the defender of centerfold nudity together with a woman who blindfolds her rubber duck is like getting an extra girl for the Pope.

The show got off to a yawning start when I was asked to discuss sex drives after 40.

"I think with the energy crisis we should all cut down on our drives and possibly get the limit down to 35. . .15 in school zones."

Some questions beg for flipness.

"Why are you ashamed of your body?"

"Because it is lumpy."

"What is your husband like?"

"He's just your average overdressed male."

"Do you have any basis for your prejudice against the male nude form?"

"Yes. As a child I once saw a half-clothed man sun himself on a wicker lounge for three hours. It was an awesome sight."

"Do you have less respect for a man who poses for a centerfold?"

"No. Maybe Fabian and Lyle Waggoner are sick of being just another pretty face."

"Housewives are our biggest purchasers of Playgirl. Would you say nudes are becoming the new national heroes?"

"I wouldn't be surprised. I gave up baseball players when they started chewing tobacco."

"Would you buy a nude poster for your utility room?"

"And take down my wall size mural of a chocolate eclair? You're kidding!"

It wasn't until we were three-quarters through the show that I realized my opponent was dead serious in her publishing endeavor. She was sincere that what this country needs is a bare behind on every coffee table in America. She talked of including more tuna recipes and quick gourmet dishes and seemed to regard me as a synthesis of housewives everywhere.

"I don't speak for the housewives of America," I said. "I speak for myself, a woman who picks up towels off the floor for a living and is trying to get parts for a 25-year-old marriage."

"And you are really repulsed by our magazine?"

"To the point of nausea," I said.

"That's interesting," she observed, "because our circulation figures are in the thousands and they continue to climb with each issue."

I shrugged, "There's just no accounting for the interest in new tuna recipes."

The doctor comments

Isometrics are okay for healthy person

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently I read that tensing the muscles is bad for the heart as it decreases the blood flow. I have been using isometric exercises for my legs as they are very thin, and I want to firm the muscles of my inner thighs. If this is bad for me, please let me know.

I have a cholesterol count of 330. I am very thin. My weight is 103 lbs. I'm 5-foot-3-inches tall, 60 years old, and my blood pressure is 120-70. I can't understand this high cholesterol count as I thought only obese people had that problem. My doctor does not have me on any medication. I am just supposed to watch my diet. Pam trying to gain weight, but the foods that are high in calories are also high in cholesterol. Is there a medication I can take that will lower my cholesterol?"

DEAR READER — First about isometric exercises or muscle tensing. A firmly contracted muscle, as occurs in squeezing the hand or holding the arm in a stiffened contracted state, will raise the blood pressure. In some people this can trigger off irregularities of the heart, too. These are usually of the harmless skipped beat variety. If a person had heart trouble, and particularly if they were prone to irregularities of the heart, or had high blood pressure, then I think isometric exercises might be harmful if overdone. Otherwise, in the reasonably healthy person I don't think they are really dangerous. They can be beneficial in building body strength and in developing muscles.

I prefer a combination of isometric and isotonic exercises. These are those that move the muscle through its range of motion while having it under tension. You can do this with the arm, bending and straightening the elbow while keeping the muscles partially contracted. In a similar fashion, you can work almost any muscle in the body.

While it is true that overeating and obesity are the most common causes of elevated cholesterol in our society, there are thin people who produce an excess amount of cholesterol. This problem is often more difficult to treat. There are medicines that can be used for this purpose. Most doctors usually like to try diet and weight control first. You can be eating a fairly low calorie diet and still have a high cholesterol intake. A couple of eggs don't have a lot of calories, but they contain 500 milligrams of cholesterol, far more than most heart specialists recommend.

It's not true that all high calorie foods are high in cholesterol. Sugar and margarine from vegetable oils contain no cholesterol. Margarine is high in fat, of course, and, too much fat in the diet stimulates the body to produce excess amounts of cholesterol.

The only weight gain I approve of is muscle weight. Added calories that result in fat are not conducive to optimal health. And, for a person with a cholesterol problem, it is a hazard.

You need a lot better diet instruction than you apparently have received. May I suggest that you go to the library and read my book "What You Need to Know About Food & Cooking for Health," published by Viking. It will give you all the information you need to plan a diet directed toward controlling your cholesterol level.

Intelligence of dolphins about that of child

MOSCOW (UPI) Two Soviet scientists say tests of dolphins show that they have the intelligence of the average six or seven-year-old child.

The scientists at the Moscow Institute of Biology Wednesday told the trade union newspaper Trud that dolphins are capable of many tasks requiring reasoning rather than reaction.

"Judging by their ability to solve tests, the dolphins are of the same level as a six or seven year old," the newspaper said.

A. Yabiokov and N. Krushinskaya said dolphins are capable of extrapolation, a basic indicator of higher intelligence. Extrapolation is the application of known values to an unknown situation.

The scientists said dolphins also have a highly developed sense of measurement and perspective and were able to perceive the size and shape of objects at first glance.

Who can top the top ten?

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Ever get the feeling thah your charisma is slipping? I do. Last week I received a cable from the British Home Secretary informing me that I was once again not on Queen Elizabeth's Honors List (actually his ludship stated rather frostily that one does not fill out an application blank for the list), and now a Gallup poll reveals that I am not in the Top Ten of America's most admired men.

Considering that the Top Ten includes Richard Nixon, George Wallace and Barry Goldwater, I think I'll be able to choke back my tears.

That Gallup. He provides more laughs than Bob Hope. He questioned 1,500 adults and came up with his remarkable conclusions for a nation of 220 million. Is that legal? Is it sociologically sound? Logicaly sound? One says that Nixon is the man most admired by Americans, and Gallup multiplies by 147,000 or so. Hope I wasn't one of that 147,000.

Nixon was No. 1 in the poll last year, but Henry Kissinger ousted him, and the Rev. Billy Graham also slipped passed the prexy. The conclusions are clear; what this nation wants most is world peace and evangelism.

Only six times since this in-depth survey of public opinion was started in 1946 has the President of the United States failed to be Numero Uno. Gallup must talk to 1,500 weirdos.

Following Kissinger, Graham and Nixon are Sen. Edward Kennedy, Vice President Ford, Gov. Wallace, Ralph Nader, Sen. Henry Jackson, Pope Paul VI and Goldwater. They are all, all honorable men.

Last year 1,500 adults considered Nixon the most admired man in the world, followed by Graham, Harry Truman, Kissinger, Kennedy, Wallace, Spiro T. Agnew (whatever became of him?), Pope Paul, Sen. George McGovern and West German Chancellor Willy Brandt.

(Some years ago a woman approached George Gallup after his speech and said, "How come none of your pollsters has ever interviewed me?" "Madom," said Gallup, "your chances of being interviewed by one of my poll takers are about the same as your chances being hit by lightning." She replied, "As a matter of fact, I HAVE been hit by lightning.")

If you have not been hit by Gallup OR lightning, make up your own list of the 10 most admired men in the world. We start, naturally with Archie Bunker, but after that the voting is close. Hank Aaron, of course, would be well up on the list, as well as Bob Dylan, Jim Murray, Judge John Sirica, Mickey Mantle, Marlon Brando and Bobby Riggs.

There would be a lot of votes for Walter Cronkite, probably, and Larry Csonka. I imagine 147,000 Americans think Dick Cavett is pretty groovey, s well as William Simon, Zubin Mehta, Pete Rose and Moshe Ryan. Would Joe Namath make your list? J. Paul Getty? How about Mao-Tse-tung? Andy Warhol? Jerry West? Peter Falk? John Wayne?

Make up your own list and send it to George Gallup. But leave my name off. I don't want to be struck by lightning.

Colonel's not chicken, asks $122.4 million in lawsuit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Col. and Mrs. Harland D. Sanders filed a $122.4 million damage suit recently in U.S. District Court against Heublein, the successor firm to Kentucky Fried Chicken Corp.

The Sander claim Heublein has interferred in their attempts to develop a franchise operation for a sit-down restaurant patterned after one already owned and operated by them near Shelbyville, Ky.

The Shelbyville restaurant is called "Claudia Sanders, The Colonel's Lady' dinner house."

Sanders also contends in the suit that Heublein is using his name, image and likeness in promoting products with which he was never connected, including pastries, bread and dairy products.

The use of his name is "causing the general public to erroneously believe that said products originate from and are the result of the quality control and supervision of, as well as have the personal endorsement of" Sanders, the suit alleges.

The suit stated that Heublein became the successor to Kentucky Fried Chicken in July 1971 at a cost in excess of $250 million.

The suit alleges Sanders agreed to help KFC promote two ventures in 1969 that failed.

Sanders asks $236,000 for breach of contract in the failure of "Kentucky Fried Chicken Roast Beef" and $150,000 for breach of contract in the failure of "Colonel Sanders' Inns."

The suit also asks that Sanders either be given his original stock back or be paid $15 million as a result of alleged violations of the agreement under which he sold his stock.

The Sanders ask $15 million damages on each of seven charges contained in the suit. An eighth charge is the one in which they ask either $15 million damages or the return of Sanders' original stock.

In addition, the Sanders seek compensatory damages of $1 million on each of the two breach-of-contract charges.

20% decline in traffic toll with 55 m.p.h. nationwide?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — When all states impose the nationwide 55-mile-an-hour speed limit, signed earlier this month by President Nixon as a fuel conserving measure, the highway accident death toll could be cut by as many as 6,000 persons a year, according to government officials.

The optimistic prediction was made recently by Dr. James B. Gregory, head of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration as he released a survey showing that in 16 states which voluntarily cut their speed limits, highway fatalities in November were down by as much as 20 per cent from the previous November.

According to Gregory, an analysis from 16 states which had voluntarily reduced highway speed limits in November showed "a drop in fatalities of 15 to 20 per cent below November, 1972."

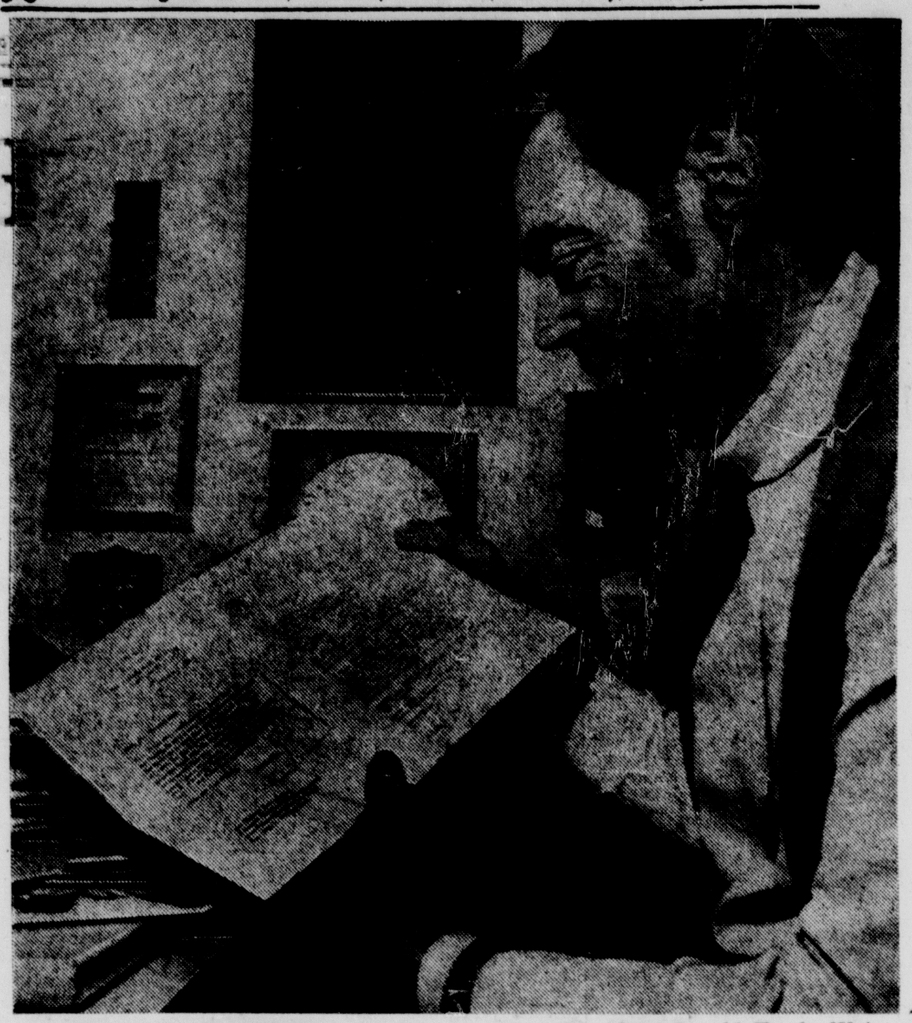
The 34 other states whose drivers were not legally required to cut highway speeds in November showed a decrease in fatalities of only 2 per cent.

"Assuming that all states pass and conscientiously enforce the reduced speed limits, we hope for as many as 6,000 fewer automobile" fatalities in 1974, Gregory said. In 1973, 57,000 Americans died in highway accidents.

But Gregory warned that this decrease in auto deaths could be offset because of increased use of "motorcycles and bicycles, a growth in small car usage, and the possible effects of car pooling."

He also pointed to "a significant reduction" in fatalities over Thanksgiving, Christmas, and New Year's holidays "as further evidence that the lower highway speeds and some reduction in highway travel are paying off in highway safety."

The private Insurance Institute for Highway Safety, meanwhile, said it would be premature to conclude the reduced holiday death toll was a side effect of the fuel shortage. It said such figures are "complicated because holidays are, by definition, not typical of other periods."



TARZAN REMEMBERED—Johnny Weissmuller, 69, Hollywood's most popular and durable Tarzan, got thousands of get-well letters since his release last week from a hospital in Las Vegas. Included were wishes from President Richard Nixon and Vice President Gerald Ford. Weissmuller fractured his hip last month while serving as host at a sports awards reception at Caesars Palace. He also received personal letters from Queen Elizabeth and fans in South America and Europe.

3 wiretaps authorized by Saxbe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attorney General William B. Saxbe has authorized three "national security" wiretaps since he took office little more than a week ago.

Saxbe, discussing the wiretaps Tuesday, said the requests were waiting for his approval when he took office on Jan. 4 and he thought three in one week was an unusually large number.

Public figures indicate the number has averaged close to two per week in recent years with 108 in 1972.

The wiretaps involve either espionage by foreign agents in this country or domestic activity in which there is either foreign financing or other foreign connection.

Saxbe did not disclose who requested the wiretaps—whether it was the State Department, FBI or other agency—but said he acted under broad authority the President gives the attorney general to authorize them.

Solzhenitsyn expects jail

PARIS (UPI) — Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn expects to be arrested for publishing his new book exposing the Soviet secret police and prison system, three French lawyers who visited him in Moscow said Friday.

"Solzhenitsyn told us, 'I will be tried. I am not afraid. I knew the risks. But I've lived a lot, I was in prison. I will carry on'," lawyer Jean-Michel Perard told a news conference.

UTICA, N.Y. (UPI) — Mayor Edward A. Hanna, who removed his office door three weeks ago to show that his administration was open to the public, had the door reinstalled Monday.

The door was removed shortly after Hanna was sworn in as mayor with the start of the new year. A former Republican assemblyman, he was elected as an independent in November.

Asked by reporters why the door was re-installed, Hanna cited two reasons: Politicians and newsmen.

Big splinter slams grand

By Oswald & James Jacoby

The splinter bid can be used by either partner. The only real problem in its use is to make sure that both partners understand what an unusual jump is. Specifically, it is defined as a bid in a new suit of one more than a normal forcing bid shows strong support for partner's last-bid suit and a singleton.

Thus North's jump to three hearts was a splinter bid. South had a rather minimum two-diamond response, but it looked to him as if he held the right cards so South cue bid to show his ace of hearts.

It happened that this was a rather new partnership. North worried a while that his partner might have forgotten their system and been raising hearts. Then he decided to trust his ace of clubs at the five level.

South's five notrump was the grand slam force. This modern bid was invented by the late Ely Culbertson way back in the 1930s. It was too advanced for that early day but has been put to use of late.

In this instance it asked North to bid seven if he held two of the top three diamond honors and North was more than glad to oblige.

The diamond grand slam might well have been reached without the use of these modern gadgets but the hand was played in a regional matchpoint tournament. Some players stopped at game in spades or notrump. One pair bid seven spades and came up one trick short. Others landed in successful small slams in spades or notrump and only a few reached the optimum diamond contract.

Woman counselor in a men's prison

By JOANNA FIRESTONE

IONIA, Mich. (UPI) — Letrish Dunbar would like to be a model. Instead, the 26-year-old former social worker and graduate of Western Michigan University is the first woman counselor in a Michigan men's prison.

A native Chicagoan, she was hired by the state Corrections Department last fall to lend an ear to troubles at the Michigan Training Unit (MTU), a medium security institution for felons under 24.

The grounds of MTU resemble a community college campus. There is no wall. Two high fences separate MTU's "students," as they are called, from the nearby farming community. There is a modern, well-equipped school building, a swimming pool and field house. Each young man has his own room with his own key.

Miss Dunbar said she was not aware MTU was a prison when she showed up for an interview last fall.

"I was working in a youth detention center as a social worker in Benton Harbor when I got a letter saying there was an opening for a counselor here," she said.

"I had no idea what the Michigan Training Unit was. And when I went in for the interview, I still didn't know it was a prison until I began talking with the deputy superintendent and saw the front gate bars.

"I had always wanted to work in a prison though, and the kids inside couldn't be any worse than those I had worked with in Benton Harbor so I decided to give it a try.

"I became too old and stiff to be a modern dancer and I didn't get around to being a stewardess, so I ended up here as a counselor. I would still like to try my hand at being a model.

"I never really thought about the possibility I could be molested. And I have had no threats or felt frightened. The students see me as an authority figure just like the men counselors and officers and don't ever try anything."

"Oh, I get cat calls and somebody will occasionally whistle or holler 'Hey Mama,' but when I turn around, you don't know where it came from."

Miss Dunbar is responsible for writing parole eligibility reports on the 120 men in her housing unit. She occasionally heads group counseling session, disciplinary courts and helps in personal and career counseling.

Coast Guard aids Japanese seaman

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Coast Guard cutter went to the aid of a badly injured Japanese seaman recently in the mid-Pacific Ocean.

The seaman, identified as Katsuhiko Masuoha, 29, was critically injured in a fall aboard the Toyota Maru midway between San Francisco and Honolulu.

The Coast Guard cutter Rush rendezvoused with the vessel and evacuated Masuoha after two corpsmen examined him.

S. B. County cities to open transit talks

CHINO — The first in a series of regional public meetings on a county transportation study will be held tonight at 7 at the Chino Community Building.

The study is being developed through the San Bernardino Associated Governments (SANBAG), composed of city and county officials.

The first session will be to explain the study, identify attitudes, consider transportation needs and to discuss goals, objectives and policies for developing an effective transportation system, said Wesley McDaniel, SANBAG's executive director.

Battle noted for generals

Though the Battle of Bull Run was a Union fiasco, no fewer than 63 Northern officers who saw action there were or would become generals. They included an infantry colonel named William Tecumseh Sherman and a 21-year-old cavalryman named George Armstrong Custer.

CHRISTIAN RETIREMENT CENTER UNDER CONSTRUCTION IN SAN DIMAS

The nation's finest facility for senior citizens is being built here in Southern California! All who are 65 or older are invited to apply for residency in the first unit—a board and care accommodation for those who are retired and who no longer want the burden of maintenance and care of their own home.

Remain active and creative in protected, secure surroundings. Be independent without being alone — privacy with dignity! Single or double occupancy. Delicious meals.

The park-like grounds include a lake and extensive gardens on 18 plus acres. Only two acres will be covered by buildings.

Applications are coming in every day and we expect to be filled by completion date of May, 1974. Write or call for free brochure.

Russians keep silent on U.S. Mideast role

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — Russia, keeping studied silence on the American peace effort in the Middle East, has reminded the Arab nations of the importance of their continuing cooperation with the Soviet Union.

Pravda, the Soviet Communist Party newspaper, in a terse weekend reference to the Middle East, spoke of "the significance of the Arab nations cooperation with the Soviet Union and other socialist countries."

Soviet affairs experts said today the reminder reflects Moscow's uneasiness over the success of U.S. Middle East policy and fear that Russia may be edged out of the area where the Kremlin has invested between $5 and $6 billion to secure a permanent and expanding foothold.

U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's Middle East moves and his achievements have not been discussed in the Soviet press or radio so far.

The Pravda review did not mention Kissinger's efforts at all. There has been only superficial reference, without comment on the Egyptian-Israeli disengagement agreement clinched under American guidance.

Some Communist diplomats have claimed that Kissinger is acting for Moscow as well as Washington in an apparent attempt to explain Soviet inactivity, but diplomatic reports from Moscow suggested uneasiness in the Kremlin over his success and the limelight American diplomacy is gaining.

Moscow has lately been increasingly worried over an apparent switch of Arab leaders away from Russia toward the United States. This applies in the first place to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, mistrusted by the Soviets since he expelled some 15,000 Soviet military personnel from Egypt in 1972.

Moscow also is worried about the growing role in Arab policy of King Feisal of Saudi Arabia, even though he has lately taken an anti-American stance.

Moscow was said to be making its presence felt all the more in Syria, while strengthening its position in Iraq and pushing toward the strategically important Persian Gulf area.

Eagle Rock man elected Shrine leader

LOS ANGELES — Marshall J. Wilkings, 52, Eagle Rock, has been elected potentate of Al Malaikah Shrine Temple.

Wilkings becomes leader of nearly 30,000 Shriners. He is the chief executive officer of the largest Shrine Temple in North America.

His jurisdiction includes 67 Shrine Clubs and 11 Shrine Temple units in eight California counties — Los Angeles, Ventura, San Bernardino, Orange, Santa Barbara, Kern, Riverside and San Luis Obispo.

He is a World War II Navy veteran. He joined the Highland Park Masonic Lodge in 1949 and received his Master Mason degree in 1950. He became a Shriner in 1955.

Lakers can't cool Cavs

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Bill Fitch is enjoying the turnaround.

In the first three years of the Cleveland Cavaliers, Fitch watched his club lose 10 out of 12 meetings with the Los Angeles Lakers.

But the Cavs—111-110 overtime winners here Tuesday night—have captured three out of four from the Lakers this season.

"Every dog has his day," smiled Fitch, Cleveland's general manager-coach. "Actually, we match up well against the Lakers."

Thirty-six-year-old Lenny Wilkens, the former Seattle player-coach in his second year with the Cavs, led the winners with 24 points and hit two free throws with 13 seconds to go to put his club in front 111-108.

He contributed three points as the Cavs collected the last five tallies of regulation play, knotting the score at 101-101 to send the game into overtime.

"We've lost too many games this season where we've blown big leads," lamented Bill Sharman, the Laker coach. "We're not moving too well and we're making too many turn-overs."

Cleveland's 17th win of the season—against 33 defeats— may have been costly, though.

Third-year pro Austin Carr suffered an ankle injury and hurt his hip while driving through the lane in the third period and had to leave the game.

Fitch said the 6-foot-4 former Notre Dame star would be reexamined today.

Carr and rookie center Luke Witte of Ohio State each had 17 points.

For Los Angeles, which had its Pacific Division lead over Golden State cut to two games, Jim Price scored 23 points while Gail Goodrich and Happy Hairston each collected 21. Hairston pulled down a game-high 24 rebounds.

Cleveland is at Phoenix tonight. The Cavs wind up a six-game road trip at Portland and Golden State this weekend.

The Lakers, who have lost two straight, are home against the Capital Bullets Friday night.

In other NBA games, Chicago defeated Atlanta 102-89, Buffalo rolled over Philadelphia 119-109, Kansas City-Omaha beat Portland 103-96, Golden State edged Capital 99-97 and Houston whipped New York 108-43.

Bob Love moved within eight points of the 10,000 mark with a 28-point game against Atlanta. Pete Maravich's game-high 30 points for the Hawks weren't enough as Chicago rallied from a 47-43 halftime deficit to beat Atlanta.

Jim McMillian scored 16 of his 32 points in the third quarter as Buffalo beat Philadelphia to move within three games of second-place New York in the Atlantic Division. Steve Mix led the with 27.

Nate Archibald, the NBA's 1972-73 scoring champion, had 31 points for KC-Omaha and Sam Lacey hauled in 20 rebounds against Portland as the Trail Blazers fell nine games under .500. Sidney Wicks paced Portland with 26 points.

A GRACEFUL TRY

Claremont High's Bruce Abraham (30) looks graceful in going after basketball but Garey's Dave Larry has upper hand in Vikings' stunning 74-52 win Tuesday. See story on C-3.

Vinci reaches third step

Andy Vinci, Cal Poly's new football coach, doesn't beat around the bush. He tells it like it is.

As Vinci says, there are three steps to take to accomplish something. First of all, you must define your goals. Then you must outline how you are going to reach them. And you must do it.

Vinci is now working on the third stage of his mission to pump some money and interest into Poly football.

He currently has two future assistants — Jud Bigelow and Tom Bowen — contacting business leaders in Pomona while three other aides are recruiting players in the San Joaquin Valley.

Vinci isn't a typical football coach. While he definitely feels the technical strategy of football is important, his first priority is financing and recruiting.

He outlined his needs at a gathering of the leaders of the Cal Poly Associates, the university's booster group, at a meeting last week.

To reach his goal of 55 full NCAA scholarships, Vinci says he needs to generate $71,000 into the program.

He intends to do it through the help of the Associates, a big car raffle and dinner, program advertising, season tickets and a Golden Cap Club for persons interested in financing one scholarship, which is valued at $1,700.

Magic number

"We're competing against Cal Poly San Luis Obispo," he says, "and it has 55 full scholarships. That's our magic number and I feel it is a realistic number."

"SLO is the school we have to point to," he continued. "That's our objective."

Vinci also claims he is going after top notch recruits, mostly from the junior college level.

"With the major colleges limited to 30 new scholarships a year now, all the good players can't be signed by them," the dynamic coach explained. "We're going after the same caliber of player that USC and UCLA are looking at. We're not going second class."

Vinci believes it will be easier to recruit for Poly than at the University of San Diego, his former employer. The biggest reason is Poly has an established football program while USD didn't.

"This is also a fantastic campus," Vinci added. "It's easy to sell this university. Our biggest problem is getting known. Our recruiters in the valley have gone places which Poly hasn't touched previously."

Like Vinci, Bigelow is a hustler. He is the type who could sell ice boxes to Eskimos.

His face is becoming familiar in Pomona businesses.

Reception agreement

"I have found our reception in Pomona to be agreeable," he said. "It's obvious business is down but this community has a chance to revitalize itself behind our football program. There is a need for a forceful element and for enthusiasm behind a common goal."

Poly must have a new stadium to ever realize any dreams of being a center of Pomona Valley football.

But Vinci isn't concerned about the facilities yet.

"First we must win," he said, "then think about a stadium. We want to fill our present stadium so much people will complain there is no place to sit."

Vinci will be starting spring practice on April 8.

"At 1 p.m. that day, we will hold tryouts for the entire student body," he added.

By that time, he hopes to have some funds coming into the program.

No instant millionaires in WFL plan

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sorry, David Jaynes, you're not going to get a million-dollar offer. Not even a half-million.

The World Football League gave Jaynes, the star Kansas quarterback, the honor of being the first player selected in the first six rounds of its first collegiate player draft Tuesday.

But for all intents and purposes, this was just a ceremonial draft. The real draft starts next Tuesday when the National Football League opens its 17-round draft.

Apparently, the WFL isn't planning a full-scale war with the NFL. They seem to be thinking more in the terms of a minor skirmish. The huge contracts that marked the old AFL-NFL war in the '60s don't seem to be what this league has in mind. If a player of Joe Namath's stature jumps leagues, he may get the kind of contract Bobby Hull got to jump to the WHA but collegians apparently aren't going to get that kind of money.

Although the WFL is going to compete directly with several NFL teams, Gary Davidson, the new league's president who also helped found the ABA and the WHA, said, "for example, we're not going to hurt the Bears in Chicago. If mismanagement doesn't hurt them, nothing will."

Bob Woolf, the sports attorney who represents 300 athletes including 85 football players, said, "I don't think you're going to see any of the $600,000 and $800,000 contracts. The teams are well funded but there aren't any guys like Lamar Hunt or Bud Adams among them."

The war between the AFL and NFL heated up in 1964 when Joe Namath got a $400,000 contract from the New York Jets. The prices kept going up until Donny Anderson had $711,000 from Green Bay and the AFL was ready to give John Brodie a million dollars to leave San Francisco. At this point in 1966, the leagues decided to merge.

As expected, the new league concentrated on quarterbacks and running backs as the first eight players selected play those positions.

Besides Jaynes the other players selected on the first round were: Boston — Gary Marangi, Boston College quarterback; Florida — Woody Green, Arizona St. running back; Toronto—Bo Matthews, Colorado running back; Birmingham — Wilbur Jackson, Alabama running back; New York—Mike Boryla, Stanford quarterback; Southern California — James McAlister, UCLA running back; Philadelphia—John Cappelletti, Penn State running back; Hawaii— Fred McNeil, UCLA linebacker; Chicago—Bill Kollar, Montana defensive lineman; Washington-Baltimore — Barty Smith, Richmond running back; Detroit—Paul Seals, Michigan tight end.

Globetrotters bid for Walton

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — A spokesman for the Harlem Globetrotters basketball team said Tuesday his group plans to enter the bidding war for UCLA center Bill Walton.

"Walton is worth millions to the Globetrotters because it would be their first integration," said Tex Harrison, a publicist for the touring all-black team.

"We would have to play in outdoor stadiums if we got Walton. We would have to play in the Astrodome (Houston), Soldier's Field (Chicago) and the Los Angeles Coliseum to accommodate the crowds.

"We know we will have to bid against the NBA and ABA, but we are ready, willing and able, and we are sincere."

Miller won't be missed in S.D.

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — Johnny Miller, bone tired and bedded down with a nagging head cold, is home in Napa, Calif., this week, much to the delight of his fellow touring pros.

"Naturally, no one is happy John isn't feeling well," said Ben Crenshaw after a tuneup round Tuesday for the $170,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open which starts Thursday. "But he is going so good that, if he were here, I'd have to bet he'd win again. John is having the kind of streak every one here dreams about. In some ways it's a shame he had to pass this week."

Miller's passing leaves the field in the Williams wide open, but if you have to pick a favorite, Crenshaw looks like the man to beat this week.

Crenshaw gave Miller, winner of the Crosby National Pro-Am and the Phoenix and Tucson opens on successive weeks this year, a strong run last Sunday before finishing second. He's played about as well as anyone on the tour outside of Miller and his cool, long game is ideally suited to Torrey Pines, the course over which they play the Williams.

Miller, Jerry Heard and Rod Funseth are the only players among this year's top 20 money winners missing from the Williams. The field also includes defending champion Bob Dickson, but no Jack Nicklaus, Lee Trevino and Arnold Palmer.

But the "young lions" are here in force along with hometown favorites Gene Littler, Billy Casper and Tommy and John Jacobs. Also such former San Diego winners as Bob Rosburg, Pete Brown and George Archer.

Crenshaw, who won $76,749 last year in just three events, is fourth on the 1974 money winner list, topped by Miller's $90,000. He has banked $17,412 and trails Grier Jones (20,531) and Lanny Wadkins ($19,832) as well as Miller.

Jones finished second to Miller in the rain-shortened, 54-hole Crosby and Wadkins was second to Miller in the Phoenix Open.

There are two courses at Torrey Pines but for the Williams event, which carries a winner's prize of $34,000, they have combined the two layouts into a par 72-course that many regard difficult, especially if the weather turns bad. That's because Torrey Pines fronts on the Pacific Ocean and wind often is a factor at this time of the year.

Chris Evert wins big in impressive debut

MISSION VIEJO, Calif. (UPI) — Chris Evert has made her maiden appearance in Southern California an impressive one.

The 19-year-old Fort Lauderdale, Fla., miss—seeded No. 1 in the $50,000 Virginia Slims women's pro tennis tournament here—routed Miami's Sally Greer 6-0, 6-2 Tuesday night.

She yielded only five points in the first set as she overwhelmed her rival with a blazing serve, a two-fisted backhand and a rifle-sharp forehand.

Miss Evert, who is the fiance of men's pro Jimmy Connors, lost to Billie Jean King in the finals of the Virginia Slims tournament at San Francisco last Sunday.

Mrs. King, 31, had trouble subduing 15-year-old Robin Tenney of Beverly Hills, Calif., the youngest girl on the tour, here Tuesday. The five-time Wimbledon champion is seeded second at Mission Viejo.

In other feature matches, fourth-seeded Nancy Gunter of Lake Livingston, Tex., beat Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., 6-4 7-6; No. 5 seed Rosemary Casals of San Francisco was a 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 winner over Czechslovakia's Martina Navratilova; No. 6 seed Francoise Durr of France routed Mimi Jausovec of Yugoslavia 6-3, 6-1, and seventh-seeded Kris Kemmer of San Diego topped Virginia Ruzici of Romania 6-3, 6-4.

Miss Evert faces Valerie Ziegenfuss of Mission Viejo and Mrs. King plays Glynis Coles of England today.

Washington businessmen set to make deal for Padres final

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Washington, D.C. group has announced the "good news" that it finally is ready to purchase the San Diego Padres, whether or not owner C. Arnholt Smith agrees.

The businessmen obtained an insurance policy Monday which attorney Stephen Danzansky said, "will provide satisfactory indemnification to us and the National League against an adverse judgment in the various law suits arising from the transfer of the Padres to Washington."

In a telegram to Smith, Joseph Danzansky, the grocery chain owner who heads the Washington group, hinted at legal action.

"We have good news and we hope you'll agree," he told Smith," proposing a meeting this week "to finalize the details of closing.

"We are trying desperately to avoid protracted and unpleasant litigation which would further compound your problems and those of the franchise."

The National League owners last Dec. 6 conditionally approved the Padres' sale to Danzansky's group for $12 million with indemnification one of the major terms that remained to be met. When the group failed to meet the terms by a Dec. 21 deadline, Smith told the league he had broken off negotiations with Danzansky. Smith's later decision to sell to a Los Angeles group headed by Marjorie Everett was rejected by the league owners.

Snake bitten 49ers fall

By United Press International

It's a season of heartbreak for Long Beach State's basketball team, which can't play in post-season tournaments and just missed its big opportunity to move up in the national ratings.

The ninth-ranked 49ers fell 54-52 at sixth-ranked Marquette Tuesday night as Long Beach led 27-23 at the half and 50-49 with 37 seconds to go.

That's when Maurice Lucas made a basket for the Warriors and Rick Aberegg of the 49ers then threw the ball away and drew a technical foul.

Marquette committed 11 turnovers while Long Beach was guilty of 31 errors. Glen McDonald and freshman Roscoe Pondexter had 15 for the losers, now 12-2.

The NCAA has declared Long Beach State ineligible for post-season playoffs because of alleged recruiting violations so that now surprising Fresno State would appear to be the team most likely to represent the PCAA.

The Bulldogs ran their record to 11-2 Tuesday night with a 60-58 double overtime win at Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo, which had won eight of its previous nine. Reserve Pat O'Leary hit the 22-foot jumper that won it with one second to go in the second extra stanza while Pinky Williams of SLO and Roy Jones of the winners each scored 20.

But another tough PCAA team, UOP, ran its record to 10-4 with a 76-63 victory over Santa Clara. John Errecart had 21 for the Tigers while Glen Hubbard had 15 for the Broncs, now 6-10.

In other action, Seattle Pacific won one and lost one. They edged Central Washington 58-57 when Don Dehart sank two free throws with 19 seconds to go but lost their wallets, watches and jewelry to thieves who sawed the locks off their lockers.

Loyola snapped a seven-game losing streak with a 69-59 victory over San Diego State as Paul Sunderland and Scott Kay paced Loyola with 14 and 13 points respectively.

U.S. International made it 11 wins in a row with a 52-40 win over Redlands, while another small school giant, Azusa, got 50 points from Rick Reed and Dennis Vanzant in a 104-70 win over Pacific Christian.

Cal Lutheran outscored Life as Garl Bowman of the winners and Byron Peden of the losers each hit 30. Bill Rockweed's 18-foot jumper with three seconds to go gave Laverne the 67-65 nod over Claremont. Stan Washington scored 19 to pace San Diego to a 61-55 nonconference win over Cal Poly. Western Washington fought back from a 40-33 halftime deficit to down Simon Fraser 49-44 for its eighth win in its last 10 games.

San Jose State is at UC Santa Barbara tonight.

Kings battling for playoffs

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Six weeks after trading away defenseman Gilles Marotte and penalty killer Real Lemieux to the New York Rangers for Mike Murphy, Tom Williams and Sheldon Kannegiesser, the Los Angeles Kings find themselves battling for an NHL playoff berth.

Before the Dec. 1 trade, the Kings were 5-15-3 and in last place in the Western Division. Since the deal, they're 10-8-4 and in fifth place.

They host the Minnesota North Stars tonight and a victory could move them past the North Stars into fourth in the division.

On Thursday night, the Kings are at home against the Philadelphia Flyers, who lead the NHL West.

Kovach selected for third time

POMONA — For the third time this basketball season, Chaffey College's Bob Kovach was selected the Junior College Player of the Week for scoring 19 points to lead the Panthers past Palomar, 87-69.

La Verne College center Bill Rockwood was selected the College Player of the Week for scoring 37 points in the Leopards' loss to Redlands and win over Pomona-Pitzer.

Broncs lose again in familiar pattern

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

POMONA — Cal Poly's basketball situation is in sad shape these days.

The Broncos put on another dismal performance Tuesday night in dropping a 61-55 decision to the University of San Diego and the small turnout at Kellogg Gym reflects the current apathy on the campus and in the community.

It was Poly's fifth loss in six games to drop the season record to 6-11. With only three of the final nine games at home, the road ahead looks mighty tough for the Broncos. But there isn't much of a home court advantage at Poly anyway.

Tuesday's loss was in the same, all-too-familiar pattern. The visiting Toreros spurted to a seven-point advantage (31-24) at halftime and held off a last-minute Poly Rally to up their season mark to 9-7.

Don Hogan Poly's head coach, is having a rough time in his rookie campaign as the Bronco mentor. But he knew he could be in trouble this season when he accepted the job last May. Most of last year's top talent either graduated or left when Dan Ayala departed and there was little time to recruit new faces.

"No, we didn't play any better tonight," Hogan said after the loss. "We still aren't playing with any intensity. Little things have crept into it. I don't think we are getting 100 per cent effort from anybody."

Individually, Poly has been hurt by the sudden lack of points and rebounds from 6-9 senior Lee Roy Williams.

The big man, who set a CCAA record with 33 rebounds in a game earlier this season, has scored only 20 points and grabbed 29 rebounds in Poly's last five games, a far cry from his season averages of 1.4 and 9.9 respectively.

While Lee Roy contributed only seven rebounds and two points Tuesday, the production wasn't any better from Horace Aubrey, the season's top scorer. Aubrey scored eight points in making only four of his 14 shots.

Newcomer Paul Newton led the Broncos with 14 points (6-of-12) and six rebounds while Richard Reid came off the bench to tally 12 in connecting on five of nine shots.

Guard Stan Washington became San Diego's all-time career scorer by tallying 19 to lead the Toreros to raise his total to 1,240.

The Toreros built up a 61-49 lead before Poly cut the final margin by scoring six consecutive points in the final minute.

Poly got some encouraging news for the future in the preliminary game when Garey High product Kenny Clark scored 23 points and grabbed 18 rebounds to help lead the Poly junior varsity to a 76-70 win over United States International University.

The Broncos return to action Friday night at Cal State Los Angeles, a team with a four-game winning streak.

Stags claim NAIA title

CLAREMONT — Claremont Men's College came in first place in the NAIA District Three Marathon Championships, recently, at Mission Bay in San Diego.

The Stags had a combined total of 12 points to win the event followed by Southern California College (13 points) and Fresno with 20 points.

Wayne Akiyama paced the locals with a record place overall effort in two hours, 28 minutes and 36 seconds. John Lehman ran ninth in a time of 2:40:22 and Steve Rodriguez was 12th in 2:45:11.

'Hens attempt to stop Poets; start winnnig

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — Pomona-Pitzer will be out to snap a two-game losing streak tonight when the Sagehens host defending conference champion Whittier.

The Sagehens, 2-2, were unimpressive in losses to Occidental (67-57) and La Verne (62-51). Meanwhile, the Poets (3-0) were rolling over Claremont-Mudd 98-78 and Caltech 98-55.

A puzzled coach Les Nagler was at a loss as to why his team suddenly lost its enthusiasm and spirit. The difference, notciable during the Oxy game, was pronounced in the game with La Verne.

"The only thing I can think of," he reasoned, is that it's the end of the semester and the players are all preparing for exams. We took a day off after the Oxy game just so they could concentrate on their studies."

The 'Hens had better be able to concentrate on basketball tonight if they are to avoid annihilation.

Whittier is led by three all-conference returnees, guards Al Hardin and Jack Smoot, and forward-center Bernie Hoskins.

Smoot and Hardin are called the best pair of guards in the district. The 6-0, 170-pound Hardin is leading conference scorers. Through 14 games, he is averaging 18.1 points per game. Forward Paul Caldwell is second with a 17-point average, and Smoot is fourth, behind Geoff Northrop of the Hens with a 16 points per game average.

Leos' waiting pays off; Rockwood wins game

By DON BRADLEY
P-B Staff Writer

CLAREMONT — La Verne College is playing a waiting game and making it pay off.

The Leopards took 22 fewer shots than Claremont-Mudd Tuesday night in the Stag's gym. But the bulk of the shots were good percentage chances. They also survived 20 turnovers to C-M's 11.

As a result, the Leos adged the Stags 67-65 on Bill Rockwood's jumper with just three seconds left in the game. Rockwood led both teams in scoring with 23 points on seven field goals and nine of 11 free throws.

The victory gives the Leopards sole possession (until tonight's games) of third place in the conference with a 3-2 mark. Claremont-Mudd now is 1-5.

"They (the Stags) hung in there tough," remarked coach Art Bias of La Verne. "But I'm impressed with the way we kept going when they were after us late in the game. I think Rockwood wanted to show them that his Player of the Week award was no fluke."

Rockwood was voted Player of the Week by Valley coaches and writers for his work last week.

For Ted Ducey and his Stags, it was another frustrating evening. Any one of three different things could have been said to have made the difference.

In order they were (1) a start that was slower than 40-weight oil in zero temperature. The game was exactly four minutes old before Dan Dominguez scored the first C-M points; (2) a disparity in free throws which saw La Verne sink 15 of 17 charity tosses while the Stags got only three of eight; and (3) field goal shooting percentages. La Verne wound up with 26 of 47 (55.3) to C-M's 31 of 69 (44.9).

La Verne now has taken fewer shots in each of its last two games. Against Pomona-Pitzer Saturday, the Leos hit on 25 of 49 field goal attempts while the Sagehens took 51 shots but made only 23.

Reserve Dave Waterhouse had another fine game. Coming off the bench, Waterhouse scored six points in the first half and 14 in the second to lead the Stags with 20 points. He had 15 in Saturday's upset of Redlands.

La Verne will shoot for its third straight Saturday night when the Leopards host defending champion Whittier at Bonita High. Claremont-Mudd now takes its semester break and is off until February 7 when the Stags travel to Southern Utah.

APC coasts to 15th win

ANAHEIM -- Azusa Pacific built up a 48-32 halftime lead and then rolled to an easy 104-70 victory over Pacific Christian College Tuesday night at Servite High.

Rick Reed scored 28 points and Dennis Vanzant added 20 before fouling out. Mike Leatherby scored 14 points and grabbed 18 rebounds.

"Reed scored well in the first half and Leatherby and Vanzant scored well in the second," commented coach Cliff Hamlow. "(Mike Leatherby played a real fine game all around."

The Cougars, now 15-3, travel to Biola Saturday night.

Young Vikings surprise 'Pack

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

POMONA — The Vikings are back.

The Garey High Vikings, that is.

Coach Mike Wells' defending San Antonio League basketball champions pulled one of the biggest upsets of the season Tuesday afternoon and jumped right back into this year's race for the SAL crown.

The Vikings, sporting the youngest team in the league this year, stunned Claremont in the Garey gym by an impressive 74-52 margin. Claremont had been ranked third last week in the CIF 3-A ratings and had only lost twice all season.

With its 22-point victory over the highly-ranked Wolfpack, Garey climbs into a tie for third place in the standings and is right in the thick of the league race again.

"We changed our offense, and we were playing two different kinds of defense," stated Wells after the surprising victory. "I don't think they (Claremont) were ready when we switched our defense.

"When Billy Evans is 'on', the team is 'on'," added the Viking skipper. "And he was shooting today. When he gets hot from the outside, the opponents have to come out after him. That leaves the inside open for his passes underneath.

"I think a big factor in the game was that we were able to keep Bruce Abraham (Claremont center) out from underneath the basket. Both Delbert McDonald and Gary Carpenter did a good job, and Steve Bailey turned in a great game," Wells injected.

All four players he mentioned tallied in double figures for the Vikings, with Evans, McDonald and Carpenter dumping 18 points apiece and Bailey contributing 15 as a reserve.

The Vikings got off to a slow start against Claremont, but before the first eight minutes of play were over they had taken an eight-point lead over the punchless 'Pack.

Claremont battled back, as expected, and regained the lead halfway through the second period, 21-20. But that lead was short-lived.

Bailey started dominating the area underneath the boards and dumped in the next two buckets of the game to throw the Vikings into a three-point lead. A moment later, Evans scored to put the defending champs on top by six.

By the time the buzzer had ended the initial 16 minutes of play, the Vikings were still ahead by four, 30-26.

But the rout really didn't begin to form until midway through the first quarter.

Garey boosted its lead to nine, 43-34, on Evans free throws with 3:40 remaining in later, McDonald's field goal the quarter.

Cavs remain in 2nd place with big win

By SCOTT POINDEXTER
P-B Correspondent

MONTCLAIR — Coach Ed Taylor of Pomona High would have loved to have thrown out the first quarter of his team's game against the Montclair Cavaliers Tuesday afternoon in San Antonio League play. The Red Devils were held to only two points while the Cavaliers put in 18, and in the end it was Montclair 62, Pomona 47.

Mark Gosswiller led the Montclair attack both in the first period and in the game. Gosswiller had 10 of his 18 total points in that opening period.

The Cavaliers jumped out into an 8-0 lead seemingly before Pomona started to play.

Jerome Holliman was the lucky Red Devil that scored their only first-period basket on a loose ball that happened to land in his hands. Holliman ended up as the only other player in the game to reach double figures, getting 16 points. At one point he hit five straight baskets, all from the baseline.

Pomona began to make a game of it in the second period, scoring 13 points while the Cavs were putting in 14. Sam Davis came off the Pomona bench to put in seven points, all the points he scored in the game.

Halftime was a blessed relief for the Red Devils, and they used it to their advantage. Holliman started hitting from the baseline and, with help from John Weiman, started to close the gap.

Montclair was held to only 11 points, while Pomona was putting in 14, not enough though to offset the first quarter.

The Red Devils began to really close the margin in the fourth and final period, but the dormant Montclair free throw shooting woke up to save the Cavaliers.

Before the final period, Gosswiller and the team had shot 7 of 14 from the line, yet finished up hitting seven of 10 in the quarter. Gosswiller had been two of seven and then put in two clutch freebies to keep the Red Devils out of range. Pomona had closed the gap to a mere 10 points, the closest point since the opening period.

Friday night, Pomona visits Chino, while Montclair fights to retain sole possession of second place by taking on Claremont at Montclair.

Giants live up to name, rip Scots

By GRAHAM CROWE
P-B Correspondent

POMONA —The trouble with the nicknames of most schools is that if their teams played up to their nicknames most schools would be in for long athletic years.

Would you really like to see a team play like Poets? Or sinking baskets like Cowboys? Spartans and Romans might put on a great orgy, but dribble? Never!

There is one team in the San Antonio League which is playing up to its nickname, however, and Upland High got a good look at the mighty Giants from Ganesha Tuesday afternoon in the "Land of the Giants."

The final score was 96-67 in Ganesha's favor and both coaches generally agreed that if Ganesha plays the way it did against the Highlanders, there very well might be a team to go undefeated in the SAL.

Ganesha's (5-0) Gary Fulkerson said, "The first half was probably our best hustling half bf the year. We were a little tight at the beginning but our defense was great throughout."

Upland's (1-4) Paul Trautwein saw it this way. "They (Ganesha) looked pretty good, didn't they? They were making some excellent, tough shots and it wasn't just one person but three or four."

The three or four that Trautwein directed his comments to were Cleve Porter, Broderick Hunter, Earl Wilson and Mike Hall.

Porter, the Giants' All-CIF center, equalled his season high with 31 points while Hunter was two points shy of his season best with 2.

Wilson used a variety of twisting layups and outside jumpers to run up 19 points while Hall connected on four long range bombs while playing only for a few minutes in the second half.

If someone had seen only the first three minutes of action, he never would have believed that Ganesha was capable of scoring 96 points, let alone defeating Upland.

Before Fulkerson called timeout to regroup his forces with just over three minutes gone, the Highlanders led 4-2 as Ganesha had committed seven turnovers and taken just two shots compared to Upland's 10 attempts.

It was the Highlanders' failure to hit in the early going that kept Ganesha out of trouble. If Upland had been able to sink even half its shots in the early going, the whole game might have been different as Ganesha would have found itself trailing by 10 instead of just one basket.

Curt Oldenkamp, Upland's all-league candidate, was bottled up in the first half against Hunter and scored just six points. But when the big Giant got into foul trouble, Fulkerson switched Hunter off Oldenkamp and the Scot guard quickly scored 15 in the third period. He finished with 24 before fouling out and has now hit in double figures every game, with a season low of 13.

Ganesha, which shot a torrid 56 per cent from the field, travels to last-place Damien Friday night while Upland must improve on Tuesday's 39 per cent performance when hosting Garey Friday.

Price, Lopez box Thursday

LOS ANGELES — Unbeaten Andy 'The Hawk' Price, 14-0-2, will headline Thursday night's 10 round main event card at the Olympic against Tijuana's Julio Lopez, 22-7, in a junior welterweight bout.

This match replaces the bout that was to have no. 3 world lightweight, unbeaten Jimmy Heair, 34-0, fight Lopez. Heair had to withdraw from the match when he suffered a nose injury.

Smith, Hairston lead Chino rout

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Staff Writer

CHINO — A loss can play a psychological role on a basketball team. Chino High was beaten by Montclair last Friday and either the defeat did something to the Cowboys or coach Bob Elder did.

Forward Tim Smith and guard Bob Hairston combined for 56 points Tuesday afternoon as Chino easily defeated hapless Damien, 96-51.

Smith poured in 32 points and grabbed 14 rebounds while Hairston tossed in 24 points as the Cowboys shot 63 per cent from the field, connecting on 41 of 65 attempts.

The Cowboys, who enjoyed a four-inch average height advantage per man, scored at will from close range as Smith hit 13 of 15 field goal attempts on shots ranging from five to eight feet away. Hairston used his 6-foot-3 frame to maneuver the baselines, enjoying a 12 for 16 shooting performance.

In fact, entering the final eight minutes of play and leading 75-39, Elder's club had a combined team shooting percentage of 74, hitting on 33 of 46 shots.

Chino is now 3-2 in San Antonio League play and 12-3 overall while the Spartans are yet to win a league game after five tries and have won just four of 15 games for the season.

The Cowboys jumped out to a 6-0 lead before Damien got off its first field goal attempt and a 10-0 lead before Cornell Kasbergen made two free throws to put the Spartans on the scoreboard.

Smith then tossed in six of Chino's nest eight points before John Pignotti connected on a field goal and a pair of charities to make it 18-6 with 2:20 left in the first quarter.

Dirk Story, who finished with eight points and five caroms, hit a field goal and Hairston added a two-pointer to lead Chino to a 22-8 advantage after a period.

Smith tossed in 10 while Hairston accounted for six in the stanza.

Smith gunned in 12 points while Mark Milton tallied six of his eight points in the second quarter as the Cowboys led 49-21 at the half.

Smith and Hairston highlighted the scoring in the third period with eight and 12, respectively, as the lead mounted to 75-39.

Elder was pleased with his teams defensive play as the Spartans were held to just 20 field goals in 58 tries, 37.9 per cent.

Elder replaced his starters with 5:53 left in the game and leading, 81-41. Reserve forward Jim Love responded with nine points with Keith Mundee adding six and Hector LaMarque contributing four.

Wilson's jumper gives Webb 48-47 victory

Mark Wilson hit a jump shot with 20 seconds left in the game to pace Webb School to an exciting 48-47 victory over Aquinas Tuesday afternoon in Arrowhead League play.

Webb, going into the final quarter trailing by four points, 36-32, tied the game at 40-all and then Wilson put the Gauls ahead with a field goal. The lead then changed hands three more times before Wilson, who scored 19 points in the game, dumped in the game-winning basket.

Webb guard John Baer (14) and Bob Wright (10) were the only other Gauls able to score more than two points in the game.

Aquinas was led by Jim Moffatt's and Derek Roberson's 12 points each.

The Gauls are now 2-1 in Arrowhead action and 4-7 on the season.

Over in the Citrus Belt League, Chaffey remained in contention for the league title with a 70-63 victory over Fontana.

Tiger guard Make Partington tied a school record in the game when he was credited with 10 assists. He also scored 12 points for the visitors.

Guard Mark McQuaid and center Harley Stark led the Chaffey offense with 17 points each, while forward Ray Mendoza added 11.

Both teams played evenly in the first half, with Fontana holding a slim five-point advantage, 37-32, going into the locker room.

But Chaffey, paced by McQuaid's six points and Stark's and Partington's four each, took over in the third period and never fell behind again.

The closest Fontana got was three points in the fourth period, but the Tigers slowly pulled away to win it.

Chaffey is now 3-2 in CBL play and 10-6 overall.

Sports news in brief

IN A MOVE to strengthen the Kentucky Colonels for their stretch drive, the club Tuesday announced the signing of 6-10 Jim Bradley, the nation's third leading rebounder at Northern Illinois last season.

WASHINGTON REDSKINS' coach George Allen reports he has had a "visit" with former Notre Dame star quarterback Joe Theismann about the possibility of his playing with the Redskins. Theismann's contract with Toronto in the Canadian Football League has expired.

THE PITTSBURGH PANTHERS, who have won 14 in a row after an opening loss to West Virginia, now owns college basketball's longest win streak after the demise of UCLA. But Pitt fans aren't rallying around the flag just yet.

SEVENTH-SEEDED Jan Kodes of Czechoslavakia held off a stern challenge from American Dick Stockton Tuesday to advance in the $100,000 U.S. Pro Indoor Tennis Championships at Philadelphia. Kodes rallied to win 4-6, 7-6, 6-4. Fourth-seeded Stan Smith of the United States and 13th-seeded Roger Taylor of Great Britain were upset victims.

MAXIE BAUGHAN, defensive football coach of Georgia Tech the past two years, was hired Tuesday by the New York Giants of the National Football League to be in charge of the defense.

SEVEN-FOOT CENTER STEVE MANKER, a freshman member of the University of Oregon basketball team, has apparently dropped out of school, athletic officials said Tuesday. Manker, who formerly played at La Habra High, has expressed unhappiness that he has not been seeing more playing time. His brother, Bob Manker, is playing at Orange Coast College.

Dodgers, Troy in exhibition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will play a five-inning exhibition with defending NCAA baseball champion University of Southern California Feb. 17.

Maury Wills is in charge of the Dodgers' workouts this winter and is being assisted by minor league pitching instructor Ron Perranoski and scout Gail Henley. Parking and admission to the Dodger-USC game will be free of charge.

Aeros beat Sharks on two final period goals

HOUSTON (UPI) — Larry Lund and Mark Howe scored final period goals to boost the Houston Aeros to a 3-1 win over the Los Angeles Sharks Tuesday night.

Frank Hughes jumped the Aeros ahead 1-0 with a goal at 5:53 of the first period on assists by Lund and Andre Hinse.

The second period was scoreless. Then Lund popped in his 16th goal of the season at 6:25 of the third period to make the score 2-0.

Gary Veneruzo scored Los Angeles' only goal at 13:40 to narrow the margin to 2-1, but Howe iced the game four minutes later with his 22nd goal of the year.

By giving up only one goal, Aero goaltender Don McLeod grabbed the best goals against percentage of the World Hockey Association with a 2.62 average.

Garey High Boosters provide help

POMONA — After two years of being without one, Garey High once again has an athletic booster club.

The club, under the leadership of president Pete Roque and vice president Irving Clark, was formed at the beginning of this year after it had desolved two years ago.

The new club provides sandwiches and soft drinks for the Garey athletic teams after the events, along with attempting to help out underprivileged athletes with athletic expenses.

President Roque indicated that there area bout 30 to 35 members in the club with about a dozen of those considered active members.

"Right now it's just getting off the ground," said vice president Clark. "I hope we can get it going now."

Wrestlers enter third week

San Antonio League wrestling action will go into its third week Thursday, and some interesting matches are on tap.

The two Pomona schools, Garey and Ganesha, go against powerful foes. Garey High will travel to Chino to take on the always strong Cowboys, while winless Ganesha has the task of trying to unseat SAL kingpins Upland.

Thursday's other match should provide more suspense, as Claremont tackles a surprising Montclair squad. The Cavaliers are undefeated at this point in league action, while Claremont has been something of a disappointment. The Wolfpack has the material however, and this matchup could be a real close one.

Several individual standouts are developing as SAL action continues. In particular, the 114-pound class ought to be hotly contested at the league finals, as Garey's Sergio Godoy, Chino's Larry Imbach, Upland's Bill Glasheen, and Montclair's Paul Tuscher all populate that division.

NHL's D.C. entry named 'Capitals'

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — Washington D.C.'s new National Hockey League team will be known as the "Capitals."

Old pros added to NHL all-star list

CHICAGO (UPI) — Some high-scoring veterans of previous National Hockey League All-Star games were included in the list of additional players picked by coaches of the East and West divisions Tuesday to round out their squads for the Jan. 29 All-Star game.

Scotty Bowman of the Montreal Canadiens, coach of the East, included left wing Frank Mahovlich of the Canadiens among his eight picks. Mahovlich has the second highest point total in All-Star game history with 12.

West Coach Billy Reay of the Chicago Black Hawks included from his own Windy City club three other veterans of All-Star play, centers Stan Mikita and Pit Martin and right winger Jim Pappin.

Reay's other choices were defensemen Barclay Plager of St. Louis and Joe Watson of Philadelphia and center Garry Unger of St. Louis and left wingers Joey Johnston of California and Bob Berry of Los Angeles.

Besides Mahovlich, Bowman chose defensemen Dallas Smith of Boston and Denis Potvin of the New York Islanders, centers Gil Perreault of Buffalo and Jacques Lemaire of Montreal, left wing Ed Westfall of the Islanders and right wingers Bobby Schmautz of Vancouver and Mickey Redmond of Detroit.

Mahovlich has played in 14 games, the highest number of the 40 players who will make up the two squads.

Newcomers to All-Star play are Potvin, Redmond, and Wayne Cashman of Boston on the East team and on the West squad Don Awrey of St. Louis, Dave Burrows of Pittsburgh, Joe Watson of Philadelphia, Dennis Hextall of Minnesota and Al McDonough of Atlanta.

Ali's hands okay for Frazier bout--Dundee

DEER LAKE, Pa. (UPI) — Angelo Dundee denied rumors Tuesday that Muhammad Ali had done very little sparring in an effort to protect tender hands for his Monday night fight with Joe Frazier.

"That's just not so," Ali's trainer said. "He's gone 200 rounds" with his sparring partners.

"There are a lot of rumors around, but that doesn't make any difference to us," Dundee added. "Let 'em believe what they want.

"He is in the best shape of his career. He conditioned for this fight like he was 21."

Dundee said Ali shadow boxed eight fast rounds Tuesday and will travel to New York today for his pre-fight physical. The trainer said the former heavyweight champion will work out Thursday and Friday and will break camp Saturday morning.

He said he expects Ali to weigh 210 pounds for the bout at Madison Square Garden.

"I'm in the best shape of my career," Ali said Tuesday. "Those who have any doubts, just come out and see me box."

Drivers hoping for dry Saturday

RIVERSIDE — Bobby Allison, Richard Petty, Hershel McGriff and 26 other stock car drivers will be following a small Porsche pace car when the Winston Western 500 resumes at noon this Saturday at Riverside International Raceway.

Allison had a slim three-second lead over Petty when the season's first major race was stopped after 63 laps last Sunday because of rain. Another 335 miles remain to be run with 29 of the original 35 cars still in competition.

"It's a brand new race now," Allison says. "Most of the top drivers are still bunched together so it will be like starting at the beginning."

There were seven cars running on the same lap when the race was stopped. Behind Allison, Petty and Pearson were Hershel McGriff, Jimmy Insolo, Benny Parsons and Cale Yarborough.

Four other drivers were just a lap down and could get back on the leader's lap during pit stops that are expected immediately after the restart Saturday.

They include Gary Bettenhausen (Matador) Donnie Allison, Richie Panch and Jack McCoy.

The only serious contender who retired from the race before it was postponed is former West Coast champion Ray Elder.

NASCAR officials first showed the yellow caution flag on lap 60 when sprinkles made the track too slick to race on. After five more laps, they stopped the field and most of the 44,000 spectators went to their cars hoping for the weather to clear.

It didn't and two hours later, the race was postponed until this Saturday at noon.

The first 60 laps of the Winston Western 500 were among the most competitive in the race's 12-year history. There were eight lead changes among four different drivers.

Allison, in a 1974 Chevelle, led most of the way, but he was losing time to Petty's Dodge and Pearson's Mercury when the rains came.

This is the fourth time that the 500 has been interrupted by weather. In 1967, it was postponed a week after 50 laps because of rain. In 1969, it was twice rain-postponed without a start and in 1972, fog shortened it to 390 miles.

The 29 cars stopped Sunday were impounded in the Raceway garage where they will be secured until Friday afternoon. At that time, two mechanics from each team willl be allowed to change sparkplugs and reconnect battery cables, but nothing else.

The cars will be brought out on the track in the order they were running when the race was stopped and they will start at noon under the yellow flag.

Officials say there will probably be three or four caution laps while drivers check their brakes and tires before resuming race speed.

A.J. Foyt thinking about retirement

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Five-time U.S. Auto Club champion A.J. Foyt turned 39 last week and he's talking retirement.

"I'm very serious about it," the grizzled Texan revealed. "I won't run much longer and this could be my last year.

"I enjoy the challenge as much as I ever did or I still wouldn't be at it but my family and friends have been on me the last five years to quit. And, really, there's not much left."

If it is Foyt's final year in racing behind the wheel, he hopes to make it a big one. He drove his first race at Houston in 1953 and hasn't missed an Indianapolis 500 since his first one in 1958. He won auto racing's big event in 1961, '64 and '67.

"It would be nice to win it once more," he declared.

A year ago, Foyt scored two USAC championship car victories, the 44th and 45th of his career. The 45th was the Pocono 500.

"Yeah," USAC's all-time championship point leader said, "it was a good year but I really can't holler about none of my years. I've had a pretty good life."

Foyt was at Ontario, Calif., last weekend with his '73 Coyote-Offy for a Goodyear tire testing program. The California 500, held on Labor Day weekend the past four years, will kick off USAC's championship car schedule in 1974. The first of the three 500-milers is set for Sunday, March 10.

"We made a couple of changes on our car from last year," said Foyt, "and we think it's going to run pretty good."

The veteran from Houston put a new nose on his car and changed the position of his radiators for aerodynamic reasons.

Foyt has just recovered from a case of hepatitis that resulted in his hospitalization for nine days in November.

"I've had colds and the flu before," he offered, "but nothing like this. I was in bed off and on for almost a whole month. In fact, that's the first time I walked into a hospital."

Foyt said he hasn't tempered his famous temper but he has matured as a driver.

"I haven't mellowed," he explained. "If people approach at the wrong time and force the issue, I still tell 'em to go to hell. People who know me know I'm out to win. If you run second, you're not worth a damn.

"My desire to win is as strong as it ever was but I probably don't do some of the stupid things out there that I did when I was younger. If I have the car, you can bet your butt I'll try to be there. If I don't, I won't take stupid chances."

Southland racing

CORONA — Super fast modified stock cars return to Corona Raceway Sunday in an open competition field on the tricky half-mile dirt oval, with qualifying beginning at 12:30 p.m. and racing at 2 p.m.

Last year's modified champion Jerry Jones of Anaheim is expected to head the field Sunday, joined by second place finisher Dee Kelly of Stanton, third place Don Huchingson of Fontana, Bill Gielish of Riverside, Tim Mcmillin of Riverside, Mike Katz of Riverside, Bob Early of Los Angeles, Wayne Rigney of Huntington Beach, Ron Ayre of Costa Mesa and Spooky Locke of Corona.

Corona Raceway, meanwhile, will launch its innovative Super Cycle Combo Thursday night, featuring challenging motocross action on the new, fully-lighted, all natural-terrain course and flat track and TT motorcycle racing simultaneously.

One admission price enables the spectator to view the action from either the grandstands or the pits.

VALENCIA — A 400-rider entry, including many of the West Coast's top dirt-track racers, is expected for a motocross double-header this weekend at Indian Dunes Park near Saugus.

With both events being sanctioned by California Raring Club of Riverside and awarding double points towards divisional championships, the large field of motorcyclists will be featured in action Friday night under the arc lights, beginning at 8, to be followed by a daytime program Sunday at 9 a.m.

All classes will go to the starting line three times during each program, with riders accumulating points from each heat, race towards overall victories. Those groups to be represented include powder puff, minicycle, beginner, novice, veteran and expert-ranked riders.

PARKER — Final Arizona state approval has been obtained by Mickey Thompson for the SCORE Parker 400 off-road race to be held the weekend of Feb. 8-10 in the California-Arizona desert adjacent to the Colorado River.

SCORE's first major off-road event of 1974 will have a purse of more than $30,000 plus contingency prizes worth another $30,000, Thompson said. Entries received to date total nearly 200.

The race will be held on two relatively circular routes of 110 miles in Yuma County, Ariz., and 140 miles in Riverside County, Cal. Competitors will make a complete swing of both loops and then finish with a final 110-mile dash over the Arizona course for a total of 360 racing miles.

Thompson shortened the original event from 500 miles to less than 400 in the interest of saving fuel. Other precautions have also been taken to assure the safety of ecological resources in the desert.

Notre Dame glad to escape Kansas

By United Press International

The pressure of being No. 1 almost caught up with Notre Dame right away.

The Fighting Irish, who stunned UCLA last Saturday to break the Bruins' record 88-game winning streak and were rewarded with the No. 1 ranking in the nation, almost saw it disappear in their first game Tuesday night.

The Irish blew most of a 14-point halftime lead and had to hang on to defeat Kansas 76-74 before a screaming crowd of over 17,000 at Allen Fieldhouse in Lawrence, Kan. Freshman Adrian Dantley's layup with 1:40 left provided the winning margin for Notre Dame.

Notre Dame seemed to be in control as it took a 49-35 lead at the half. But Kansas came back fired up and outscored the Irish 12-3 in a three-minute span and trailed only 61-59 with nearly 11 minutes left. Jayhawks Tommy Smith and Norm Cook fouled out and Notre Dame pulled away to a 69-61 lead.

Rick Suttle, who scored 19 of his game high 27 points in the second half, rallied Kansas again and the Jayhawks trailed only 74-72 with 2:18 left. Dantley then drove for his clinching basket and John Shumate, who had 23 points for Notre Dame, pulled down a rebound of Dantley's missed foul shot with 29 seconds left to end Kansas' dream of an upset.

"Our kids did a great job," said Notre Dame Coach Digger Phelps. "They never quit despite losing the big lead. But even when we were that far ahead, I was still worried..

"I thought the game would be close all the way and we happened to have a good shooting night, both from the field and the free-throw line."

In other top games Tuesday, No. 3 ranked North Carolina State, led by David Thompson's 26 points, downed North Carolina 83-80, No. 5 Maryland beat Canisius 86-73, sixth-ranked Marquette rallied to edge No. 9 Long Beach State 54-52 and Kansas State downed Nebraska 73-65.

North Carolina State nearly blew an 11-point lead but Thompson's free throw with 11 seconds left put the game out of reach. Darrell Elston had 27 points to lead North Carolina.

Citrus visits Riverside CC

Citrus College returns to Mission Conference play tonight by visiting front-running Riverside in a key basketball game. Tip-off is scheduled for 8 p.m.

The Owls (3-2) are tied for fourth place in the conference standings with San Bernardino, two full games off the pace being set by the defending champion Tigers (5-0).

In other games tonight, San Bernardino visits Saddleback, Palomar entertains Southwestern and San Diego City travels to Grossmont. Chaffey (4-2), coming off an 87-69 victory over Palomar last weekend, takes a bye from conference play tonight, returning to action Friday at San Bernardino.

Citrus is 7-11 overall following Friday's non-conference win over the Whittier College junior varsity, 85-71. Veteran guard Roy Hiokman continues to lead the team in scoring with an average of nearly 30 points per game. Godfrey Carter added 21 points in the victory, and coach Neil Edwards said "he played one of his best games of the year for us. He really handled the ball and played tough defense to go along with his shooting."

Carter is No. 10 in the conference in scoring with a 13.5 average.

Stags pin Biola in key match

LA MIRADA — Claremont-Mudd scored an important college wrestling win over Biola Tuesday, defeating the host Eagles by a 26-17 team score.

Biola actually won five of the nine matches, but pins by the Stags in the other four bouts spelled the difference in the win.

Brad Mielke, Phil Lange, Bob Mennis, and Ted Cranford posted the pins for the Stags. The Biola squad had been ranked no. 1 in the latest NAIA Southern California ratings, so it was a big triumph for C-M.

The Stags are now 9-1 on the season, while Biola falls to a 8-2 ledger. Next match for Claremont-Mudd will be Thursday at 7:30 p.m. when the Stags will host Redlands.

Trojans miss top center in New York

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Clint Chapman, University of Southern California's No. 3 scorer and No. 2 rebounder, will miss the 11th-ranked Trojans' two games at Madison Square Garden in New York this week.

Coach Bob Boyd said Tuesday that his 6-9 starting center, a junior who suffered a bruised ligament in his left knee last week in practice, would remain here to undergo treatment.

Chapman's knee was taken out of a cast Monday and Boyd made his decision on the player's status on a doctor's recommendation.

"We want to have Clint back when we resume league play," said Boyd.

The 12-2 Trojans face Seton Hall and Fordham at New York on Thursday and Saturday nights. They're at Pauley Pavilion Feb. 2 for a Pacific-8 game with mighty UCLA.

Chapman, a 220-pounder from Denver, led the Trojans in scoring with a 15.2 average as a forward last season.

He moved ahead of 6-10 senior Mike Westra as the Trojans' starting center two games ago and is averaging 10.3 points and 5.8 rebounds a game. Westra will start in Chapman's place this week, according to Boyd.

Montclair loop slates signups

MONTCLAIR — The Montclair Central Little League will hold its annual signups on Feb. 16 and 23 at Montclair High's main entrance from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

All boys, 8 through 16 years of age, must sign up—including boys who played in the league last season.

All boys signing up must have a photo copy of birth records from the state or county in which they were born.

For address agencies where records may be obtained, call Matt Ballinger at 624-2619, 624-9915 or 626-7762.

Recreation

Four of the five Pomona Park and Recreation Departments' adult civic regulation basketball leagues conclude first round action this week. The quartet enters into inter-league play next week.

The International league, an eight-team circuit, has a two half system with the winner of each matched for the title. Their first half concludes on February 6th.

Inter-league action finds the American and National circuits paired up, while the Pacific and Coast loops are matched. Each team plays six games that are included in their final league standings.

Most coaches feel the inter-league concept, new to Pomona this season, will add spice to the program. If one league should dominate the other, it won't have a great affect on the final standings.

A team that excells in the mixed play could gain considerable breathing room before entering the final five games in their league. It is an experiment worth watching. A successful outcome could set the tone for both basketball and softball civic leagues in the future.

Beam top scorer

Bob Beam, playing for Royal Coach in the National League, tossed in 49 points last week in a game against Pizza Corral. The total is a season high for both Beam and the civic leagues.

Beam's lowest output so far is 22 points in Royal Coach's only loss, a 74-72 decision at the hands of the Claremont Club. In two other games, Beam has registered 27 and 33 markers. He has a four game total of 131 points for a 32.7 per game average.

When you consider that the civic league teams play two 20-minute halves running time, that's quite a scoring pace. The games have also been very close. In three weeks of play there have been eight overtime contests. Two have gone into double overtime.

The top scorers seem to be in the National loop. Former Ganesha High and La Verne College star Wilbur Gatson paces the Claremont Club with a 24.7 per game average. His top game was 32 points.

Bleemers has hot hand

Beam's closest pursuer is former Bonita High star Jim Bleemers. He recorded 42 points Monday evening against Pizza Corral which game him a four game average of 26 per contest. The American league finds ex-Cal Poly star George Thompson of Albert & Clark carrying a 27 points per game average.

His high for the year is 34 digits against Jimmy's Soul Shop. The remainder of the league is below 20 showing balanced team scoring.

Cedargrove's Keith Ensman paces the Pacific league with a 24 point per game average. As in the American loop, the remainder fall below the 20 per game mark.

Teams composing the Coast and International loops have alternated their top point producers from game to game. Therefore no one boasts an impressive average, but the close games have made for great competition.

The Rainbow circuit, for the women, finds Cindy Cole leading the parade with a 20 point per game average. The problem with this league has been securing women officials. There seems to be a real shortage.

Basketball buffs should venture out one of these evenings and take in a civic league contest. They are entertaining and refreshing.

Nixon, Kissinger agree

Major oil-consuming nations must huddle to avoid global depression

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger believe a conference of oil-producing with major consuming nations offers the best possibility averting ruin of the economies of the industrialized world.

Kissinger is known to be far more concerned over the massive price increases, triggered by Arab production and export restrictions, than he is over the restrictions themselves.

While the embargo on oil shipments to the United States and some other countries appears to be extremely leaky, the Secretary has pointed out that new price rises by Arabs and other oil producers could take up to 30 per cent of the foreign capital reserves of oil consuming countries and bring a global depression.

The Organization of Oil Producing Countries, a 12-nation group known as OPEC, agrees that a meeting should be held with consumer countries and OPEC, too, says something should be done about prices. However, OPEC blames the huge multinational oil companies for the runaway price situation.

The producing countries contend the seven huge companies, five of which are based in the United States, are making 100 per cent profit on every barrel of oil they sell and the consuming nations must find some way to reduce this if they want the line held on petroleum.

Meanwhile the United States, which is in the fortunate position of producing 85 per cent of its energy requirements itself, appears to be employing a form of orchestrated psychological warfare in an effort to bring the producers into line.

Kissinger has repeatedly refused to say the United States will employ economic warfare against the Arab countries by embargoing shipments of American raw materials and food to the Middle East.

Instead, he is trying to get his message across in a more indirect manner by warning that the oil crisis may lead to a world-wide depression from which no nation would be immune.

This is Kissinger's way of telling Russia, which urged the Arabs to use their oil as a political weapon, that unless the policy is reversed, it will become economically impossible for the United States to proceed with the various trade deals in which Moscow is interested.

It has been left to other officials to make the specific threats.

Vice President Gerald R. Ford warned continuation of the Arab oil embargo could result in a halt of U.S. food shipments to the Middle East and Africa if American farmers are unable to get sufficient petroleum to keep up production.

Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger indirectly raised for the first time the possibility of western military intervention in the Middle East, saying that in his judgment the United States "won't come to the contingency of military intervention."

He was stating publicly what some officials have mentioned privately as the dangers the Arabs risk by policies which would force western Europe, Japan and the United States into bankruptcy.

While the concensus here has been that the United States would not risk military intervention in an area that might lead to a confrontation with the Soviets, some officials acknowledged that almost anything is possible if millions in the western world become unemployed, hungry and cold as a result of the energy crisis.

Some hope is seen in the fact that the producing nations on the one hand, and the United States and some of the major consuming nations on the other, believe a conference including representatives of all countries concerned is a desirable approach to securing some sort of agreement which would stabilize the situation, secure some rollback in prices and avoid a major world depression.

Youngest quint doing well after heart surgery

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) — Officials at the University of Oregon Medical School Hospital believe that tiny Diane Anderson, youngest of quintuplets born April 26, 1973, is "doing well" after heart surgery.

Doctors completed the surgery Wednesday in less than an hour.

The operation was described by a hospital spokesman as involving closing a blood vessel that connects the pulmonary artery with the aorta, a vessel that normally closes after birth.

The surgery was delayed until Diane, smallest of the quints born to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Anderson, Brush Prairie, Wash., gained sufficient weight and strength. She weighed 2 pounds 9 ounces at birth and now weighs 11 pounds 9 ounces.

The defect was described by the spokesman as a "very common congenital defect." He said the surgery should leave her with an "absolutely normal" heart function. She is expected to remain in the hospital between 5 and 10 days.

The other quints are reported doing fine at home.

Skipper rescued after boat burns

LONG BEACH (UPI) — A Coast Guard helicopter rescued the skipper of a 55-foot cabin cruiser Monday four miles off Newport after the boat was gutted by a fire.

Alwin E. Teutenberg, Costa Mesa, was alone aboard "The Sail Avee" when the fire broke out in his engine room and spread through the cabin.

He paddled to the helicopter in the boat's dinghy and was flown to Orange County Airport.

TUNA FLEET SAILS AGAIN

SAN DIEGO (UPI) — The tuna fleet is sailing again, and the price of tuna will rise.

About 60 tuna seiners left port Wednesday, and another 40 are expected to leave by the weekend, ending a month-long refusal to sail during a disagreement between fishermen and cannery owners over the price the fishermen get for the fish. Another 25 boats sailed from Mexican, Panamanian and Costa Rican ports.

The American Tuna Sales Association, representing the fishermen, demanded $630 a ton, compared to about $500 a ton last year.

The price increase will be passed on to consumers, according to a spokesman for the canneries.

Cites inflation

Riles claims budget won't meet needs

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — In his proposed budget for 1974-75, Gov. Ronald Reagan whittled down the funding requests of University of California regents, state university trustees and state schools chief Wilson Riles.

Although there was a $122 million increase in funds for elementary and secondary education, Riles said the hike would be eaten up by inflation.

"We have no budget increase. We're standing still," he declared, vowing to ask lawmakers for more money.

Reagan's proposed budget contained $2.37 billion for grades one through 12 compared to $2.25 billion for the current year.

The governor's financial experts said 4.6 million pupils—one out of every five Californians—will be enrolled in public schools in the next fiscal year.

Reagan proposed spending $19.9 million for construction in the Fremont area of a replacement for the Berkeley School for the Deaf and Blind. The new facility could be opened in 1977-78.

The governor allotted $493.1 million for the University of California in 1974-75, down from the $533.9 million the Department of Finance said the university sought. The proposed budget was up 8.5 per cent from the current level of $454.3 million.

The state university and college system would receive $480.2 million under Reagan's proposed budget—less than the $507.4 million asked by trustees. State colleges will receive $444.9 million during the current year. Their new budget would be 8 per cent higher.

The proposed funding for the two systems included a 4.7 per cent pay hike for UC faculty and a 5.4 per cent wage boost for state college professors. Nonfaculty workers in both systems would receive a 3.7 per cent increase.

The salary hikes would total $18.8 million for UC and $25.6 million for the state colleges.

Employes of both systems received pay boosts during the current fiscal year.

Community colleges would receive $315 million during the 1974-75 under Reagan's proposed budget.

Solzhenitsyn said under attack for hitting root of communism

SAN DIEGO (UPI) —The Soviet government is attacking writer Alexander I. Solzhenitsyn "with unparalled fury" because he traces the roots of repression past Stalin to Lenin, the honored founder of the Russian Communist state, according to Isaac Don Levine.

Levine, 81, who has a winter home near here, is believed to be the last living member of the corps of foreign correspondents who were in Moscow during the years when Vladimir Lenin ruled Russia. He wrote then for the Chicago Daily News and Hearst newspapers. Levine has written a number of books on the history of the Soviet government, and has served on the faculty of the Army Command and General Staff College at Ft. Leavenworth.

"Today, the 50th anniversary of Lenin's death, the Soviet government is attacking Solzhenitsyn with unparalled fury," he said in an interview with the Los Angeles Times.

"It isn't because he is exposing Stalin. It's because Solzhenitsyn in his new book, "The Gulag Archipelago,' has gone back to Lenin's time and Lenin's heritage."

The present Soviet regime does not care what is said of Stalin, he said, but "is using Lenin as an example...they genuflect to Lenin five times a day, and a criticism of him is a criticism of them."

Levine said that it was, as Solzhenitsyn points out, Lenin who set up the Communist government's concentration camps, began rigid censorship and initiated the practice of sending dissident intellectuals to insane asylums, starting in 1919.

"It was a humane method, I suppose, at least by comparison with Stalin's method—that is, murder," Levine said.

"But I'll have to let others judge whether incarceration in an insane asylum is more humane than incarceration in a prison."

Levine said that after leaving Russia for a while in 1924, he prepared and circulated privately a map of Soviet concentration camps, the chain that Solzhenitsyn has dubbed the "archipelago." It went to western intellectuals of the 1920s such as H.G. Wells, Thomas Mann and Upton Sinclair, he said, and included the pictures and names of many victims of early Soviet repression, with details.

Levine said Solzhenitsyn is the representative of "millions of intellectuals who represent the true Russia."

He said "the Russian lack of talent for government and politics can change—in fact it is already changing. Solzhenitsyn is the herald of the coming Russia."

Levine was born in Russia and came to the United States with his parents at the age of 19 in 1911, before the Bolshevik Revolution. He returned to Moscow as a U.S. citizen and journalist.

Kissinger travels raise question: what's State Department doing?

By STEWART HENSLEY

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Having spent one-third of his time since becoming secretary of state out of the country, and bringing bitter rivals to an agreement in the volatile Middle East, Henry A. Kissinger may now turn his attention to a problem closer to home.

While no one in Washington belittles Kissinger's diplomatic achievements, there has been muted criticism of his handling of State Department operations.

Some department insiders privately say that when he is away, none of Kissinger's subordinates has any real authority to make major decisions and when he is in Washington, he still spends part of his working day at the White House.

He retains his old title as Nixon's chief national security affairs adviser, usually spending mornings at the White House and afternoons at the State Department.

On Kissinger's behalf, some department officials reject the idea that things come to a standstill while he is away.

They acknowledge that Kissinger does not permit his press officers here to make announcements of any importance in his absence, but deny that it means subordinates are not going ahead with important policy decisions.

Supporting that view is Kissinger's promotion of trusted and loyal aides into key department positions.

Among them are Deputy Secretary of State Kenneth Rush and Assistant Secretary of State Joseph A. Sisco, a Middle East expert who has been nominated as undersecretary for political affairs.

Another is William H. Donaldson, undersecretary for security assistance, who is in charge of not only political and military affairs but personnel and housekeeping affairs as well.

Two of the most influential members of the "palace guard" were brought to the State Department by Kissinger from his National Security Council staff at the White House.

They are Helmut Sonnenfeldt, department counselor, and Winston Lord, a young State Department officer who was assigned to the NSC and has returned to work for Kissinger.

Watch cat's teeth for trouble signs

By DR. FRANK MILLER

DEAR DR. MILLER: Do a cat's teeth ever need cleaning? Tiger's never had his cleaned and his breath is beginning to get bad so I wondered. He's nine. I looked at his teeth and they're stained and dirty but look OK. In fact, the strange thing is his big teeth (fangs) look even bigger than they used to. Could they be growing? — K. E.

Dear K. E.: In older cats the canine teeth (fangs) often appear to be longer with increasing age. This sabretooth effect is not caused by an actual increase in the length of the tooth but, instead, to the recession of the gums. This exposes a greater portion of the whole tooth — the part which normally shows, plus part of the root. Obviously such exposure is not ideal and calls for a check-up at least.

These teeth are the most common contributors to bad breath. They are not visible in a casual examination, and the lips have to be pulled back and up to get a good look at them. When checking a cat's mouth for signs of trouble, be sure to look closely at the gum line from front to back for reddened, irritated areas. These could signal gingivities or related problems.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Pierre has always been a very vain and fastidious dog. (Actually, he considers himself a person, I think.) The problem is he has this bald spot at the base of his tail and it is getting bigger. He hates the looks of it and tries to hide it by never sitting with his back to people. We tried to help him by getting a wig but it didn't look quite right and he wouldn't leave it on. We met a man who was getting hair transplants. We wondered if this wouldn't work better on Pierre than the wig did. Would it be worth a triy? — M.O.

Dear M. O.: It would be up to your dog's dermatologist and you to determine whether transportation would be the panacea for Pierre's predicament. Even if the doctor OK's the project, there is no certainty Pierre would go along with it. Transplants take months to "plant" and perhaps a year to grow in satisfactorily If Pierre didn't appreciate them, he might scratch or yank out these transplants and at up to $25 per hair, this could be rather discouraging. Certainly if the doctor could persuade Pierre to regrow some hair that was there in the first place, it would have decided advantages.

Moon fraction of earth size

The diameter of the moon is about one-fourth that of the earth, its volume a 50th, and its mass about 100th.

TEMPERATURES are what it's all about, but this is not a giant thermometer. Three glass tubes are enclosed one inside the other, to create a solar collector, or furnace. Heat from the sun is transferred to a circulating fluid. Used in clusters in homes and offices, the light-weight, inexpensive collectors may someday replace conventional heating systems. A Corning engineer displays a 10-foot working model.

Author hits it big with lazy approach

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — On the basis of dollar volume, Joe Karbo claims to have been the best-selling author in the United States in 1973, but you won't find the name of his book on the literary lists.

Karbo, author of a paperback called "The Lazy Man's Way to Riches," says he sold 173,000 copies last year at $10 per. That adds up to almost $1.75 million, he notes.

"It's easy to figure," he laughs, presumably on his way to the bank. "That's why I made the price $10."

All his sales are by direct mail in response to newspaper and magazine ads. He took a fullpage ad in Time magazine to lure buyers with his soft sell.

He tells how he has a $100,000 beachfront home, a $30,000 mountain cabin, two boats and a Cadillac—all acquired by his "Lazy Man's Way."

Part of his pitch is a moneyback guarantee. Karbo says he doesn't even cash checks or money orders for at least 31 days.

The book combines positive thinking principles and autosuggestion plus sound and painstakingly detailed suggestions on operating a mail order business. He calls it "direct response business."

About 10 per cent of those who order the book request and get their money back, Karbo says, and this does not create a large dent in his profits.

He acts as his own publisher and contracts the printing. Actual production of the book costs him 50 cents a copy, he says, but that does not include the thousands of dollars spent on advertising.

This is not his first big seller, he says. He sold more than 100,000 copies of a book on horse race handicapping and about the same number on a book called "The Power of Money Management" at $3.95 a copy.

He is making plans to distribute the "Lazy Man's Way" in England and says, "We should sell three or four hundred thousand over there."

Basically, he says, he is an advertising man and his results indicate he knows the field.

In the book, he gives advice on writing ads and says the chatty approach—like writing a letter to a friend—is best.

The book tells how to get a discount on advertising rates with newspapers and magazines and also ways of getting radio and television time at reduced rates.

Karbo suggests picking a product for which there is a need or a service.

The book has drawn "hundreds of letters" from persons who have profited by it, he says.

"I had a letter from a man in Tulsa, Okla., who started a retail training institute by mail and has made a success of it," he says. "People think they have to work hard and deprive themselves to make money. They don't set their goals high enough. My method is contrary to the Horatio Alger legend— you know, work hard and you'll get to be a supervisor or a managing editor. That's the long, hard way, and it doesn't work out too often.

"I'm not saying money is everything, but with it you have some freedom. I can take the afternoon off if I want to. I'm a very happy guy."

He also has a sense of humor. In light of the energy crisis, he says, "You know what—I just picked the wrong time to buy a Rolls Royce."

English fear 'baby boom'

LONDON (UPI) — The Family Planning Association and the National Marriage Guidance Council are worried that Britain's three-day work week and early evening shutdown of television will bring a baby boom.

"Husbands will be at home an extra two days a week with their wives—and with no children to disturb them," said Family Planning Association Sybil Clayton recently.

Gerald Sanctuary of the National Marriage Guidance Council saw a possible silver lining. "It may help save some marriages from the divorce court. But," he said, "an unwanted pregnancy could defeat the object. We can only hope they will take precautions."

State's farm income rises dramatically

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California's farm income rose by a whopping 35 per cent in 1973 to total a record $7.6 billion, according to preliminary state estimates.

State Food and Agriculture Director C.B. Christensen said the big increase in gross farm receipts primarily was the result of "sharply higher prices."

"The prospects for continued strong demand for farm products with further upward pressure on farm prices appear likely for 1974," he said. "This favorable outlook will be offset by higher prices for production items, particularly fertilizer and fuel."

Christensen said the state's crop production in 1973 reached a record high 44.3 million tons, up 1 per cent from the previous high level recorded in 1972.

The gold fruit and nut production was up 32 per cent and vegetable production increased 3 per cent. Grape production last year showed the greatest tonnage increase of any crop.

However, Christensen said field crop production dropped by 7 per cent in 1973 with sugar beets and hay crops being the principal crops responsible for the decline.

Recorders out, but mikes are still in place

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Microphones for the White House taping system are still in place in President Nixon's Oval Office and other locations, a Secret Service agent testified Wednesday.

However, Louis B. Sims, who is in charge of the technical security division of the agency, said the tape recorders were removed from the system last July 18 two days after the existence of the system was first publicly disclosed, and the system's wires were later cut.

The microphones remain installed in the Cabinet room and the President's offices in both the White House and the adjacent Executive Office Building, Sims said.

Sims and another agent were called to testify on the taping system, which they had charge of installing and supervising, in connection with a federal court hearing on how 18 ½ minutes of one of Nixon's Watergate conversations was erased

Sims said he could not recall the date the wires were cut. Assistant Prosecutor Richard Ben-Veniste suggested that telephone lines were not taken out until the current hearings on missing White House tapes began before Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica in early November.

Fight breaks out in church over baptism

SYRACUSE, Sicily (UPI) — A fist fight broke in front of the baptismal font at the Roman Catholic Church of the Pantheon when Angelo Bottaro arrived to be baptized. Three persons, including a policeman, were injured and 15 others charged in connection with the altercation.

Police said the four-month-old baby's parents separated 15 days after their marriage. When the mother, Melina Bottaro, 20, and her family took the infant to the church, the father, Pasquale Bottaro, 24, appeared with his family.

Fighting broke out between the two families in front of the baptismal font and police intervened to break it up.

Kremlin's hardliners slowing down detente

LONDON (UPI) — The hardliners in the Kremlin are putting the brakes on the policy of coexistence and cooperation between the Soviet Union and the United States.

They fear that their policy of "detente" between the West and the Soviet bloc will undermine the Communist regimes and their control of the domestic fronts. This they argue must not be allowed to happen.

Ominous warnings have been sounded in the past few weeks from the Kremlin's chief theoretician Mikhail Suslov and the Chief of the powerful secret police (KGB) Yuri Andropov.

They spoke of "imperialist" attempts to undermine Soviet ideology under the guise of East-West detente. A harsher line against Soviet dissenters and critical writers has signaled a progressive clampdown on the domestic front.

So far the emerging voice of the hardliners has not significantly affected the basic policy of Russo-American coexistence.

Soviet Party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev, who initiated it in agreement with President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, has reaffirmed in his new year's policy outline that detente remains in force. He is personally deeply committed to it, and its failure would gravely endanger his position in the Kremlin, and even topple him from power.

Russia's point of view, as seen by the bulk of the leadership, detente in the international sphere is a good, even vital thing. Moscow expects from its closer cooperation with the United States vast trade deals, the acquisition of America's advanced technological knowhow and extensive credits. All this would strengthen Russia's economical potential which lags far behind that of the West.

Moscow also expects a parallel development in its relations with West Europe that would sanction the post-war territorial gains of Russia and its bloc allies and enable the Soviet Union to turn its attention fully to hostile China, politically as well as militarily. To that extent the hardliners in the hierarchy are going along with detente. But their growing uneasiness stems from the fear that too close relations with the capitalist West, while profitable economically could undermine the regime's grip on the nation through unwanted liberalizing pressures. They want detente therefore to be strictly controlled and Western influences be kept at bay.

The strongest warning significantly has come from the secret police chief whose influence in the Kremlin has been boosted only recently by his appointment to the powerful policy making Politburo of the ruling party.

Latest signs from the Soviet home front have indicated that a tougher line has already been set in motion.

WELL-BALANCED relationship is achieved by this father and son. They are the Balancing Diones, a popular family circus family act. (Photo by Gene Psukar, Bowling Green, Ohio).

Poor inmates file suit against jail

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The County Hall of Justice jail, which violates earthquake safety and fire codes, should be improved or closed because it is not properly financed and subjects the poor to bad conditions, a class action suit alleged Monday.

The suit was filed in U.S. District Court by the Greater Watts Justice Center on behalf of 1,000 unconvicted, poor inmates.

"The rich make bail and the poor get punished," said Larry Williams, director of the center. "Not because of anything they've done, but because of their poverty."

The 48-year-old jail has overcrowded cells, poor medical treatment, bad food, inadequate plumbing and arbitrary discipline of inmates, the suit alleged.

The court action seeks a federal order requiring improvements or that the jail be closed.

Heavy demand for firewood, power saws

NEW YORK (UPI) — One thing the energy crisis has done is create a huge demand for firewood, and the result is that man's basic fuel is in short supply in many places —and costly.

This desire for a supplemental house fuel also has created a huge demand in the chain saw industry and woodseekers with power tools in hand are roaming the land.

Fallen or overaged trees are being cut into fireplace-sized logs in backyards and private woodlots all over the country. And in many state and national forests, anthorities have eased restrictions on cutting fallen wood in designated areas.

Most of these cut-it-yourselfers are motivated by the fact that firewood costs in most parts of the country are up anywhere from 15 to 35 per cent —where it's available.

In Los Angeles, last year's 68 cord of wood (128 cubic feet) costs $85. In Greenwich, Conn., a cord is up from $60 to $80, and it's hard to find.

"We don't have any wood in stocks," a Suffolk county (Long Island), N.Y., dealer reported. "The demand is certainly outstripping the supply."

In Chicago, one firewood dealer is limiting his customers to half a ton of wood, about one-third of a cord, for $49.

"We normally sell firewood by the ton," he says, "but this year we have to set the half ton limit. And we're still running short."

An Atlanta dealer reports he is selling all the firewood he can get at $70 a cord and adds: "I don't know if the supply will last through the winter."

Along with the demand for firewood to offset the 68 degree limit on the thermostat requested by the government has come an increased demand for chain saws, and Stanley J. Stephenson of the Power Saw Manufacturers Association reports a record sales year in 1973.

According to Stephenson, industry sources estimate that chain saw sales in the United States in 1973 increased about 23 per cent to 1.35 million units over 1972 when 1.1 million chain saws were marketed.

Stephenson, marketing vice president of McCulloch Corp., a chain saw manufacturer headquartered in Los Angeles, said nearly all of the increase in sales can be traced to homeowners, outdoorsmen and other nonprofessional woodcutters.

"Of all chain saws manufactured in the United States, over half are bought by homeowners," Stephenson said. "And we expect the consumer market to read 75 per cent of production in the years ahead."

Economy keeping Japan's military cupboard bare

TOKYO (UPI) — The revival of Japan as a military power, long predicted in the United States and Asia, is not going to start this year.

Struggling with inflation and an energy shortage, Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka is holding down the military budget to $3.64 billion for the 1974 fiscal year starting April 1.

In theory, it is the largest military budget since World War II, and an increase of 16.8 per cent over 1973, but in reality, it condemns Japan's small armed forces to a year of stagnation.

The cost of living rose 20 per cent in 1973. Much of the increased budget will be eaten up by servicemen's pay increases, and higher prices for everything from food to fighter planes.

Because of the oil shortage, Japan's soldiers, sailors and airmen in 1974 will spend more time in barracks, ports and hangers as supplies of fuel are cut back.

It is a far cry from the late 1930s and early 1940s when Japan's Army conquered one-third of China and much of Southeast Asia and her powerful fleet fought the U.S. Navy for control of the Pacific.

Today the largest warship is the 4,700 ton destroyer "Haruna."

The army has an authorized strength of 179,000 men, but in a country with no conscription and full employment, it is never up to strength. The Yomiuri newspaper reported in April that the army had a personnel shortage of 13 per cent, mostly because of the difficulty in signing up enlisted men.

At the start of World War II, Japanese airmen flew a Japanese-built fighter plane, the famous Mitsubishi Zero. Today's airmen fly American planes.

One well-informed Japanese diplomat thinks a military revival may never happen. Tsutomu Wada, a former Navy officer who is now Japan's ambassador to Egypt, says that in becoming a great economic power, Japan actually became militarily weak.

"It is not necessarily good to be big," Wade said recently in an article in the conservative Japanese magazine Jiyu. "As Japan's economy become bigger, abundant fuel, abundant food, abuntant raw materials all become necessary.

"We may have strength, to the extent that present conditions continue. But it merely awaits the time when the necessary overseas resources don't come in.."

War is an economic matter. It involves the building of complicated weapons, and transportation of huge supplies of food and fuel.

Japan, with a gross national product of $321 billion in the 1972 fiscal year, is the third largest industrial economy in the world. Only the United States and the Soviet Union are bigger.

However, Russia and America are large countries. Their economies are based on abundant raw materials inside their own borders. Japan is an island almost bereft of natural resources.

Med school developing new breed

NEW YORK (UPI) — Make way for the new breed of doctor.

This doctor will make it from high school graduate to M.D. in six years. This doctor will be a "take charge" physician.

The new breed is on the medical education assembly line at a new kind of medical school.

Typical of the innovative institutions is the University of Missouri-Kansas City Medical School (UM-KC). It began as an experiment three years ago to demonstrate that 17-year-old high school graduates could be transformed in six years time to expert clinicians with a plus every patient desires in a doctor.

That plus: an awareness of the patient's psychological and social needs. According to the program, these new young doctors, will never see a patient as marely a "gallbladder" or "hip fracture" or "ulcer."

The new doctors are being trained for the role of a medical practitioner who will take total responsibility for his patient's care. In large measure, this will eliminate the need for a cast of specialists— putting a dent in the practice of patients being passed from specialist to specialist.

Dr. E. Gray Dimond, provost of the pioneering school, in Kansas City, describes the new medical education's aims:

"We are building a new concept in medical education. We want to develop men of compassion; men and women eager to help other people. We can't merely judge grades and performances in science. Science is relevant only when it is applied to a patient, to people."

Medical students training in schools similar to UM-KC spend their first day of classes at a patient's bedside. On one such visit students making hospital rounds at Kansas City General Hospital nervously felt a swollen abdomen, saw a diabetic amputee, and stood, visibly shaken, around the bed of a patient who died before their eyes.

Their faces were ashen.

"It will be a long time before you regain your composure," Dr. Dimond told them.

It is the hope of the UM-KC faculty that this corps of doctors will give patients an M.D. who is an advocate for them in the health care system.

These clinicians will provide an alternative to the confusing maze of medical specialties that make the patient's search for diagnosis and treatment costly and time-consuming.

Medical consumers have been asking for such a physician. That is, a doctor who has a feeling for people.

Officials at the American Academy of Family Practice, also in Kansas City, are calling for a 10-year plan to bring family practitioners—the "take charge" doctors—up to 40 per cent of the primary care doctors who pactice.

EVERYDAY LOW PRICES!

SUPER DUPER PRICES!

HAPPINESS DISCOUNTS!

It's easy enough to be confused by the Pied Piper Parade of supermarket advertising these days. Too easy! "Everyday Low Prices!" "Super Duper Prices!" "Happiness Discounts!" You've heard 'em all. It would almost be funny if the money you spend on food weren't such a serious matter. So, for those of you who are as tired of the ballyhoo as Alpha Beta is, let's set the record straight.

The fact of the matter

Supermarket food ads don't always tell the whole story. Sometimes other food stores advertise certain individual prices even lower than Alpha Beta's. Naturally the market is putting its lowest-price foot forward. We know that. But, please, for saving's sake—do remember that most ads represent only a hundred or so items...while the average market carries over nine thousand items! And it's here, on the great majority of your purchases, that you'll see just how Alpha Beta can save you money.

Why our price is right

Alpha Beta knows more about discount pricing than just about anybody in the business. We've been at it longer than most, for one thing. But that's not the only reason. We're considered industry leaders insofar as discounting know-how is concerned. We're unique in our ability to keep quality, service, selection and in-store cleanliness up—while we keep our prices consistently down.

The total picture

"Total Discounts" isn't simply a phrase at Alpha Beta. It's a commitment. What it means is that we can effect a consistency of savings for our customers that you won't find elsewhere. We have money-saving prices up one aisle and down another. Not just on certain items or on certain days. But on every possible item, every single day. You'll find that, thanks to Alpha Beta's overall prices, you don't have to pay the piper.

Savings on the double too

Alpha Beta leads the way, too, in our "Double Discount" policy. Double Discounts refer to prices that are below even everyday discount prices. They're made possible by temporary manufacturer discounts we receive. Now the fact is, all markets offer you some temporary price reductions. But Alpha Beta alone offers you so many. Often up to hundreds more than you'll find anywhere else. Next time you're in an Alpha Beta, look around. You'll see bright blue Double Discount signs just about everywhere you look. Each one of them representing a substantial savings.

The proof's in your food bill

When all is said and done, it's a lower total food bill you want. And that's what Alpha Beta can deliver. If you think this is merely another claim, do yourself a favor. Compare. Compare your total at Alpha Beta with your total at any other market. You'll see why we say wherever you're shopping now...you'll like the total better at Alpha Beta.

Don't be misled.

Upside-down cake isn't a new idea

Upside-down cakes are typically American. Although their precise origin is not known, they were probably first prepared by an ingenious cook over 100 years ago. It was discovered that cakes could be made in a skillet when a butter and sugar syrup was placed in the pan before the batter. Covered with a tight-fitting lid, the cake would rise, and when turned upside-down on a platter, the sweet glaze formed an icing. Fruits were later added to the glaze making the upside-down cake even more delicious.

Today of course we do most of our baking in the oven, but upside-down cakes are still popular. The recipe here is a modern adaptation of two old favorites combining gingerbread with an upside-down cake. And, for a new look and taste we've used peaches instead of the traditional pineapple. The result is delightful! Since this is a modern recipe we've substituted margarine for butter in our fruit glaze. It adds delicate flavor to all foods while adding valuable polyunsaturates to the diet, and corn oil is unsurpassed for lowering serum cholesterol.

Your entire family will love this unique and flavorful cake. Quick and easy, this updated recipe recaptures the old-fashioned flavor and goodness of early America.

GINGERBREAD UPSIDE-DOWN CAKE

- ½ cup (1 stick) margarine
- ½ cup firmly packed light brown sugar
- 1 can (16 ounces) peach slices, well drained
- 6 maraschino cherries
- 1 cups unsifted flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon baking soda
- ½ teaspoon ground ginger
- ¼ teaspoon ground cloves
- ¼ cup sugar
- 1 egg
- ½ cup light molasses
- ½ cup hot water

Melt ¼ cup margarine. Pour into an ungreased 8-inch cake pan. Evenly sprinkle brown sugar over melted margarine. Arrange peach slices and marashino cherries on mixture. Set aside.

Combine flour, baking powder, salt, baking soda, ginger and cloves.

In a small mixer bowl cream together remaining ¼ cup margarine and sugar. Beat in egg. Blend in molasses. Mix in flour mixture alternately with hot water. Pour batter into prepared pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes, or until done. Immediately invert onto serving plate. Serve warm or cold. Makes 8 servings.

Sheriff seeks to take care of prisoners

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sheriff Peter Pitchess said Monday his office should take over handling prisoners for court appearances to keep the prisoners from having to be kept in the dirty and rundown facilities of other departments.

Holding tanks, run by city police departments and the county marshal's office, are crowded and, in some cases, unsanitary and in serious disrepair, Pitchess said.

He recommended that the county marshal's office be merged with his department.

"The problem is that those police departments are not in any position to immediately correct these unfortunate conditions," Pitchess said.

"It seems ridiculous for us to transport prisoners to various municipal courts around the county only to turn them over to marshals who do not have the facilities to feed them."

The 1973 county grand jury criticized conditions in prisoner holding tanks around the county, but lauded the sheriff's office facilities.

Raisin shortage is over; they're back in the markets

We may never take raisins for granted again!

The new crop is now coming in, and raisins are finally returning to the supermarket. When the killing frost of March 1972 ruined the crop, the resulting shortage was a shocker to kids deprived of their favorite snack and to housewives already suffering from meat shortages and high prices. But it's all over now. Raisins from California are back, ready to work raisin wonders with everything from favorite breads and cakes to distinctive main courses and unusual salads.

It's a pleasure to be able to report that raisins are still a good buy, still a fine source of natural energy, extra minerals, and bonus flavor, and more important than ever, an economical, highly nourishng supplement to meat-restricted meals.

Add raisins to a sauce for turkey legs and you take advantage of another good buy — turkey parts. A whole bird might seem overwhelming to a small family on a smallish budget, both in price and in sheer quantity. But you can buy turkey legs for one meal plus a planned-over-meal, at a very moderate price, and thriftily use up every scrap of meat you buy.

Budget conscious homemakers, also latching on to the economy and the special goodness of home-baked breads and cakes, will eagerly welcome the return of raisins to sprinkle into cake or cookie batter, or to roll up in an old-fashioned Cinnamon Raisin Bread.

At a meatless meal, there's extra value and zest in a cabbage and carrot slaw spangled with raisins. Add vigor to your favorite slaw-or to this extra spicy version.

ROAST TURKEY LEGS

4 turkey legs
Salt, pepper
1½ cups water
1 cup raisins
¼ cup sugar
2 tablespoons vinegar
and 1-3rd cup water

Arrange turkey legs (or use whole quarters) in a roasting pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Add water. Roast in a moderate 350 degree oven about 1 hour and 10 minutes, until legs are tender. Combine raisins and remaining ingredients to make the sauce. Remove turkey legs to a serving platter, add sauce to pan drippings. Cook, stirring, over moderate heat, for 5 minutes. Makes 4 or more servings.

RAISIN SLAW

2 cups finely shredded cabbage
½ cup raisins
1 apple, unpeeled, chopped
1 cup finely shredded carrot
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon ground red horseradish
2 tablespoons cider vinegar
2 tablespoons sugar
Salt and pepper

Combine cabbage, raisins, apple and carrot. Blend mayonnaise with remaining ingredients to make dressing. Combine with cabbage mixture, chill until serving time Makes 6 servings.

CABBAGE RAISIN BREAD

1 cup milk
3 tablespoons sugar
2 teaspoons salt
1-3rd cup butter or margarine
1 cup water
2 envelopes yeast
6 to 6¼ cups flour
½ cup nuts, chopped
½ cup raisins
½ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup butter, melted

Heat milk just to boiling; stir in sugar, salt and butter, cool to lukewarm. Measure water into 3 quart bowl; sprinkle with yeast, stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture. Add 3 cups flour; beat until smooth. Add rest of flour to make soft dough. Turn out lightly floured board; knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; brush top with melted butter. Cover. Let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, about 1—1¼ hours.

Punch down, turn out on lightly floured board. Divide dough in half; roll each half into rectangle 9" x 18". Combine nuts, raisins, brown sugar, cinnamon and melted butter. Sprinkle half of mixture on each rectangle roll. Place rolls in 7½ x 3½ loaf pans lined with Reveal Wrap. Cover, let rise in warm place until doubled again in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in preheated 400-degree oven about 50 minutes. Makes 2 loaves.

You can mass produce the cheeseburger

Cheeseburger Biscuit Squares are a good idea for a light meal or evening snack.

This quick and easy recipe features just five ingredients and is so fool-proof that cooks of all ages can prepare it.

To make it, refrigerated buttermilk or country style biscuits are arranged in a 13x9-inch baking pan, then topped with a ground beef-tomato combo flavored with sloppy joe or chili seasoning mix. Next, add slices of American cheese, more refrigerated biscuits and bake.

Cut in squares to serve and offer fresh relishes, potato chips and a cold beverage to make this snack or meal complete.

CHEESEBURGER BISCUIT SQUARES

1½ pounds ground beef
1 package (1½ oz.) sloppy joe or chili seasoning mix
8 ounce can tomato sauce
Two 8-ounce cans refrigerated buttermilk or country style biscuits
6 slices American cheese

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. In large frying pan brown ground beef; drain. Stir in seasoning mix and tomato sauce; simmer while preparing crust. Separate one can biscuit dough into 10 biscuits. Pull apart each into 2 layers. Arrange over bottom of ungreased 13x9-inch pan. Spoon hot meat mixture over crust; arrange cheese slices on top. Separate second can biscuit dough into 10 biscuits. Pull apart each into 2 layers; arrange over hot meat mixture. Bake at 400 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes or until golden brown. Refrigerate any leftovers. Makes 6 servings.

Oldest doll

The oldest doll in America is the one called "Letitia Penn," brought here from England in 1699 by William Penn for a friend of his daughter, Letitia.

Chefs enjoy a dish that's different

Men who cook enjoy creating something different. A top winner in an English muffin contest whipped up his sophisticated version of French toast. This he called Franglais Muffins a l'Orange and suggests you serve it for a brunch or as a dessert.

FRANGLAIS MUFFINS a l'ORANGE

- 3 eggs
- ¾ cup milk
- ¼ cup orange juice concentrate
- 1 tablespoon grated orange rind (about 1 orange)
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- Pinch salt
- ½ cup orange marmalade
- 2 tablespoons orange liqueur (optional)
- 4 English muffins
- Margarine or butter for panfrying

Beat together eggs, milk, orange concentrate and rind, sugar and salt. Place orange marmalade in saucepan and melt over low heat or warmer. Add liqueur; stir. Keep hot for serving. Split English muffins by scoring with tines of a fork and gently pulling apart. Quickly dip muffins into milk and egg mixture; drain. Panfry in margarine or butter until lightly browned on both sides. Serve with Orange Sauce. Makes 8 servings.

Advertising men take walnuts out of their shell

A recent survey revealed most homemakers put walnuts into an "ordinary" nut category. When asked, "which nut was the fanciest," walnuts came in last among pecans, almonds and cashews. Homemakers also classed walnuts as the most economical nut. Saying they are the most reasonably priced nut was correct; walnuts have been the best nut buy for several years. Walnuts will have a strong edge in price again this year.

However, walnuts do have an exciting history. They deserve more than an "ordinary" label.

Ancient times and biblical days records provide a rich background of information about walnuts. Folklore, legends and old tales make fascinating reading.

The walnut, most authorities agree, came from ancient Persia though the actual date of origin is unknown. Carthage is said to have been a growing area, and the Greeks to have transplanted walnuts across the desert to Egypt.

The Romans, too, grew walnuts and called them Jupiter's Acorns. Records show the walnut was known during the reign of Tiberius and remains of the nut have been unearthed in Roman villas.

In Roman days walnuts were known as Royal Nuts, the Nuts of Jupiter. They were given credit for having truly amazing qualities in addition to being appreciated as a delicious food.

Pliny, the Roman scholar, refers to their medicinal qualities frequently in his writings, commenting on the magical content of the shells, kernels, oil and bark. He recommended, "chewing a nut fasting is a sovereign remedy against the bite of a mad dog, if one applies it." Others too, suggested walnuts were good for decay of the teeth, "are more profitable for the stomach when eaten with figs," and were said to "relax the belly," so that many ate them at the beginning of a meal with boiled wine.

"In the neighborhood of Hanau and Frankfurt 'no young farmer whatsoever is permitted to marry till he oring proof that he hath planted, and is a father of such a stated number of walnut trees'."

Also "in Burgundy, they are valued 'as great preservers by keeping the grounds warm; nor do the roots hinder the plough'." The Greeks even immortalized the walnuts in songs and stories.

The Franciscan Fathers are credited with having brought walnuts to California first either from Mexico or Spain. During the establishment of the California Missions in 1769 they planted walnuts in yards. There the trees flourished in California's warm climate and good, rich soil to bring crops that brightened the mission menu fare.

A walnut by any name is wonderful. Agricultural experts, grocers, consumers -- all agree with this statement, but not everybody agrees so unanimously about what to call a walnut.

The California walnut of today is known botanically as Juglans Regia, Juglans being a genus of trees made up of six species, the Regia specifying the Persian walnut.

Frequently in the past the California or Persian walnut was called the "English" walnut, a misnomer, since England does not produce walnuts commercially. The Persians used walnuts as an item of commerce and they were carried by English ships all over the world, thus the mistaken belief that they were English walnuts.

A sidelight, of interest to philosogists at least, is the etymology of walnut, or "wahlnut," which in old English means "Welsh-nut" and Welsh is the term used to indicate a stranger, a foreigner, not of Saxon origin. So it's plain, even linguistically, that the English considered the walnut an import.

Walnuts have many names and descriptions, but, the one it's most proud of is "America's Number 1 Ingredient Nut." Homemakers buy more walnuts than pecans and almonds combined. Last year walnuts lengthened their lead to 59.2 per cent of purchases as compared to pecan's 25.9 per cent and almonds's 14.8 per cent.

Perhaps, because they are purchased so often, folks call them "ordinary."

TOFFEE CRUNCH COOKIES

Camp Fire Girls are selling English toffee miniatures used in this cookie recipe. These can be frozen and are good for mailing. Combine 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon baking soda and ½ teaspoon salt. Cream ½ cup margarine. Add ¾ cup brown sugar, 1 egg and 1 teaspoon vanilla; mix until smooth. Stir in dry ingredients; blend in 1 cup finely chopped toffee miniatures and 1-3rd cup coarsely chopped pecans. Drop tablespoonfuls 2 inches apart on greased baking sheets. Bake in 350-degree oven about 12 to 15 minutes.

MUSHROOM PEPPER STEAK

Cover 12 small dried Japanese mushrooms with warm water and let stand ½ hour. Drain; clip and discard stems. Cut 1½ lbs. beef steak in thin strips. Sprinkle meat with ½ teaspoon salt and 1-8 teaspoon pepper. Saute quickly with 1 clove garlic in 3 tablespoons butter until brown. Remove meat from skillet and keep warm. Cut 1 small onion into rings and 1 green pepper into strips. Add vegetables to pan along with mushrooms. Saute, stirring until vegetables are tender, about 5 minutes. Return steak to pan along with juices. Heat a few minutes longer. Serve with toasted crusty bread.

Economy needn't mean drab eating

Does scrimping and saving on the food budget curb your creativity in cooking? Economizing need not mean drab dinners. You can start spending less and enjoying it more by extending your file of unique and interesting recipes using ground beef.

Just consider the variety of economical dishes flavorful ground beef provides! Many a favorite meal that brings repeat requests is based on a ground beef foundation. Innumerable are the variations built on burger, meat ball and casserole themes. Even that old reliable meat loaf can be given new appeal with a few additions to the basic ingredients and a change in form.

The family will be in for a big surprise when this new version of the loaf — Peachy Beef Pinwheel — is sliced. The loaf features a flavor-stretching stuffing of peaches and rice that's rolled up in the tasty ground beef mixture. Waxed paper is used to facilitate forming the loaf, jelly roll fashion. Roasted on a rack, it's brushed with peach syrup for an attractive glaze. It provides even more eye appeal when sliced into serving-sized pinwheels.

Since you can anticipate requests for a repeat of this menu number, be on top of the situation by purchasing enough ground beef to prepare two loaves. Bake one; wrap and freeze the second.

The rest of the menu can be alive with color and texture contrast too. Succotash is not costly and provides two vegetables at once. Mold cranberry relish in any red gelatin for any easy, bright salad. Turn up the heat and bake biscuits while the loaf is waiting to be sliced. Chocolate pudding makes a thrifty finish to the meal.

PEACHY BEEF PINWHEEL

- 2 pounds ground beef
- 1 can (16 ounces) sliced cling peaches
- 1½ cups soft bread crumbs
- 2 eggs
- 1 small onion, finely chopped
- 2 teaspoons dill weed
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup cooked rice
- 1 tablespoon snipped parsley
- teaspoon nutmeg

Drain peaches, reserving syrup, and cut slices in half crosswise. Combine ground beef, bread crumbs, eggs, onion, 1-3rd cup reserved syrup, dill weed, salt and pepper. Combine rice, parsley and 1 tablespoon reserved syrup. Pat out meat mixture on waxed paper into a 14-x- 10 inch rectangle, ½- to ¾-inch thick. Spread rice mixture evenly over meat. Stir nutmeg into peaches and place over meat, distributing evenly. Roll up meat mixture from short end of rectangle (jelly roll fashion) to enclose peaches and form a pinwheel loaf. Press meat over filling at both ends of loaf and place, seam side down, on rack in roasting pan. Bake in moderate 350-degree oven for 1 hour. Brush with reserved peach juice and continue baking 15 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before slicing. Eight servings.

Candy speaks to sweet tooth throughout the ages

Few things in history have spanned the ages and cultures of the world with such consistent popularity as candy.

In one form or another, candy has found itself carried by warriors through the Crusades, by GIs to the front lines of world wars, by bleacher fans in baseball parks and on into outer space by astronauts.

According to the National Confectioners Association, the earliest recorded history of confectionary goes back 4,000 years with the Egyptians. Hieroglyphic inscriptions excavated from the sites of ancient cities show that in 1566 B.C. Egyptian confectioners were selling their sweetmeats from baskets in the market place. Honey was used as a sweetener in those days and was combined with nuts, chopped fruits, sweet herbs and spices.

Candy-eating habits were passed along to the Greek and Roman civilizations, where physicians started the candy-coated pill tradition by smearing with honey the rims of cups filled with medicanal concoctions to induce patients to drink it down.

The conquering soldiers of Alexander the Great, however, liked sweets for their flavor and not for any medicinal reasons. A favorite of these soldiers (around 325 B.C.) was a Persian delicacy called "kand," a sweet reed garnished with honey, spices and coloring. The word "candy" may well have come from their "kand," or from the Arab word for sugar, "qanl."

Candy, as we know it today, really developed with the emergence of sugar on the world scene. In the Middle Ages, the Arabs spread the cultivation of native sugar cane westward and developed a sugar refining process. The Crusaders who had acquired a taste for sugar in the Far East, are credited with popularizing candy and starting a demand for the new sugar plant in Europe.

Uses of sugar and candy flourished, with Venice becoming the sugar capital of Europe in the 13th century. The Venetians' skill in producing sugar with a very fine grain gave birth to a new art form — sugar sculpture.

Explorers carried the sugar plant with them on their voyages and sugar cane soon was growing in all the tropical and semi-tropical areas of the globe. Columbus lauched the plant in the New World and by 1800 sugar was an important article of world commerce.

Chocolate, now the most popular type of candy, was a comparatively late entry into the confection world. In the early 16th century Hernando Cortez discovered the importance of the dark brown cocoa beans when he found the Aztec Indians of Mexico using them in the preparation of their royal drink, "chocolatl." Cortez brought the beans back to his native Spain where a profitable industry was developed and chocolate became widely acclaimed throughout the continent.

The first confectioners in the New World were the Dutch bakers of New York, who in the 17th century made sugar wafers, marshpanes, macaroons and other sweets for celebrations. The first American candy shop opened in 1712 in Boston.

Mass production

The introduction in 1851 of the revolving steam pan, a contraption much like the drum of a concrete mixer, sped up the candy-making process, paving the way for mass production. Penny candies flourished toward the end of the century.

It wasn't until 1911 that Americans got their first taste of today's candy giant — the candy bar. Fans at the nation's baseball parks were given the first individually wrapped candy bars, made of combinations of almond nougats, chocolate-coated marshmallow and peanuts.

But the candy bar didn't come into its own until World War I when manufacturing methods were revolutionized and candy bars were mass produced for military use.

Today, Americans consume an average of 19 pounds of candy annually from a selection of over 2,000 varieties. That first sweet tooth of the Egyptians has created an industry that speaks all languages and knows no age barrier.

Try basic breads Washington style

Home bread baking is becoming as popular now as it was in Colonial times. George Washington, for example, was known for his elaborate and expensive gourmet dinners. But during his years in Virginia, and later, he enjoyed the plain, simple Colonial breads with his other meals. Among these basic and substantial breads was a Crackling Bread. This is a quick skillet bread. Here it is brought up-to-date with the adition of orange juice although the salt pork that adds a special flavor is still included. Other Colonial favorites are the classic Sally Lunn and Orange Oatmeal Bread, both yeast breads.

ORANGE CRACKLING BREAD

½ pound salt pork cut in cubes
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1½ cups yellow cornmeal
⅓ cup unsifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoons sugar
2 eggs
½ cup buttermilk
1 cup orange juice

In 9-inch ovenproof skillet, cook salt pork over low heat until very crisp, remove and chop finely. Drain off all but 1 tablespoon fat, add onion and cook until tender. In large bowl, mix together cornmeal, flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. In small bowl beat eggs with buttermilk and orange juice. Add egg mixture all at once to dry ingredients and stir just until mixed; stir in salt pork and onion. Heat the skillet, turn in batter and bake in 350-degree oven 30 to 35 minutes. Serve hot with butter. Makes 8 servings.

ORANGE SALLY LUNN

1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
¾ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup orange juice
2 eggs, beaten
6 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Sprinkle yeast over warm water, stir until dissolved and set aside. Scald milk in medium saucepan. Add sugar, butter, orange rind and salt. Stir until sugar is dissolved and butter melts. Cool. In large bowl combine milk mixture, yeast, orange juice, eggs and flour. Beat until smooth (dough will be very soft). Turn into greased bundt pan or 10-inch tube pan. Let rise in warm place, covered, until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in 400-degree oven 15 minutes, reduce oven to 350-degrees and bake 15 to 20 minutes longer, or until bread is browned and sounds hollow when tapped. Cool 5 minutes, turn out on wire rack and cool completely. Makes 1 loaf.

ORANGE OATMEAL BREAD

1 package active dry yeast
¼ cup warm water
2 cups milk
2 cups uncooked oats, regular or quick-cooking
¼ cup butter or margarine
2 cups Florida orange juice
½ cup molasses
1 tablespoon salt
2-3rds cup sugar
2 cups raisins
10 cups sifted all-purpose flour

In small cup, sprinkle yeast over warm water, stir until dissolved and set aside. Scald milk, pour over oats and butter in large mixing bowl. Let stand 1½ hour. Add orange juice, molasses, salt, sugar, raisins and dissolved yeast mixture to oats. Stir in enough flour to make a soft dough. Place in greased clean bowl, cover and let rise until double in bulk, about ½ hours. Turn out onto floured surface and knead 10 minutes. Shape into 3 loaves and place in 3 greased 9 x 5 x 3-inch loaf pans. Cover and let rise until double, 1½ to 2 hours. Bake in 350-degree oven 1 hour. Bake in 350-degree oven 1 hour, or until loaves sound hollow when tapped on top. Cool. Makes 3 loaves.

Go the spice route when following diet

Spices have a particular appeal to those who are on some form of restricted diet. Millions of Americans must limit their intake of calories because of overweight or because of diabetes, kidney, cardio-vascular or gastro-intestinal diseases or because of allergies. Fortunately, nutritionists advise that spices may be used in all but the most restrictive of diets.

The reason is that spices, despite their enlivening effect on the taste of food, do not have a high caloric content. Only very small amounts are needed and can be used to brighten even the dullest diet encouraging patients to hold to their required eating routine.

"This is good news for waist-watchers because it confirms that even the highest calorie spice—poppy seeds—will not add more than two calories per serving in normal usage. Considering the small amounts used, the other spices typically contribute no more than a calorie a serving and usually less," says dietitian Mary Lengel of the American Spice Trade Association research committee.

"There are certain spices that must be eliminated from certain restrictive diets, such as low-sodium diets. They are celery flakes and parsley flakes because these contain a high proportion of potassium and sodium," she continues. "But if the low-sodium diet is not too severe, the patient can be given food with a little spice added which helps get the patient to eat his particularly bland diet. A good suggestion for low sodium dieters is to use onion powder instead of salt."

"Another suggestion of Miss Lengel is to use fruit-flavored gelatin with a teaspoon of pickling spices added. No salt, but at least some interesting taste added."

Mary Lengel, with both academic and hospital experience, suggests other ways to use spices to enliven dull diet routines:

Use fresh fruits packed in their own juices, no sugar added. With canned pineapple, drain off juice and heat juice with a little ginger, powedered or fresh. Then pour this syrup back over the fruit.

To strawberries, treat the natural syrup the same way, spicing with a small amount of cinnamon.

For a low-calorie salad dressing (that tastes good) combine tomato juice, Italian salad dressing mix, garlic, onion, black pepper and salt.

If fried eggs are not permitted, then use soft-boiled eggs but sprinkle them with a little basil or paprika. These spices will brighten their appearance and taste and help the dieter forget that they are not what he really wanted, namely fried eggs.

"Spices and herbs can play an extremely important role in good nutrition by helping to increase the appeal and appreciation of foods that are nutritionally important,' Miss Lengel states.

Here's Berlin wall story in reverse

BERLIN (UPI) — A young man arrived in a taxi at the Berlin wall, paid the driver $375 for the trip From West Germany and walked into East Berlin.

"I'm going over and I won't be back," Police quoted him as telling customs officials stationed at the Prinzenstrasse crossing point of the wall.

No hurricanes

Hurricanes are virtually nonexistent in the South Atlantic Ocean, meteorologists say, probably because the comparatively cold water of this region inhibits formation of the big storms.

Wheat germ stuffing for vegetables

Toasted wheat germ, the heart of golden wheat grains, makes outstanding stuffings to bake in sunny field ripened tomatoes or shade grown mushrooms. Neither the stuffing nor the vegetables needs much baking so these can be in and out of the oven in 10 to 15 minutes. One of the great beauties of using toasted wheat germ in dishes such as these is that it's always ready to use. Pour it out of its space-saving refrigerator jar. Mix with a few uncomplicated, readily available seasonings and it almost instantly has become a stuffing.

The two stuffing versions given here may be used interchangeably in the tomatoes and mushrooms. Delicious too in zucchini but you should parboil the shells before filling. One stuffing has the tang of fresh lemon juice and peel with oregano for accent. The other has sesame seeds and Parmesan cheese, a couple of herbs and an egg to bind it together.

The showy stuffed tomatoes would make an attractive vegetable to serve with spit-roasted chicken. So would the mushrooms. The mushrooms, however are also destined to be served as hot hors d'oeuvres. Don't be surprised when they are first to disappear.

It's amazing what hearty texture and flavor toasted wheat germ can give to low-calorie vegetables without adding a great many calories. Did you know that one ounce of toasted wheat germ measures one fourth cup and has only 106 nutritionally rich calories in it? A good reason for using toasted wheat germ often in preparing nourishing meals. Another notable fact about wheat germ is that it is a natural grain product and has no preservatives or additives.

STUFFED TOMATOES WITH WHEAT GERM

- ¾ cup toasted wheat germ
- 1-3rd cup butter, melted
- ½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon oregano, crumbled
- ½ teaspoon onion salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 6 firm tomatoes, medium size

Mix toasted wheat germ with butter, lemon peel and juice, oregano, onion salt and pepper. Cut top third from tomatoes zigzag fashion and set aside. Scoop out tomato seeds and some of pulp but leave shells intact. Fill tomatoes with wheat germ mixture. Place filled tomatoes and reserved tops in baking pan. Bake uncovered in 400-degree oven 15 minutes or until hot. Makes 6 servings.

SAVORY WHEAT GERM STUFFED MUSHROOMS

- ½ cup toasted wheat germ
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
- 1 tablespoon sesame seeds
- ¼ teaspoon rosemary, crumbled
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons butter, melted
- 1 egg
- 8 to 12 large mushrooms

Combine all ingredients except mushrooms. Wash mushrooms and gently break off stems. Finely chop 2 tablespoons stems. Mix with wheat germ mixture and stuff into mushroom caps. Place in shallow greased pan. Bake in 400-degree oven about 10 minutes. Makes 8 to 12 large stuffed mushrooms (18 medium size).

Assembly approves Acupuncture grants

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill providing $400,000 in grants for scientific research into acupuncture was approved by the Assembly recently on a 63-0 vote and sent to the Senate.

"We simply do not have enough information about acupuncture," said Assemblyman Gordon W. Duffy, R-Hanford, author of the measure (AB1841).

LOW-COST RECIPE

This macaroni skillet meal recipe will be one of the low-cost recipes to be offered Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday by Mrs. Tani Welsh, Southern California Edison Co. home economist, when she presents a program in La Verne and Pomona. Ingredients follow: 1 pound ground beef, 2 teaspoons salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1 medium onion, chopped, 1 cup sliced celery, 1 16-ounce can of tomatoes broken up, 1 cup water, 2 cups uncooked macaroni. Brown meat in frying pan on medium high heat. Drain off fat and add salt, pepper and sugar. Mix well. Stir in onions, celery, tomatoes and water. Bring to boil on high heat. Add macaroni, pressing it down into tomato mixture. Cover and reduce heat. Cook, covered firmly, 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings at approximately 25 cents each.

And they're in season

Walnuts and apples add zest to muffins

For all their ease and versatility, Walnut Apple Muffins are just the thing for filling a bread basket. And they are a timely treat, too, meeting the demand for "in season" ingredient usage. Lots of crisp-sweet California Walnuts and shredded, pared juicy apples go into the batter so these plump quick breads are filled with the two perennial favorites now coming in plentiful supply to market.

Moist, light and home-baked with fresh flavors and the peppy touch of spices, these muffins have a unique crunchy walnut texture which gives such tempting interest to foods. Walnuts also add good taste and more substance that can be quickly extended into countless dishes. They can be included in any planned-over food or reliable family standby recipe.

Muffins are the simplest breads to make. Just remember the one rule of abreviated stirring. Don't be concerned if some of the flour still shows. A large bowl encourages overbeating so select one that only confortably holds the muffin ingredients. When the lumpy "drop batter" breaks from the raised spoon, you are on your way to the uniform, medium-fine grain and slightly rounded tops characteristic of perfect muffins.

Since the makings are kitchen-staples, Walnut Apple Muffins assemble in short order so you can enjoy them even on spur-of-the-moment times. Their delightful appeal is compatible with many other foods. They fit into any menu, from breakfast through a late evening snack and all the eating events in between.

Shredding an apple is a breeze when you use a coarse grater. Place a four-sided grater on a piece of waxed paper or the flat type over a bowl. Using long strokes, rub with the pared apple working around and around down to the core, which is discarded. When you chop the walnuts, cut them into peppercorn-and pea-sized nuggets. Use the French knife and board method or a commercial food chopper for best control.

The in-shell variety is a good choice. They are fun-to-eat snacks and partner into a refreshing dessert with fresh or dried fruits and cheese. Offer the classic walnut-port wine combination in an after dinner setting sometime.

WALNUT APPLE MUFFINS

2-3rd cup California walnuts
1¾ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1-8 teaspoon nutmeg
1-3 cup shortening
1-3 cup granulated sugar
1 egg
2-3 cup milk
2-3 cup coarsley shredded pared apple
Sugar and walnuts for tops of muffins.

Chop walnuts and set aside. Resift flour with baking powder, salt and spices. Cream shortening, sugar and egg together. Add milk and flour mixture, and stir just until all of flour is moistened. Add apples and walnuts, and mix just until distributed. Spoon into greased muffins pans. Sprinkle lightly with sugar, and top with a few additional walnut pieces if desired. Bake at 375 degrees about 25 minutes, until browned and baked through. Serve warm. Makes 1 dozen (2½-inch) muffins.

Preplanning saves time

Shopping for beef on a weekly basis saves time but takes a little preplanning. Select ground beef, variety meats or other small cuts for early week meals. Steaks which keep about 3 to 5 days in the refrigerator fit nicely into midweel menus. Roasts and larger pieces can be refrigerated up to 5 or 6 days so save them for end of week meals.

BEANS, RICE AND SAUSAGE

Soak 2 cups dried navy beans overnight in 1 quart water. Do not drain. Put in saucepan and add another quart water and 1 diced onion. Bring to boil, cover and simmer for 2 hours. Fry 2 cups country sausage until browned, and remove from fat. Add to beans. Saute 3 diced onions, 1 clove garlic, mashed, and 2 stalks celery chopped fine. Add ¼ teaspoon marjoram and salt and pepper as desired. Stir into beans, Simmer about 1½ hours until beans are tender. Mix 4 cups cooked rice with 3 tablespoons butter and place on serving platter. Pour beans over the rice. Serve with mixed green salad. Serves 6.

Grapefruit always provides a bonus

Grapefruit is a bonus fruit — you can enjoy the delicious, nutritious inside "meat" and then, as a bonus, you can use the shell to make an ordinary dish into a spectacular one.

But first you should start with high quality grapefruit. Here are some tips on choosing grapefruit from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Marketing Service.

Look for firm, well-shaped fruits that are heavy for their size.

Thin-skinned fruits have more juice than coarse-skinned ones. If the grapefruit is pointed at the stem end, it is likely to be thick skinned. Rough, ridged, or wrinkled skin can also be an indication of thick skin, pupliness, and lack of juice.

Grapfruit often has skin defects — such as scars, thorn scratches or discoloration — which usually do not affect the eating quality.

Remember grapefruit is picked "tree ripe" and is always ready to eat when you buy it.

Avoid fruit with cuts or skin punctures, soft spots on the surface or soft discolored areas around the stem end. These are signs of decay.

When buying grapefruit in bags, you may find the USDA grade U.S. No. 1 on the label. This grade means good quality; you can expect the fruit to be firm and juicy,with few defects.

Try these "bonus" ideas.

TANGY GRAPEFRUIT SALAD

- 3 grapefruit
- 1 package frozen French style green beans, cooked
- ½ cup diced American cheese
- ½ cup diced red onion
- French dresing or mayonnaise

Cut grapefruit into halves; cut around sections. Put sections in a bowl. With scissors, nip out membranes and reserve shells. Drain beans and gently toss with grapefruit sections, cheese and onion. Spoon into shells; chill. Serve with French dressing or mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

FRUITED CRATERS

- 3 grapefruit
- 2 medium size bananas
- 1 10-ounce package frozen raspberries, thawed
- 1 3¼ ounce package vanilla pudding mix
- 2½ cups milk
- 1½ teaspoons brandy extract
- ¼ cup toasted sliced almonds

Halve and section grapefruit, remove white membrane from shells, saving shells. Peel and slice bananas. Combine with grapefruit sections and add drained raspberries. Heap into shells and chill. Prepare pudding according to package directions, using 2½ cups milk and brandy extract. Cool; pour over fruit. Sprinkle with toasted almonds. Makes 6 servings.

SPICED GRAPEFRUIT COMPOTE

- 4 medium size grapefruit
- 1¼ cups boiling water
- 1 inch stick cinnamon, broken into pieces
- ½ teaspoon whole cloves
- 1 cup sugar
- ½ cup firmly packed brown sugar

Score peel of 1 grapefruit into quarters; remove peel. Cover with boiling water; let stand 5 minutes. Drain. With tip of spoon, scrape most of white membrane from peel. Stack 2 pieces at a time on cutting board; cut into thinnest possible strips. Peel remaining grapefruit and section all to yield about 4 cups. Pour 1¼ cups boiling water over spices; steep 5 minutes and strain liquid into saucepan. Add slivered peel and sugars; bring to a boil, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Boil briskly for 10 minutes until syrupy; immediately pour over grapefruit sections. Chill until very cold. Makes 8 servings.

GRAPEFRUIT A LA MODE

- 2 grapefruit
- 1 orange, peeled, cut into bite-size pieces
- ¼ cup maraschino cherry halves or diced dates
- 2 tablespoons maple syrup or honey
- 1 pint sherbert (lime, orange or lemon)

Cut each grapefruit in half. Cut around each section; remove grapefruit segments and reserve. Remove white membrane, leaving shells intact. Toss grapefruit segments with orange pieces and cherries. Fill grapefruit shells with fruit and drizzle with syrup or honey. Chill thoroughly. Top each with a generous scoop of sherbert. Makes 4 servings.

THE DOUGHNUT LOVER'S GUIDE TO GREAT DUNKING.

Skip cream and sugar and try one of Van de Kamp's Buttermilk Doughnuts in your coffee instead. Mmmm... deliciously different!

Sugar 'n spice. That's what Van de Kamp's Dunkettes are made of. Perfect for junior dunkers.

Sweet tooth? Van de Kamp's Cake Doughnuts have something for everyone. They're homemade-good and come plain or topped with sugar or sweet crumbs.

Oh honey! Van de Kamp's Crullers are gently twisted and lightly iced with the bee's best. A big treat for glazed doughnut lovers.

Something new... Vandy O's! They're sugar dusted, "jelli-fruit" filled, and ever-so-dunkable.

Doughnuts, doughnuts, doughnuts! At Van de Kamp's, we now make a baker's dozen. Round ones, long ones, crescents. Some iced, some topped with a flurry of powdered sugar, some filled...And every one so fresh and good, they'll make your family's morning milk and coffee absolutely delicious. Dunk some and see.

CHIN UP! — Jack Benny applies makeup to George Burns in preparation for the latter's performance in "Jack Benny's Second Farewell Special," to be aired on NBC-TV at 8 p.m. Thursday. Also on the program are Dinah Shore, Redd Foxx and Johnny Carson.

Jack Benny slates second farewell show

"Jack Benny's Second Farewell Special" will be telecast on NBC-TV at 8 p.m. Thursday. The deadpan comic said, "I'm going to keep doing it until I get it right."

Guest star will be George Burns, a longtime friend. For reasons the two comedians will not explain, they have seldom shared the stage together. They have turned down offers to appear together at Las Vegas and on television, and in "The Odd Couple" and "The Sunshine Boys" on Broadway.

Also on the farewell show will be Dinah Shore, Redd Foxx, Johnny Carson and the DeFranco Family, five Italian youngsters whose record, "Heartbeat, It's a Lovebeat," is high on the popularity charts.

MEETIN' & EATIN' at BETSY ROSS

By Gene Neighbors

Hi Neighbors,

Just because our name reads "Betsy Ross Ice Cream & Coffee Shoppes", you don't have to think of us purely for dessert and coffee! There's many an item on our menus to thrill your pocket and warm your stomach on these cold, dreary, rainy, foggy days with which we've been blessed lately. F'rinstance, there's that bowl of homemade soup, or if you want something heartier, chili and beans. Or a chili size, hot dog size, chicken pot pie, barbecued bean plate, 'n' numerous other things to your liking. We have the cozy atmosphere in which to partake of these goodies, too.

RAYMOND IVES, of Glendora, was hosted by his parents, MARTHA and RAY IVES on his 9th birthday at Claremont Betsy Ross recently. His guests for the occasion were GLEN McWILLIAMS, RANDY SCHELLACK, and CHRIS DUPUE, who reportedly enjoyed the food and fun as much as he did.

Last Friday morning, 15 members of the Security Pacific Bank force in Claremont gathered at our Claremont Coffee Shoppe for breakfast about 7:30. We always welcome groups of employees, service organizations, church groups or clubs.

Upland Betsy Ross reports that last Wednesday night STELLA ESLINGER, 92 years young, came in for her Hot Fudge Sundae. Also there were the Progress-Bulletin carriers from the Upland area who had sold 3 or more subscriptions during a contest. SHARON COLE, supervisor of the group, said that STEVEN VOSS, with 8 subscriptions, had sold the most so was entitled to a Yankee Doodle Dandy.

Don't forget that we have FREE 15c candy staff flags for the kids on Mondays. Tuesday's special is the chicken-in-a-basket for $1.99. Wednesday——? Who doesn't know that it's Hot Fudge Sundaes for 59c?

Ya'll come; ya' hear?

SPDJ to celebrate birthday

HOLLYWOOD — The Society for the Preservation of Dixieland Jazz will celebrate its 12th anniversary with a birthday party at its monthly meeting at 2 p.m. Sunday at the West Covina Elks Lodge.

SPDJ was organized at Storeyville, a Pomona tavern, in 1962.

Floyd Levin, former disc jockey and president of the Southern California Hot Jazz Society, will install Bev Mayfield as new president.

The public is invited to attend.

Pianist-comedian plays at Claremont Colleges

By RALPH PIERCE

CLAREMONT — A determined audience, sent home Friday when the performance of Victor Borge was canceled due to unforeseen difficulties in plane scheduling, came back to Bridges Auditorium in full force Monday night to hear the inimitable pianist-comedian.

A nearly full house — it was full on Friday — greeted him for his first performance in the Pomona Valley and his first in this area since one at Carousel Theater in West Covina, which has since been torn down. The old theater might still be standing if they could have had people like Borge there more often.

A Victor Borge performance doesn't fall easily into a category of anything that a music reviewer might encounter. If one were to criticize his piano artistry it could be done, but that isn't the phenomenon that makes up the one and only Borge. As a holdover from his earlier years as a concert pianist, he still has a musical quality of playing and a facility that puts him in a class above the average entertainer. The performance was somewhere between an informal concert and a very entertaining show with a definite leaning toward the latter.

On previous appearances there have been two pianos with a second pianist both playing and acting as a "straight man" for the Borge humor. Monday night something new was added in the form of Marylyn Mulvey, a very talented young soprano with charm to match. How she was able to sing at all with all that was going on at the piano has to be some sort of record achievement, but she did manage to get in most of the "Caro Nome" aria from "Rigoletto" in spite of the antics and asides eminating from the piano area. He did let her do several songs during which the spotlight was on the singer and during which Borge actually played some very musical accompaniments.

For the closing group Borge was again alone on the stage and, after playing the Liszt etude, "Un Sospiro," he closed with his usual improvisations with accompanying comments. In a time when we have an abundance of comedians each trying for a new style, it is unlikely that anyone will come up with a routine which could match the one of Victor Borge. The man has truly made a contribution to the art of humorous entertainment.

TRUMPET TOOTERS—Ross Ellenhorn, left, and Garey Kennebrew warm up for the spring semester of the Claremont Community School of Music opening Feb. 4. Registrations will continue through Feb. 1. The nonprofit school offers classes for adults and young people in music, dance, drama and children's theater. Carol Young directs.

Silent thriller set

CLAREMONT — "The Cat and the Canary," silent film suspense classic starring Laura LaPlante, Creighton Hale and Tully Marshall, will be shown at the Claremont Colleges' Garrison Theater Saturday at 2 and 8 p.m., with William Blanchard at the organ.

Tickets are available in advance at Bridges Auditorium box-office and Ticketron agencies, or may be purchased prior to each performance at Garrison Theater.

JUNE NELSON

Claremont symphony to perform

CLAREMONT — Pianist June Lusk Nelson will be soloist with the Claremont Symphony Orchestra in a concert in Bridges Hall of Music, Pomona College, at 4 p.m. Sunday. Admission is free.

The program will include the overture to Weber's "Der Freischutz," Schumann's Piano Concerto in A Minor, "Eine Kleine Nachtmusik" by Mozart and Bizet's Suite No. 1 from "L'Arlesienne."

Miss Nelson is professor of piano at El Camino College. She studied with John Crown at USC and at the Cologne Hochschule fur Musik in Germany on a Fulbright Fellowship. Shs has performed throughout Southern California as a soloist and with chamber music ensembles.

Guest conductor James Lythans, principal clarinetist with the Claremont orchestra, will direct. He is a doctoral candidate at USC and has frequently conducted the orchestra in past seasons. He is also director of the Pomona Concert Band this year.

Organist to present recital

LOS ANGELES — Lloyd Holzgraf, organist of the First Congregational Church of Los Angeles, will present a Bach recital there at 8 p.m. Friday. Tickets are $2.50.

His program will include Prelude and Fugue in C Major (BWV 545); Choral Partita "O Gott, Du frommer Gott" (BWV 767); "In Dulci Jubilo"; Prelude and Fugue in A Minor (BWV 543); Fantasie in G Major (BWV 572); three transcriptions from Cantata No. 129, "Awake Thou Wintry Earth"; Cantata No. 208, 'Sheep May Safely Graze''; Cantata No. 79, "Now Thank We All Our God"; Chorale Prelude "Nun kommt der Heiden Heiland" (BWV 659); and Toccata in F Major (BWV 540).

Benefit show scheduled at Citrus

AZUSA — "Down Memory Lane," a musical revue of the 1920s, will be presented in the auditorium of Citrus College at 7:30 Friday night as a benefit for the Multiple Sclerosis Research Center.

Tickets are $2.50 adult, $1.50 children.

Some 70 professional and amateur entertainers will perform. The guest of honor will be Louie Unser of auto racings Unser family. He is a victim of multiple sclerosis.

Taking part will be magician Joe Badame, singer David Robertson, singer-dancer Yvonne Lang, actress Judy Guin, the Linnea Swedish Dancers, the Charter Oaks Kitchen Ban, directed by Kay Pfiffner, and the Banjow Aplenty Band, directed by Cale Small.

School of music holding signups

CLAREMONT — Registration is now being held for the spring semester of the Claremont Community School of Music, a non-profit organization of the performing arts. Ths semester starts Feb. 4. Registrations continue through Feb. 1.

The school offers a wide variety of classes for adults and young people in music, dance, drama and children's theater. This semester the music faculty has been expanded to include instruction in Suzuki cello and pre-school musicianship. Three new theater instructors will give classes in acting, technical theater and introduction to film.

The School of Music offers scholarships based on need, and family discounts to students taking more than one class and to families with more than one member enrolled.

In addition to instruction, the school presents a wide range of community events, including performances by visiting artists, concert groups, faculty members and students.

Information on registration can be obtained by writing to the School of Music, Box 53, Claremont 91711, or calling 624-3012.

'Earthquake' to continue at ICCC

LOS ANGELES — "Earthquake," the new musical revue about Los Angeles, has had its run at the Inner City Cultural Center extended a month.

The play orginally scheduled to close Jan. 20, is being held over until Feb. 24 with 8 p.m. performances Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

The three-act collage of music and words, which deals satirically with various aspects of life in present-day Southern California, has received overwhelming response.

Ticket information may be obtained by calling the box office at (213) 387-8289.

A yam is not only a vegetable, it's a dessert treat

Yams are a fascinating vegetable with their deep orange color, moist texture and naturally sweet, almost honey-like, flavor. North Carolina has made our vegetable bins colorful with the red-gold yams from their fields. Now's the time to enjoy these flavorful, vivid potatoes at their best.

Homemade cookies are always in demand. Surprise the family with a totally new kind of cookie made with golden, grated yams. This is one of those cookies with the robust, homey texture of oats and the old-fashioned sweetness of molasses. The recipe makes three dozen, a treasure for filling your cookie jar.

Nutritionists tell us that people could live almost entirely on yams for a long period of time, and indeed have done so, because yams, or sweet potatoes, are so nourishing. They are even better, of course, combined with meat, milk and other foods. One medium 5 x 2-inch boiled, then peeled, sweet potato, 147 grams, provides more than twice the recommended daily allowance of vitamin A for an adult, half the vitamin C, a tenth of the iron, a tenth of the thiamine, as well as other vitamins and minerals. This is a remarkable vegetable — the yam or sweet potato — deserving of special attention in your menu plans

Did you ever hear of a yam cake? A Fresh Yam Torte has been especially developed to go with the season of good supplies of this vegetable from North Carolina. This torte is very light with a texture much like sponge cake. The flavor is fabulous with yams one of the principal ingredients. A torte is made differently from other cakes. It uses little or no flour and instead relies on ground or finely chopped nuts. It is rich in eggs. This a showpiece cake that you and guests will appreciate.

It would be entirely out of tradition for yam desserts if we neglected to give a recipe for Fresh Yam Pie, moist, fluffy, naturally sweet and rich in flavor. You'll find an excellent recipe included here to complete this trio of desserts to make with the fresh yams at your market now.

YAM COOKIES

1-3rd cup shortening
½ cup sugar
½ cup unsulphered molasses
1 egg
1 cup grated pared raw yams
¼ cup dry milk powder
1 cup unsifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cups uncooked oats, quick or regular

Cream together shortening and sugar. Beat in molasses and egg. Add yams. Mix together dry milk, flour, baking powder, salt, baking soda and spices; blend into creamed mixture. Stir in oats. Refrigerate for 2 hours or place in freezer for 15 minutes. Drop by level tablespoons onto lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in a 375 degree oven for 12 minutes or until edges are lightly browned. Remove to rack and cool.

Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

FRESH YAM TORTE

1 cup mashed cooked yams (2 medium)
5 eggs, separated
¾ cup sugar, divided
1 tablespoon dark rum
1 cup finely chopped pecans
½ cup cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated fresh lemon rind

To prepare yams, bake in 350 degree oven 40 minutes or cook in boiling water to cover for 20 minutes, until soft. Cool, peel and mash until smooth. Beat egg whites until soft peaks form; gradually beat in ½ cup sugar and continue beating until stiff peaks form. Set aside.

In another bowl with same beaters, beat egg yolks until thick and fluffy; gradually beat in remaining ⅛ cup sugar Add yams and rum; mix well. Mix chopped pecans with cornstarch, salt and lemon rind; gradually blend into yam mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites. Turn into greased and floured 8-inch spring-form pan.

Bake in 325 degree oven for 1 hour and 15 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cool completely; remove side of pan. Serve, if desired, garnished with sweetened whipped cream and chopped pecans. Makes 8 servings.

FRESH YAM PIE

2 cups mashed cooked yams (4 medium)
3 eggs
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup evaporated milk or light cream
1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell

To prepare yams, bake in 350 degree oven 40 minutes or cook in boiling water to cover for 20 minutes, until soft. Cool, peel and mash until smooth.

In large bowl beat eggs with brown sugar, salt and spices. Add mashed yams and evaporated milk; mix well. Turn into unbaked pastry shell. Bake in 350 degree oven for 1 hour and 15 minutes or until tip of knife inserted in center comes out clean. Cool. Serve, if desired, with whipped cream or ice cream. Makes 8 servings

Try these beefless high protein ideas

Today, beef tends to be out of sight in price if not literally out of sight at the market. There are high protein alternatives, however. First aid for the family food budget comes from the R. T. French Company's test kitchens in Rochester, N.Y. in this collection of fish, chicken and egg recipes. They also are time-savers.

HAWAIIAN FISH FILLETS

1 pound fish fillets (halibut, perch, pollock, sole)
½ cup pineapple tidbits
¼ cup catchup
2 tablespoons honey
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt

Arrange fish in shallow baking dish; top with pineapple. Combine catchup, honey, Worcestershire sauce and salt; pour over fish. Bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 20 to 25 minutes, until fish flakes easily when pierced with a fork. 4 to 6 servings.

TOMATO BLOSSOM SALAD

1 package (3-oz.) cream cheese, softened
2 tablespoons prepared yellow mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
⅓ cup chopped cucumber
¼ cup chopped green onions
4 to 6 tomatoes

Combine cream cheese, mustard and salt in mixing bowl. Stir in eggs, cucumber and onions. Cut each tomato into 8 sections, cutting almost through the bottom. Separate "petals" and fill with egg salad. 4 to 6 servings.

SUNNY GRILLED CHICKEN

¼ cup prepared yellow mustard
¼ cup frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed
¼ cup oil
2 frying chickens, cut in quarters

Combine mustard, orange juice concentrate and oil; pour over chicken. Let stand 30 minutes. Grill over medium coals, turning and brushing with sauce occasionally, until tender, about 45 minutes. 8 servings.

Preserves

Cookware lined with non-stick surfaces should be washed with hot, sudsy water after cooking. This helps to preserve the beneficial properties of the finish and to prevent a build-up of a thin layer of grease or food.

Wipe spots

Spots on fiber glass draperies wipe off with a clean damp cloth. For periodic cleaning, fiber glass should be washed by hand. Machine washing is not recommended since it may cause abrasion of the fibers.

Card party planned by churchwomen

Plans for the annual dessert and card party sponsored by Priscilla Guild were announced at the meeting of the Pilgrim Congregational Church Women's Auxiliary.

Various card games will be played after assorted desserts served Tuesday at 1 p.m. in Pilgrim Hall.

Mrs. Ardell Holt, general chairman, will be assisted by Mmes. Heber Clewett, card tables; Lowell Decker and H. E. Sweet, table decorations and tallies; C. L. Kooman, servers; W. F. Maiden, coffee; Wilford Michael, hostesses; Margaret Wahlberg, games; N. E. Simonson, table replenishment; Oscar Edinger, tickets; Clarence Cooper and Landon Howery, dessert procurement; and LeRoy Hillman and R. E. Steele, dessert sale.

Camp Fire Girls begin candy sale

Starting Friday and continuing through Feb. 11, the 5,000 girls in Mt. San Antonio Council Camp Fire Girls will conduct their annual candy sale in the 25 communities from the San Gabriel River to the western section of San Bernardino County served by the council.

Proceeds from the sale go to both the individual groups and the general operting budget of the council to finance the many recreational and education programs offered. It costs the council $20 per year to keep one girl in the Camp Fire program. A portion of the funding is from community agencies and interested parents and other adults, but the major source of funding is the annual candy sale.

William Finch of Covina, general chairman of the sale, announces that the girls selling candy in the community can be easily recognized by their red, white and blue costumes.

In addition to nine cents per box for each individual group, members may win sales buttons, a golden trophy, or up to two weeks at Camp Nawakwa, the council-owned resident camp in the San Bernardino Mountains, with all expenses paid.

Camp Fire is open to youths from six to 18 and provides progressive experience in a group setting which encompasses leadership skills, human and community relations.

Close zipper

For shape retention and longer life, be sure to close garment zippers before laundering and when placing on hangers. At the first sign of zippers sticking, apply wax or zipper lubricant to the nylon coils or metal teeth. It will help prevent annoying jamming.

PEO Bureau schedules luncheon

The mid-winter luncheon of the Pomona Valley PEO Reciprocity Bureau is planned Saturday at noon.

It will be staged in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church, C Street and 1st Avenue, Upland. Women from the church will prepare and serve the luncheon.

All unaffiliated members in the Pomona Valley are invited to join members of the nine chapters of the bureau.

A program on Cottey College has been arranged by members of Chapter KX, according to the bureau president, Mrs. George F. Morgan.

Reservations should be made with Mrs. Gerald S. Rathbun, 622-6487.

Gourmet cooking class set

Gourmet cooking will be offered for the first time by the Pomona Adult School beginning Monday. Classes will be taught by Mrs. Keo Teghtmeyer on Mondays from 6:45 to 10:15 p.m. at Garey High School.

The course is designed to acquaint students with the preparation and serving of many exotic dishes. Also included will be demonstration of microwave ovens, a field trip to a winery, menu planning and use of equipment.

Registration for the course and 60 other classes may be completed at the Adult School office, 800 S. Garey Avenue.

Deputy to visit Bethel 191

Mrs. Bea O'Bryant, deputy grand guardian of the State of California, International Order of Job's daughters, plans to visit Chino Bethel 191 on Thursday.

She will attend the 7 p.m. meeting in the Chino Masonic Temple.

The program will also include the initiation of Miss Lorlei Sprott, Miss Jill Huston and Miss Janet Camp.

MR. AND MRS. EDMUND H. GENUNG

E. H. Genungs mark 65th anniversary

The 65th wedding anniversary of a pioneer couple in Pomona Valley was celebrated at Griswold's Indian Hill in Claremont recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund H. Genung lived in Pomona from 1909 until 1919 when they moved to Upland where they now reside. Mr. Genung came to Pomona in 1906 and was joined by his bride in 1909 after being married in Indianola, Iowa where they met at Simpson College.

They are members of Trinity Methodist Church of Pomona where Mr. Genung directed the choir for 10 years and Mrs. Genung was soprano soloist. Mr. Genung was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and Mrs. Genung was a charter member of Alpha Chi Omega chapter, music sorority at Simpson College.

Mr. Genung was associated with Wright Brothers and Rice as bookkeeper from 1906 to 1919 and subsequently became affiliated with Southern Service Company in Pomona where he served in various capacities for 40 years, the last 18 of which he was office manager for the corporation. He retired in 1960. He has also been associated with the citrus industry in Pomona and Upland.

Mrs. Genung was active in educational circles. She organized and directed the Curriculum Laboratory at Claremont Colleges for 20 years, retiring in 1959.

Approximately 200 guests attended the reception which was hosted by their son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Elvin Genung of Claremont, and their daughters, Miss Marie and Miss Harriett Genung of Upland, along with the couple's grandson, John, of Claremont.

Assisting at the reception were Mmes. Carroll Genung, Gladys Reed, Earle Hanson, Velda Stewart, Roy Jones, George Gonzales, Harry Milligan and Miss Helen Badger.

Others assisting were Mmes. Granville Kelly, Louise Stewart, Fred Strohte, Axel Rask and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rodriguez.

Music was provided by Mrs. Opal De Beesom and Dr. Guenther Kuehl.

Among the many congratulatory messages received was a greeting from President and Mrs. Nixon.

Transportation survey charted in Claremont

About 1,000 residents within the boundaries of Claremont will be asked their opinions and priorities on transportation in a survey conducted by the League of Women Voters between Thursday and Feb. 7.

The League will receive the assistance of the city staff, the City Council, the Claremont Coordinating Council and the Claremont Graduate School in the random sampling.

League officials feel that in the light of the energy crisis it is necessary to re-think, and likely re-vamp, modes and methods of transportation.

The survey is a way of focusing in on the problem and finding out what Claremonters want in transportation and what they would use if such transportation were made available.

Information supplied through the survey would then feed into the appropriate channels.

One hundred volunteers are needed to hand-deliver the questionnaires to the persons selected in the survey.

About two days after the questionnaires are delivered, the volunteers will phone those being surveyed and make an appointment to return to pick up the questionnaires.

The questionnaires will be delivered sometime between Thursday and Feb. 1, and will be picked up between 5 and 7.

The League will hold a workshop for the volunteer surveyors Wednesday between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. at the Friends Meeting House at 727 Harrison Ave.

TGK group sets meeting

Tau Gamma Kappa Sorority members will meet Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Frank Bayles in West Covina.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Affects children

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Almost all the women in my neighborhood are into the women's liberation movement. I am opposed to this and most of the women respect my right to my own opinion. However, one woman insists on referring to me as a child bride. I can't be flattered since I'm well over 40 and I know she's only trying to hurt my feelings or make some point which escapes me.

It doesn't seem wrong to me for a woman's life to be wrapped up in her husband and children. I like to be taken care of and my husband likes me to be passive. He cares for me and loves me the way he loves our children and he makes all the decisions for everyone under our roof. I was brought up in a family where my father's word was law and so this seems right to me, just as it seems right to our children. I wish this woman would get off my back. If I'm childish I like it that way and that's what matters, isn't it?—P.C.

Dear P.C.: If this kind of relationship is satisfactory to you and your husband, then you are fulfilling each other's needs and this is right for you.

I question whether it is good for your children, however, for if all the decisions are made for them, how will they ever learn to make decisions on their own? The rigid, authoritarian family you describe has some pitfalls. Children of such families often have a much more difficult time when they leave home and are forced to be totally independent. They may do as you have done and look for an authoritarian personality to substitute for what they had in the home situation. In such a relationship, one personality usually is repressed in favor of the stronger individual.

The women's liberation movement does not insist that every woman be independent spiritually, intellectually or economically. It does stress that each woman should be given the opportunity to fulfill her potential if she chooses. Some women feel their potentiality is totally fulfilled in the home, but others may feel other needs. Each woman should be free to determine her own fate. The neighbor who refers to you as a child bride has not solved all her own problems. If she had, she would not be so irritated by your dependency needs.

Often the person who is afraid to make decisions alone has had a traumatic childhood experience such as a lack of adequate love and security. Some women continue to seek in marriage what they were denied as children. Sometimes just the opposite is true, the woman who was smothered with love as a child may seek to perpetuate this in marriage. This kind of woman, or man, is really afraid to take responsibility of any kind. She or he feels failure would be the inevitable result.

The loss of a husband is traumatic for every wife, but it is much more so for a woman who has never learned to make any decisions for herself. This is one of the reasons it is important that you try to spend more time developing yourself and your own interests separate from your husband and family. If your children mature as they should, they will eventually leave home to form relationships on their own. They will go to college, marry and get jobs. For the woman who places all her interest in her family, this normal process can be very painful.

The relationship between children and parents is much better when each member of the family is treated as an individual and allowed to develop and pursue his or her interests.

Extra hamper saves work for mothers

An extra laundry hamper, reserved for the children's muddy or wet play clothes and placed conveniently in a first-floor bathroom — or whatever the children wash after a lively outdoor play session — is a work-saver on several counts.

It keeps these extra-grimy garments together, away from less soiled items in your regular laundry hamper, and keeps them handily in one place. It also prevents soiled — sometimes dripping — snow suits, blue jeans, shirts, sweaters, socks and jackets from leaving a trail through the house.

Once the children get into the habit, they'll automatically drop heavily-soiled clothes into their own hamper.

Israel picks up the pieces and counts the cost of war

By JONATHAN YANAI

RAMAT GAN, Israel — The Yom Kippur war was rough and bitter, smashing not only many Israeli families, and upsetting the economy, but also destroying a dearly held illusion — that any war with the Arabs would be a push-over.

If the Israelis have lost much of their former complacency — a complacency that caused the loss of many lives — they are tackling the problems of reconstruction, economy and rehabilitation of their lives with deadly seriousness.

Some two-thousand Israelis were killed or reported missing in battle and are believed dead. It's roughly equivalent to three times America's loss of 46,000 in Vietnam over a period of years. But Israel lost 2,000 in less than three weeks.

Everybody suffers

Hardly a family has not suffered the loss of a dear one or a close friend. My own experiences are not much different from those of the rest of my countrymen.

Take the eldest son of my friend of 20 years. As a small boy his father picked him up, tossed him high and exclaimed "My king, my king."

That "king" is dead, killed in battle.

Another friend, whose only child was married only months ago, could have declined front-line duty. But he preferred it. He, too is dead. His father says nothing at all. Not a word.

The husband of a first cousin, with two small children and a third on the way, is also dead. But then she has a younger sister to comfort her and to show her how to once again pick up the threads of life. For this younger sister lost her husband, when she was pregnant, during the Six Day War in 1967.

It would, perhaps, be best to end this tale of battle losses on an easier note. My son-in-law got hit in several places by shrapnel, but only one piece, in his thigh, was serious enough to require a short hospital stay. He now walks normally again.

Israelis are gradually taking a deep breath and trying to fit the broken pieces of their lives together, even if one vital piece — a son — is gone forever.

And they all are asking: How did it happen?

Credibility gap

A credibility gap — which showed itself in questioning the veracity of official army spokesmen — flared up. The country's military leadership was questioned.

Public pressure has forced the government to set up a Commission of Enquiry. It must answer a crucial question: If Israel knew that the Arabs were missing their forces for war, why didn't Israel take the proper precautions?

Perhaps the answer has already been given by President Efraim Katzir who has said: "We were living in a Utopia, in a state of mind which had no grasp of the realities of the situation."

Even though it now seems clear that Israel finally not only staggered to its feet, but achieved brilliant battlefield victories, the political picture about a peace settlement is seen by many Israelis as dim and distant.

On the homefront, the new soberness has been shown by an extraordinary willingness to pay for the war by buying voluntary war bonds, generally equivalent to a month's salary. This imposes a terrific financial drain on most, for even before the war the average wage earner paid about 60 per cent in income and other direct taxes. In addition he now pays another 7.5 per cent compulsory "war loan."

Prices have also been increased on many items such as frozen meat, rice and gasoline — often by 50 per cent. (But they remain relatively unchanged on basic items such as bread, margarine, fish fillet and eggs — though eggs are hard to find.)

If the average family has been hard hit, the entire country's economy has been tossed out of kilter. During the war mobilization of all fighting manpower was complete. But after the war about 20 per cent of the reserves are having to stay on in the army. The remaining 80 per cent can be mobilized very quickly.

Key personnel

More often than not, the mobilized 20 per cent consist of key men in factories, farms and businesses. A tremendous shortage of trucks has developed due to mobilization of civilian vehicles. Thus there is not only a shortage of workers to pick and pack the citrus fruits, Israel's chief winter crop, but a shortage of trucks to haul it to ports.

But many volunteers have arrived in Israel. And although they are mostly city people, they seem to prefer to live in farming communities, where they often meet Israeli students also volunteering for farm work.

And the hard-hit tourist industry is gradually making a slow comeback.

The picture here is surely not bright. But the Israelis are throwing themselves into the breach with the confident hope they can solve existing problems and possibly even prevent future ones from developing.

Brings kids to studio

Sally solves working mother's dilemma

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The happy laughter of children is an incongruous sound on the drab, businesslike Columbia Studios ranch, a rambling collection of false-front streets, sound stages and outdoor sets in Burbank.

But David Cassidy, Eve Arden, Shirley Jones and Keenan Wynn, among dozens of others, stop by to pat the heads of a couple of smallfry playing on a swing set outside a dressing room.

They are the youngsters of Sally Field, the diminutive beauty of "The Girl With Something Extra" series.

Sally has solved the working mother dilemma by bringing Peter, 4, and Eli, 1 ½, to the studio twice a week. Her dressing room is the only one in town with a chain link fence around it for use as a play yard.

The trailer-dressing room has a special drawer for toys, a snack shelf with cookies, fruit and pretzels and in summer there is a plastic wading pool beside the swings.

Between takes on the set Sally can be found frolicking with her sons, reading them stories and putting them down for a nap.

"I work from 6:30 in the morning until 7:30 at night," Sally said the other day. "I would never see the boys except on weekends—when I'm too tired to play with them—if I didn't bring them along with me.

"Every working woman feels guilty for depriving her kids of her wonderful self. But it's not guilt that makes me bring Peter and Eli to the studio.

"Working mothers shouldn't feel guilty. They ought to do what is right and healthy for themselves and the children.

"A woman can't dedicate her life to her children. It's wrong for anyone to give up her life that way. There's a need to express yourself and be an individual in your own right.

"I put up the play yard and brought fun things to the dressing room so the boys could enjoy themselves. I didn't want them to just sit in a room like a couple of angels to ease my guilt.

"It's like going to a park. I enjoy them as much as they enjoy coming here. They've made friends of all the cast and crew.

"Sometimes John Davidson (Sally's co-star in the NBC series) brings John Jr.—he's four years old—along and puts him in the yard with my boys."

Sally is a veteran of two previous series, "Gidget" and "The Flying Nun." At 27 she is a polished professional.

"On the first two series I began to feel isolated from the world," she said. "The hours were impossibly long and I never had much time to think of anything else except my work.

"This time I'm blending my personal life and my career together. So far it's working beautifully.

"A lot of actresses who work here at the studio tell me they wish they had thought of making a little home away from home for their children when they were working mothers with young children.

"I don't bring them every day because it wouldn't be a novelty any more. They'd get bored with the whole idea. As it is, they look forward to the visits. More importantly, so do I."

Court gives reporter way to escape jail

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Sending reporter William Farr to jail for refusing to reveal sources is not of itself cruel or unusual punishment, an appeal court has ruled —but it may be so if there is no hope of making him change his mind.

The state Court of Appeal made the latest ruling in the lengthy battle by Farr to avoid going to jail indefinitely for refusing to obey a judge's order.

Farr spent 46 days behind bars a year ago rather than reveal the names of two attorneys who gave him information during the trial of the Charles Manson "family" for the Sharon Tate murders.

Farr's case has gained wide attention as an example of the clash between journalistic principles and judicial authority.

The ruling by the appeal court appeared to draw a blueprint for Farr and his lawyers, showing them how they can successfully keep Farr from a lengthy jail stay.

Farr, who now works for the Los Angeles Times, was a court reporter for the Los Angeles Herald Examiner when he wrote a story that the Manson cult planned to kill Frank Sinatra and other celebrities. He said he had obtained the information from two of the six prosecution and defense lawyers involved.

Superior Court Judge Charles Older had imposed a gag order on the attorneys. He demanded Farr tell him which of the lawyers disobeyed the order. Farr refused, citing his promise to his sources, and Older sent him to jail for contempt of court until Farr was freed on appeal.

Such a jailing for contempt is indefinite, and can last until the prisoner dies, or until the judge dies or retires.

The three judge state Court of Appeal ruled that the purpose of such an order is "coercive and not penal in nature" and thus "is neither punishment, cruel nor unusual."

However, the judges ruled in cases where the refusal to cooperate is based on "an established, articulated moral principle," jail may be useless in accomplishing a change of mind.

"In such a situation, it is necessary to determine the point at which the commitment (to jail) ceases to serve its coercive purposes and becomes punitive in nature," the court ruled.

Proceedings in Superior Court could establish what likelihood there is of Farr changing his mind, the appeal court said.

NOTICE TO OWNERS OF LOST PROPERTY

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Pomona Police Department has in its possession bicycles of assorted sizes, colors and models which have been found by the Police Department. The owners of these bicycles could not be located or determined in any manner. If anyone believes that he is the owner of any such bicycles, he must appear at the Pomona Police Station located at the southeast corner of Mission Boulevard and Park Avenue within seven (7) days after publication of the notice and claim such bicycle or bicycles; otherwise, such property shall not be returnable and shall become the property of the City of Pomona, and may be sold to the public at auction. In addition to bicycles, other personal property has also been found which, if not claimed within such period by the owners in a similar manner, will also not be returnable and will be sold at public auction. The description of such other personal property is as follows: Miscellaneous wallets and small personal items, tools, phonographs and tape recorders, etc.

NOTICE OF INTENTION TO SELL REAL PROPERTY AT PRIVATE SALE
NO. EAP-7867

SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA FOR THE COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, In the Matter of the Estate of LLOYD H. REYNOLDS, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that, subject to confirmation by the above entitled Superior Court, on February 8, 1974, at 10:00 a.m., or thereafter within the time allowed by law, the undersigned, as Administratrix of the Estate of LLOYD H. REYNOLDS, deceased, will sell at private sale to the highest and best net bidder on the terms and conditions hereinafter mentioned all right, title, and interest of LLOYD H. REYNOLDS, deceased, at the time of his death and all right, title, and interest that the estate has acquired in addition to that of decedent at the time of his death, in the real property located in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, described as follows:

One-Seventh (1-7) of a One-half (½) interest or One-Fourteenth (1-14) interest in and to the following parcel of real property:

PARCEL I:

That portion of Lot 33 of the Loop and Merserve Tract, in the City of Pomona, in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, as per map recorded in Book 52, Page 1 of Miscellaneous Records, in the office of the County Recorder of said County, described as follows:

Beginning at the Southeast corner of Lot 152 of Tract No. 17877, as per map recorded in Book 445 Pages 3 to 7, inclusive of Maps, in said County recorder's office; thence northerly along the Easterly line of said Lot 152, and along the Northerly prolongation thereof, 170.00 feet to the Southwest corner of Lot 148 of said Tract No. 17877; thence Easterly along the Southerly line of said Lot 148, a distance of 98.53 feet to the Westerly line of Lot 39 of Tract No. 22591, as per map recorded in Book 696 Pages 60, 61 and 62 of Maps, in the office of the County Recorder of said County; Thence Southerly along the Westerly line of Lots 39, 37 and 36 of said Tract No. 22591, a distance of 170.00 feet to the Southwest corner of said Lot 36; thence Westerly along the Westerly prolongation of the Southerly line of said lot 36, a distance of 98.53 feet to the point of beginning.

The property is commonly referred to as 945 E. San Bernardino Avenue, Pomona, California.

The sale is subject to current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, reservations, rights, rights of way, and easements of record, the purchaser to assume any encumbrances of record.

The property is to be sold on an "as is" basis.

Bids or offers are invited for this property and must be in writing and will be received at the office of ETCHASON, DAVIDSON, LIESCH & VICTOR, attorneys for said Administratrix, at 602 North Euclid Avenue, Ontario, California, or may be filed with the clerk of said Superior Court or delivered to W. DAVID ETCHASON personally, at any time after first publication of this notice and before making said sale.

The property will be sold on the following terms: cash or part cash and part credit, the terms of such credit to be acceptable to the undersigned and to the Superior Court, 10% of the amount bid to accompany the offer by certified check, and the balance to be paid on such terms of credit as are acceptable to the undersigned and to the Superior Court. Taxes, rents, operating and maintenance expenses, and premiums on insurance acceptable to the purchaser shall be prorated as of the date of confirmation of sale. Examination of title, recording of conveyance, transfer taxes, and any title insurance policy shall be at the expense of the purchaser.

The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids prior to entry of an order confirming the sale.

A MESSAGE TO CLASSIFIED AD USERS

You are about to invest money for an Ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this it is necessary for you to TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results. Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and cost less in the long run.

1. Don't Omit The Address
Many out-of-town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. Don't Omit The Phone Number
Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. Don't Use Blind Box Numbers
Avoid them if at all possible. They are difficult to answer and many people are suspicious of them.

4. Don't Conceal The Price
Surveys show that a high percentage of readers will not answer an ad unless the price is given.

5. Don't Leave Home On The Days You Advertise
Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.
